Storm Smashes Tokio Region; Many Missing

Preliminary Estimate Sets Toll At Nine Fatalities, 54 Injured

TOKIO, Aug. 31 (CP).—A typhoon tonight smashed homes in Tokio with 100-mile gusts, kicked up 50-foot waves in Tokio Bay and spread death and destruction long the bay's populous shores.

While the storm still howled, ational police made a preliminary stimate of nine Japanese dead, 4 injured and scores missing.

An early Japanese report said a essel with 50 Japanese aboard sank off the eastern shore of Tokio Bay. A later report listed it as missing, not sunk. Communications were cut with the eastern shore.

No American casualties were reported, but United States military property took a severe beating.

The storm was the most violent in Japan for 11 years.

Port authorities said 14 ships snapped their moorings and were driven aground in Yokohama Harbor, south of Tokio. Other reports said more than 200 fishing boats were swept away from Sagami Bay farther south.

A Netherlands ship broke its stern line and threatened to ram a United States army transport. Tugs reached it, however, and took it to the centre of the bay.

Heavy rains heralded the approach of the storm. Then late Wednesday the storm moved in with 80-mile winds. There was a lull as the centre passed over Tokio, then the winds returned with even greater fury.

Sales Tax Will Exceed Estimates

Early indications are that British olumbia's sales tax will exceed he whopping $18,000,000 estimated or the current fiscal year.

When the tax was first introduced 1 July, 1948, it was estimated it ould return $12,000,000. Actual ollections for the first six months f the tax indicated annual revenue ould exceed $17,000,000.

HIGHER STILL

Although Finance Department of cials have given no inkling of col ections in the current fiscal year here are indications that the total ay reach $20,000,000.

Retail sales for the first six onths of this year are running 34 per cent above last year's. The eneral wage level is 5.78 per cent bove last year's.

Taxes on machinery for new in ustrial plants is expected to in rease also in line with a 25 per ent increase in industrial con truction.

Group Warned By Petrillo

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (INS).—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, warned today he may "pull" orchestras out of night spots "over the entire country" to win a dispute with the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Petrillo accused the A.G.V.A. of compelling members of his union's local 802 in New York to join the guild. Both are A.F.L. affiliates.

Purchase of Rubber, Tin From Britain Suggested

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (INS).—powerful bi-partisan Senate bloc day supported a proposal that the nited States buy more defence ial rubber and tin from Britain help America's important ally out f its grave economic dilemma.

Foreign affairs leaders emphasized hat such a measure would be a temporary expedient" and that ritain must employ its resourceful ess to get out of the financial jam e in.

Senator Dulles of New York, Re ublican foreign affairs expert, is trongly of this mind. He believes, owever, that the United States ust help in the effort to restore ritain's position.

Dulles would like to see an rangement for joint British-merican development of Africa's st untapped resources.

He believes British experience ould contribute to such an enter ise but that American capital ould be needed.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio, said he ould "not object" to some increase the stock-piling program, but id it should not be large.

Senator McMahon (D), Conn., said something "might be done toward adding to stockpiles, but if this means that we pay higher prices for rubber and tin—then no!"

There is widespread belief in the Senate that the United States must take some action to help Britain, but on the condition that self-help comes first.

MOST URGENT

The British crisis is looked upon as the most urgent foreign affairs problem facing the United States. Senators stressed the importance of Britain in the international contest with Communism. One Senator observed:

"It has been suggested that, if there were no British Empire it would be necessary for us to invent one."

The suggestion advanced in some British quarters that venture capital could be attracted by 3 per cent debentures is not regarded by Dulles as practicable.

Senator Smith (R), N.J., said that if the United States spent two billion on stockpiling it would at least have something to show for its aid.

Strategists Think Russia's Armies Would Dominate Fighting at First

IF WAR COMES

"If war comes" in the next few ye..., how would the opposing forces of East and West compare on land, the sea and in the air? In the following article, third of a series of six, Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service, tells how Western military strategists assess their own armed might and that behind the iron curtain.

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, Aug. 31 (INS).—Atlantic act military strategists believe ussia's huge armies would domin e initially the land fighting if e Soviets should suddenly strike Europe in the next few years.

They are confident, however, that the Western nations would hold an increasing supremacy on the sea and in the air.

In addition, the West would have the strongest striking power through its ability to deliver the atom bomb with American and British long-range strategic bombers.

These are, according to the Western military strategists, the salient factors which emerge from a study of the latest available estimates of the relative strength of the forces of East and West.

EXTREMELY DIFFICULT

Despite their confidence in Allied air supremacy the Western European military leaders feel it would be extremely difficult to counterbalance Russian land power.

In fact, it is doubted that the Soviet armies could be overcome on the field of battle until Russia had been brought to her knees by atomic destruction of the "home front."

LARGEST ARMY

Russia today maintains the largest army in the world. According to the International Committee for the Study of European Questions, the Soviet Army numbers 3,000,000 men. They are organized into six armies, embodying 300 divisions, with 22 armored corps available for immediate action.

The United States Army at present consists of about 660,000 men. Great Britain, the other Atlantic Pact power with a reasonably well-equipped and sizable army, has approximately 500,000 soldiers.

France has 600,000 men listed on its army rolls, but the figure is misleading because there is only sufficient equipment for five French divisions in the homeland and the French zone of Germany.

That, in other words, is all that France has available at the moment in the way of an army on the European continent to face the 300 Russian and satellite divisions which it is estimated are concentrated in Central and Eastern Europe.

Total armed manpower available to Russia, including the Soviet Far

Helicopter Demonstrates Rescue

A hovering R.C.A.F. helicopter lifts L.A.C. Edward Burrows from a high-speed launch in an air-sea rescue demonstration at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. In another display, the launch fished out a dummy parachuted into Lake Ontario by the aircraft.

BULLETINS

Charge Made

BERLIN, Aug. 31 (INS).—The British Military Government accused the Russians tonight of converting the Soviet zone police force into a tank-equipped military organization of young Communists and former German prisoners of war.

Warning Given

ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 31 (INS).—Small craft warnings which could affect hundreds of Astoria salmon derbyists and other boats at the Columbia River mouth were hoisted by the weather bureau tonight from the mouth of the river to Cape Blanco, Ore.

Quake Felt

ABERDEEN, Wash., Aug. 31 (AP).—A slight earthquake was felt by Grays Harbor residents about 4:15 p.m. today.

19,000 Homes Suffer Damage

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 31 (INS)—An incomplete Red Cross survey showed today that 105 persons were injured, 173 homes were destroyed and more than 19,000 homes were damaged in six South Florida counties struck by the hurricane last week-end.

The disaster survey covered Palm Beach, St. Lucie, Martin, Broward, Okeechobee and Indian River counties.

Decade Now Elapsed Since War Started

Ten years ago on Saturday, Britain declared war on the German Reich.

Most people had nursed hopes for peace through the edgy months of crisis, but in September all except the chronic optimists stopped hoping. All hope ended ten years ago today, on September 1, 1939, when Adolf Hitler made a new series of demands on Poland, and sent the Nazi panzer divisions racing across the frontier without waiting for a reply.

The millions of people who sat by their radios or pressed close to newspaper bulletin boards were fairly certain then that Neville Chamberlain had carried his umbrella to Berchtesgarten for the last time.

SENT ULTIMATUM

Britain and France, guarantors of Poland, pondered while bombs fell on Warsaw. Then they sent Germany an ultimatum, withdraw or fight.

At 11 a.m. British Summer Time, 2 a.m. Pacific Standard Time, Sunday, September 3, the ultimatum expired. Britain declared war on Germany, and France followed.

Independent Canada prepared, but made her way to Britain's side at her own speed. For the first time, she declared war separately.

Parliament was immediately summoned to a special session September 7, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that the War Measures Act had been invoked.

Parliament gave its sanction September 9, and on September 10 Canada was at war.

OPINIONS DIFFERED

Despite indifference and opposition, the Dominion had been making ready for some time before that. Many said that the preparations were inadequate. Others contended that there should have been no preparations at all.

Over several months, the pages of The Daily Colonist were sprinkled with pictures of Victoria youths setting out for Britain to enlist.

By August 23, when the King suddenly ended his Scottish holiday at Balmoral to return to Buckingham Palace, Brigadier W. W. Foster had pledged 60,000 Canadian

Move Arouses New Hope In Dock Tie-Up

HONOLULU, Aug. 31 (INS)—New hope was seen today for settlement of Hawaii's bitter 123-day-old dock strike as C.I.O. longshoremen and management prepared to open negotiations in New York September 7.

The forthcoming parleys mark a major break in the walkout, since the seven struck stevedoring companies had up to now steadfastly refused to enter talks outside of the Islands.

Employer spokesman W. R. Starr declared, however, that the stevedoring firms "do not approach the prospects of the New York talks with optimism."

Federal Conciliator Chief Cyrus Ching is to take part in the negotiations. He had been asked to come to Honolulu to aid the discussions but replied that he was unable to make the trip because of the press of other business.

Third Storm In Atlantic Gains Strength

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 31 (INS)—A new tropical storm—third spawned in the Atlantic within two weeks—caused the Weather Bureau to hoist northeast storm warnings today from Dominica southward to St Lucia.

The storm—small now but increasing in intensity—was reported moving across the Atlantic toward Windward Islands.

The advisory warned small craft to remain in port for the next 24 hours.

GIVEN WARNING

It also advised all interests in the path of the storm to take precautions against increasingly southerly winds after the passage of the centre as the eastern sector is to be more dangerous.

The Weather Bureau also ordered a change to southwest storm warnings from Barbados Grenada.

A 5 p.m. (E.S.T.) advisory said the storm was centred at that hour near latitude 13.4 north, longitude 59.6 west, or just north of the Island of Barbados. The disturbance was first observed last night.

The storm is moving west-northwestward about 10 to 12 miles an hour, and is attended by winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour over an area covering 75 miles east of the center.

Winds of 25-35 miles an hour were reported 50 to 70 miles west of the center.

Mishap Kills Island Logger

CAMPBELL RIVER, Aug. 31.—T. S. Leland, 38, was instantly killed when hit on the back of the head by a flying chock. He was employed as a bucker by the Salmon River Logging Company. An inquest will be held in Campbell River police court at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Ole Storr, woods foreman for Bloedel, Stewart & Welch, Ltd., at Camp Five, suffered severe injuries to his legs when a runaway flat car loaded with logs crashed into a locomotive upon which he was standing. Robert Langdon took him to the Vancouver General Hospital in a B.C. Air Lines plane. Several other men involved in the accident were treated for shock and minor injuries at Lourdes Hospital, Campbell River.

Yugoslavia Assails Actions of Russia

Claims Soviet Tries to Place Nation in "Subdued" State

BELGRADE, Sept. 1 (Thursday) (CP).—Yugoslavia today accused Russia of using force to place her in an "unequal and subdued position."

The charge was made in an editorial in the Communist newaper Borba, official voice of the Government of Premier Tito. The editorial was released by the Ministry of Information in advance of publication.

It came amid a flood of unconfirmed rumors about Soviet troop movements hard by Yugoslavia's borders. Thus far Yugoslavia has denied officially any "unusual" troop movements on her part, but Tito has cautioned his fighting men to remain on the alert.

The Borda editorial listed a number of charges against Russia and the Soviet-dominated satellite states in the Balkans' cold war of nerves.

CHARGES ESPIONAGE

They included organization of an economic blockade against Yugoslavia, provocation of border incidents, sending spies into the country and threats against the Government.

Borba charged Russia, with attempting to "force upon our Socialist country controls necessary to bring her into an unequal and subdued position."

This has been the basis of the row between the Russians and the Yugoslavs. Tito has demanded an "equal voice" with Moscow in determining the affairs of Communist-ruled countries. So far the demand has been spurned by Russia.

There was speculation without confirmation on a report that Premier Tito would send his case against Russia to the United Nations Security Council.

STIFF NOTE

It is considered certain that a stiff note is being written in reply to Russia's newest official charge that Tito's regime is a double-crossing stooge of the Western Powers.

Russia and Yugoslavia have been at political odds since June, 1948, when the Cominform bloc of Eastern Europe ousted Tito after accusing him of deviating from Moscow's Marxist-Leninist line.

Cities Fall To Rebels

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 31 (AP).—The Government announced tonight the fall of two more cities to Rightist rebels who earlier had been forced to surrender their stronghold at Cochabamba, a city of 90,000.

The Government confirmed the rebels had taken Yacuiba, an important oil centre on the Argentine frontier, and Sucre, 250 miles southeast of La Paz.

FOUR CENTRES HELD

This made four important centres in the hands of forces led by the National Revolutionary Party (M.N.R.), which launched a revolt Saturday to overthrow Bolivia's middle-of-the-road Government.

The others are Santa Cruz, in the Eastern-Bolivian oil-fields, and Potosi in the tin-mining south.

Navy 'Scooped' On Picture By Restaurant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (INS)—A prized and private Navy photograph was discovered hanging in a swank capital cafe today and the high braid is hot after the culprit—an elbow-bending officer.

The picture was a crystal-clear aerial view of Washington snapped at 48,000 feet by a jet-driven Banshee fighter plane. It was to have been unveiled as a Navy broadside at the vulnerability of the B-36 bomber during the recent Congressional investigation.

The picture, however, was first bared to the public eye as a mural, four times its original size, in the "Club 400." Manager Norman Bonze said he had picked it up in a booth vacated by the tippling Navy officer and thought it the best aerial view of the Capital he had ever seen.

Bonze later learned that the Navy had taken such a picture and would release it in about ten days.

The manager rightly assumed the picture was the same one adorning his wall and pasted the clipping under the mural. A mild sensation ensued.

The restaurateur said there was no identification on the print and nothing to indicate that it might be considered a military secret—which the Navy later said it was not.

The service confirmed that the picture was to have been presented at the B-36 hearing to prove the Banshee's high-altitude usefulness and that a plane of its type could bag the big bomber with ease.

U.S. Lines May Buy Jet Planes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (CP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (Dem., Colo.) was reported today to have been informed that several United States air lines are interested in buying British and Canadian jet transport planes.

A member of the staff of the Senate interstate and foreign commerce committee, of which Johnson is chairman, said the senator was given that information by "a prominent figure in the air transport industry."

Johnson is at his home in Colorado.

MAKE ARRANGEMENTS

The committee official was quoted by the American aviation daily as saying the "several" companies have arranged to purchase British-made jets during the next two years.

He told The Canadian Press however, that Johnson's information is that no definite purchase plan had been arranged. Furthermore, the United States airlines were not as interested in Canada's Avro X 102 as in Britain's Comet.

(The Avro and the Comet still are in the experimental state. The United States has not yet produced a jet transport.)

Undergound Threatened By Red Czech Officials

PRAGUE, Aug. 31 (CP)—Communist-run Czecho-Slovakia warned today that all underground activity will be ruthlessly suppressed.

The controlled press issued the warning on the heels of Prague's announcement Tuesday that an armed revolt aimed at overthrowing the Government has been crushed.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Vienna, quoting sources in the Austrian Foreign Office, said that Czech guards tonight sealed the frontier between Czecho-Slovakia and Austria. No one was allowed to enter or leave Czecho-Slovakia, the Austrian sources said.)

ATTACKS ON "WEST"

The Czech press also published a rash of new attacks on the Western powers. It accused them of supporting and directing the underground in Czecho-Slovakia.

Through its press, the Communist regime warned that jail terms await any citizen who knows about anti-Government plotting and fails to tell police about it promptly.

"We should remember," the newspaper Obrana Lidu said, "that our law No. 35 provides prison terms of one to five years for failure to report such activities."

This paper and the newspaper Lidova Noviny accused certain unnamed Western diplomats in Prague of promising that "clouds of parachutists" would be sent to support a revolution in Czecho-Slovakia.

The whole Czech press sought to convince the Czech people that informing on their fellow-citizens, even their friends, is not a shameful practice if state security is involved.

NO SENTIMENT

"We must not be sentimental or ashamed about being an informer where the welfare of the state is concerned," Obrana Lidu said.

The Government's announcement Tuesday disclosing the smashing of an armed uprising said six accused persons were sentenced to death. Ten, including three women, got life jail terms, and an unspecified number drew prison sentences ranging from one to 25 years. Ten others were acquitted.

Says Fellow Soviet Flyer Soon Will Die in Russia

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (INS)—Piotr Pirogov described today his unsuccessful efforts to prevent the return of fellow-airman Anatol Barsov to Russia and predicted that Barsov will "die like a dog" within six months.

Lieut. Barsov, Soviet air force "deserter" who enjoyed United States hospitality for ten months, walked across a Danube River bridge in Austria today and vanished behind the Russian "iron curtain."

Escorting United States officers delivered the 29-year-old airman to Soviet guards at the Linz-Urfahr zonal occupation border 95 miles west of Vienna after he had been quoted as saying: "I am a Russian citizen. I want to go back to Russia."

Pirogov also branded his one-time "partner in flight" a "fool," and said Barsov is "weak."

He discounted any possibility that the Soviets might have permitted Barsov to accompany him on their escape from Russia so that Barsov could spy in the United States, explaining:

"If they wanted someone to spy, they would have chosen someone a little less stupid!"

Pirogov, now writing his memoirs, was interviewed in New York offices of his publishers. His book, tentatively entitled "My First Twenty Years," is scheduled for publication in February.

His vain attempts to talk Barsov out of returning to Russia started in New York in the last week of July, Pirogov said, and were climaxed in Washington during the first week of August when he was rescued from a "Soviet trap" by four friends.

Pirogov, now living in hiding in a New York suburb, said that when Barsov came to his New York hotel room in late July, he tried to convince Pirogov to quit writing the book.

"Barsov told me he had been in contact with the Soviet Embassy," Pirogov related, "and said that if I tore up my contract and gave back the advance I had received, he would see that the money was paid back to me.

"He also told me that if he returned to the Soviet Union alone, he would perhaps be put on trial, but if both of us returned and would tell through the Soviet press the 'realities' and our disillusionment in the United States, he was guaranteed there would be no reprisals against us."

Pirogov said he turned down both offers. He added that during one of their conversations in a New York bar they were "watched by a Soviet agent."

Fare Decision On October 8

The Public Utilities Commission will make its decision October 8 on the application of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines for an increase in fares on its Up-Island routes, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman, said yesterday.

The Commission is at present studying the company's books.

Odom's Speed Best in Trial At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31 (AP). — Bill Odom, who made his fame using the globe for a speed course, showed he isn't [illegible] around the pylons of a [illegible] of 405.5 miles an hour.

His speed around the 15-mile seven-leg course was the best among the first dozen open-class qualifying flights for the National Air Races. Only the fastest ten among 24 entrants will start the Thompson Trophy race Labor Day. The fastest 20 will be eligible for one of two other races Saturday and Sunday. The three events carry a total of $55,000 in prizes.

Odom is flying a North American F-51 Mustang entered by Jacqueline Cochran, also a noted race pilot.

Odom holds the round-the-world record of slightly more than 73 hours and the distance non-stop record for light planes at nearly 5,000 miles.

Biggest surprise in the day's flying was the modest 370 miles an hour turned in by Flt. Lt. James H. G. McArthur of Edmonton.

McArthur, Scottish-born R.C.A.F. fighter pilot, flew a stripped-down supermarine Spitfire, a sleek British job decommissioned by the Canadian forces just in time for the races.

Fire Damages Peat Factory; Toll $25,000

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP). — A raging fire in a suburban Burnaby peat factory caused an estimated $250,000 damage today.

The blaze, eating its way through 45,000 bales of harvested peat, destroyed a 630-foot drying shed, three buildings and machinery at the Coast Peat Company factory.

Every available Burnaby fireman was thrown into the fight against the rampaging flames, but lack of water prevented them from overcoming the fire.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

The peat was stacked three to five inches deep in the 130-acre field adjacent to the factory, and firemen today were striving to save 19,000 yards of peat heaped in a corner of the burning area.

The $45,000 bales in the drying shed were worth an estimated $100,000, and the loss, which includes the building, peat in the field, and machinery, amounts to $250,000.

Nylon Seat Covers Colorful, Washable

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (INS). —Nylon, which began its career by walking the streets on feminine feet, will now take to the road on wheels.

The first nylon automobile seat slip covers have just reached the market. They're washable, wrinkle-proof, weather-resistant and come in a colorful array of solids, patterns and prints.

For washing, the slip covers [illegible] ing two hidden hooks on the lower side of the seat. Afterwards, they're replaced while wet and a rubber cable over the back of the seat holds them snugly in place. The covers slip on, but don't slip.

Bomber Crash Fatal to Ten

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 31 (INS)—All ten crewmen aboard a giant P.B.M. Martin Mariner were believed to have been killed today when the patrol bomber crashed into the fog-shrouded Pacific two miles west of North Island Navy Yard.

Spokesmen for the 11th Naval District said that "four officers and six enlisted men aboard the plane are presumed to have perished."

Red Army Would Face Problem In Transportation Difficulties

Eastern armies and the armed forces of the satellite states, is estimated at 5,300,000 men.

In comparison, the Atlantic Pact powers, including the United States, have approximately 3,700,000 men under arms in air, land and sea services.

However, the Western forces are spread over three continents and are loosely organized. In contrast, the Soviet bloc's fighting men are compactly grouped, organized mainly as fighting units and backed by a far greater number of reserves than the West has available.

Furthermore, the three armed services of the Soviet Union are known to have been undergoing intensive reformation and re-equipment with a two-fold objective:

1. To make all major branches of Soviet military, naval and air power into semi-independent, self-supporting units, capable of carrying on a war even if Russia's great cities have been destroyed and the lines of communication disrupted;

NEW WEAPONS

2. To train all three services in the use of new weapons, taking advantage especially of the technical knowledge gained from study of German war material and equipment furnished by the United States and Great Britain during the war.

The Red Army has devoted a great deal of attention to anti-tank weapons since the end of the last war. The Soviets now are believed to have an anti-tank gun whose piercing power is as great as that of any similar weapon in the world.

Another significant development in Russia's postwar armament plans is concentration on the production of new anti-aircraft guns. All the Russian divisions are reportedly well-equipped with these German-designed ack-ack weapons.

Since faulty transportation was recognized as one of Russia's greatest weaknesses in the 1939-45 war, she now mass-produces jeeps and light and heavy trucks. These might ease her transportation problem somewhat in the event of war. Nevertheless, Western military strategists still believe the difficulty of moving supplies across the continent of Europe would slow up the Red Army much more than any actual resistance if war should come in the near future.

BRAVE AS ANY

While the Russian soldier, generally speaking, is considered to be as brave as any, the American, British and Canadian soldiers would, it is believed, prove superior in individual intelligence, better training, higher morale and more efficient equipment.

However, these qualities might not prove sufficient if the man was outnumbered ten, 20 or 100 to one by well-equipped opponents.

On the naval side of the picture, the Western powers would, of course, dominate the seas. Russia's navy would hardly dare risk a major battle with the great fighting fleets of the United States and Great Britain.

What comparatively few Soviet surface warships are known to exist would except perhaps for brief forays probably remain well within the protection of Russian land-based fighter planes.

America now has 271 combat ships in active service, with an additional 600 in reserve. The British Royal Navy would contribute an additional 200 warships to the Atlantic Pact's naval forces.

The Red navy is believed to be composed of three old battleships, with two new 35,000-ton vessels nearing completion. It also has 16 heavy cruisers, six light cruisers and about 100 destroyers.

Strongest arm of the Soviet navy is thought to be its submarine fleet, with at least 200 and possibly considerably more swift underwater craft. Of this number, about 150 are believed equipped with the German Schnorkel apparatus enabling the submarine to remain submerged for long periods.

SECRET METHOD

However, both the American and British navies reportedly have developed a new and highly secret method of detecting Schnorkel-equipped submarines.

Nevertheless, it is considered likely that the Soviet submarine fleet would prove a serious menace to Western shipping, especially during the early stages of a war.

Rusia's rocket developments also are believed to be well-advanced, and might prove dangerous weapons on long-range Soviet submarines.

In fact, Western intelligence reports have indicated that experimental launchings of V2-type rockets from ocean-going submarines have been conducted at the Soviet naval base at Vladivostok.

It is considered conceivable that Soviet submarines equipped with rocket-firing devices might attempt hit and run attacks on American Coastal cities, such as San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York and Boston, in the event of war.

How strong would Russia's aerial might prove to be in comparison with the Western air forces in case of sudden war, will be outlined tomorrow in the fourth of this series of six articles by Kingsbury Smith.

Britain Declared War Ten Years Ago Saturday

Legion veterans to be at Canada's service "in case of emergency."

Victoria and District Canadian Legion wired Prime Minister King, urging him to pledge all Canada's power in Britain's support.

CRISIS SENSED

The Colonist placed itself at the [illegible] action and more awareness of the danger. An editorial on August 25 pointed out that "the man in the street" sensed crisis "while British Columbia Cabinet members went on holiday and business jaunts in seeming unconcern."

Editorials criticized the Cabinet's policy and called for all-out preparedness.

On August 25 Canada called for volunteers in non-permanent units. Locally, Brigadier J. C. Stewart, officer commanding Military District No. 11, sent staff cars about the streets, picking up militia volunteers to man 9.2-inch coast defence guns.

Then a full-scale recruiting drive opened, and officers denounced employers who refused to release militiamen from jobs.

Clergymen preached "watchfulness" sermons; Premier T. D. Patullo continued his aerial inspection of Far North oil potentialities; representatives of 800 women's service clubs declared themselves ready to "do their bit;" Acting-Premier John Hart announced that 30 vital points in the province were under armed guard.

MILITIA CALLED

With proclamation of the War Measures Act, September 1, all militiamen were called to uniform. The navy announced all vessels leaving Victoria Harbor would be rigidly inspected, and might be fired upon if they approached without authority. A force of 37 special constables mounted a 24-hour guard over Victoria watershed.

Dispatches sent across the Atlantic through hastily-organized censorship told of the evacuation of 3,000,000 people from Britain's cities. From Polish battlefields came contradictory staff communiques.

The Royal Navy called up all its reserves. News stories told how the French army, considered the mightiest in Europe, was mobilizing toward a strength of 8,000,000.

Inch-high headlines in The Colonist September 3 brought the grim message to Victorians: "Britain at War with Germany."

Sombre relief was a common reaction to Chamberlain's message. After the strain of so many months, the world at last knew where it stood—but no one could see the six-year road of blood ahead.

Canada was far away from the war, and much of life went on as [illegible] Colonist which brought the news of war also carried this announcement:

"Tomorrow is Labor Day, a statutory holiday, which will be observed by all departments of the paper. Therefore there will not be a regular edition of The Daily Colonist on Tuesday morning."

However, the paper was on the streets on Monday with an extra telling of the sinking of the Athenia.

Throughout Canada, industry, civil defence and the armed services mobilized.

On September 10, two army divisions were authorized to form the Canadian Active Force. Before the war ended Canada had five divisions, two independent brigades and numerous other formations and headquarters in the field. Thousands of Canadian and Commonwealth airmen had been trained and sent into action. The navy was vastly enlarged, roaming the seas of the world.

The first Canadian troops, numbering 7,500—vanguard of an overseas army totaling 375,000—arrived in the United Kingdom December 17, 1939.

Only 73 Canadian soldiers lost their lives at sea while en route overseas. All of these were lost in the sinking of the Ss. Nerissa, torpedoed 120 miles off Northern Ireland, April 30, 1941.

Canadian troops fought in more countries than ever before: Sicily, Germany, North Africa and Hongkong. Casualties totaled 104,196 for the three services, including 32,046 officers and men killed in action.

The war which started ten years ago was proclaimed to be the largest of all, and the last. Its anniversary finds the world in fear of a repeat performance.

Move Centre To Chungking

CANTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Chungking, capital of wartime China, already has become the Government's administrative centre, an official spokesman said today.

Canton, the refugee capital, remains the political centre and formal seat of government, an official spokesman told The Associated Press.

The foreign diplomatic corps is [illegible] eign Office to move to Chungking. Chungking will succeed Canton as the formal capital when the Reds reach this southern city.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek now is in Chungking conferring with Nationalist generals and war lords.

Takes Risk in Vain In Call for Help

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (INS). —A waitress at a Chicago restaurant risked death today at the hands of three holdup men when she picked up a telephone and announced:

"I can't talk long. But please tell the police there is a robbery at 5080 Elston Avenue."

She slipped back into her seat, unnoticed by the bandit trio, who leisurely took $300 from the till and $150 from the owner's billfold. One of the men selected two bottles of whisky from the bar.

They left as the telephone began ringing.

The waitress, Mrs. Julie Kalseth, 49, answered it.

"This is the police," said the voice at the other end of the line. "What did you say was happening?"

Senator Said Slightly Better

BANFF, Alta., Aug. 31 (CP).—Condition of Senator Ian Alistair Mackenzie of British Columbia tonight was reported as "brighter and showing slight improvement." However hospital authorities said the 59-year-old senator is still in very serious condition.

Senator Mackenzie has been seriously ill since last Monday, when he was stricken with a heart seizure at the nearby Sunshine Lodge moun-

Practising for Labor Day Regatta

Joan Kelter of Victoria Acrobatic Association, daughter of Instructor Ed Kelter, skims the waves at 30 miles an hour behind Ray Jefferson's boat, Tarpon III, off Willows Beach. She is practising aquaplane riding for Cordova Bay Regatta, Labor Day.

Transit Services Braced to Meet Strain of Summer's Last Holiday

Transit men are bracing themselves for a record-smashing Labor Day week-end as thousands of Vancouver Island people rush off in all directions to enjoy the last holiday of Summer.

Loggers will emerge from the woods and clerks from stores and offices, trailing children bent on making the most of the few days that remain before school opening.

All are hoping that this week's sunny spell will hold up. The weatherman is hoping too, but he makes no promises beyond a "clear" forecast for today.

"BIGGEST EVER"

Vancouver Island is celebrating the 55-year-old labor holiday with a "biggest ever" program.

More than 15 separate Victoria and Vancouver Island events from Friday to Monday will lure pleasure-bound travelers and stay-at-homes.

Aircraft, cars, buses, trains, boats and "shanks' mare" will carry thousands to fairs, races, regattas, festivals, ball games, cricket matches, sports days, beaches and parks.

Staterooms and car reservations on Canadian Pacific steamers out of Victoria and Nanaimo, Vancouver and Seattle were booked "almost solid" last night.

There were still plenty of tickets left for foot passengers, however.

30 EXTRA FLIGHTS

Trans-Canada Air Lines, with 30 extra flights in four days between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, reported yesterday that nearly all seats are already booked.

Black Ball Ferry Lines are expecting heavy traffic to and from Seattle, and Vancouver Island Coach Lines officials foresee record-breaking Up-Island traffic.

In addition to the regular Up-Island train, E. & N. Railway is running a special excursion to Nanaimo, leaving Victoria at 9 a.m. on Monday, Labor Day. Excursion, an annual affair, is sponsored by Nanaimo Post, Native Sons of B.C.

CROWD-PULLER

Native Sons' track and field meet is a big Labor Day crowd-puller.

Metchosin Fair on Friday is the first South Vancouver Island event of the week-end.

On Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Victoria, Maple Bay and Nanaimo Yacht Clubs will sponsor the annual Cowichan Bay sailing regatta.

The Up-Island centre of Bowser will hold a dance, raffle and other celebrations Saturday in connection with the opening of the new clubhouse of Bowser and District Branch 211, Canadian Legion.

Salt Spring Island's regatta will be held at Vesuvius Bay on Sunday.

PAUL BUNYAN DAY

Port Alberni's Paul Bunyan Day celebrations Saturday, Sunday and Monday are shaping up as the biggest festival in the history of the Twin Cities. Events will include a spectacular air show, loggers' sports, track and field day, children's sports and Salmon Derby.

Campbell River Monday will hold loggers' sports, parade, drawing for cars and a playhouse, and a dance in the auditorium of the partly-completed new school. Drawing is sponsored by the Campbell River Memorial Hall and Youth Centre Association, and the dance is sponsored by Kinsmen.

The first Western Canada championship event for outboard motor boats will be held at Shawnigan Lake on Monday afternoon.

More than 30 craft will skim over the waters of Cordova Bay Monday in the second annual postwar motorboat regatta of Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association.

OLDEST EXHIBITION

Courtenay Fair, Saturday, Sunday and Monday will be the week-end drawing card for Courtenay, Comox and Cumberland.

North and South Saanich Agricultural Society's 81st annual Autumn Exhibition, oldest continuous Autumn fair in the West, will be opened in Saanichton Agricultural Hall at 2 p.m. Monday by Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A.

Labor Day program at Lake Cowichan will include loggers' sports, children's races, and crowning of the "Lady of the Lake."

In Victoria, three Langford Speedway race drivers, Jack Spaulding, Digger Caldwell and Brownie Brown, will take their chances in non-powered vehicles as part of the fun in Knights of Pythias' fifth annual soap box derby. They will race down Moss Street hill from Fort Street to Sir James Douglas School.

YOUNG DRIVERS

Younger drivers will compete for prizes which include a $100 scholarship and a new bicycle. Checking of entries will take place at 9:30 a.m., and races start at 10 a.m.

Bremerton and Victoria will clash on Monday in the season's Western International League windup, a double-header at Royal Athletic Park.

There will be an inter-city cricket match between Victoria and Vancouver on Monday at Beacon Hill Park.

On Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Victoria's Douglas Tire softballers will meet Mainland champions at Central Park in the Senior A men's softball finals.

Oil Exploration in Charlottes Planned by Canadian Company

Royalite Oil Company Ltd. plans oil exploration work in the Queen Charlotte Islands, Premier Byron I. Johnson announced yesterday.

Premier Johnson said he had conferred earlier this week with S. F. Heard, president of the company, who had announced the company's intention to carry out "geophysical and geological explorations and other development work."

The property which the company proposes to develop is under permit to the Britalta Petroleums Ltd., and comprises 230,000 acres on Graham Island.

Oil seepage and tar outcroppings have been noticed in the Queen Charlottes over a number of years.

BLANKET RESERVE

In order to protect public interest during the development period a blanket reserve has been placed on all other lands in the Queen Charlotte group, Premier Johnson said.

This would allow the Government to reap the benefit of any increase in land values which might result from the discovery of a large oil pool.

The Premier said discovery of oil in the Queen Charlottes would be of immense economic value to this province since production would be close to seaboard transportation. This would overcome transportation barriers which now exist in shipping oil from Alberta to Coast refineries.

"It is particularly gratifying," said Premier Johnson, "that the work is being carried out by a wholly-owned Canadian company."

Martha Logan's Swift'ning* COLUMN

Your family will want second helpings of this grand pudding. It combines butterscotch and coconut, and made with digestible, nutritious Swift'ning, it gives you a treat you'll be proud to serve.

COCONUT BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING

2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ tsps. single-acting baking powder
½ tsp. salt
8 tbsps. Swift'ning
½ cup fine granulated sugar
¾ cup milk
1½ cups shredded coconut
1½ cups brown sugar
1½ cups boiling water

Measure flour and add baking powder and salt. Cream quick-mixing Swift'ning slightly and gradually blend in granulated sugar. Sift in dry ingredients alternately with milk, combining after each addition. Spread mixture in well-greased deep baking dish. Sprinkle batter with coconut, then pour in syrup, made by dissolving brown sugar in boiling water. Let stand 10 minutes, then bake in moderate oven, 350°F, about 45 minutes. Serve hot with cream, plain or whipped.

FREE: For your free copy of my new Swift'ning Recipe Book, send name and address, one Swift'ning box top, to: Martha Logan, Dept. OA 114, Swift Canadian Co. Limited, Toronto 9, Ontario.

Negotiations on Bus Fares Scheduled Later This Week

Negotiations between the B.C. Electric Company, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines and the Greater Victoria transportation committee are scheduled to begin later this week, it was learned yesterday.

B.C. Electric officials said yesterday no specific increase in fares had been suggested. E. W. Arnott, B.C. Electric vice-president for Vancouver Island, said the application resulted from the agreement reached when interim agreement was granted October 8. It was agreed that the fare established then would be put on trial, he said, and the trial period had shown costs "gravely in excess of revenue."

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, said the commission would not enter the picture until negotiations were completed between the Greater Victoria committee and the two transportation companies. Decision on whether a public hearing will be held will await the results of these negotiations, he said.

The commission must give final approval to any new arrangement which is worked out.

CHAIN ACCIDENT

City police reported a minor chain accident on Blanshard Street between Yates and Johnson Streets at 2:20 p.m. yesterday.

They said a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus, driven by Kenneth John Eaton, 415 Dunedin Street, was in collision with a car driven by Gertrude I. Bernard, Ganges, whose car in turn, was in collision with a parked car owned by Peter Rapanos, 2733 Bowker Avenue.

Two bus passengers, William Warren and a Mrs. Clark, both of 1254 Tyndall Street, suffered slight bruises. Gertrude Bernard was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for a check and release.

SHADE FOR HORSES

The local branch of the S.P.C.A. yesterday asked City Council to see that tallyho horses are not required to stand long hours under the hot sun.

"This society has been receiving complaints regarding tallyho horses being permitted to stand in the sun for considerable periods during the hot weather," declared James Barr, president of the Victoria S.P.C.A.

He said it was understood that tallyhos were permitted to stand only in spaces allotted by council and suggested that owners be allotted an area "which would give some shade from the sun or should such an area not be available, the owners of the tallyhos should be required to provide some temporary means of providing shade for the horses in the hot weather."

Will Study Rate Change

Alderman Harold Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, stated last night that he hoped to call the committee together for a meeting before the end of this week to consider the notification given by the B.C. Electric Railway Company and the Vancouver Island Coach Lines that they were seeking fare increases.

"We're not ready to accept holus-bolus a statement by the company that they want more money," he stated. "We want to know why. And then see how little will satisfy them."

It's the Public Pays the Piper

As predicted, application for an increase in local transit fares within the three and a half-mile circle has come, and will shortly be argued before the Public Utilities Commission. Any attempt, however, to compare Victoria with Vancouver in transit operations, or to eliminate altogether the commuter's pass should be resisted by the four municipal corporations concerned. Victoria has no urban ride one hour long, while Vancouver has. Commuters' privileges were firmly written into the deal after the first franchise bid had been rejected, although there have been two attempts to remove them since.

There is no reason to doubt the word of the two operating companies that transit costs have climbed. Part of that would have come with a growing inflation anyway. Some of it is reflected in higher material costs for maintenance, replacement and repairs. The big item no doubt is the wage bill, and there the operating companies had their hands forced by Government action at the time of actual and threatened operators' strikes on two occasions. When the "Wismer formula" was accepted higher bus fares became inevitable, but it is the public who pays.

What Greater Victoria can, and should, insist upon is the distinction of its own case. This is a small, compact, closely-knit community of no resemblance at all to the spread-eagled metropolis of Vancouver. The transit users originally were promised "one of the cheapest tariffs on the continent," a dollar weekly commuter's pass, full transfer privileges, a convenient and fast service, and so forth. Little by little that bargain has been shaded. The dollar pass went up to $1.35, and the cash and ticket fares were increased. Transfers remain, but not everyone has been satisfied as to the convenience or frequency of the resulting service.

The salient question now is how much of an increase are the transit operators going to ask? Until that is known officially the request cannot be properly assessed.

There Should Be an End to Shilly-Shallying

PERHAPS a "no action" sign should be erected at the Fountain intersection. That dangerous corner badly lacks traffic arrangement, as Victorians well know, but at least this would serve as a guide-post to one thing—the vacillation of a City Council which cannot make up its mind. The latest debate on Fountain traffic plans has left the subject precisely where it has been for too long—nowhere.

Miracles are not expected, nor may the perfect plan be found all at once. What is essential is that something positive be done about remedying the present state of affairs. Citizens have a right to look for an end to the succession of references from one authority to another. Plans galore have been advanced to cure the Fountain bottleneck during the past three years. The point at issue is that none of them have been tried. Instead there has been a continuous shilly-shallying on the matter.

In a lesser degree the same inaction has marked the "broom jungle" on Dallas Road, concerning which nearby property owners have made strong protest. This unsightly growth has allegedly become a public convenience as well as a public inconvenience, a fact that would warrant its immediate elimination. Here again there has been dilatory attention to a matter of import to the city and its inhabitants.

A more positive approach to civic problems of this nature would seem to be definitely in order. Particularly in the case of the Fountain intersection does the situation call for remedial action. Better to make a trial start than to make none at all; and by this time ample opportunity has been given the City Council to make up its mind about one or other of the plans on hand.

Saanich Prepares for Its Eighty-First Fair

BY long odds the most energetic agricultural and livestock exhibition on Vancouver Island in the course of the year is that staged annually by the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, in business since 1868. Next week the society will present its 81st show, with the good will and interest of every community on the Island. Since its inception the Saanich Fall Fair has remained true to its initial purpose; to show what Saanich can do on the land and to bring neighbors together.

Since Victoria lost its fair grounds and fair, the Saanich exhibition has assumed far greater importance in this area. The integration of the needs of city and country is nowhere better seen than at such displays. It would be a poor day for Victoria if the Saanich Fair folded up. Happily there is little chance of that happening. Saanich, North and South, goes into the festival with energy, effectiveness and heartiness that would have warmed the hearts of the old-time pioneers.

In that Saanich is running true to form, because some of the earliest farms on Vancouver Island were established on its sunny acres almost a hundred years ago. So it is in order to wish for many happy returns of the Saanich Fall Fair.

AUSTRALIAN TROPICS

Sir,—A very interesting article on South Pacific themes in interior designing in The Daily Colonist Magazine for Sunday, August 21, speaks incidentally of "trophies gathered from Australia, New Guinea and other well-known tropical lands."

It is, of course, strictly true that more than a third of Australia (1,149,320 out of 2,974,581 square miles) lies within the tropics. Essentially, however, Australia is a country of the South Temperate Zone. Rather less than 3 per cent of Australia's population lives within the tropics. New Guinea, of course, is wholly tropical.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Sir,—I am just about to leave your city by the ferry to Seattle, and I feel that I cannot leave without a few words of appreciation for your hospitality and courtesy shown us on this final holiday on your Island. We have visited Victoria many times before; in fact over a period of some ten to fifteen years we have come to you from time to time. But somehow, if you will forgive me saying so, I don't figure we shall be coming again. You see, things have changed a lot in little old Victoria; I guess the change is called "progress" by your Corporation, but to us—well, it's a pity.

We admire your slogans, and I don't deny they are attractive to us across the international border who have not been up here for a bit. "Follow the Birds to Victoria," and very nice too. There are the birds all right, flying around your beautiful Legislative Buildings, with its fancy lawn, which I myself would give quite a wad to be able to copy in my own yard, back home. And your harbor too; I have heard it said that you ought to clean that up a bit, tear down a few of the old buildings, and whatnot, but I don't know; it looks natural that way to me, and not too fancy, as though it was tricked up for the tourists. Businesslike, as a harbor should be.

Then your "City of Gardens," that's all right too. You've got some peachy gardens there, and your folks seem sort of dyed-in-the-wool gardeners to be able to produce yards like that.

But your last and biggest slogan—"A Little Bit of Old England"—no sir! To advertise Victoria as that is nothing more than bunk. Victoria is no more like England now than Seattle or Portland, or a hundred other towns way back in my country. I say "now," for she used to be, but someone has spoiled all that. Someone seems to have gone all out to copy our country and every least little thing, so that now, when we come on a vacation to see something different, and maybe a spot of "old-world," we might as well stay home and take a walk down Main Street for all the change we get . . .

MOLESTED

Sir,—I am completely in accord with your editorial of last week concerning the mean theft of the savings of an 83-year-old man. Although of less importance, other deplorable acts happen in Victoria. For instance, a few days ago, I was insulted and menaced by a man of about 35 years of age, in my own property, without provocation on my part, with the false pretence that I had him involved by telephone in a disagreement with some other persons. I have no knowledge about this man, he is not my neighbor. I never met him before. I hope that these happenings will not occur too often, for the good name of Canada.

From "Reveille"

Up, lad, up, 'tis late for lying;
Hear the drums of morning play.
Hark, the empty highways crying
"Who'll beyond the hill away?"

Towns and countries woo together
Forelands beckon, belfries call:
Never lad that trod on leather
Lived to feast his heart with all.

Up, lad, thews that lie and cumber
Sunlit pallets never thrive;
Morns abed and daylight slumber
Were not meant for man alive.

Clay lies still, but blood's a rover;
Breath's a ware that will not keep.
Up, lad: when the journey's over
There'll be time enough to sleep.

WHAT would it be like, I wonder, to live in the same place all one's life? To stay put from the cradle to the grave?

That intriguing question intruded itself when I was on holiday. Not that I was comparing where I was with where I came from, and so philosophizing on the advantages of travel. It was the accident of fate that set the query in motion; accident in the form of a magazine.

I meant to be a serious student of literature while on vacation, and two heavy tomes taken along helped to weigh down my suitcase. They were still there, unopened, when I came back. My reading matter consisted solely of casual magazines and the daily columns of the Old Lady of Broad Street.

Thus it came about that on a dullish afternoon I sat idly in an easy chair, turning the pages of one of the periodicals fortunately provided by the hostelry for such occasions. It was the picture of an old fisherman that arrested my attention. He was 83, and all of his years had been spent in Ardrishaig, the caption said.

Ardrishaig, as it happens, is in Scotland, but the old chap could have belonged to any place. There are many people who have never strayed far from their native precincts, even in Victoria in this year of grace 1949. The travel bug is not all-catching. Neither is the means of transportation. Just recently I heard of a lady of mature years who this Summer took her first trip in a train—yet who had traveled by plane more than once.

* * *

Right off the bat you would be inclined to say that this old fisherman, or his likeness in Victoria, had missed a lot by sticking close to his knitting in the one spot. Maybe.

He was born, of course, in an era when his kind were apt to find their life's work close to hand. He would be settled in a rut by the time motor cars became common property and helter-skelter became the common round. The urge to jazz up his tempo of living would likely pass him by, although if he has any grandchildren they are no doubt making up for his deficiency.

'Tis true that there are octogenarians extant who flit about from place to place as though they had wings. I met one yesterday morning, and tourist bureaus know them well. Age is not necessarily a limitation on movement, or on places of abode. Sometimes, indeed, friskiness increases with the years—and sometimes that's more the pity.

This old fisherman, however—perhaps because he was a fisherman—has remained where he was born. Foreign fields have remained foreign, except as they may be viewed in magazine or motion pictures. All he knows about the rest of the world is what he has heard or read. He has no first-hand knowledge of people or places elsewhere.

This might not be the disadvantage it seems, even though it is the fashion to think that the world's ills would be cured if people could get to know one another through exchange of visits, and even though I have just returned from a delightful bit of travel myself.

Most of us, you know, merely take a superficial look at things and an inconsequential interest in other people. We come back from places thinking we know all about them, or we move from one city or country to another and flatter ourselves we are authorities on our former heaths. We are not necessarily so.

You could argue, I warrant, that by staying at home there would be time to mull things over with the calmness that breeds a more proper perspective. Probably that's what the Ardrishaig fisherman has done. He may not be able to tell tall tales of tall places seen from a train, a bus or an automobile, but of a certainty he'll know every inch of his own small bailiwick.

That is more than most of us can claim. I shouldn't wonder if the majority of Victorians, for instance, learn what they know about their own city from the printed word rather than by virtue of their own eyes and ears.

Travel is broadening, stimulating without a doubt—or it should be. But maybe staying put from the cradle to the grave can be too.

Germany in Postwar Europe

This is the third in a series of articles specially written for The Colonist by a Vancouver Island man recently returned from Germany, where he spent several years in the service of British Intelligence.

By DOUGLAS MORRIS

WHEN Germany capitulated in May, 1945, the Allied Armies were greeted more in the role of liberators than as conquerors, and this situation could only have favorable repercussions to the Germans as the occupation became more firmly established. Monty's futile order of non-fraternization could not dispel that feeling, in fact it often helped to convince the hordes of anti-Nazi Germans at that time that they were being liberated from the yoke of Nazi tyranny, and that the order was only for the benefit of the active Nazi Party members, that were openly denounced by party antagonists who were more than eager to curry favor right from the start with Military Government officials, and so temporarily conceal their own misdeeds during the previous regime.

It was here that the Germans gained their initial victories in deciding which road to follow to obtain the greatest benefits in their relationships with members of the occupation forces. Harassed Allied commanders of small towns were faced with a hundred and one varying tasks every minute of each day in attempting to bring order out of the chaos that existed. More often than not they had to rely solely on the word of a German interpreter, who was invariably playing both ends to the middle, and in those circles the Germans, a very disciplined people, saw the enforcement of the non-fraternization order continuously flouted before their eyes, and every advantage was taken of the situation.

* * *

At this stage, the most important task facing each Stadt or town commandant, was the establishment of local councils in the area of his command to initiate and carry on the civic administration under his jurisdiction, and it was here that the Military Government officer first came face to face with political repercussions; for local councils were at that time the only political platform existent in Germany. In his dealings with such German bodies, the Allied representative was faced first of all with the political background of both Germany and its individual council members, and secondly with the foreign policy of the Allied Government he was representing. Under those circumstances, being daily faced with the characteristic aggressiveness of the average small town German politician, and often dealing through an interpreter with them, the enormity of his initial tasks in establishing local government in Germany can be truly appreciated. Being there as an instrument of the government he represented, it was his duty to carry out that policy, loyally and fully, no matter how much he personally disagreed with it.

To determine political friends from political enemies at this time, warranted an intimate study and knowledge of the past as well as the present political setup in Germany, and what had happened after the 1914-18 war. The main factors emerging from that period, briefly sketched, are as follows:

After 1918 the right wing parties in Germany were without exception basically anti-democratic; all their efforts, either legal or illegal, were wholly directed towards the overthrow of the Weimar Republic and supplanting in its place rule by a combined strongly nationalistic and militaristic body such as had existed before 1914 as far back as 1870. The tactics of that so-called conservative regime are too well known to be recounted here, but to the average official working in Germany in 1945 it often proved a very difficult problem to guard against forming a balanced opinion of German and British conservatism.

* * *

Several of the devices and weapons used by the German conservatives between the wars were not fully understood. The organizing of officer groups into lawless bands of gangsters to bump off socialist party leaders, and mayors; engineering periods of inflation to bring about the ruin of the middle class; concentrating power in the hands of cartels and industrialists, and arranging lock-outs of workers; such tactics had not appeared within the orbit of British conservatism, which if defeated in an election loyally took up the reins of opposition. However a grasp of this picture was very necessary in deciding political friends from enemies, and explains why to this date all German right wing parties must forever remain "suspect." Hence, the Allied policy in Germany during this occupation in denying recognition to such political parties as the old Stahlhelm Volkspartei, Deutsch Nationalen, and the destruction of Nazism, has been fully justified, even if that denial has not prevented the continued growth of nationalism.

Another factor of very great significance in the political arena of Germany during the same period between wars, was the attitude of the Communists, who, until Hitler came to power and even after the Ribbentrop-Molotov Pact, were far more interested in attacking their fellow left-wingers, especially the Social Democrats, than they were in attacking the forces of the right.

The important period to be considered from the Allies point of view in determining the politically clean from the unclean for local government seats appears to have been from 1930 to 1933. The behavior of men in those years was a far safer guide to forming a democratic minority than in the analysis of participants in the July 20, 1944, plot.

* * *

First, there came an economic crisis, engineered and exaggerated by the forces of the right to discredit the Republic. This led to the suspension of parliamentary government and the institution of government by decree. This step, it should not be forgotten, was the first great move towards dictatorship and was taken by Bruning, who incidentally was the leader of the Catholic Centrum Partei, and not as is so often thought, the leader of the violent right wing element. Next came the farcical governments of Von Schleicher and Papen, finally followed by Hitler's arrival at the Chancellery. In March, 1933, a special law was brought before the Reichstag to grant him extraordinary powers, and immediately the Deutsch Nationalen and the Volkspartei, with strong backing from various organizations such as the old Stahlhelm and the Kyffhauser Bund, formed a solid block to vote Hitler those special powers, with the Centrum Catholic Partei acquiescing.

The Communists fled, then the storm troopers and the Stahlhelmers surrounding the Reichstag, with the parties of the right forming a solid block within, took control and the vote was cast. Only one party voted against the grant of those special powers and in favor of saving the Republic, that party was the Social Democrats, joined by a few of the more left-wing of the Centrum.

That vote provided the test to be applied in sorting the political wheat from the chaff. Members of parties that had voted in favor of it had to be repudiated for seats on local government councils, while life-long adherents to parties that were against such political knavery were the only men that could be chosen to put into positions of governmental responsibility in the nucleous of a new German government.

"I study astronomy," he replied gravely.

"You do?" she said. "I finished astronomy last year."

Observation Car: By G. R.

FROM an amateur weather forecaster: "One day last week the made-in-Vancouver weather forecast for Victoria indicated a fine day with sun. Actually there were heavy clouds with several hours of rain. My barometer read 29.80 on the change scale at 7 p.m. the previous day, and the relative humidity reading on the hygrometer was 70, indicating a large amount of moisture in the air. Thus it was easy to see there would be no fine, sunny weather on the day to follow. On another occasion during the same week the official forecast was 'cloudy with a few sunny intervals'. Victoria enjoyed many hours of sun on that day. At a late hour the previous night the barometer was 30 on the fair scale, and the relative humidity had dropped to 68, promising fine weather with no cloudiness." . . . From E. V. Durling's column: "Persons who consume large breakfasts are better workers, both morning and afternoon, than those who eat a slim morning meal. A generous morning meal produces energy, and a slim breakfast inspires fatigue. That is why so many stenographers accomplish so little in the morning." . . . The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

IT is hard to realize, when you see a girl of twenty nonchalantly applying lipstick or giving her cheeks a dab of rouge in front of a public mirror or in the reflection of a shop window, that less than the lifetime of that girl, only fifteen or twenty years back, lipstick and rouge were—to the vast majority—taboo.

Only the hussies, and those people of fashion who could risk looking like hussies without suffering the consequences, used lipstick and rouge. As for enameling finger nails, only show people and trollops did such a thing. It was their advertisement.

The whole cosmetic art was practised by a very small and very specialized section of society, where it had belonged for ages and ages. The breakdown of the taboo was sudden. It occurred in what was known as the jazz age, in the middle and late twenties. Students of our troubled century, fifty years hence, will give this breakdown a good deal of study. It is part of an immense emancipation or an immense decline, nobody can now say which.

To suggest that nice girls, twenty-five years ago, did not resort to certain tricks and devices to achieve the same ends as lipstick and rouge, would be unfair. Ask any middle-aged lady to cast her mind back, and she will recollect that the way you brought a little color to your cheeks was by pinching them. And to give a pretty flush to your lips, you bit them!

One of my female in-laws used to sing in the church choir. To have employed either lipstick or rouge in even the most delicate application would have created a scandal in that church that would have shaken its massive limestone. But her recollection is that, just as they lined up in their choir gowns, to file reverently into the church, there was a sudden, last-minute outburst of furious cheek-pinching and lip-biting, in which even that grizzled old soprano, the shrill one, joined.

Each month the moon is said to be in perigee when it is nearest to the earth. When farthest from the earth it is said to be in apogee. The average time from perigee to perigee or from apogee to apogee is 27 days, 13 hours, 18 minutes. This is known as the anomalistic month.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—In line with a policy endorsed by the Provincial Cabinet after the general election, a comprehensive survey is being made of the civil service and its cost to the Province.

50 YEARS AGO—Messrs. Lindley & Foster, taxidermists, Johnson Street, are showing in their window an exhibit of sockeye salmon prepared for the Paris Exposition.

85 YEARS AGO—Mr. C. A. Bayley has started a daily pack train from Victoria to Kennedy Flat, Leech River. The first will leave the Bad House on Yates Street this morning.

Laws Encroach on Individual Rights Bar Association Told by Manning

BANFF, Alta., Aug. 31 (CP).—Canada's legal profession is facing the gravest period in its history, speakers warned today at the opening of the general sessions of the Canadian Bar Association convention.

The warning, main theme of the three principal speakers, was coupled with a challenge to the profession to face boldly the changing conditions in the world and ensure that justice "is fairly and evenly administered."

Premier Ernest C. Manning of Alberta said the whole structure of organized society has become so complex in recent years that it now is necessary to consider "the problem of human relationships on a world-wide scale."

NUMEROUS COMPLEX

He warned that rules and laws governing organized society have become so numerous and complex that they "have encroached upon the inherent rights of the individual."

Stanley S. McCuaig of Edmonton, president of the C.B.A., said that delegates must never allow the law to become static.

"It requires constant remoulding and re-shaping to meet ever-changing conditions," he said.

"It would be foolish on our part to disregard the growing demand that more adequate provisions be made for providing legal service to the poor. Modern life has multiplied legal problems and these are just as acute for the poor as for the well-to-do.

"The time is rapidly approaching when the Crown should make provision for public defenders in criminal cases, who are as competent in the field as are those retained to prosecute."

Interest Rate Said Favorable

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP).—Vancouver will get an interest rate that "is headed in the right direction" from its latest $504,744 debenture bond issue.

The bid is for $99.57 on $100 as compared with the $97.51 offered in the single tender from the East last Spring for the city's $6,000,000 issue.

"It is a very good rate," commented Ald. George Miller, who with Mayor Charles Thompson investigated the Eastern bond market after the last high-interest issue.

The money is being borrowed to finance property-owners' share of local improvement work on sidewalks and paving. It will be repaid in 15 years.

Medical Course Being Drawn Up

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP).—Plans for the new medical school at University of British Columbia, scheduled to open in the Autumn of 1950, are taking shape.

Dr. Myron M. Weaver, head of the new faculty, is planning a four-year medical course, and is already prepared to accept applications from would-be doctors.

The school will be housed in a new $1,500,000 preventive medicine building, now being constructed on the campus.

A 300-400 bed hospital is also planned.

Will Discuss Atomic Safety

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP).—Dr. W. B. Lewis, research director of Canada's atomic energy project at Chalk River, Ont., will represent Canada at a meeting in the United Kingdom next week to discuss atomic safety problems, it was announced today.

The three-power conference among Britain, Canada and the United States will meet September 5-10.

RESTORE CHURCH RELIC

COBHAM, Kent, England (CP).—A marble slap found in the churchyard, and discovered to be the original communion table, has been restored in a new setting in the 13th century parish church here.

ADVENTURE ON WHEELS

HINCKLEY, Leicestershire, Eng. (CP).—Optimistic Albert Allcoat went to Cornwall (450 miles there and back) for a holiday in a 1904 model automobile with brass headlamps. He uses it every day to go to work.

Stiffer Resistance Seen If Hongkong Under Fire

HONGKONG, Aug. 31 (CP).—The British Commander-in-Chief of Hongkong said today any aggression from the China mainland will be met by much stiffer opposition than the Crown Colony offered the Japanese in 1941.

Lt.-Gen. W. Festing, commanding British land, sea and air forces here, said the Japanese gained access to Hongkong from the sea.

"That would not arise today," he told a press conference. "The Japanese also had air power. That also would be different today."

BETTER FORCE

Britain now has a much better balanced force here than in 1941, he said. Adequate land, air and sea reinforcements have been "sent here with a purpose and as part of a considered plan," he added.

Hongkong was well prepared for defence because its guns could concentrate their fire power.

Furthermore, Gen. Festing said, the Crown Colony will soon be as well protected by anti-aircraft guns as London was during the height of the "Blitz" during the World War.

With the South China battlefield daily coming closer to Hongkong's borders—one Communist column reported less than 50 miles away—Gen. Festing said his forces are ready to meet any aggression.

Asked by correspondents what would happen if retreating Nationalists tried to take refuge in the colony, he said, "That is a question I must solve myself."

The commander said his forces were concentrated mainly for defending the district near the Chinese frontier.

Think Arrests May Halt Theft of Cars

TORONTO, Aug. 31 (CP).—One of the largest car theft rings ever to operate in Ontario may have been smashed with the arrests of five men in Hamilton, Toronto police said today.

Police said the ring was responsible for most of new-car thefts in Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls in the last two years. Estimates of the amount of money involved ranged from $100,000 to $150,000.

SUSPECTED LEADER

Three were arrested yesterday and two others this morning. The latest arrest was of James Casey, 40-year-old Hamilton used car dealer whom police named as suspected leader of their ring. He is charged with conspiracy to steal cars. Also arrested this morning was Joe Penno, 22, picked up in a Hamilton garage.

Case and the three men arrested yesterday—Lennis Patterson, 32, of Toronto; Carl Coughlin, 24, of Chapleau, Que.; and Edmund Bisson, 22, of Winnipeg—appeared in magistrate's court in Toronto today on the conspiracy charge and were remanded to September 8. Crown councel said the matter of bail would be settled later.

Also brought to Toronto were three women. Mrs. Margaret Jones, 39, of Winnipeg and her 19-year-old daughter, Doris, are held on charges of theft of a dress and suit from a Toronto department store. A 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jones was picked up but she was not held.

Fatally Injured In Crossing Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont., Aug. 31 (CP).—Eight-year-old Betty Milne died early today from injuries received in a train-automobile collision on a level crossing here last night. Four other members of the family were killed outright.

The little girl died after an emergency operation. She did not regain consciousness.

Cripps, Bevin Sail for Talks

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 31 (CP).—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Foreign Secretary Bevin sailed on the Mauretania today for dollar talks in Washington.

Bevin told reporters it is "probably one of the most important missions in history."

"Unless we can find the right answer to the financial and economic problems, we shall not have laid a sound foundation for the future peace of the world."

WELCOMED SPEECH

He said he welcomed President Truman's speech in Philadelphia Monday promising to help Britain grapple with her economic problems.

"They won't be solved by talking at each other," Bevin said. "They will be solved by talking with one another."

With Bevin and Sir Stafford are 13 aides and experts—six from the treasury and seven from the foreign office.

The two Cabinet members carry a 20,000-word brief—the case for the British-banked sterling area—which they will present to United States and Canadian officials at the conference starting September 7.

Votes Support For Anti-Reds

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31 (AP).—The American Legion called on the United States today to support "any patriotic groups or organizations of Chinese" who would fight Communists.

The resolution, drafted by the Legion's foreign relations committee, was adopted unanimously. A contrary proposal, reported under discussion early this week, to "write off" China as lost, was not offered.

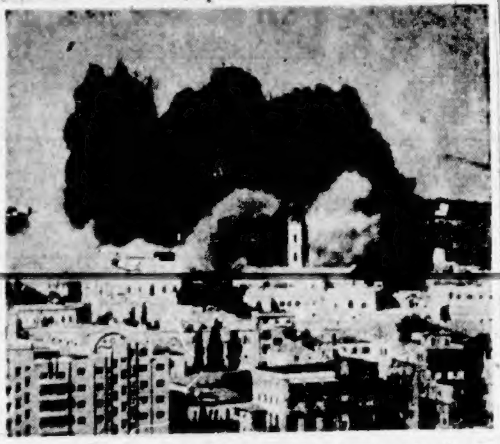
"Peaceful" Explosion in Jerusalem



Three tons of T.N.T. set off in no-man's-land shakes holy city of Jerusalem. The explosive, stored for use during late hostilities, was considered too dangerous to move, and even more dangerous to have lying around. British Unions Support Government Wage Plans

LONDON, Aug. 31 (CP).—Britain's Trades Union Congress made it clear tonight it intends to go along with the Government's "restrained" policy on wages, prices and profits.

In the plainest language it has used to date, the T.U.C. showed it is convinced that Britain, in its present economic crisis, cannot afford higher waves or obtain sweeping reductions in the cost of living.

NO ALTERNATIVE

After a "prolonged and careful study," the Congress said, it is clear there can be no alternative to the policy of restraint on wage claims. Indeed, it urged its affiliated unions to pursue a so-called "wage freeze" with a greater determination than ever.

"At this stage," it said, "a mere general increase in money wages could not bring idle resources into production and would therefore fail to give a higher standard of living than at present.

"And indeed a substantial increase in money wages would in fact intensify both our external and internal difficulties and thereby have an adverse effect upon the general standard of living."

The B.T.U.C. stand was outlined in a special report which will be submitted next week week to the annual conference of the Congress at Bridlington, Yorkshire.

PEACE JEOPARDIZED

The last sentence of the report deals with the possibility of dissent by individual unions. It says that Britain's contribution to world peace will be jeopardized if "trade unions, bereft of any alternative policy, reject all responsibility and proceed to submit wage claims contrary to the policy that the Congress has endorsed."

Korean Envoy Asks U.S. Aid Against Reds

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP).—The ambassador of Korea appealed to President Truman today for military aid to help meet any possible attack by the Soviets.

Declaring "We are right on the spot," the ambassador, Dr. John Myun Chang, said that an attack on the new republic "appears most likely."

"We need very quick action by the United States," he said after a 15-minute conference with Mr. Truman.

He told reporters that he had conveyed a message from his President asking arms and ammunition as quickly as possible.

"We feel that there might be some imminent danger of attack from the North and we should be well prepared for it," the ambassador went on. (The Communists occupy Northern Korea.)

"We have every expectations of the passage of the Military Aid Bill (now pending in the Senate). We dant quick action on the part of the United States in supplying us arms and ammunition to the maximum degree of allocation. We feel that we are right on the spot and entitled to prime consideration. There is no time to waste."

He said Korea felt President Truman is "doing his utmost to get all these things done and comply with our request."

Says Derby Barrel Will Roll Monday—

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. Aug. 31 (CP).—Rotary committee chairman Joe Haddock said today the Rotary barrel will roll Monday, despite Post Office action in cancelling all mailing facilities for the sweep.

W. E. McLean, district Post Office inspector, told the Rotary by letter that "evidence has been received that the mails are being used for the distribution of tickets and literature" for the contest.

He said betwen 1,000 and 1,500 ticket stubs had been seized by his department, and will be returned to their senders.

Mr. Haddock commented that the postal action did not concern the sweep's legality, and said that 10,000 tickets had so far been sold.

The barrel will be launched at Lytton for its turbulent 200-mile trip down the Fraser River to Pattullo Bridge here.

Reports of Recruiting Drag Worry Into Open

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By SIGRID ARNE
A. P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

News from Berlin puts clothes on a ghost that has been stalking the Government corridors of London and Washington.

From two different Berlin sources come reports that Germans in the Russian zone are being recruited into an army for the Yugoslav-Bulgarian border.

British, American and Yugoslav officials are playing down the reports. But they do drag into the open a worry which has beset Western planners:

Can the Western nations ever again afford to treat a war as a "localized" war? Or is all war from now on world war which only two contenders may start, but into which all nations must plunge?

RESPECTED PRINCIPLE

To keep a war confined to a small area is a respected military principle because it involves fewer people and less destruction.

But since the World War the Western World has had to remember that Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria are all Communist nations tied to the U.S.S.R.

Western strategists have had to figure on what the Western World should do if any of the Soviet satellites got into a tangle with a non-Communist nation.

This is the question which now comes up if it is indeed true that non-Bulgaria divisions are lining up on the Yugoslav-Bulgarian border.

Here are the questions now being ironed out in Washington:

If a Bulgarian-Yugoslav war broke out would it really be a war between the two nations or a war between Yugoslavia and all the Russian orbit?

Could the Western World afford to see Yugoslavia go down before a motley army from the entire Soviet orbit?

Some American policy makers think the border mobilizing, if any, is just part of a Kremlin "war of nerves" aimed at Tito and that it could just as well turn into friendship if the Russians lose. They say Russian policy has "neither a moral base nor a sense of shame" so that the Russians would easily turn around and make friends with Tito again."

If the Bulgarians should invade, Yugoslavia's first recourse would be to the United Nations Security Council, where the Russians would pretty certainly veto action against Bulgaria. The question would go to the U.N. Assembly, where Russia has no veto but where the majority of nations could "recommend" help for Tito.

Actress Sees Fiance Killed

CANNES, Aug. 31 (INS).—Screen Star Merle Oberon watched in horror today when her reported fiance, Count Giorgio Cini, plunged to death in his flaming plane.

Andre Pellat, a mutual friend of the fun-loving count and the screen star, quoted Miss Oberon as saying soon after the accident "life is not worth living now."

The tragedy, which cast a pall of gloom over the Riviera, also took the life of Cini's pilot, Georges Girardello.

The lovely, dark-haired actress watched in anguish as the 31-year-old count's private plane hit a tree, burst into flames and plummeted to the ground.

Miss Oberon had come to St. Cassien Airfield to say good-bye to the Italian aristocrat who was on his way to see his mother, gravely ill in Venice.

Coates Heads City's Newest Toastmasters

John Coates was elected, in absentia, president of the newly-formed Totem Toastmasters' Club at a meeting held in the Club Sirocco last night.

The new club will be [illegible] fourth Toastmasters' Club and will be limited to 30 active members.

Other members elected were Stephen Findlay, vice-president; Keith Dodd, secretary; Jack Gillis, treasurer; David Oliphant, sergeant-at-arms; Charles Deighton, educational committee chairman, and Sam Vallis, deputy governor.

The club was made up largely from applications of graduates of the Toastmasters' speechcraft classes of last season.

Membership in the club is reserved to male members only.

Next meeting will be held at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, September 7, at the Strathcona Hotel.

Miss R. Henderson Wed at Home Rites

At a pretty ceremony which took place at the home of the bride Saturday evening Rema Jeanette, daughter of Mrs Elizabeth Henderson, 2632 Scott Street, exchanged vows with Raymond J Aiken, son of Mr and Mrs K F Aiken of Toronto. Rev W R Ashford read the nuptial service before the fireplace which was banked with pink gladioli and ferns. Mrs M Cox played the traditional wedding music and Mrs H Clark sang "Because" while the register was being signed.

The attractive bride, given away by Mr H Anderson, was gowned in white [illegible] fashioned with high [illegible] long sleeves and featuring [illegible] at the waist and embroidery on the bodice. A pleated coronet trimmed with orange blossoms held her embroidered floor-length veil. To complete her costume the bride carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Monica Wright, bridesmaid, was gowned in pale blue moire and wore a cap of fresh flowers and long blue mitts. Her Colonial bouquet was composed of mixed Summer flowers. The bride's little sister Miss Sheila Elizabeth Henderson frocked in pale yellow taffeta, with mauve ribbon band trimmed with flowers and carrying a basket of pastel flowers.

Groomsman was Mr Lorne Barker.

Assisting Mrs. Henderson in receiving the guests was Mrs. C P Ryall, an honor-guest.

The honeymoon will be spent in Vancouver and Seattle. For traveling the bride donned a hunter's green gabardine suit with luggage-tan topcoat, black and white accessories and a corsage of roses.

Mr and Mrs Aiken will make their home in Victoria.

Moose Jaw Home For Newlyweds

On August 27, at the home of the officiating minister Rev George R Kinney, 1452 Vining Street the marriage was solemnized between Thelma V Karadimas, daughter of Mr and Mrs L Karadimas, West Saanich Road and Jame McCollough, son of Mr and Mrs Douglas McCollough, Moose Jaw, Sask.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white brocaded nylon slightly en train, with a floor-length veil held with a sweetheart crown and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of red roses with garlands of delphiniums. To complete her ensemble she wore a strand of pearls with matching earrings, the gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by Mrs B Anderson, matron of honor, who wore pale blue brocaded nylon while Miss Mary Yole, the bride's cousin, and Miss Yolanda Pas[illegible] were bridesmaids, wearing pale green silk net with over taffeta and pale yellow brocaded nylon respectively. Miss Coreen Yole, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a floor-length gown of pale pink taffeta and carrying a Colonial bouquet of mixed flowers. The bride's attendants carried bouquets of yellow [illegible] and mauve sweet peas.

Mr Bert Anderson was best man.

The reception was held at the Music Box, Douglas Street, where Mrs Karadimas, wearing a cocoa brown dress with matching accessories and corsage of yellow roses, and her sister Mrs W C Yole received the guests. The young couple entered the reception hall to the strains of the wedding march and they stood beneath a floral arch to receive the congratulations of their friends. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table. Mr Kinney proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr and Mrs McCollough left to spend a few days in Seattle before leaving for Moose Jaw where they will make their home. For traveling the bride wore a wine gabardine suit with grey accessories and orchid corsage.

Bread Is a Good Food

By DR. J. B. WARREN

BREAD to BREAD!

Bread is the staff of life for many nations, yet it is not a complete food in itself. It is a starch food and thus gives energy for work. Some bread should be eaten every day. If you like whole wheat bread you should be free of constipation as the coarse grains irritate and so stimulate action in the bowels. If you like white bread eat lettuce, spinach, cabbage or fruits for roughage.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"TOUCHY"

It may be said of Dryden that he was at the time touchy about personal attacks.

Saintsbury, the English literary historian of the last century, wrote the above, which is enough to prove that "touchy" is not modern slang.

In its popular usage today the word is understood as an allusion to being super-sensitive, to seeing offense where none was intended. Formerly, its use was more in the sense of irritability, and so etymologists have connected it with the old word "tetchy."

"Tetchy," sometimes spelled "techy," goes back to the Old English "teche," a bad habit or vice. The connection here is with the French "tache," a spot or blemish, and there may be some kinship with the English "tack," a nail. The core of the matter is the "spot" which became "blemish" and in turn came into the meaning of "peevish" or "fretful" qualities which are in the nature of blemishes on the face or personality.

A perhaps unorthodox "thought" on the part of this writer points to the word "touchwood," tinder, or wood quick to take fire, which comes from "tache," the Old English word for tinder. A touchy person is an inflammable one, "quick to take fire." There could be some connection. Incidentally, in Number 68 of the Spectator Papers, Addison described an inflammable person, thus:

"In all thy humours, whether grave or mellow,
Thou'rt such a touchy, testy, pleasant fellow,
Hast so much wit, and mirth, and spleen about thee,
There is no living with thee, or without thee."

Rose Bouch Weds "Andy" Anderson

At First United Church on August 26 at 7.30 p.m. Rev M A Waters officiated at the marriage uniting Rose Elka, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. J C Bouch, 1145 Grant Street, and Mr. Andrew "Andy" Anderson, well-known soccer player.

Miss Joyce Bouch attended the bride and Mr. Glen Bath was best man.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and later the young couple left to spend a honeymoon in Seattle and Spokane, Wash.

This Week's Menu Suggestions

THURSDAY

Breakfast—Orange juice, corn flakes, shirred eggs, bacon, hot buttered toast, coffee.

Luncheon—Chef's salad, French dressing, bread and butter sandwiches, stewed plums, sponge drops, iced tea.

Dinner—Tomato juice, hamburg patties, potato balls, diced beets, mixed green salad, snow pudding, coffee.

[illegible] garlic, 1 small head lettuce, 1 bunch watercress, 1 small cucumber (sliced), ½ cup diced celery, 6 hard-cooked eggs (chopped), ½ cup thin strips of chicken, tongue and Swiss cheese, salt and freshly-ground pepper, French dressing.

Cut the garlic clove in two and rub the inside of a salad bowl with the pieces, discard garlic. Tear the lettuce leaves into pieces and put in bowl. Add small sprays of watercress, sliced cucumber, radishes, celery, eggs, chicken, tongue and Swiss cheese. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and French dressing. Mix by tossing lightly with a wooden fork and spoon. Makes six servings.

HAMBURG BREAD CRUMB PATTIES—One pound hamburg, ½ cup stale bread crumbs soaked in ¼ cup milk, 1 onion, minced, 1 tablespoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Mix ingredients. Form into patties. Broil in hot broiler.

FRIDAY

Breakfast—Orange juice, crisp cereal, light cream, toast, marmalade, coffee.

Luncheon—Stuffed egg salad, rolls, canned pears, sand cookies, tea.

Dinner—Tomato soup, creamed finnan haddie, boiled potatoes, baby lima beans, lettuce and cucumber salad, French dressing, apricot upside-down cake, coffee.

SAND COOKIES—Cream together 1 cup butter and 1½ cups brown sugar. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs and the white of one. Sift together 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda and 2 teaspoons cream of tartar and add. Roll thin, cut out and spread top with a mixture of equal amounts of cinnamon and sugar, after brushing them with the other egg white. Bake.

APRICOT UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE—One-third cup butter, 1 cup dark brown sugar, 2 tablespoons apricot juice, 12 cooked apricots, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Place butter and sugar in large frying pan. Heat slowly and stir constantly until light brown syrup forms. Add fruit juices and apricots. Cover with batter.

Batter: One-third cup butter, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt. Cream butter and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat two minutes. Pour over apricots. Bake in frying pan in moderately slow oven 35 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 minutes. Carefully turn out apricot side up on large serving platter. Serve with whipped cream.

An Easy Outdoors Supper

Here's a menu for your next outdoor meal. It smacks of picnic days yet is hearty enough for crisp, spicy days.

Menu — Barbecued wieners with beans, fresh cucumber pickles or assorted pickles, wiener rolls, [illegible] cookies.

Barbecued wieners serves four, two wieners each: ½ cup minced onion, 3 tablespoons shortening, ½ teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard, one-third cup cider vinegar, one-third cup water, 8 wieners, split.

Saute onion in shortening for five minutes. Add remaining ingredients and simmer ten minutes. Serve with oven baked beans and cucumber pickles.

SATURDAY

Breakfast—Cantaloupe, dry cereal, cream, fried corn and bacon, blueberry muffins, coffee.

Luncheon—Cheese rabbit, broiled tomatoes, caramel custard, cookies, tea.

Dinner—Vegetable juice, hamburg patties, whipped potatoes, green beans, prune and orange salad, peach whip, coffee.

CHEESE RABBIT—Four pieces hot buttered toast, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk, ½ cup cheese, cut fine, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 egg yolk, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika. Mix flour and butter. Add milk. Cook slowly and stir constantly until thick sauce forms. Add cheese, catsup, yolk and seasonings. Cook 1 minute. Spread over toast and serve immediately.

PEACH WHIP—One package lemon or orange gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup peach juice, ½ cup whipped cream, 1 cup crushed peaches, sweetened and drained, 2 or 3 drops almond extract. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add peach juice. Cool until syrupy, then beat until consistency of whipped cream. Fold in whipped cream, peaches and flavoring. Turn into mold. Chill. Unmold. Garnish with peach slices.

SUNDAY

Breakfast—Sliced peaches, sauted chicken livers and bacon, toasted [illegible] bread, coffee.

Dinner—Melon balls in grapefruit juice, roasted stuffed chicken, parsley potatoes, green peas, corn on cob, gelatin salad, boiled dressing, vanilla ice cream, chocolate sauce, coffee.

Supper—Cold sliced chicken, cranberry sauce, apple and celery salad, [illegible] chocolate fudge cake, tea.

ROAST CHICKEN WITH CELERY STUFFING — Wash chicken thoroughly, incide and out. Dry and stuff. Secure opening with skewers or toothpicks and truss securely. Place in a roasting pan. Brush chicken with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roast at 350 degrees for 1½ to 2 hours, basting occasionally with ¼ cup hot water. Turn the chicken to brown all sides evenly.

Celery stuffing — 2 cups soft bread crumbs, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 1 cup chopped celery, ¼ cup butter.

Saute onion and celery in butter over low heat for 5 minutes. Combine bread crumbs and seasonings. Add sauted onion and celery and butter and toss lightly.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE—Shave 4 squares unsweetened chocolate into the upper part of a double boiler, melt it and add one cup sugar and 1½ cup milk and 1 beaten egg. Cook over hot water stirring constantly until the mixture thickens then set it aside to cool. Cream ½ cup shortening and gradually add 1 cup sugar and 2 well-beaten eggs. Sift 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt together; alternately add the dry ingredients and ½ cup of milk to the mixture. Add the cooled chocolate mixture and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat thoroughly and bake in a greased layer cake tin in an oven at 375 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes.

MONDAY

Breakfast—Melons, wheat cereal, top milk, blueberry griddle cakes, strup and coffee.

Luncheon—Grilled tuna fish and Swiss cheese sandwiches, cucumber and lettuce salad, French dressing, fresh raspberries, cookies, iced tea.

Dinner—Jellied consomme, baked ham, glazed sweet potatoes, Summer squash, lettuce and tomato salad, French dressing, lemon water sherbet and coffee.

GRILLED TUNA FISH AND SWISS CHEESE SANDWICHES—One 7-ounce can of tuna fish, 2 cups coarsely grated Swiss cheese, lightly packed, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, ¼ cup sweet pickle relish, bread, butter or margarine. Turn the tuna fish, including the oil from the can, into a medium sized mixing bowl. Flake if necessary with fork. Add Swiss cheese, mayonnaise and pickle relish. Firmly pack mixture for each sandwich. Spread top side of the sandwiches with butter or margarine. Place under the broiler and when golden brown, turn, spread other side with butter or margarine and finish toasting. Cut sandwiches in two or four triangles before serving. Makes enough filling for nine sandwiches. Any of the filling not used for sandwiches may be stored in a covered container in the refrigerator and spread on crackers. Serve with tomato juice as a first course.

LEMON WATER SHERBET—Two cups sugar, 1 cup water. Boil together for 5 minutes. Fold syrup into 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Add, beating in well, 1 cup lemon juice, 1 cup water. Pour into freezing tray and set cold control at fast freezing. Freeze stiff and beat or stir thoroughly. Return in freezing compartment, finish freezing. Makes about one quart.

TUESDAY

Breakfast — Orange juice, crisp cereal, whole milk, French toast, bacon curls, coffee.

Luncheon — Potato salad, sliced eggs and tomatoes, Melba toast, butter, chocolate cup cakes, iced tea.

Dinner—Tomato juice, creamed liver, steamed rice, spinach, date-scotch pie, coffee.

DATE-SCOTCH PIE — Three-quarters cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 cups hot milk, 2 eggs (separated), 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup cut-up dates. Mix beaten egg yolks, sugar, salt, flour and cornstarch until smooth. Stir into hot milk. Cook in double boiler until thick. Remove from fire and add vanilla, butter and dates. When cool, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a baked crust and sprinkle with chopped nuts or top with whipped cream.

WEDNESDAY

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, crisp cereal, cream, scrambled eggs, bacon, toast, marmalade, coffee.

Luncheon — Bacon and tomato sandwiches, mayonnaise, pecan spice cookies, iced tea.

Dinner — Vegetable juice, green peppers stuffed with rice and meat, carrots and peas, peach pie, coffee.

PECAN SPICE COOKIES—One and three-quarters cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup sifted brown sugar, firmly packed, 2 eggs, well beaten, ½ cup sour milk and 1 cup pecans, coarsely cut. Sift flour once, measure, add baking soda, salt and spices and sift together three times. Work butter with spoon until creamy. Add sugar gradually and beat until light and fluffy after each addition. Add eggs. Blend well. Add flour alternately with milk, small amount at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Add pecans. Drop by teaspoonfuls on ungreased baking sheet an spread thin with back of spoon. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 3½ dozen cookies.

Telephone Answering Service Replies to Absentees' Calls

With the opening this week of a local unit of Associated Telephone Exchange, Victoria attains the facilities of Telephone Answering Service. This service has been a feature of business life for many years in nearly all large cities on the continent.

Associated Telephone Exchange is a [illegible] of individually operated exchanges in the various commercial centres of the United States and Canada. [illegible] exchange is [illegible] switchboards, with [illegible] have been installed in the local offices by the B.C. Telephone Co. engineers.

STILL "IN BUSINESS"

With these facilities the B.C. Telephone Co. [illegible] subscriber to the switchboards of Telephone Answering Service. The subscriber can then [illegible] and do business. For 24 hours a day trained telephone secretaries are ready to answer his telephone.

When the [illegible] of Victoria leaves his office for a few minutes or for days on end, by the simple toss of a switch his calls can be relayed to the switchboards of Telephone Answering Service, and there his calls will be answered in his own name.

The telephone answering secretary, instructed in advance by the subscriber, quotes prices, takes orders and generally handles the call as if it were received in the subscriber's own office.

AIDS SECRETARIES

Above each switchboard in a pigeon hole are filed the various calls received. These are time-stamped and relayed to the subscriber, bearing all the pertinent information, just as soon as he returns to his office.

While Telephone Answering Service is an aid to businessmen, the stenographer and secretary who also benefit by being able to leave the office briefly, knowing that no important telephone calls are going unanswered.

Russell Campbell, executive secretary of Associated Telephone Exchange, in a message from his New York office, has welcomed Victoria as another link in the chain of answering services.

Distinguished Victorian Victim Of Traffic Accident in Quebec

Dr John I. Todd, a distinguished member of one of Victoria's oldest families, was killed in a traffic accident at St Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, August 27.

Meagre reports reaching the city yesterday gave no details of the accident.

Born in Victoria in 1876, Dr. Todd was the last surviving son of the late J. H. Todd who founded the [illegible] Sons. Dr. Todd's brother, the late A. E. Todd, was a former mayor of Victoria.

Mr Todd was educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto, and McGill University, Montreal. He graduated from McGill's medical school.

LED EXPEDITIONS

In 1902-05 and 1911 he conducted expeditions for the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine to Senegambia and the Congo Free State in West Africa where he carried out research on tropical diseases.

He subsequently became director of the Runcorn Research Laboratories at Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine. From 1907 to 1926 he was associate professor of parasitology at McGill. He served in the Canadian Army Medical Corps during the Great War, reaching the rank of major.

[illegible] commissioner from 1916 to 1919 and a member of the Typhus Research Commission, League of Red Cross Societies, in Poland in 1919.

MANY HONORS

Dr. Todd, a member of the Royal College of Surgeons in England, held an honorary doctor of science degree from Liverpool University; Commander of the Order of Leopold II, a Belgian decoration; Mary Kingsley Medal from Liverpool School, and Chevalier of the Order of Polonia Restituta.

In 1912 he married Margery Clouston, daughter of Sir Edward and Lady Clouston, who died 18 months ago.

At the time of his death Dr. Todd had been living in retirement for many years.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alex Gillespie and Mrs. Hebden Gillespie, both of Victoria, and three daughters, Mrs. [illegible] Todd, Miss [illegible] all of St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1949

Today's quotation: "The worst thing that can be said against laughter is that, by putting us in a good humor it enables us to tolerate ourselves. The best thing that can be said for it is that for the same reason it enables us to tolerate each other." Robert Lynd.

Thursday for Everyone: Daytime requires poise, tact, care. Be considerate of elders [illegible] suit of objectives. Evenings: see those in authority, decide issues.

Look for your birthdate and birth-sign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Banish tension before it undermines your status. Evening: strike a note of good cheer.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) — Face up to realities, sharpen your sense of discernment. Evening: make pleasant contacts.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Manage your nest egg judiciously. Avoid risk. Evening: make reasonable headway.

1899 1949 EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR 50 YEARS

take your time

BUT ACT NOW . . .

Scrambling to make a Will when danger threatens is probably better than not making one at all but the preparation of such an important document should not be left to the confusion of a last minute rush.

Making a Will is something that can easily be attended to before emergencies arise. This duty should not be neglected. The logic and advantages of appointing a Corporate Executor and Trustee are obvious and well recognized.

All that is needed to get the job done, and done well, is to ask us to help you plan your Will, which we shall gladly do without charge. You can then have it drawn in proper legal form, naming The Royal Trust Company your Executor and Trustee, execute the Will and file it with us for safekeeping.

CAMPBELL RIVER COMMISSION READY FOR VILLAGE EXPANSION
Photograph shows members of busy Campbell River Village Commission. Left to right: Commissioner Oscar Thulin, waterworks chairman; Commissioner Jack Baikie, general chairman, and Commissioner Carl Thulin. W. Robinson, clerk, is standing. Commission hopes to have new waterworks system in operation about middle of month. Fire hydrants will also be installed at intersections. Provincial Government has been requested to pave full width of highway through village. Contract has been signed for 18 new street lights, and new fire hall will be erected. New breakwater and wharf will prove boon to shipping.

Ladysmith Trustees Pass School Plans

LADYSMITH, Aug. 31 — Trustees of Ladysmith School District No. 67 approved plans drawn by Thomas McArravy for a new elementary-junior high school at Chemainus and a junior-senior high school at Ladysmith. Plans will be sent to the Department of Education for ratification. If approved the next step will be the drawing of by-laws for presentation to ratepayers at a plebiscite.

Plans will also include addition of two rooms to Saltair School and improvements to elementary school here. No statement of costs has been compiled by the board.

The question of altering boundaries was discussed. Trustee C. C. Jones and Fred Vandecasteele, secretary-treasurer, represented Ladysmith during a meeting at Victoria with representatives of the school boards concerned and officials of the Department of Education. Decisions reached there were confirmed in a communication from F. C. [illegible]

SEEK NEW BOUNDARIES

Proposals to alter the boundaries of Districts Nos. 65, 67 and 68 included addition of Waterloo district, a [illegible] of South Cedar district and Crofton and Westholme to District No. 67.

The department letter stated "that no change would be made in the boundaries of these districts until such time as facilities were available in District No. 67 to take care of the pupils who would be affected by the boundary change."

The Minister of Education agreed that when facilities were available in District No. 67 to accommodate pupils in the Crofton and Westholme area, [illegible] consideration would be given to the transfer of these areas into District No. 67.

Waterloo, Crofton and Westholme have already voted to join Ladysmith School District No. 67.

Port Requests Craft to Stay

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 31 — Arrangements for entertainment of officers and crew of U.S.S. Keller, due here on Saturday in charge of Lt.-Cmdr. Walter D. Wallace, will be made by Ald. A. C. Flanagan, chairman of the city council parks board and Patrick English, president of Port Alberni branch of the Canadian Legion.

Several officers and men intend to fish for [illegible] salmon in Alberni Canal. An invitation has been extended to the commander of the Keller to remain in port until Tuesday morning so that those aboard may participate in the Paul Bunyan Day celebration.

Ganges Greets New Air Route

GANGES, Aug. 31 — A luncheon was held at Harbor House on Monday to celebrate the opening of daily air service between Vancouver and Ganges, Salt Spring Island. The initial flight was from the Vancouver International airport with a twin-engine five-place Grumman [illegible] purchased for the regular [illegible] by Associated Air Taxi [illegible]. The plane will make two flights daily each way with a single-engine Waco in reserve to accommodate additional passengers.

Among those at the luncheon were J. B. Acland, president of the Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce; M. M. Acheson, secretary; Lt.-Col. Desmond Crofton, president of the publicity committee; Dr. J. Worthington, director of the Vancouver Tourist Association; P. Baker, manager; O. Leigh-Spencer, Group Capt. A. R. Layard, [illegible] C. Mouat, Jack C. Smith, Associated Air Taxi Salt Spring agent, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaven, hosts.

TURN TO COHO

Reports reaching Vancouver yesterday said many fishermen disgusted with the [illegible] catch were packing their tuna gear and fishing [illegible] off Vancouver Island [illegible]

Fishermen [illegible] of the [illegible] tuna have been sighted all the way from the Queen Charlotte Islands, 500 miles north, to the Strait of Juan De Fuca.

But they aren't biting and only scattered and light catches have been reported in the last few days.

Imposes Fines At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, Aug. 31 — Ten fines [illegible] $3 [illegible]

For failing to halt at a highway stop sign A. Parker was fined $10 and costs and H. A. Hiss paid $10 and costs for failing to have a driver's licence. James Connelly was given a suspended sentence for not having the necessary carrier's licence plate on his truck and an additional $5 and costs for failing to produce his driver's licence.

For driving in a manner dangerous to the public, Barney Newfield was fined $10 and $3 costs. Charged with creating a disturbance during a dance at the Community Park Hall, Melvin Frederickson was ordered to pay $15 and costs and also an additional $15 and costs for common assault on the same occasion. Consuming liquor at the Community Hall brought a fine of $50 and $3 costs to J. Hamilton.

Many Veterans Borrow Funds

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 31.—Small holdings under the Veterans Land Act on Vancouver Island increased 40 per cent last year, according to George Chatterton, regional supervisor for the Island.

Mr. Chatterton said [illegible] 800 veterans [illegible] represented loans [illegible] $3,000,000 on [illegible]

[illegible] Canada [illegible] per cent [illegible]

[illegible] citizens, made it possible for young men to own homes and stabilized the economy.

Leaves Family

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 31 — [illegible] West Coast General Hospital [illegible] Port Alberni [illegible] will be held [illegible] Funeral Home, Nanaimo, at 2.30 p.m. Wednesday. Mr. Watson was born at South Wellington. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Quadra Island To Get School

CAMPBELL RIVER, Aug. 31 — An $86,7[illegible] tender of the West Coast Salvage & Contracting Company, Vancouver, for construction of Quadra Island Superior School at [illegible] was accepted by trustees of Campbell River School District [illegible] and will be forwarded to the Provincial Department of Education at Victoria for approval.

[illegible] Company, Vancouver, bid $9[illegible]

[illegible] registered [illegible] who had not paid [illegible] taxes. Court action [illegible] if amounts due are not received within 15 days.

Meet at Sooke

SOOKE, Aug. 31 — Report on [illegible] presented [illegible] the Sooke Community Association [illegible] Sooke Community Hall at 8 p.m. Thursday. Robert [illegible] preside.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 — Financial and commodity exchanges throughout the United States will be closed Monday, Labor Day. Financial markets in Britain will operate as usual.

Nanaimo Board Sets Bowen Park Parley

NANAIMO, Aug. 31 — Nanaimo parks board members decided to invite persons interested in the development of Bowen Park to meet them at the park next Sunday morning and plans will be explained to them on the grounds. An invitation will also be extended to a Nanaimo Fish and Game Protective Association [illegible] Park [illegible]

Board [illegible] expressed the [illegible] at Bowen Park [illegible] a playground like Beacon Hill Park at Victoria.

Philip Piper, chairman, expressed regret that it had been felt the parks board was stamping on other persons' toes. He said it was the board's intention to co-operate with the City Council. Blinking traffic lights had been sought for city playgrounds, and he felt the expense would not be prohibitive.

CHALLENGES FIGURE

He said Ald. Earl Westwood's figure given at a City Council meeting on Monday night of money the board received did not include everything. Ald. Westwood, who is chairman of the finance committee, did not mention the amount of money the board had given the City Council this year. The council had all of the board's revenue from Central Sports Grounds.

The board accepted an invitation from the Native Sons of B.C. to attend a track and field meet on Labor Day.

Nathaniel Br[illegible], manager of the Nanaimo City Football Club, presented a tentative schedule for the first part of the season. September 17 was agreed on as the opening day of the Pacific Coast League here under floodlights at Central Sports Grounds.

John Jones of the [illegible] Mid-Island Football Association considered September 18 a suitable opening date for club activities.

Duncan Woman Gets Fortune Through Will

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 — [illegible] $2[illegible] left by [illegible] Franz F. Colloredo-Mannsfeld of New York goes to his widow, now Mrs. [illegible] of Genoa Bay Farm, Duncan, according to the findings of the New York State Transfer Tax Department.

She gets $50,000 outright and the income from the remainder for life. Upon her death, three children, Mabel, Franz and Ferdinand Colloredo-Mannsfeld, will divide the trust fund equally.

Mr. Colloredo-Mannsfeld died January 15, 1944, leaving property appraised here at $290,101 gross value and $207,647 net. Stocks and bonds valued at $158,373 were the chief assets.

Says Children Need Teacher

LADYSMITH, Aug. 31 — Residents of islands of Trincomali Channel are endeavoring to solve the problem of educating their children, John Silvey of Reid Island told trustees of Ladysmith School District No. 67.

Mr. Silvey pointed out there were at least six children of school age on Reid Island, four on Norway Island and six on Thetis Island. He said there was an old school on Reid Island, and the number of children warranted the hiring of a teacher.

Trustee C. C. Jones, chairman, noted that Thetis Island was within School District No. 6[illegible], and the other islands came under Salt Spring Island School District No. 64. He said a one-room school would cost at least $10,800 and promised that Ladysmith trustees would discuss the question of island children with the Provincial Department of Education.

Education of children on Long Island and tenders for transportation of students from Thetis Island to Chemainus will also be considered by the school board.

Arrange Class At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, Aug. 31.—There will be a senior matriculation class again this term, the school board decided. Seven students have applied and more are expected. Last year's class of 15 registered students was the highest on record here.

Ladysmith District Parent-Teacher Association raised the question of bus transportation fees charged senior matriculation students attending Ladysmith High School. W. H. Bryant, delegate, will be asked to attend the next board meeting, when the matter will be discussed. The board's position is that senior matriculation students are aware of the fact transportation is their own responsibility, upon enrollment.

"The board is under no obligation to provide senior matriculation study facilities, but does so to further education, which is our job," Trustee C. C. Jones declared.

Miss Lorna Dow was given permanent status as clerk in the office of the school board secretary-treasurer. Her salary was adjusted to $90 per month for the remainder of the year, increasing to $1[illegible] per month in January.

Barney Box was appointed janitor at Diamond School.

Lackiemen Retain City Softball Title

Douglas Tire Trims Brentwood Aces, 7-4, In Deciding Contest Before Record Crowd

Douglas Tire captured the city senior "A" men's softball championship for the third straight year by defeating Brentwood Aces, 7-4, at Upper Central Park last night to end a hectic six-game series.

Fan interest, which has built up with each succeeding game of the series, originally billed as a best-of-five affair, reached its peak last night with the largest crowd ever to see a softball game in Victoria jamming the park. The crowd, estimated at well over 3,000, completely circled the field to a depth of six or seven and special ground rules had to be made.

GUNTER IN FORM

Shelled from the mound on Monday when Aces scored a 12-0 triumph to square the series, Ken Gunter came right back to gain his third victory of the series with Johnny Furmston of Aces being charged with his third defeat. Brian Sluggett hurled both series victories for Brentwood and matched Norm Martin in the second game which ended in a 2-2 deadlock.

Gunter was at his best and had a two-hit shutout in the ninth when Aces rallied for four markers. Trad Garnet's ground rule triple driving in Don Robinson with the fifth Douglas Tire run in the top half of the inning proved to be the winning blow. A walk and singles by Henry Harris and Vic Dale accounted for the final two runs for winners.

Both clubs came up with bad cases of play-off jitters, committing a total of 13 miscues with Aces being charged with eight. Crowd interest was kept at a high point, however, with bleacher fans rising at every play.

The Lackiemen combined four singles with the first two Brentwood bobbles for two runs to open the scoring in the second. Aces handed them two more tallies in the sixth by erring three times.

Going to bat for the final time Aces made a gallant bid to pull out the decision as Furmston and Frank Kilshaw hammered two-run homers. Jim Burdge followed with a pinch single but Gil Sluggett flied out to deep short to end the threat.

Douglas Tire Captures Hectic Series

Douglas Tire retained city senior "A" men's softball crown by handing Brentwood Aces 7-4 defeat last night to conclude six-game series. Part of record crowd which jammed Central Park last night is shown voicing disapproval at umpire decision in sixth inning as Tiremen scored fourth run while supporters of Lackiemen display gleeful expressions. Batboy, extreme right front, appears bored with proceedings.

Don Robinson, who eventually tallied what proved to be winning marker, is shown scoring fourth Douglas Tire run as Catcher Jim Turner of Aces awaits relay from outfield after single by Ken Gunter in sixth inning.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Mac Smith

GLENDALE, Cal., Aug. 31 (INS)—Macdonald Smith, for 40 years one of the most prominent golfers in the world, died today following a heart attack at his Glendale home. He was 59.

Smith, regarded as probably the greatest stylist of golf during the height of his career, won the famed Los Angeles Open four times. In 1910 he tied for the United States Open title but lost in a three-way playoff.

A native of Carnoustie, Scotland, Smith came to the United States as a young man. He was a member of a famed golfing family that included such top-flight swingers as his brothers George, Willie, Jim and Alec.

Smith was one of the few old-timers of the sport who linked the past with the present. Until his death he persisted in wearing plus-four knickers.

He played in five British Opens, finishing second twice and third on three other occasions.

Loggers Gain Final By Stopping Ashers

Re-schedule Western Canada Softball Final To Open Here Tuesday—Bryant Star of Win

Originally scheduled for Vancouver, the best-of-five series for the Western Canada Senior "A" men's softball title will open at Royal Athletic Park under the lights on Tuesday. Games will be played on successive days until one team has won three games, with a possibility of a double-header being scheduled on Wednesday.

Timber Service earned the right to represent British Columbia in the final by defeating Fred Ashers, 4-2, at Vancouver last night to take the best-of-five provincial final three games to one. Saskatoon and Calgary open a best-of-three semi-final at Calgary tonight to decide the opponent for Timbermen.

PROTECTS RECORD

Joe Bryant made his third appearance of the series on the mound for Timbermen last night and fashioned a neat four-hitter for his second victory. It protected his record of never having been beaten by a Vancouver club in seven years although he was stroked from the mound in the opening contest of the series. Timbermen rallied to take that contest 11-9 with Ray Hough getting credit for the victory.

Bernie Clarkson paced Timbermen's attack gathering three of the seven hits they obtained from the offerings of Sid Stebbing. Victoria scored twice in the bottom half of the first frame and went ahead to stay in the second after Ashers had deadlocked the count on a pair of base knocks and two errors.

Midweek Match Won by Eatons; Lead Series, 9-4

Eatons took a 9-4 lead over Oak Bay Colts in their mid-week cricket series, replying with 89 runs for seven wickets to the Colts' innings of 60 at Windsor Park. Next week's match has been tentatively scheduled for the same grounds.

Batting first, the Colts were dismissed without one of their batsmen managing to reach double figures. A. Smith was top batsman with 9 runs while Colquhoun had 8.

Switching their line-up and using their top batsmen at the tail end, Eatons surpassed this total when Scott and Morgan combined for a big eighth-wicket stand. Scott hit 23 runs and Morgan had 13 not out. Scott also took five wickets for 12 runs. Owen Morgan was the most effective bowler for Colts, taking four wickets for 17 runs.

Canadians are apparently well supplied with reading matter. There are 1,411 publications printed in Canada.

Navy XI Seeks District Berth

Reg Clarke, retiring secretary of the Victoria and District Football Association, announced last night that he had received application for entry into the senior soccer league from the Navy.

This brings to seven, and possibly eight, the number of entries. Wests, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Legion, last season's clubs, are all back. In addition, an Ex-R.A.F. club and Heaney's have made definite application and Duncan Indians, Island intermediate champions, are considered a likely entry.

Definite decision on the number of teams will probably be made when the league meets tonight at the British Public Schools Club at 8.

Ted Carey Heads Juvenile Soccer; Call for Entries

Ted Carey was elected president of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association Tuesday night. George Wetherall and Ed Ball were elected first and second vice-presidents, respectively, and Jim Allen was re-elected as secretary-treasurer. Alf Jenkins was named registrar.

Team entries are now being received and must be in the hands of the secretary not later than September 15. The association will operate in six divisions this season, I, II, III, IV, V and VI.

Douglas Tire soccer team will hold a practice at Hampton Road at 6:30 p.m. today. All players are asked to attend.

His "Night" Tomorrow

CHARLIE BALASSI

Popular right-fielder of Victoria Athletics now playing second season with club. Balassi will be honored at Royal Athletic Park tomorrow with "Charlie Balassi Night". Colorful gardener will respond with some of his own entertainment, after which he will receive gifts from fans and club. Added feature will be free team picture for A's for first 4,000 fans. Tacoma Tigers will provide opposition in regular W.I.L. fixture to follow.

Rain Halts Tennis Meet; Gonzales Pressed to Win

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 31 (INS)—Rain canceled the latter part of today's program of second-round matches in the national singles tennis championships. However, the way some of the matches were going they could have washed out of their own volition.

Several of the scheduled events today never got started and several others were stopped in mid-set, presenting the officials with more than a routine problem in setting up a schedule for tomorrow.

All told, the galleryites missed very little except a look at Gussie Moran's lace pants, and this could not be blamed on the weather. Gertrude, fetchingly garbed in sleeveless V-neck tennis blouse and flaring white skirt, wore brief non-fringed panties in winning her second-round match from Mrs. Betty Struthers of San Diego, 6-2, 8-6.

CHAMPIONS ADVANCE

Of more importance to title-conscious observers were the triumphs of the defending champions, Pancho Gonzales and Margaret Osborne Du Pont. Pancho had serious dealings with one Straight Clark, Pasadena, Calif., but upended him, 6-4, 7-5, 7-5.

Mrs. Du Pont advanced into the third round by dismissing Nancy Morrison, Garden City, N.Y., 6-[illegible].

Hugh Stewart, who stands 6 feet 4 and teams with a 4-foot-11 Felicisimo Ampon in doubles, tried to take on Czecho-Slovakia's Jaroslav Drobny, single handedly, and did not prove up to it.

Hugh won the first set 6-4, but died in the next three, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

BROMWICH FORMIDABLE

Jack Bromwich of Australia required 47 minutes of amazing control tennis to smear Andy Paton, Ann Arbor, Mich., 6-2, 6-0, 6-0, thus completing pairings for upper bracket male warfare in the third round. Bromwich will face Art Larsen; Gonzales plays Jim Brink; Gardnar Mulloy plays Ampon, and Frank Parker plays Eric Sturgess.

Sam Match was two sets up on Italy's Giovanni Cucelli when their match was called today. Eddie Moylan, first-round evictor of Herb Flam, was running ahead of Gil Shea two sets to one after losing the opener, and Billy Talbert was having his troubles. The third-seeded New Yorker tripped Arnold Saul by 6-4 in the first set but was behind three games to two in the second when rain came.

WOMEN'S RESULTS

Mrs. Betty Hilton, top-seeded foreigner in women's play, conquered Mrs. Marion Rafal today, 6-1, 6-3. Other women's results were: Betty Rosequest, South Orange, N.J., defeated Rosemary Buck, Dallas, Tex., 6-1, 6-1; Mrs. J. Walker-Smith, Great Britain, defeated Sylvia Knowles, Newport, R.I., 6-2, 7-5; fourth-seeded Shirley June Fry, Akron, O., defeated Mrs. Virginia Johnson, Chestnut Hill, Mass., 6-1, 6-4, and Mrs. Helen Perez, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. Patricia Sturler, Plainfield, N.J., 6-4, 6-4.

Bosox, Indians Close Gap As Browns Blast Yanks

The seventh-place St. Louis Browns may not be going anywhere in the American League this year, but they're becoming an awful nuisance to the pennant-chasers.

In their home park last night, they jumped soundly on the leading New York Yankees for the second straight time, winning 10-3, as they chased Yankee ace Vic Raschi and three other pitchers.

Joe DiMaggio garnered three singles and a double to drive in two of the Yankee runs although he was charged with one of his infrequent strikeouts with runners on first and third and no one out in the fifth frame.

The Boston Red Sox gained a full game, whipping Detroit Tigers, 7-4, as Bobby Doerr and Ted Williams each hit two-run homers.

BRILLIANT HURLING

Cleveland Indians split a double-header with Philadelphia Athletics, taking the 14-inning opener, 7-6, and dropping the nightcap, 2-1, to hold third place, four and a half games behind the Yanks.

Catcher Jim Hegan of Cleveland broke up a brilliant relief hurling duel between Philadelphia's Bobby Shantz and Al Benton of the Indians with his second homer of the season in the opener. Shantz had allowed the Tribe but two hits after taking over in the fourth while Benton gave up but four hits in the final eight frames.

CLUBS GET BREATHER

The National League's torrid flag race remained unchanged as the leading St. Louis Cardinals and runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers were both rained out.

Elbie Fletcher celebrated his "Night" by homering with a mate aboard as the rejuvenated Boston Braves edged Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in ten innings.

New York Giants hammered five circuit clouts and Pittsburgh Pirates walloped three as the Durochermen blasted the Bucs, 12-5, before only 4,701 fans at New York.

Gil McDougald batted in his 108th run with his 13th home run at Royal Athletic Park last night and the eighth-inning circuit blow ended what little chance Bremerton's John Marshall had of tying the W.I.L. record of 25 victories. It gave Victoria Athletics a 4-3 triumph and Marshall his 13th setback, as he was striving for his 22nd win.

WORST OF BREAKS

Working with only two days of rest and appearing in his 44th game this year, Marshall appeared to lose some of his edge in the late innings but an error and a dubious call at second base probably robbed him of the verdict. At that, the big righthander contributed to his own downfall. One of the Victoria runs came after a walk, another after a batter was knicked by one of his pitches, and a third was moved into scoring position with another pitch which hit a batter.

A walk to Charlie Balassi and Joe Morjoseph's terrific double opened the scoring in the fifth. Bremerton squared matters in the fifth when Bill Taylor hoisted one over the wall. The blow would have given the Tars the lead if Lil Arnerich had not been called out on a close play a few minutes earlier, while trying to pilfer second. Arnerich protested long enough to get tossed out and the short-handed Jackets had to send Pitcher Bob Pirack to the outfield in his place.

After building up a 3-1 lead with single runs in the sixth and seventh, the A's promptly handed Bremerton two runs in the eighth with an error by John Hack causing the trouble and sending Larry Ward, who was pitching well, to the showers. Joe Blankenship came in to pick up his sixth victory when McDougald led off the eighth with his game-winning loft.

BATTLE OF WITS

Fans, about 1,200 of them, came in for some unusual strategy in the Victoria seventh with Manager Earl Bolyard winning a battle of wits with Bremerton's Alan Strange. Morjoseph led off with a single and Bob Day was hit by a pitched ball. With a bunt by Ward the obvious move, Strange called Pirack in from centre field and placed him on third with Don Stanford moving far in on the grass after Ward had missed one sacrifice attempt. Bolyard ordered Ward to swing away and he fouled it off. Pirack was sent back to the outfield, but Bolyard then flashed the bunt sign again and Ward made it look good by laying it down neatly for the sacrifice. Vic Buccola's outfield fly later brought in the A's third run.

Tonight, Tacoma Tigers, still with a chance to overtake Victoria, move in for a four-game series.

Upsets Mark U.S. Amateur Golf Meet; Riegel Falls After Ousting Stranahan

By JOHN BARRINGTON

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 31 (INS)—Defending Champion Willie Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., and Jimmy McHale, reformed pro from Bethlehem, Pa., led the way through the fourth round of the national amateur golf tournament today.

Turnesa, turning in his third straight sub-par round over the rolling 6,800-yard Oak Hill Country Club course in Rochester, defeated his 1948 runner-up, Ray Billows, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., 6 and 5.

McHale, a 33-year-old insurance broker, upset Skee Riegel, 1947 national amateur king, 3 and 2, in a match that ended in a driving rain.

Earlier in the day, Riegel had put out Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., 5 and 4, in the third round.

EX-PROS TANGLE

McHale, a member of the Walker Cup squad since he regained his amateur standing this year, is not yet out of the woods in the lower bracket.

In tomorrow morning's round of 16 he meets another ex-pro, Julius Boros, of West Hartford, Conn., who whipped John Levinson of Niles, Ill., 5 and 4, this afternoon.

Turnesa's path seemed smoother. He will tangle with Charles Dudley of Greenville, S.C., who eliminated Sam Urzetta of Rochester, one up, today.

Billows, who had been a tournament runner-up three times and lost to Turnesa, 2 and 1, in last year's final, didn't have a chance against Willie this time.

SUB-PAR GOLF

Turnesa was one under par of 35 for the first nine, in which he piled up a four-hole lead. He closed out the match with a six-foot putt to halve the 13th and finished the round two under, thanks to a birdie on the tenth.

Riegel lost his own match with McHale. He bogied four holes and was a far cry from the man who beat Stranahan in the morning.

In the earlier match, which attracted the largest gallery of the tournament, Skee birdied the first hole with a 20-foot putt and kept the pressure on Stranahan the rest of the round.

Frankie knocked two drives into a creek which crosses and recrosses the links and he was frequently in difficulty.

Britain's last hope in the tournament faded in the afternoon when 19-year-old Arthur Perowne was downed, one up, by Bill Campbell, Huntington, West Va., legislator and two-time Tam O'Shanter amateur champion.

CANADIAN SURVIVES

The only non-American left in the tourney now is Bob Fair of Scarboro, Ont. The 19-year-old University of Toronto student whipped Wilfred Crossley of Islington, Mass., one up, in their fourth rounder.

Two American Walker Cuppers remained in the running in addition to McHale and Turnesa. Charley Coe of Oklahoma City defeated Bob Sweeney of Westbury N.Y., the 1937 British champion, 4 and 2.

He plays national collegiate Champ Harvie Ward of Rocky Mount, N.C., who scored a one-up decision over Guy Owen of Cut Bank, Mont.

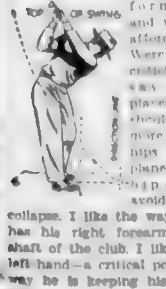
Walker Cupper Johnny Dawson, of Hollywood, tripped Fred Wampler, former Western Conference champ from Indianapolis, 2 and 1. He next meets Fred Kammer of Grosse Point Farms, Mich.

Other morning matches: Harold Paddock, Aurora, Ill., vs. Ray Weston, Spokane, Wash.; MacGregor Hunter, Pacific Palisades, Cal., vs. Rufus King, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Fair vs. Frank Strafaci, Yonkers N.Y.; Campbell vs. Crawford Rainwater, Pensacola, Fla.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Look over today's picture and rate this player's golf form. How do you like his stance? Is his knee action correct? How is his hip-pivot in relation to the shoulder pivot? Would you alter the position of his left arm, or his right. And how about his grip? Any criticisms? I see none.



This is good golf form througout and you can well afford to copy it. Were I to make a criticism I would say that the player's left heel should be raised more to keep the hips on a level plane during the hip-pivot and avoid any left side collapse. I like the way this player has his right forearm under the shaft of the club. I like this closed left hand—a critical point—and the way he is keeping his eye on the ball.

Jim Warner Breaks Home-Run Mark—Hits Four as Chiefs Win 33-3 Epic

Wenatchee Chiefs, who have the most dangerous batting order in the W.I.L., broke all season's records for hitting last night as they plastered the Salem Senators with a horrendous 33-3 lacing.

Most important of the records was the one set by Jim Warner, hard hitting centrefielder. Warner had his biggest day of the season as he slammed out out four home runs to set a new league record of 43 with at least eight games left to play. The old record of 40 was set by Bill Barisoff, then with Bremerton, in 1946.

The Chiefs broke their season's mark of 25 runs set against Yakima, and their 1949 record of hits with 29 safeties. They set the old mark of 26 against Salem only last week.

Included in the onslaught were eight home runs, five doubles and one triple. Next to Warner, the Chief who did the most damage was Pitcher Al Libke, who had two home runs, two doubles and a pair of singles in six trips. The biggest run-making inning was the seventh when ten runs crossed the plate but the Chiefs had two six-run frames and scored in every inning but the second as they pounded six ineffective Salem pitchers.

In another slugfest, Spokane edged Yakima, 11-10, in a game that produced 27 base hits. Tacoma took the series finale from Vancouver, 5-1.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

The International Boxing Club [illegible] history will no longer have a one-sided touch such as the Charles-Lesnevich and Robinson-Belloise matches carried.

The next two bookings bring together Rocky Graziano and Charley Fusari, with Marcel Cerdan attempting to wrest his old title away from Jake LaMotta. Jake caught Cerdan with a shoulder out of focus at their last meeting in Detroit and when something of this sort happens to a veteran physical equipment there is no certainty he will ever be the same, no matter what the medicos [illegible].

These four starters make September the best month of the year, so far as the ring game goes.

Graziano and LaMotta are none too [illegible] in any sense. Who [illegible] but they can get [illegible] at times if they happen to feel in that mood. [illegible] feel in that mood [illegible] expected things happen to him.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN

In the past few years he has been arrested and convicted for being A.W.O.L., given a dishonorable discharge, mixed up in one vague bribery [illegible], at war with the cops and the [illegible] middleweight champion of the world [illegible] at the Garden, barred for [illegible] on a California fight, barred from boxing for a while in his native state, New York, owner of a large bank account [illegible] back to [illegible] other chance to start the dizzy trail all over again.

The fact is that Rocky Graziano has been through so many odd, weird and morbid experiences that no one can say just how good or bad he will look at his best [illegible]. He has a first-class fighter to handle in Fusari, one who knows his trade.

The main point in Graziano's favor is that one way or another he usually provides an extra [illegible] of more than normal interest. Something usually happens either to Rocky or his opponent that provides comment for some time.

THE WAY IT MAY BE

Boston and St. Louis are the two major league cities farthest apart. They take up the most traveling time in a world series schedule. So they will probably meet in October to pick up where they left off in 1946 as Country Slaughter slid across the plate with the series winning run.

Yankees, Dodgers and Indians can refute this statement with some bitterness, but as the Red Sox and Cardinals carry you deeper into a great football season, that's the way it will probably be. The Cardinals had a good chance to bury the Dodgers a few days ago but fell back before an extremely gallant Dodger stand.

SLATE FAVORS CARDS

After Labor Day the Cardinals are favored by a home schedule with the Dodgers wandering from spot to spot. This won't be any overpowering advantage but it will be a help. Coming to the stretch, it is always a question as to whether experience under fire is more important than unwearied youth. The veteran may know more, but he also may be afflicted with tiring legs and arms.

The Cardinals and Dodgers have gone to the wire [illegible] before. This can happen again with Labor Day still a [illegible] week away, no matter how the situation looks at present.

Moving up to the same stretch the Red Sox are the best equipped team in their league for the job ahead. Baseball has two main departments, offence and defence.

WELL-EQUIPPED

The Red Sox have the strongest offence in the league, headed by Ted Williams, Vern Stephens and Dom DiMaggio. They have the call in power. They should also have the best defence in the league with their present pitching staff, which consists of at least five good starting pitchers.

It has been said there is also gameness in front [illegible]. The Yankees have been setting the pace since April and considering the number of heavy casualties suffered they have turned in an almost incredible job. Certainly Casey Stengel and his able aides have squeezed all the baseball out of the Yankees' battered systems that anyone could expect. But from early July the Red Sox have come from a long way back to move into threatening contention for the closing five weeks.

The wildness of too many Yankee pitchers has cost heavily. The Yankees may become worn out from battering back at misfortune. You can only take so much before the crash arrives.

OSLO (CP).—Following the recent decision of import authorities to limit taxi imports to European autos a selection of six small British cars are now being tested here. According to present estimates 250 European taxis will be imported during the first six months of 1950.

Zaharias to Meet Top Western Pros

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP).—The hard-hitting housewife of golfdom, Babe Didrickson Zaharias, has signed to compete in an exhibition match here September 21.

The fabulous Babe will match strokes with three top Western Canadian pros at Shaughnessy Golf Course in her first appearance here.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard and Freddy Wood are probable starters for the four-way clash.

Confirm Carse Canuck Coach; Hall Purchases Forward Stars

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP).—Aging veteran of Western hockey, Vancouver's popular Bill Carse, was officially confirmed today by owner Coley Hall as the 1949-50 coach of the Vancouver Canucks.

Hall [illegible] put an end to the rumors of Carse's appointment when he announced the 35-year-old Canuck skipper had been signed to a one-year contract.

Canuck owner said Carse will take immediate charge when the Pacific Coast Hockey League squad opens training at Kelowna, September 20.

Carse will be in his fourth year with the Canucks. He was selected as Canuck captain last year, when he was chosen as centre-man on the northern division all-star team.

Hall said position of netminder on the Canuck roster was still a toss-up between Little Doug Jackson and [illegible] Bud Lamarche, both on last year's squad.

Ex-Portland Eagle defenceman Larry Reardon has been signed to a Canuck contract. Speedy youngster Andy Clakowski, of Tulsa Oilers, will also report at Kelowna.

Most of the 1948 squad will return to the line-up, said Hall. He has purchased outright, forwards Wimpy Jones and Al Kuntz, both stand-outs last season from hockey czar Eddie Shore.

Canucks' schedule of exhibition games in the Interior are: Vancouver vs. Oakland, September 24 and 26 at Kelowna; vs. Seattle, September 28 and October 3 at Vernon, and vs. Kelowna October 5.

Curly E. Scores at 62-1; Ignatius Posts New Mark

VANCOUVER, Aug. 31 (CP).—Curly E, at 62-1, scored a two-length victory today to post the largest nose price this season at Exhibition Park—$125.40 for a $2 ticket.

Apprentice Harry Johnson hustled Curly E to a good spot in the early running, moved up on the outside [illegible] at the quarter pole and drew away.

The mile and three-eighths track record was cut three and four-fifths seconds in the sixth when Ignatius jumped into the lead, widened it out to ten lengths at the mile post and held on to win in 2 22 1-5.

Termite set the previous mark, 2 26, earlier this month.

Hutton Scores 3,000 in Year

LONDON, Aug. 31 (Reuters).—Len Hutton, Yorkshire and England opening batsman, established himself as the outstanding English batsman for the second cricket season in succession today when he became the first player to complete 3,000 runs this year.

He reached this aggregate, for the first time in his career, during a brilliant innings of 147 against M.C.C. at Scarborough. He batted nearly three hours and hit three sixes and 18 fours. Last season Hutton was top scorer with 2,654.

Tonight's score card:

At Guildford — Club Cricket Conference vs. New Zealand (one day match): Club Cricket Conference 217 for six declared; New Zealand 124 for seven wickets.

At Scarborough—Yorkshire 420 for eight; M.C.C. to bat.

At Bournemouth — Hampshire 308 for eight; Essex to bat.

At Folkestone: Kent 344; Lancashire to bat.

At Hove: Sussex 331 for six; Surrey to bat.

At Birmingham — Nottinghamshire 344; Warwickshire to bat.

At Leicester — Leicestershire 384 for eight; Glamorgan to bat.

At Worcester — Combined Services 188; Worcestershire [illegible] for [illegible].

Anti-Submarine Fleet Planned by Britain

—Marine News—

The United Kingdom plans to build a fleet of fast anti submarine vessels similar to those which Canada is building, Vice-Admiral R. V. Symonds-Tayler, chief of the Royal Navy's America and West Indies Station, said yesterday in Ottawa.

[illegible] during the first of a series of four tours of his command said at a press conference the Royal Navy's plans for the new vessels are in the [illegible] stage. They will be of British design but similar to a basic plan worked out with the R.C.N. on which the Canadian [illegible] ships are based.

Contracts of $[illegible] each for the first [illegible] of the Canadian vessels have been let to Halifax Shipyards Ltd., Canadian Vickers Ltd., Montreal, and Burrard Dry Dock Co. Ltd., North Vancouver. It is expected the keels will be laid late this year or early next.

[illegible] tends along both sides of the Americas from pole to pole, Admiral Symonds-Tayler's next cruise will be in the West Indies and the Caribbean. Exercises with H.M.C.S. Magnificent and other Canadian warships will be held off the northern part of the West Indies next March.

Next Summer his fleet, which consists of the Glasgow and three frigates will tour the West Coast of North America doing exercises with the R.C.N. Atlantic fleet. A fourth cruise will be around South America in 1951, making various courtesy calls en route.

Directs Naval Reserves

Appointment of Cmdr. Howard L. Quinn, D.S.C., R.C.N., 39, of Vancouver and Victoria, as director of naval reserves [illegible] at Naval Headquarters, Ottawa. Cmdr. Quinn, formerly deputy director of naval reserves, will take over his new appointment September 7 and while in the post will hold the acting rank of captain.

CMDR. H. L. QUINN, D.S.C.

As director of naval reserves he will be responsible for the organization and coordination of training in the 20 naval divisions across Canada and for the training program carried out in R.C.N. ships and establishments for officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy Reserves.

A native of Vancouver, Cmdr. Quinn first joined the naval reserve in [illegible] at Prince Rupert as an ordinary seaman. He went on active service as a lieutenant in September, 1939.

[illegible] war service in [illegible] and frigates he was confirmed in the rank of lieutenant-commander in [illegible] and in September was appointed commanding officer of the [illegible] Beacon Hill. In February [illegible] he became [illegible] officer of ships in reserve at Esquimalt in the acting rank of commander and a month later transferred to [illegible] for [illegible].

Cmdr. Quinn was appointed to the cruiser H.M.C.S. Uganda in May, 1946, as first lieutenant of H.M.C.S. Naden, the R.C.N. Barracks at Esquimalt. He was promoted to the confirmed rank of commander in July, 1948, and a month later was appointed to headquarters as deputy director of naval reserves.

HALT RIVER TRAFFIC

T. F. M[illegible], local agent for the Department of Transport, yesterday reported that traffic on the Fraser River at Ruskin will be interrupted for approximately one hour between 8 and 10 a.m. next Sunday, and [illegible] at the same time the following day while conductors are being strung across the river between steel towers.

All mariners have been warned to be governed accordingly and to proceed with caution in the vicinity of Ruskin on those dates while the aforementioned operations are in progress.

CATCH IMPROVING

Late albacore tuna catch was reported improving off Canada and Washington yesterday but it left the 1949 season below par, says a Portland dispatch.

No Alaska run has appeared so far although August is regarded as the big month in the Northwest tuna fisheries.

More than 250,000 pounds of the succulent fish have been landed in Canadian seaports this year but Seattle had 129,000 pounds discharged last week alone. Astoria, Ore., landings also improved.

Prices paid to fishermen range this year from $370 to $390 a ton or about $200 less than last year.

August grain exports through the port of Vancouver are expected to set an all-time [illegible].

Fish Buyer Defies Bullet

Napoleon Stradiotti, former Canadian middleweight wrestling champion, isn't afraid of a gun.

He braved gunfire early yesterday as two youths tried to rob him of $2,000 aboard his fish barge at New Westminster.

A bullet from a .32-calibre pistol missed him by inches as he lashed out at the thugs with a steel-hooked [illegible]. They fled the scow and [illegible], according to a Canadian Press report.

Only one shot was fired, "but they shot to kill," 42-year-old Stradiotti told police.

Police throughout the lower British Columbia mainland have joined in search for the bandits.

Stradiotto is a fish buyer for Queen Charlotte Fisheries.

Today's attempted holdup followed within a month the armed robbery of the fish boat "Alco, in Rivers Inlet, 250 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Two armed men boarded the Alco late last month and robbed the [illegible] $2,500 after binding and gaging him.

A $9,000,000 pulp mill is to be built in Red Deer, Alberta, in the immediate future.

The most Beautiful BUY of all

The most Beautiful BUY for Styling. As all master designers know, "the curve is the line of beauty." And the curve is the key-line of the 1949 Chevrolet — front, top, side and rear! Add to this the glowing color harmonies, the luxurious fittings and fabrics of its Bodies by Fisher — found elsewhere only on higher-priced automobiles — and you'll understand why people call Chevrolet the most beautiful of cars.

The most Beautiful BUY for Driving and Riding Ease — with new Centre-Point Design. What totally new driving ease — what totally new riding restfulness — with Centre Point Design! This remarkable 4-way engineering advance — including Centre-Point Steering, Centre-Point Seating, Lower Centre of Gravity without loss of road clearance, and Centre-Point Rear Suspension — brings you results heretofore unknown to low-cost motoring. It's exclusive to Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

The most Beautiful BUY for Performance with Economy

Talk about thrills! You'll get the biggest "triple-thrill" in motoring out of seeing, driving, and saving money with this new Chevrolet for '49 — the most beautiful buy of all!

And while you'll naturally be happy to know it's the beauty-leader, we believe you'll get your greatest thrill out of driving it. You'll experience amazing new handling ease and riding ease, thrilling acceleration, and outstanding hill-climbing ability, all delivered with typically tight-fisted Chevrolet savings on gas and oil. For here's the only low-priced car with a world's champion Valve-In-Head engine — of the type now being used on more and more higher-priced automobiles — the most beautiful buy for performance with economy, just as it's the most beautiful buy for styling.

Give yourself and your family the biggest "triple-thrill" in motoring . . . see, drive and save with Chevrolet for '49 — the most beautiful buy of all!

The most Beautiful BUY for Comfort. If you would know a truly comfortable motor car — sit here! Enjoy the lounging restfulness of a Super-Size Interior with extra-wide "Five-Foot Seats," extra-generous head, leg and elbowroom, and the advanced heating* and ventilating system of a "car that breathes" — inhaling outside air, exhaling stale air, and keeping glass clear. *(Heater and defroster units optional at extra cost.)

The most Beautiful BUY for All-Round Safety. You and your family will enjoy greater safety, too, fivefold safety protection exclusive to this one low-priced car: (1) New Certi-Safe Hydraulic Brakes with "Dubl-Life" rivetless brake linings (2) Extra-Strong Fisher Unisteel Body Construction (3) New Panoramic Visibility (4) Safety Plate Glass in windshield and all windows, and (5) the super-steady, super-safe Unitized Knee-Action Ride.

Coffee that's

economical

NESCAFÉ is quick — quick as you can add a cup of boiling water to a teaspoonful of Nescafé.

Nescafé is delicious. Brewed from finest South American coffees, it's alive with flavour.

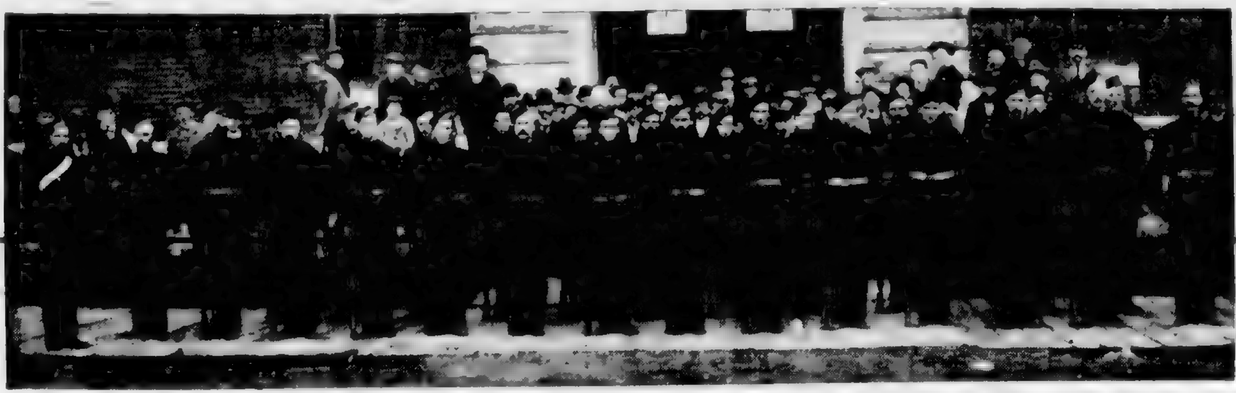
Yes, and Nescafé is economical. While other coffees are away higher than pre-war levels, Nescafé prices are down. So cup for cup, Nescafé costs less than ordinary coffees in can or jar.

Make one cup or many — in cup or coffee server. Nescafé is always the same, always delicious in flavour. It comes in powdered form, in air tight glass jars. Two sizes — 4 oz. and the 12 oz. economy size. Try Nescafé today.

More people drink NESCAFÉ than any other instant coffee!

Nescafé (pronounced NES-KAY) is the exclusive registered Trade Mark of [illegible] to designate its soluble coffee product. It is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added carbohydrates (dextrins, maltose and dextrose) added solely to protect the flavour.

These Were Victoria's First Boer War Soldiers



Twenty-six officers and men left Victoria in October, 1898, as city's first contingent to fight in South African campaign. Above picture shows Boer War soldiers standing at attention in front of Bay Street Armoury prior to departure. Identification is difficult but as far as can be determined Cecil M Roberts is seventh from left in front row; William B. Brethour, first soldier showing part of face in back row left; Capt M O. Blanchard, front row left; Sgt. William I Scott, extreme right, and Sgt. Joseph R. Northcotte, second from left in front row. Other men shown in photograph are Ralph J. Leeman, William H. Stebbings, Henry J. D. Andrews, Frederick Temple Cornwall, Henry Smethurst, John Todd, Seymour Hastings O'Dell, Frank Finch-Smiles, Frank Dickenson, George Neill, James W. Jones, Arthur Carter, Alexander C. Beech, John Dickson, Clark W. Gamble, James Anderson, Alexander Wood, Arthur Maundell, John Henry Somers, James Stewart and Stephen C. Court.

Tenders on Pipe Opened, Award Not Announced

Tenders for the making of seven miles of pipe to be used in the implementation of a vast plan for improvements to the city waterworks supply system were opened yesterday by Major George [illegible], chairman of the Greater Victoria Water Board.

Awarding of the contract will be announced at a future meeting after water board officials have had an opportunity of studying tenders submitted.

Total amounts of the tenders were not made public. It was explained that some of the tenderers had submitted their bids in part while others had [illegible] prescribed forms and still others had not included sales tax in their quotations.

It is understood however that the actual purchase price of the pipe will be in excess of $500,000.

The board authorized the purchase of two trucks for use of Water District employees. Tenders will be called in the near future.

Chief Commissioner Ralph Davis was authorized to attend the convention of the British Columbia Engineering Society to be held at Harrison Lake on September 15 and 16.

Capt. D J Proudfoot M L A [illegible] for Victoria, was in an improved and out of immediate danger condition according to Dr Charles Watson, superintendent of the Veterans' Hospital, last night.

His condition earlier was described as serious.

Mr Proudfoot according to relatives is expected to be in hospital for six weeks.

Rites Tuesday For Veteran Of Great War

Funeral services were held in Vancouver Tuesday for Capt. Francis Findlay, M.C., who died at St Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, August 17.

Capt. Findlay spent many years in Victoria as a member of the office staff of B.C. Electric.

In January 1915 he joined the Canadian Mounted Rifles. He was [illegible] appointed to the Lancashire Yeomanry and later to the 11th Battalion Royal Scots.

He was awarded the Military Cross in July 1918 for reorganizing his men under heavy attack at Mesnil St Nicaise-Bettencourt.

IN CONSTABULARY

After the Great War he joined the Royal Irish Constabulary, reaching the rank of district inspector when that service was disbanded in 1924.

He retained the rank of Captain.

He returned to the B.C. Electric's Victoria staff for a time, then moved to Vancouver where he became a salesman for Sidney Roofing and Paper Co.

At the time of his death he was assistant purchasing agent for Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

He was an ardent fly-fisherman and a keen golfer.

He leaves his brother J N "Jock" Findlay, his sister, Mrs William McFadden, and two nephews, William and Jack Findlay, all of Victoria.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Aug 31 (AP) — Wheat showed some underlying strength on the Board of Trade, despite prospects of large deliveries of cash grain on September contracts. It was estimated that about 1,000,000 bushels would be tendered on these contracts.

OTTAWA, Aug 31 (CP) — Wheat flour production during July slumped to 1,443,180 barrels compared with 1,787,269 in July last year.

Five in Family United After 62 Years Apart

For the first time in 62 years the five members of the Robinson family who live in British Columbia recently held a family reunion in Victoria.

Brothers and sisters who got together to renew old times included Phillip M 75 of Victoria, A Maurice, 73 of Victoria, Mrs S P Beeby, [illegible] 71 of Salt Spring Island, Lawrence H 69 of Victoria and Mrs H C Hawkins, Winnifred 66 [illegible].

Yesterday Phillip and Maurice, youthful and vigorous in appearance despite their years, were making plans for another family reunion next May following the arrival here from Lincoln, England of their "young" sister, 67-year-old Ruth, Mrs. James Nettleson.

ONE IN AUSTRALIA

They were hoping that their elder brother, 81-year-old George Edward would some day be able to make the journey from Brisbane, Australia. They said none of the Robinson family had seen George since he went to Australia some 62 years ago.

Phillip recalled the history of his family. He said his parents, George William and Harriet Robinson, of Grantham, England, had 15 children, of whom four died in infancy. In later years four of the surviving children died at the ages of 81, 79, 77 and 70, leaving seven still surviving.

At the Theatres

CAPITOL THEATRE Two of Hollywood's best young players, Barbara Hale and Arthur Kennedy, portray the parents of a small boy who falls into deadly peril in R.K.O.-Radio's suspenseful drama "The Window." Bobby Driscoll has the role of the boy and Paul Stewart and Ruth Roman are the other stars in the production in charge of Dore Schary.

DOMINION THEATRE Much of Walt Disney's success in personifying animal characters in his productions is due in large part, to the ability of his animators to endow creatures with human attributes so delightfully demonstrated in his comedy musical features "Dumbo" and "Saludos Amigos," both in color by Technicolor.

ODEON THEATRE John Payne can be seen this week at the Odeon Theatre as a war hero and amnesia victim in the taut melodrama, "The Crooked Way," in which he shares stellar honors with Sonny Tufts. Benedict Bogeaus produced the film for United Artists release. Ellen Drew plays top feminine lead in the film, which is set in Los Angeles, and the supporting cast includes such well known featured players as Rhys Williams, Charles Evans, Garry Owen and Greta Granstedt.

OAK BAY THEATRE A musical romance with a new flourish, laid in the nostalgic 1912 period against flamboyant San Francisco accents, Warner Bros. newest musical piece, "April Showers," with Jack Carson and Ann Sothern, opening today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE Latest best-seller to be brought to the screen is "Britannia Mews," Margery Sharp's best-selling novel, which has been filmed under the title of "The Forbidden Street." Produced in England, "The Forbidden Street" stars Dana Andrews and Maureen O'Hara and opens today at the Royal Theatre.

ATLAS THEATRE Diana Lynn, one of Hollywood's most versatile young actresses, now appears for RKO Radio as a comedienne, co-starring with Cary Grant, Franchot Tone and Betsy Drake in Don Hartman's production, "Every Girl Should Be Married," a Dore Schary presentation.

Seaplane Links Salt Spring, Mainland

Inauguration of daily seaplane service between Salt Spring Island and Vancouver International Airport took place on August 29.

A twin-engine Grumman Widgeon has been placed in service by Associated Air Taxi Limited, to whom the licence was granted by the Federal Government for the operation of the scheduled airline. The five-place seaplane will make two round-trip flights daily, with the westerly landing at Ganges Harbor. A Waco single-engined five-seater will stand by to take additional passengers if needed.

Principals at an informal luncheon, held at Harbor House, Salt Spring Island, just prior to the inaugural flight, included O. L. Leigh-Spencer; Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce President J B Ackland and Secretary M M. Acheson; Col. Desmond Crofton, chairman of the Chamber's publicity committee. Visitors from Vancouver were Dr G H Worthington, past-president and director of the Vancouver Tourist Association, and Dick Baker, manager of that body. Mr and Mrs Robert Gaver, operators of Associated Air Taxi Ltd and Dennis Pierce, well-known seaplane pilot, were special guests.

Mr Leigh-Spencer, expressing his sincere thanks on behalf of the 2,500 residents of Salt Spring Island to Mr and Mrs Gaver, foresaw [illegible] commuting for Vancouver businessmen leaving Salt Spring at 8 a.m. and arriving at their desks in downtown Vancouver shortly after nine and returning in the same record time after office hours.

New Complaint Reaches City In Soot Issue

The cloud of protests that has arisen over the smoke nuisance in the city continued to grow yesterday with the receipt at City Hall of another complaint.

"For the fifth time today (August 30) I have had my floor swept to remove a fine black soot that appears to permeate the air in this vicinity," objected A. R. Cann, 1004-6 Blanshard Street.

"I am a vendor of precise office machines which I wish to display on my counters and in my show window," he continued. "This soot accumulates on everything in the office. If covered the covers receive the soot which gradually ruins them."

Mr Cann declared he had been plagued by this nuisance for several months. He requested that the city investigate and take action.

Student Awarded Watch

Elizabeth Bryson, 18, of 1 Obed Avenue, second year student at Victoria College, receives solid gold watch awarded her as top scholar of college in 1948-49. Watch, presented by Gruen Watch Co. and F. W. Francis, Jewelers, was handed to Elizabeth yesterday by Hugh Francis of jewelry firm.

U.S. Tourists Criticize City Drivers

Lack of courtesy by Victoria drivers toward pedestrians is noted in a letter received by Publicity Bureau Commissioner George Warren from a Los Angeles couple who visited this city recently.

In Los Angeles and many other United States cities, they said, a pedestrian when crossing the street except against a signal has the right of way over any vehicle.

"We thought the same would apply in Victoria," the couple wrote, "but soon learned, after some very close calls, that it was everyone for himself and that drivers had little regard for anyone on foot who might be in their way."

The letter concludes with the suggestion that regulations of Los Angeles in so far as pedestrians are concerned might be instituted here.

"We are confident you would receive the thanks of your own citizens as well as appreciation from American visitors," the letter added.

Copies of the letter have been sent to Sgt. Brooke [illegible] of the city's traffic department and to the Greater Victoria Traffic Safety Council.

Here are a few of many specials

1 x 3 Rough or Planed 80c per 100 lin. ft. We suggest the rough for trellis and the planed for lattice or similar work.

1 x 6 No. 4 Common Planed, with tongue and groove $1.20 per 100 lin. ft. Will make a better joint than shiplap when used for sub-floors and floors, basement lining and outer sheds.

Common Air-Dried Thin Lumber, 8" and wider, planed on 2 sides to ½" thickness. To cover 100 sq. ft. $4.00. Makes good sub-floors and basement lining.

SPECIAL — Garden Stakes cut to length and bundled, 1 x 1 50c per 100 lin. ft.

Progress Made on New Wing at St. Joseph's

Picture taken from convent grounds, looking north, shows 128-bed new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital under construction. New wing, part of hospital's expansion program, will cost estimated $300,000, should be completed by New Year. Building will be extension of present Humboldt Street building, without separate entrance. It will house four-bed wards, with six-foot partition between heads of beds.

Woman's Sentence Suspended Due to Special Circumstances

Magistrate H. C. Hall yesterday suspended sentence on a woman charged with making false declarations to collect unemployment insurance while she was employed. [illegible] "This is the first case of this kind in which I have suspended sentence."

A. C. D. King, lawyer for the Unemployment Insurance Commission, had earlier told the judge that although the charge was a serious one the accused had been under a "very great strain" at the time he had given the false declaration in order to collect $23.10 in unemployment insurance.

Richard Ryan, address not reported, was remanded until Thursday for a probation report, after pleading guilty to begging for "a dime" near the Johnson Street Government Liquor Store. [illegible] "[illegible] legal for anyone who has a letter from a priest, minister of the gospel or two justices and it must be renewed every six months."

CHARGE DISMISSED

Robert McMillan Ackburn, 1145 [illegible] Street, had charge of driving while his license was suspended dismissed after Magistrate H. C. Hall ruled that sitting behind the wheel of a disabled car while it was pushed five feet did not constitute driving.

"NO AUTHORITY"

James J. Proudfoot, counsel for Monty Montaine, owner of the [illegible] Club, was granted a remand of two weeks for legal argument on a charge laid when the club failed to stop a public dance from continuing after midnight Saturday.

He told the magistrate that he had no dispute with the facts in the case, but declared he did not consider the by-law had authority to close the club at that hour.

GOOD REPORTS

George Blair and Roy Jobling, convicted of four charges of theft, were given suspended sentence after Magistrate Hall told them he had received a good report from the probation officer and had heard that service recruiting officers would accept them if they kept good records for six months.

He suspended sentence on condition that the youths agree to be of good behavior, continue working, keep good hours, not to loaf around town, and if they would report to the probation officer once a month for seven months.

South wisely refrained from bidding five no-trump because even if he found that North had two kings as well as the two aces previously shown, he still could not risk a grand-slam contract. Actually, the small slam proved a bit more than South could manage.

West opened the spade ten and declarer, thinking that this was an excellent chance for a free finesse, put in dummy's jack. East covered, and South won. Four rounds of hearts were then needed to extract East's cards in the suit. A diamond and a spade were discarded from the dummy. Now South tried to establish the clubs, but when he cashed the top cards he found West with two stoppers, and the situation became quite hopeless. Even if he had passed his first club lead into East's hand, retaining a club for communication, East certainly would have retaliated by taking out dummy's spade ace, and South would have been in the same untenable position.

South should have foreseen that it might be necessary, or at least highly advisable, to duck one round of clubs so as to ensure the establishment of that suit, and that being true his sacrifice of the spade jack at the first trick was extremely unwise. The eminently correct and winning play was to put in the spade four from dummy and win with the king, then to draw trumps (discarding diamonds from dummy) and pass a club into East's hand! With the ace-jack of spades remaining in dummy, East could not very well return that suit, and so would have to lead a diamond. Declarer would win this with the ace, lead his remaining club to the king, cash the club ace and ruff a club, thus establishing the suit with the spade ace for sure entry.

CHAPTER VIII

As Captain Murphy put it later, in describing the scene to Dan Gallian, one of his cronies at the Detective Bureau, the reaction to his announcement that Odile St. Amant had been murdered was "rugged."

"The mother flung a sure enough [illegible] then and there," he re- [illegible] ...od mamma is down on her knees. Only the daughter and this Racina character kept their heads but the way that gal gave St. Amant the poison eye, with her face a kind of toad-belly white, I'd rather have seen her throw fits like the rest of them. I noticed another thing for the book—the daughter's the kind that ordinarily would be dressed up to the nines but not this night. It's a red dress made out of some fuzzy kind of woolen stuff. And there are spots along the front of it. Not a lot, but enough to notice. I ask her how come she spilled gravy on her dress, she says, cool as a penguin's heel, that it's not gravy, it's blood. Then she realizes what she's said, you understand, and goes on about some automobile accident that afternoon and how she came out of it with a bump on the nose that made it bleed.

"Right smack in the middle of this Operation Bedlam in walks Orson Foxworth, the Number One Guy of the Blue [illegible]. I hadn't heard any [illegible] And I [illegible] But here's Mister B[illegible] letting himself into a house where there's just been a murder as natural as [illegible]. I make a note to ask him how come.

"Meanwhile, Rex Bonham says he thinks there are fingerprints on the gun but he can't be sure, and he and Doc Allgeier between them have found the fatal bullet. So I tell Rex to go [illegible] down to his bureau and develop the fingerprints and if any of them were plain, to bring them here."

* * *

"Suppose we get at this thing like reasonable people," Foxworth suggested. "I mean from A to B and then from B to C and so on. As I understand it, Captain, you state unequivocally that Odile was murdered. Why are you so positive?"

"No powder burns," the officer replied briefly.

"And that means?"

"The gun was at least eight feet away from her when it was fired."

"But is there no other way the gun could have been set to fire? Is the possibility of accidental discharge excluded?" Foxworth persisted.

"Certainly it could have been set. But if Mrs. St. Amant had done that [illegible] after killing herself. No such set-up was found. The gun was on the floor close beside her body."

"But that note was certainly in her handwriting."

"In a handwriting that couldn't be told from hers," Murphy said firmly. "Four people, all of them in a position to know, identified it as hers. But she didn't write it."

For the first time since Foxworth's arrival, Amelie addressed the detective directly.

"I tell you again she did. No one else could have written that note! No one!"

"Somebody else did," Murphy replied placidly. "And as neat a bit of forgery as I've ever seen. Neither her mother, her husband, her sister nor her doctor had any idea the handwriting wasn't hers, and that means that at least three of them—possibly all four—were taken in by [illegible]."

"When you say at least three of the four people you mention were taken in by what you insist was a forgery," said Foxworth, "you imply [illegible] of the four knew [illegible] written by Odile."

"I said possibly," Murphy [illegible] as genuine. Which [illegible] I'm not particularly interested in the note, even though it seems to have disappeared. If it was [illegible], there wouldn't be any [illegible] finding out who wrote it, and [illegible] to get [illegible] did the killing.

"It's up to me to find out who did it. And it's up to all of you to help me. [illegible] right out into the open. I'm [illegible] all of you, for the time being, as material witnesses."

"Meaning me, too?" Joe Racina asked from his corner.

"W[illegible]"

"Because it would make you look [illegible]. I didn't get here 'til after you did, and can account for everywhere I was between 10 o'clock last night and 2 this morning, when I did get here."

Murphy seemed to consider this briefly. "That lets you out, then," he conceded. He looked slowly from one to another in the cluttered drawing-room. "You know, I haven't got Idea One as yet on who might have killed that girl, but it's not going to be so hard to get the right answer," he explained thoughtfully. "In the first place, whoever it was, he—or she—was a rank amateur. A professional wouldn't have forgotten about powder burns, after planting this as a supposed-to-be suicide. Anybody who would make a mistake like that will be bound to have made plenty of others."

Beverley Baxter's Rest Cut Short; Queries Evoke Flood of Comment

Beverley Baxter, M.P., clad in a blue dressing gown, was lying down.

Mrs Baxter, bright and charming, hinted firmly that Mr. Baxter was tired and was to have a rest.

But Mrs. Baxter was called to an engagement—her spouse came erect with one question, was on his feet with the second. The third set him [illegible] smoke, erupting into a stream of ideas, comments and conclusions on a cosmic scale—leaving this reporter's pencil trailing behind a torrent of quotable phrases.

Known best to Canadians through his "London Letter" in MacLean's Magazine, Mr. Baxter was editor of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express in the period when it was transformed from a small and unprofitable journal into one of the world's most successful newspapers. Later he was adviser to the Kemsley newspaper chain, took a fling at motion pictures, became an M.P. and currently has writing contracts which keep him busy five mornings a week. Among other things, he is reputedly the highest-paid dramatic critic in the world.

BEVERLEY BAXTER, M.P.

ON POLITICS

Mr. Baxter on British politics: The Conservatives will win the next election because of the "middle vote." The middle class has been hammered to the wall by taxation and regulation and they have had more than enough. The Liberals are dead, but they won't lie down. They may put up 300 candidates in the next election and split the vote. How, no one can be quite sure.

Criticism of Socialist policy from the United States is likely to help the Socialists. The Americans have a perfect right to criticize, but the British don't like being told what they [illegible] any more than [illegible] people.

Mr. Baxter on the currency crisis: If Britain goes down the whole fabric of Western civilization goes. Something [illegible] come from the Washington currency conference. The danger is that the sterling area may be forced into a closed economy, a restrictive sterling block.

The currency issue is quite simple. When Britain was the great creditor nation in the 19th century, she opened her markets to every country in the world. Even the Dominions were not given preferences. Now the United States, the great creditor nation, doesn't want imports, doesn't need them. Malaya was typical. After the war she made a remarkable recovery because Britain's chief source of dollars, was able to hold back the Communist tide. The synthetic rubber people in the United States cried for import restrictions and got them.

DUAL CURRENCY

Mr. Baxter on Canada: Canada might be wise to adopt a dual currency. She can't find a market in the United States. She must export a surplus. She could find a use for excess sterling exchange in investments abroad and become a world power.

Mr. Baxter on the British: "I have a great belief in Britain. The British have a great capacity for survival. They are very bad at planning but possess a genius for improvisation. The war showed it again. Britain may be last in applying atomic energy to industry. There is always some dreamy Englishman smoking a pipe somewhere. He comes up with something. Never, never will the British be wiped out."

Mr. Baxter on Socialism: "It's been a great experiment, which has exploded many cherished theories—for example the great illusion of the 20th century that men and nations can get more pay for less work. Labor has learned that when the Government is the boss it is not easy to quit. In Britain's nationalized transport industry, if a worker quits, he is 'out' across the Kingdom's transport system.

SOME ADVANTAGES

Socialism has some advantages. It has done away with ostentation, tails at the opera—and with it has gone something attractive, mind you. The great landed lords have been forced to charge a shilling for entrance to their estates. They're becoming poor but taking it with great good humor.

The Government is taking so much of people's money they're taking to the [illegible] of them.

Socialism has found [illegible] alternative to the incentives of capitalism. It leads to breaking laws, first because there are so many no one can keep track of them, then out of boredom. Regrettable, because the English have always been a law-abiding people.

Forty per cent of the national income is going in taxes—no nation can stand it.

OLD DAYS GONE

Socialism is a creeping form of common sense. It destroys the intangible things which make great nations.

At this point, for the fifth time, Mr. Baxter hints that the pencil might rest. "Couldn't get all that stuff in half a column."

Mr. Baxter on capitalism: The old days of laissez-faire have gone. Trade unions will become more powerful. The Government will act as the intermediary between labor and management. Governments will be given more power. They will set the objectives for industry, which industry will have to meet, but in its own way.

And so on.

Liberals Name Advisory Body

Harry G. Perry, president of B.C. Liberal Association, yesterday announced selection of an 18-member advisory council to the association.

Members, selected by party officials and organizers at a recent meeting in Victoria, are:

D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria; Miss H. M. Copp, Vancouver-Burrard; James G. Gordon, Vancouver Centre; William Radi, Vancouver [illegible] Quadra; F. J. Morley, Vancouver South; W. M. Mott, New Westminster.

Elmer Bradshaw, Nanaimo; T. W. Christie, Comox-Alberni; Miss Hylda Cryderman, Yale; Olaf Hanson, Skeena; C. W. Motley, Kootenay West; H. N. Stewart, Kootenay East; Donald McTavish, Kamloops; Rex Cox, Fraser Valley; J. Campbell, Capilano; James Stableley, Cariboo; George D. McLean, Burnaby-Richmond.

BOMBAY (CP)—An unofficial committee set up by the Bombay Government has advocated that music be compulsory in primary schools and first three years in secondary schools. They also suggest degrees for graduate, post-graduate and research work in music.

Butter Price Rises in City

Wholesale prices of butter are going up, a local wholesaler said here yesterday.

New price quoted was 61½ cents a pound—a jump of one and a half cents over the old price.

Effect on the retail price was not divulged by local merchants.

L. Westendale, director of public speaking at the Y.M.C.A. addressed members of the Young Progressive Conservative Club at a meeting held in the Douglas Hotel last night.

He stressed the advantages of adequate expression in every day life and pointed out that it was a definite asset to be able to deliver a clear and concise address.

Headed by Dan Lawson, its president, the organization will hold its next meeting on Thursday, September 29.

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Humidity was so great after heavy rains that burrs and clover seeds began to sprout in the wool on the back of sheep in the Murrumbidgee area, New South Wales. Farmers said they had never seen such weird looking sheep.

Victory for Churchill Foreseen in Britain

A. Beverley Baxter, M.P., Mr. London Letter of Canada, MacLean's Magazine, made quite a speech last night in the Victoria High School auditorium.

The semi-bald, graying politician and political commentator, was at his drolly humorous best as he told an audience comprised mainly of Canadian Club and Canadian Women's Club members why socialism is on the way out in Great Britain, and why Winston Churchill will lead the Conservative party to victory at the next election.

"The authoritative voice of Churchill will ring out in England once more," Mr. Baxter forecasts. "Right now he is like a Roman emperor with a decimated platoon—a condition that cannot long continue."

"GREAT DAYS AHEAD"

"Under Churchill and the Conservatives, the great days of Britain are still ahead," he said feelingly.

Armed with some first-class observations of the British contemporary scene, Mr Baxter soon worked himself into a believable eulogy on the virtues of the English people.

"The British are the only people who can run a bloodless revolution," he remarked, anent the current socialization of British industry.

"And there is still more laughter in Britain than anywhere else in the world," he added.

Apart from the political aspects of the United Kingdom at the present time, he found a revival of the arts the most interesting factor.

OTHER VALUES

"Austerity has led to a renaissance of the arts in Britain," he says. "I'm a dramatic critic. I should know. I had a play that was a complete failure."

"Austerity does bring the mind to search for other values," he contends.

"These are the things that aren't told to outsiders in the stress of today's political conflicts."

A burgeoning of little theatres throughout the land and a phenomenal growth of music for the masses are symbols of the new cultural awakening, Mr. Baxter believes.

"There is still something to be said for the country's intrinsic cultural worth," he states, "when the shabbiest man on the street is liable to be the most fashionable and on his way to an opera where once tails were a prime requisite."

Athlete's Foot

A New Concentrated Prescription Found

Athlete's Foot is a fungus condition which is very contagious—it is one of the most persistent skin eruptions known. A new concentrated prescription has been found which will destroy all odor and by consistent use, night and morning, will relieve it. This prescription has been thoroughly tested and has shown remarkable results, even in long standing cases. The prescription is a clear, odorless and colorless liquid and contains no oil or grease, clothing and linens cannot be stained or marked. Application is simple. Wash your feet night and morning with warm water and pure soap. The prescription, Exoff Concentrated, is then patted on with a small swab of cotton, and allow to dry.

Your druggist can supply you with this prescription, simply ask for about 3 ounces of Exoff Concentrated. You may like to cut this article out—it is well worth a trial. (Advt.)

Pupils, Parents Benefit By Schools' New Plans

When city pupils return to classrooms of the Greater Victoria school system next Tuesday, they will likely find accommodation a little crowded.

But, altogether, judging from a Canadian Press survey, they will be as well off as a majority of Canadian school children, perhaps a little better.

Commencing this September, they will benefit from two new provincial [illegible]

Children in the lower grades will have all the text books they need provided free of cost, while those in upper grades will have the use of all books they need also, on payment of a low annual rental fee, under the Department of Education's text book rental scheme.

BOOKS READY

Books have been delivered to the schools and are ready for use, Senior Municipal School Inspector J. F. K. English said last night.

Junior and senior high school students will also receive a full course in alcohol education.

The course, initiated on a limited [illegible] is the first of its kind in North America.

Anticipated enrollment in the Greater Victoria district is 10,500, an increase of 400 over last year's figure.

Eight classrooms have been added since the end of the school term in June, and existing facilities overhauled and improved.

The city's teaching staff of 400 has been increased by some nine or ten new teachers.

Summing up the local picture, teacher shortage will not be one of Victoria's problems this year and accommodation is expected to be adequate although without much room to spare, according to Mr. English.

Elsewhere, Canadian school children will have more classmates, more courses and a better supply of textbooks but classrooms generally will be more crowded than last year.

JERRY MUSKRAT NURSES A SORE TAIL

Jerry Muskrat was caught in a cruel steel trap. He was caught by his tail. It was a fortunate thing for him that it was by his tail and not by a leg. But right at this time, Jerry couldn't see anything fortunate in it. In fact, to Jerry's way of thinking, it was unfortunate.

Now Jerry Muskrat is much more at home in the water than on land, and his first impulse in time of danger is to get into the water at once, if he is not already there. So when that cruel steel trap's wicked jaws caught him by the tail, Jerry plunged back off the old log into the water and tried to swim away.

If he had only known it, this was just what the trapper had expected him to do and hoped he would do. That trap had been fastened with a chain in such a way that Jerry could get into deep water. You see, the trapper hoped that Jerry would drown himself, and Jerry did come pretty near doing just that thing. He swam with all his might, but the trap held him, and, as he struggled, he lost his breath and water got up his nose in such a way that he choked.

It didn't take him very long to realize that he couldn't pull himself free in the water. At first, he was in such a panic of fright that he didn't use his wits at all. But, after he began to realize that by struggling in the water he would simply drown himself, Jerry's wits began to work. He turned about and swam back to that old log and climbed out on it. There he squatted down and rested to regain his strength and get his breath.

"It's of no use for me to try to pull myself free by swimming," thought Jerry. "I'm a pretty strong swimmer but not strong enough to do that. Perhaps I can pull myself free up here."

So when he had rested, Jerry dug his claws into the old log and pulled and pulled. It seemed to him that he certainly was pulling his tail out by the roots. But it would be better to do that and have no tail at all than to lose his life. So he pulled and pulled, and pulled. By and by it seemed to him that he felt his tail slip a little. That gave him courage and he pulled harder than ever.

Suddenly he pitched right over on his head, and at the same time there was a little snap behind him. He had pulled his tail free and the jaws of the trap had come together. You see, Jerry's tail tapers, and he had been caught not very far from the end of it. It was this which had saved him.

As soon as he felt himself free, Jerry plunged into the water and swam over to his house. Not until he was safely inside his bedroom did he look at his tail. The skin had been torn by the jaws of that trap and the end of his tail was raw and bleeding. For the rest of that day and the following night Jerry stayed right in his house and nursed that sore tail. But he had saved his life, so a sore tail didn't matter much.

Next story: "Jerry Is Filled With Distrust."

Seamen's Union Quits T.L.C. Leaders State

A.F.L. Dictation to Congress Charged by Davis, McManus

MONTREAL, Sept. 1 (CP). — The Canadian Seamen's Union, already suspended from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for conducting strike action without consulting the T.L.C., today announced its withdrawal from the Congress.

The [illegible] strike against East Coast shipowners since March [illegible] in a prepared statement signed by President Harry Davis and Secretary-Treasurer T. G. McManus.

The statement, containing a copy of a letter to President Percy Bengough and the T.L.C. executive, expressed concern "for the welfare [illegible] and also for that of [illegible] and Labor Congress of Canada."

DECISION PENDING

It came just two weeks before the opening in Calgary of the annual T.L.C. conference at which the [illegible] seamen's union was expected either to be permanently expelled or reinstated in the 400,000-member congress.

The strike began when the Shipping Federation of Canada, operator of more than 80 deepsea ships, signed with the rival Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.).

The C.S.U. charged its suspension in June was the result of "outside interference and foreign dictation in the inner affairs" of the T.L.C. It expressed hope that eventually it might "reoccupy our righteous place" in "an autonomous trade union centre, free of all foreign dictation and interference."

Reiterating charges that the C.S.U. suspension was the result of A.F.L. "dictation," the union letter said that President William Green of the A.F.L. had asked that delegates from affiliated unions vote for suspension at the Calgary conference.

Cost Index May Be Unchanged

By TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost-of-living index for August 1 will be released tomorrow afternoon, two days ahead of the [illegible] release date because of the Labor Day week-end.

Observers here expect there are little change in the August 1 figure as compared with the all-time high index of 162.1 on July 1.

SEASONAL BOOST

The index on June 1 stood at 160.5 and the increase to 162.1 on July 1 was attributed almost wholly to the seasonal boost in food prices. During the last few years there has been this upswing of the index in the Summer months because of higher food prices. It is not until September or October that the food portion of the cost-of-living index levels off or shows a decline.

If history repeats itself the August 1 and September 1 living indexes will be approximately the same as the July 1 figure. Then, unless other influences, such as a decline in trade, enter into the picture, a tapering off of living costs should be noted by October 1.

Coast Fishermen Claim U.S. Seiners "Poaching"

Poaching by American fishermen in West Coast waters was reported last night from Port Alberni. West Coast trollers were said to be indignant over "flagrant violations" of the international fisheries regulations.

The report was denied by officials here.

Trollers said that American seiners had been fishing with deep seines between "The Waterfall," six miles south of Pachena Light, and Carmanah Point. They said that ten or 12 American seiners were fishing within the three-mile limit set by international law.

They said "poacher" monitor radiotelephone conversations, and when the Dominion fisheries patrol boat is clear, "sneak inside the line and make a quick haul."

FLAT DENIAL

C. G. Barrie, Dominion Fisheries inspector in Victoria, who has recently returned from the fishing grounds, flatly denied that any United States vessels have been fishing inside the three-mile limit.

"There is absolutely no backing to the statement," he said last night. He said a Dominion Government vessel maintains a continuous patrol in the area, which is some 20 miles long.

"There has definitely been no fishing inside the limit," he declared. "This is absolutely proved by our own Canadian seiners who are fishing in that area. If our own seining fleet saw the Americans fishing they would soon squawk."

He said no complaints had come from Canadian seiners. The accusations were made only by trollers, he pointed out.

American fishermen sometimes fish in British Columbia waters, but as long as they do not fish there in violation of the law, Mr. Barrie said.

"There are no quick hauls in the seining business," he added. "A seining net is 300 fathoms long and 30 fathoms deep, and there is no machinery to operate it. The seine is handled by eight men."

It takes about an hour and a half to carry out a seining operation, he said.

Says Tito Will Compete With Soviet Cominform

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP).—The United Nations World says tonight that Premier Tito of Yugoslavia is preparing to launch a new worldwide Communist organization to compete with the Moscow-dominated Cominform.

Tito broke with the Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) in June, 1948, and recently has engaged in a bitter exchange of notes with Russia.

TO FUSE AIMS

The United Nations World, a privately-published magazine, says the basic issue behind Tito's plan "is to fuse the aims and activities of all Communists weary of Moscow's absolute domination."

The publication predicts that, when the new plan is launched, "the already bitterly violent fight between Moscow and Belgrade will reach a new convulsive climax."

Weather Outlook Still Good

Weather prospects for the Labor Day week-end looked good yesterday as August expired in a blaze of glory.

A succession of Pacific storms moving northward toward Alaska seemed unlikely to affect the week-end weather in Southern British Columbia, the Dominion Meteorological Service said.

Vancouver Island forecasts for today promised clear and warm weather — except for morning fog near Victoria and on the West Coast — but there were no guarantees for Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Words and March That Started World War

The tenth anniversary of the beginning of the World War is being marked this week. It began on September 1, 1939, when Adolf Hitler sent the Wehrmacht rolling across the Polish border. Hitler, centre, announced he had decided to send German divisions into Poland. In the event that he should lose his life, he designated Hermann Goering (standing under swastika, at top) to succeed him.

The World War, which ended with the surrender of Japan to the Allies, really began when Adolf Hitler sent his armed might marching into Poland in a tremendous push which left shattered towns and hundreds of innocent dead in its wake. In this photo a German motorized detachment rides through a Polish town, badly battered from repeated bombing by the then powerful Luftwaffe.

Seek Delay On End To Appeals

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 1 (CP).—The Dominion Government will be asked to delay enactment of any legislation aimed at abolishing Canadian appeals to the Privy Council.

The request was made in the form of a resolution approved today by the sectional committee on administrative civil law at the 31st annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association.

The Government recently announced that such legislation would be brought before the next session of Parliament, opening September 15.

Stressing that the C.B.A. was not expressing any views as to the wisdom or otherwise of the proposed abolition, the resolution asked that:

"Any bill for the abolition of the Privy Council appeal should contain the necessary provisions as to the organization and jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and the system by which its judges should be appointed."

Claim Clash On Greek Soil

ATHENS, Sept. 1 (AP).—The General Staff disclosed today that the Greek army fought an engagement recently with regular Albanian troops, and declared the clash occurred on Greek soil. The implication appeared to be that Albanian invaded Greece.

Greek troops did not go into Albania but were held back "with great pain" by their leaders, a general staff statement said. The Albanians have charged that Greek army units invaded their territory on a "40-mile front."

Fire Blamed On Arsonists

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1 (CP). — Youthful arsonists were blamed today for the $250,000 fire Wednesday which razed the Coast Peat Factory's plant and peat stock in suburban Richmond. The fire was brought under control today.

E.C.A. Head Urges Europe to Get Busy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (INS).—Marshall Plan Administrator Paul G. Hoffman declared today that Western Europe must "get busy" and meet the June 30, 1952, deadline for recovery program objectives.

The Economic Co-operation Administration chief emphasized that the United States is committed only to a four-year recovery plan and that it expects every effort to be made to achieve its goals.

Hoffman's statement was made after Europe's two leading Marshall Plan officials said that the rate of progress thus far was not sufficient to achieve the main objective, self-support, by June 30, 1952.

The American-financed European Recovery Program ends on that date.

The report, to be forwarded to the United States, was made by Baron Jean Charles Snoy of Belgium, chairman of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation, and Robert Marjolin of France, secretary-general of the O.E.E.C.

Snoy and Marjolin protested that the dollar shortage problem "is not on the way to solution."

Asked by International News Service for his reaction to this report Hoffman said:

"Our position is that they should get busy, get their hearts and heads into the effort, and see what is necessary and what can be done to meet the deadline."

CONSISTENT POSITION

Hoffman made it clear that this had been the consistent position of the E.C.A. in its dealing with Western European leaders.

He is understood to have reminded them that E.C.A. funds, under the program as originally laid out, will decline in the later years of the program.

His basic argument is that Western Europe can not tell whether it can achieve self-support by the deadline unless it finds out what the present "gap" actually is. By the "gap" he means what still has to be done.

Hoffman emphasized that incentives must be developed to induce British manufacturers to make and sell goods in the dollar area.

The British problem, of course, is now the major one in the European recovery effort.

The E.C.A. chief pointed out that the British are not making full use of their present productive capacity.

Japan's Typhoon Leaves 85 Dead, Heavy Damage

TOKIO, Sept. 2 (Friday) (INS).—Japan counted 85 dead, 38 missing, 366 injured and property damage amounting into the hundreds of millions of dollars today from a roaring typhoon that devastated a wide area across the most populous island of the Japanese chain.

Latest reports on property damage listed 70 vessels sunk, 78 damaged and 126 cast adrift, with 57,800 acres of farmlands flooded and 4,200 houses destroyed by the storm.

Floods resulting from torrential rains and huge tides churned up by the 80-mile-an-hour storm accounted for part of the damage.

FEAR ANOTHER

At the same time United States Air Force weathermen maintained a watchful eye on an atmospheric depression southeast of Iwo Jima, fearing that it might develop into a tropical disturbance and then into another typhoon.

"If such a storm develops," weathermen said, "it would hit Southern Japan next Sunday."

The howling storm cut across the Tokio area and Central Honshu and then leaped over to Hokkaido in the north.

The damage included more than 6,000 houses partly wrecked and 95,000 partly or largely flooded.

American installations and equipment also suffered considerable damage, with the loss to American Army boats alone mounting into the hundred thousands of dollars.

Only American casualty reported was an unidentified civilian who was treated for cuts at the Yokohama dispensary.

The typhoon, named "Kitty" by weathermen, struck Honshu not far from Tokio Wednesday night and roared across eight prefectures (provinces) of the island that night and yesterday.

Cripps, Bevin Sail for Talks

Sir Stafford Cripps, left, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin appear in a serious mood as they sail from Southampton on the liner Mauretania for the dollar talks in Washington. They will meet with Canadian and United States financial experts in an attempt to find a solution to Britain's dollar crisis.

Reds Driving To Rail Town

CANTON, Sept. 1 (AP).—The Communists were smashing hard today towards Chenhsien, railway town 180 miles north of Canton.

Unofficial but credible reports said the Reds' 15th Army today was within eight miles of Chenhsien. Its loss would cut the rail link with Government [illegible] on Hengyang, 265 miles north of Canton.

Part of the Kwangtung province (Canton) defence force was reported rushed to Chenhsien's defence.

Meanwhile a Chinese Nationalist army spokesman said the Reds' 16th Army had been repulsed on the Kwangtung province border, 165 miles northeast of this provisional capital.

BULLETINS

Complains

BELGRADE, Sept. 1 (INS). — The Yugoslav Government complained to the International Danube Commission tonight that an armed Soviet gunboat violated Yugoslav waters twice last month and asked for "protection" for the future.

Will Arbitrate

SEATTLE, Sept. 1 (AP).—North Coast Greyhound Lines agreed today to submit issues of its 11-week stike to arbitration. It called all employees to return to work immediately.

Ships Given Gale Warnings

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 1 (INS).—Southeast storm warnings were extended from Antigua to Eastern Puerto Rico late today in advance of a tropical storm that moved from the Atlantic ocean into Eastern Caribbean Seas.

At 5 p.m. (E.S.T.) weather bureau advisory said the disturbance, which has not reached hurricane force, is carrying winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour around its centre.

"The storm was last reported by Naval aircraft west of Martinique at latitude 15, longitude 62.7, moving West Northwest 10 to 12 miles an hour."

The Navy crewmen also reported "severe turbulence" within the squall area around the disturbance. A weather bureau advisory embodying the new information was expected shortly.

Grady Norton, chief forecaster of the Miami weather bureau, said he had received a report that seven men had been killed when the rear fringes of the storm overturned their boat near the Island of Barbados in the Windward Islands, but the report could not be confirmed.

Ontario Storm Ties Up Ships, Damages Crops

High Winds Reported Moving Into Quebec; Two Men Killed

TORONTO, Sept. 1 (CP).—Strong winds blowing in gusts up to 60 miles an hour ripped through Ontario today, accompanied by rain and hail, causing untold crop damage and power blackouts, and tying up shipping. Late today the storm was reported moving into Quebec.

In Montreal a [illegible] was killed and six [illegible] were injured by falling trees as a freak windstorm swept over Montreal. The [illegible] by a flying object.

At Valleyfield, Que., Archie Ouimet, 37, was electrocuted when a freak storm blew down high-tension wires in the Canadian Arsenals [illegible].

The trail of damage the storm left in its wake included numerous breaks in the lines of Canada's [illegible] between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. Ottawa was literally [illegible] for more than two and a half hours.

Gale warnings were up on all of the Great Lakes except Lake Superior.

Heavy loss was reported by fruit farmers in the Quinte district of Southeastern Ontario.

One Killed In Rioting By Africans

JOHANNESBURG, Sept. 1 (Reuters).—One African was shot dead, four policemen were injured and street cars and other vehicles were stoned during rioting by hundreds of Africans here tonight.

The rioting's immediate cause was the raising of fares on the municipal trolley service to the city's African areas by one penny. Africans had boycotted the trolleys during the day.

Tonight's rioting was the second major outbreak of racial disorders in South Africa within a year. Earlier this year Africans and Indians clashed in disorders throughout the Union.

Trouble was touched off early tonight when a single stone was heaved at police.

Hundreds of Africans then began stoning the police, many of them using heaps of stones which had apparently been prepared in advance.

Club charges were made and eventually the Africans dispersed.

Strike Ballots To Be Mailed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 1 (CP).—Strike ballots for 32,000 British Columbia lumber workers will be in the mail Saturday.

British Columbia District union officials said today the ballots will be mailed to all International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) coastal locals on that date.

School Board Member Resigns on Technicality

M. P. Paine, Saanich representative and vice-chairman of Victoria School Board, resigned his post at a special meeting of the board last night.

He said he had been informed that he had disqualified himself as a member of the school board "through a technicality in the School Act."

Mr. Paine's resignation was accepted with regret by the board. Major R. H. Green, chairman of the board, declared that, as a contractor, Mr. Paine's advice had been especially valued since the board had begun to implement its building program.

COMES AS SURPRISE

Major Green said the resignation came as a surprise to him, "but under the act it would look as if he was disqualified and apparently he is acting on the advice of his own counsel."

"It has been drawn to my attention that I have breached the provisions of Section 128, subsection 1, of the Public Schools Act, thus disqualifying myself from continuing in office as trustee," Mr. Paine stated in a letter of resignation to the board.

"It is only proper that the board should be informed of the facts which may have caused my technical disqualification," he continued. He said that since the beginning of his term the board has purchased small amounts of goods from Island Enterprises and B. C. Roofers and Agencies.

"I am one of three partners in Island Enterprises and one of eight partners in B.C. Roofers and Agencies," explained Mr. Paine. "I am advised that since these two firms are not incorporated that I am 'indirectly interested' in contracts of purchase 'authorized by the board' within the wording of Section 128."

"I wish to inform the ratepayers in Saanich that I still retain my keen interest in school affairs and will offer myself for re-election in December or in the event a by-election is held before that time," declared Mr. Paine.

Mr. Paine has served as a Saanich school trustee for the past seven years, four of which were spent on the old Saanich School Board and three as a member of the Greater Victoria School Board.

He is president of the Lower Vancouver Island Trustees' Association and a member of the Saanich Health Committee.

Commenting on the resignation, Major Green said members of the school board did not check into every company with whom it dealt in order to learn the names of the shareholders.

Western Air Strength Believed Potentially Greater Than Russia's

IF WAR COMES

How strong would Russia's aerial fleet be in [illegible] the next few years? Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service, reports in the following article, fourth in a series of six, how Allied strategists score the air scene of East and West.

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, Aug. 31 (INS).—Atlantic Pact military strategists envision Russian air superiority over Western Europe in the opening phases of any Soviet-precipitated war.

But, they declare the West would eventually gain supremacy in the sky fighting.

The Western Powers are believed to be potentially far stronger in the air than the Soviet Union and its satellites.

WIDELY SCATTERED

However, Western air forces are widely scattered. It would take time, for example, to move the bulk of the American tactical air forces to bases across the Atlantic from which they could operate effectively against a Soviet land offensive.

Therefore, if Russia should suddenly start war with the West during the next few years, it is thought that massed Soviet fighter and close-range bombardment planes co-operating with the Red Army would probably be able to dominate the air across Western Europe.

At the same time, it is expected that American, and possibly British, long range strategic bombers would be striking directly at the heart of the Soviet war potential with atom bomb attacks on Russian cities and industrial targets.

Unless Russia possessed the atom bomb or some weapon of similar effectiveness, the United States would undoubtedly have stronger strategic air power.

Numerically and from the point of view of quality of individual aircraft performance, the Western fighting air forces generally would be superior to the Soviets.

Russia and her satellites are es-

U.S. Joint Staff Chiefs To See Alaska Defences

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP).—The United States joint chiefs of staff will go to Alaska next week to inspect defences in that strategic northern outpost, Defence Secretary Louis Johnson announced today. They probably will spend about ten days in Alaska.

The operating heads of the army, navy and air force made a similar tour of Europe a month ago. They conferred with military leaders of the North Atlantic Pact countries on the proposed military organization under the treaty.

Today's announcement said the Alaskan trip "continues the policy for the joint chiefs of staff to visit unified commands together, as the opportunity offers, in order to study mutual defence problems."

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP).—Canadian and United States air and ground forces will test their skill next January and February in joint Winter training exercises in the Yukon and [illegible] Defence Minister Claxton.

He said the objective of the manoeuvres is to develop procedures, doctrines and techniques for the employment of combined Canadian-United States army and air forces operating in the far north.

He described the exercise as on a comparatively small scale.

More, Bigger, Better Planes Place West Ahead of Russia

[illegible] timated to possess a total of 27,215 fighting aircraft ready to fly.

America's combat planes, augmented by those of other Atlantic Pact countries, number 40,605, most of them far bigger and faster than those known to be available to the Soviets.

Russia's Air Force is believed to total about [illegible] combat planes with another [illegible] in reserve [illegible]. The Soviets are believed to have [illegible] 1,000 long range B-29 type strategic bombers, of which [illegible] could be [illegible].

The United States, on the other hand, has in general about 20,200 Army and Navy war planes and about 18,300 in reserve. Great Britain [illegible] and 6,000 fighter and bomber planes.

France expects [illegible] the [illegible] year [illegible] 20 British jet [illegible] [illegible] the French Air Force is [illegible] totally non-existent. It consists at the moment of several [illegible] war planes of 1945 vintage [illegible] are slowly being [illegible] for lack of spare parts, a handful of second-hand British bombers and a group of 24 jet fighter training planes.

COULD CONTRIBUTE

However, the other Atlantic Allies, especially Canada, would be able to contribute more effectively to Western aerial might.

It is also taken for granted that American, British and Canadian aviators would be able to outfly and outfight Soviet airmen on the basis of individual performance because of the higher quality of their planes and better training.

The American and British air forces also are thought to be far more advanced than the Soviet air force in the development of jet-propelled aircraft.

Nevertheless, the Russians are known to have a twin-engined jet-propelled fighter inspired by the German Messerschmidt that appeared briefly in the final stages of the last war. They also have a jet single engine fighter similar to the British Vampire as well as jet-propelled four-engine and twin-engine bombers.

FAR BEHIND

On the other hand the Soviet airmen are believed to be far behind the Western flyers in the technique of instrument flying.

Soviet transport planes seldom operated at night up to a couple of years ago.

The Russians are further believed to be lacking in electronic aids for bad weather flying, and the Red air force had no actual experience during the World War with radar to intercept strategic bombing attacks.

In fact, the Russians until recently at least concentrated more on the use of air power for tactical than for strategic purposes. Up to about a year ago nearly 75 per cent of Soviet air strength was reportedly assigned to the ground forces and designed to co-operate with the Red Army command.

LACKS OIL SUPPLIES

One of the weaknesses of Soviet air power is believed to be lack of sufficient oil supplies and reserves. During the last war approximately 80 per cent of all Soviet aviation gasoline was reportedly refined in the Baku area, which would be within easy range of American B-36s and B-29s based in the Middle East.

The Soviets are known to have [illegible] synthetic oil plants from Eastern Germany deep inside Russia [illegible] may now be providing an additional source of aviation gasoline. New oil fields are also being [illegible] Siberia and Central Russia.

However, Western military observers believe the Soviet air force would be crippled if the Baku fields were destroyed.

One of the unknown quantities [illegible] Russia's war potential is the extent to which she has developed guided missiles and weapons of the German V-2 rocket type.

EXPERIMENTING

There is no doubt that the Russians have been experimenting with these flying instruments of destruction.

Rumors have been current in European capitals for some time that the Russians were establishing launching sites for V-2 [illegible] in some of their Eastern European satellite states, presumably to fire against Western Europe in the event of war.

The United States has not, however, lagged behind in the experimental development of rocket and radio directed robot planes.

Use of these weapons by both sides in case of conflict would, it is believed, develop on a far greater scale than was experienced during the late war.

Very Angry After Robbery —Gunman Kicked Her Dog

DENVER, Sept. 1 (INS).—Joan Marie Arrants, 13, of Denver, was very angry today because a gunman kicked her little dog, Elmer. Two armed men had just robbed a supermarket of $5,000. They fled down the alley behind Joan's home just as she and her pet fox terrier stepped out of their back yard.

The first man ran into Joan and knocked her down. She had just got back on her feet when the second man bumped into her, and down she went again.

The man dropped some bills, and she shouted: "Hey, mister, you dropped your money!" The man paid no attention, so Elmer decided to stop him, but was booted aside. Joan said grimly: "Don't you kick my dog!"

She told police: "I wasn't scared of the men. I didn't know what was going on. But I didn't want them to kick Elmer."

Admits Charge of Wounding, Given Remand for Sentence

—SAANICH POLICE COURT—

Labh Singh, Roderick Street, an Esquimalt drydock employee, pleaded guilty in Saanich police court yesterday to a charge of wounding Massa Singh, 812 Roderick Street, with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Labh in custody for sentence [illegible] That day. He also asked for a probation officer report.

Massa told the court that on the night of August 27 the accused came to his house and became involved in some trouble with a woman there who eventually slapped his face. He explained he ordered the accused out of the house and a scuffle followed.

OBSERVED FIGHTING

Constable Thomas Matheson said that on arrival at the house he [illegible] Massa and the accused fighting in a ditch, the latter being on top and fumbling to open a pocket knife. The pair were separated and Massa taken to hospital for treatment of a wound received when the accused bit him with a [illegible] according to the constable.

Called as a character witness, Peter [illegible], Esquimalt drydock [illegible] highly of the accused. Magistrate Hall, before the accused entered his plea, stressed the seriousness of the charge and endeavored to have Labh obtain a lawyer. The accused refused, however, stating he had been drinking heavily at the time of the offence and remembered little about it. The magistrate also explained, through an interpreter, that the Legal Aid Society would assign a lawyer to the case if the accused had no funds.

THEFT OF CABLE

Edward James Mitchell, Jr., 2524 Wark Street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of theft of a quantity of telephone cable valued at $422 from behind some bushes on Alderney Street on August 18. He was represented by Patrick J. Sinnott. The trial was adjourned until next Thursday because of the absence through illness of one important witness.

Mrs. Marjorie Charleton and Mrs. Margaret Urquhart, who live near the spot, said they saw two persons loading heavy [illegible] of some material into a small truck about noon of the day in question. They [illegible] identify the accused as one of them, but did identify a truck entered as an exhibit by the Crown. Herzen Singh, 611 Duppin Road, owner of the truck, said the accused took the truck about noon of that day.

Charge of unlawfully passing over a double line on Gorge Road against Kenneth Fraser, 3496 Loval Avenue, was dismissed by Magistrate Hall.

FAILED TO REPORT

For failing to submit to police a written report of an accident August 18, Anne A. [illegible], 1260 Tolmie Avenue, was fined $15. He pleaded guilty.

Announce Prices of Tenders For Steel Pipe Water Project

Ralph Davis, chief commissioner of the Greater Victoria Water District, yesterday disclosed tender prices submitted for the first section of a new steel pipe which will be laid next year to increase the flow of water to city consumers.

Bids were submitted separately for the supply of pipe and valves to be used in the improved water supply system.

The Victoria Machinery Co. Ltd. tender of $634,060 was the lowest [illegible] for supply of the pipe. Others were submitted by Vancouver Iron Works, $668,707; Yarrows, $693,809; Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd., Vancouver, $694,705.

LIST OF TENDERS

The following tenders were received for supply of six gate valves: Pacific Coast Fire Equipment Company, Victoria, $16,977; Andrew Sheret, Victoria, $17,035; Alcock, Downing & Wright, Vancouver, $17,870; Terminal City Iron Works Ltd., Vancouver, $17,524; Dominion Engineering Co., $21,490.

Tender for supply of a check valve were submitted by Alcock, Downing & Wright, $4,994; Dominion Engineering Co., $4,107.

Mayor Percy George, chairman of the Water Board, said it would be at least two weeks before the successful tender is determined and a contract awarded. He said the lowest bid would not necessarily be accepted because of the many alternatives in the tenders such as length of pipe and types of steel.

Contract for the biggest single steel pipe job ever undertaken in this area calls for more than 6,000 [illegible] pipe [illegible] feet of 36-inch pipe, 16,000 feet of [illegible] inch pipe.

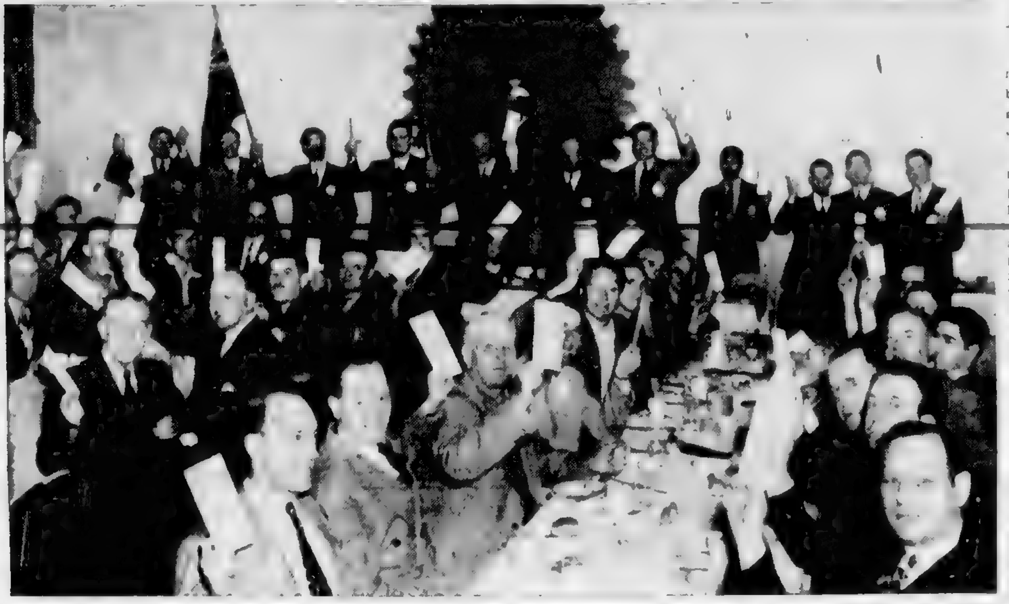
Cosmopolitan Club Pledges Membership to Traffic Council



Colonist Photo

Members of newly-formed Cosmopolitan Club pledged 100 per cent to support Greater Victoria Traffic Safety Council last night at dinner meeting in Club Sirocco. New council members are shown above waving pledge which was returned with car stickers for $1 membership fee.

Safety Council Dollars May Pay Fair Dividend

Dollars you pay for membership in the Greater Victoria Traffic Safety Council will more than [illegible] return a fair dividend.

It may come in the form of reduced insurance premiums, no unnecessary hospital bills or loss of time off from work, or perhaps even the retaining of life or limb.

So said C. J. Decker, executive secretary of the council, in an address to members of the Victoria Cosmopolitan last night at the Club Sirocco.

BECOME MEMBERS

The 82 members of the club became members of the council when they each paid a dollar and signed the pledge. It is the first service club in the city to pledge its membership 100 per cent.

The pledge reads in part: "I pledge [illegible] as a member [illegible] to lend my aid and support in the prevention of traffic accidents [illegible] and shall conduct myself with courtesy and strictly observe all traffic laws and regulations."

Mr. Decker stressed that the council must have the active support of the general public and service groups in order to make the Greater Victoria area a pleasanter place for walking and driving.

Major purpose of the council, said Mr. Decker, is to cut down the traffic accident toll through a program of public education and publicity.

BIG REPAIR BILLS

The speaker pointed out that in British Columbia during 1948 motorists paid some $1,814,000 in garage repair bills. This works out to about $6 a year per car on the road.

He said that all insurance companies had suffered a heavy loss and were forced to meet the deficit with increased insurance rates.

The council here is patterned on the National Safety Council and is promoting the same campaign that has resulted in a 30 to 40 per cent drop in traffic mishaps in United States and Canadian cities, he said.

The 1949 safety program is sponsored by the Victoria Rotary Club.

MOTORISTS WARNED

Motorists were reminded by Deputy Police Chief John Blackstock yesterday that school opens Tuesday and all school zones will be heavily patroled by police.

Pointing out that new and larger school signs have been erected, the deputy chief thought there would be little excuse for drivers to disobey speed regulations.

"Take it easy. Be on the alert for youngsters. Children do unpredictable things so drivers should be extra careful in school zones," stated Deputy Chief Blackstock.

MAYOR PARADE JUDGES

Mayor Percy George and Lt.-Col. R. D. Travis will act as parade judges at the Port Angeles, Wash., annual Derby Week celebrations on Saturday, it was announced yesterday.

The grand parade, which is expected to be the longest and most colorful to appear on the Olympic Peninsula, will include more than 60 floats and marching units and bands.

Among the Victoria groups represented will be the Princess Mary's Canadian Scottish Regimental Bagpipe Band, Girls' Drill Team, Eagles' Band, Eagles Ladies' Drill Team, and the Eaglettes.

Also attending the event will be Alderman and Mrs. D. McTavish, Alderman and Mrs. Charles [illegible] and Alderman Frank Mulliner.

Victoria Due to Hit Limelight As Writers Prepare Articles

Greater Victoria is due for a great deal of international publicity within the near future.

Over the past several days publicity bureau chief George I. Warren has been escorting various writers throughout the city and district pointing out scenic highlights and interesting points of the area.

One of the writers was a feature artist from Life magazine. He came from New York, and his photographer was from Los Angeles. The Life story of this city will be included in a feature story covering the Puget Sound area.

MacLean's magazine is also preparing an illustrated article on Greater Victoria. It will have colored photographs. Both articles will appear in the near future.

Victoria's new Publicity Bureau built at the north end of the Causeway by the Rotary Club was a popular spot during August.

"ALL TIME" RECORD

Bureau Commissioner Warren said yesterday that no less than 14,577 visitors called at the bureau throughout last month. It was an "all time" record.

So far this year, Mr. Warren added, a total of 41,142 persons have used facilities of the bureau.

In one day, August 18, close to 800 persons called at the bureau.

The bureau staff of three advisers is headed by Miss Ethel Hole.

At the modern building visitors are provided with folders, maps and a wealth of other information relative to Greater Victoria and Vancouver Island. The staff is also instrumental in making reservations of all kinds to tourists and generally being of much help in many matters.

Parade to Start Annual Chest Drive Following Formal Opening by Mayor

Greater Victoria's annual Community Chest drive next month will be officially opened by Mayor George and will be started with a parade sponsored by the Eagles.

This was reported Thursday at a meeting of divisional heads at Chest Headquarters in Prince Robert House.

[illegible] already at work. Working on this group in an effort to receive specified sums which will go a long way in putting the campaign over the top are E. W. Arnott, Fred McGregor, H. A. Wallace, M. Macintosh, Miss Sara Spencer, Russel Ker, A. F. Nation, James Thew, J. V. Barnes, R. D. Mulholland, C. F. Price, A. J. Ross, Harold Wilson, D. McMillan, J. H. Brown, G. E. G. Whittaker, R. Wilson, F. E. Winslow, Hon. W. T. Straith, W. Martin, S. J. D. Clark, D. Humphries, George Gregory, A. G. Styles, P. B. Scurrah, Robert Phipps, J. R. [illegible]

THANKS EXPRESSED

Thursday's meeting expressed thanks to the City Council for its action in recommending to next year's council that the city give the Chest $2,500. This year the grant was but $250.

"We're very optimistic about the outcome of this year's drive," co-chairman Walter Walker said.

Mrs. R. D. Harvey, reporting for women's groups, said navy and army wives had offered to help and will each assume responsibility for certain residential districts. She said an effort should be made to make the public more familiar with the good work done by each of the Chest agencies.

"Outside the V.O.N. and one or two well-known agencies like that, I feel the public doesn't know the work each agency is doing," she said.

SOME MISUNDERSTANDING

Co-Chairman F. F. Winslow said there has always been misunderstanding on the part of the public regarding the various agencies.

"Some people think Roman Catholic organizations receive [illegible]," he said. "But they have not asked for any increase in their quotas and they receive [illegible] the [illegible] for instance received [illegible] what it would have got in a tag day in 1937 and today, of course, the proceeds would be much greater."

Water Power Rights Hearings To Be Held in Late October

Hearings on the application of the Aluminum Company of Canada for water power rights in the Chilco and Nechako drainage systems of the Mainland coastal area will probably be held late in October.

Major R. C. Farrow, who previously indicated the hearings might be in September, said yesterday it would be necessary to delay the hearings pending completion of surveys.

Among the objectors to the most northern development are 50 or 60 farmers who may be flooded out. Until surveys in this area are completed, it is not possible to determine the area which may be flooded.

Opposition to the Chilco scheme will come mainly from the fishing industry. This area is one of the main spawning grounds for British Columbia salmon.

The Aluminum Company plans a $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 power development linked with a plant for the production of pig aluminum. Because of the difficulties over salmon in the Chilco system, the company has given its main attention to the Nechako and is spending nearly $1,000,000 this year in engineering surveys.

M. Neels De Boer, vice-president of the company, has made it plain that the Chilco system would only be considered if the more northerly site proves impractical.

TAKES FIRST PRIZE

Provides Scholarships In Will

Cecelia Elizabeth Green, who died here June 9, requested in her will that income from a trust fund consisting of $4,000 Dominion of Canada 3 per cent bonds, be set aside for a Victoria High School scholarship fund.

The will has been probated in Supreme Court. Mrs. Green left a gross estate of $62,755, the majority of it to her son, Robert Howard Green of this city.

In her will she asked that $4,000 be held in a special fund to be known as the "Cecelia Green Memorial Scholarship Fund." Total income accumulated on June 1 each year is to be paid the high school student, chosen by the principal, obtaining the highest standing in matriculation and who intends to continue education at the University of British Columbia.

PREPARE FOR WINTER

Indications that many Victoria householders are preparing for heavy Winter rains appeared at City Hall yesterday when permits authorizing the reshingling of 63 city dwellings were issued by the city building inspector's office.

One of the permits went to the Penfold Roofing Company of Vancouver, involving work on 45 dwellings estimated to cost $11,250.

The other permit was issued to Victoria Roofing & Insulation for work on 18 dwellings estimated to cost $5,149.

Prevention Is Paying Off on Tuberculosis

PUBLICATION by the Canadian Tuberculosis Association of the reduced death rate from that cause in Canada, now at its lowest point in history, is evidence that the long fight against the disease has begun to produce increasingly important returns. British Columbia, in spite of a proportionately heavy native Indian population, stands well among the ten provinces. Part at least of that result can be traced to the development of, and public co-operation with, chest clinics.

The incidence figures for the country as a whole, at 37.1 deaths per 100,000 of population compared with 43.4 in the year before show that already tuberculosis has shrunk from a major scourge to one of less consequence, with eventual mastery certainly in prospect. Ten years ago no such prediction could have been entertained. The progress that has come has developed along many lines, including marked advances in medical science which, superimposed on preventive steps, had no little to do with the fortunate result.

If through co-operation and general educative means society can reduce tuberculosis from a major to a relative minor threat, there are good grounds for the belief that in time the disease may be almost eradicated. Certainly the gains made so far have greatly reduced the spread of the disease, and to some extent the fury of its attack. What can be done with tuberculosis may be repeated with other and more menacing complaints by similar means, and as medical progress widens its expanding horizons. Certainly prevention is proving worth all of the attention it has received. The reduction of tuberculosis in Canada is an encouraging result.

Experiment in Evening Classes Is Progressive

VICTORIA College is to be commended on deciding to repeat this Fall its initial experiment with night extension classes of last year. While the subjects handled may or may not be academic in character, there is no doubt that this attempt to carry the institution to the community will be responded to and increase the worth of the College in the whole region. The "night-college," as it can be called, is an obvious extension of the night-school which has been run with growing success for many years.

That Canada remains a country of opportunity stems in part from the fact that her people have always shown themselves willing to learn and profit by new things. While some may regret the change in character and scope of higher education through the years, there is no doubt that any program of studies must be altered to meet changing times. In so far as the night-school and the night-college help to fill in the gaps for those whose formal education is incomplete these are important adjuncts to any community.

One of the best features of such effort is that it attracts initiative. Much can be done for individuals with the incentive to round out their own development, and so improve their equipment for life. Nor is that, as is sometimes erroneously asserted, all on the mechanical side of living. Useful arts to fill the leisure hours of living can also come out of night classes, whether in college or lower school.

Even the North Pole Wanders These Days

WHILE it has been known to scientists for some little while that the magnetic North Pole wanders about a tight little circle of its own in the chilly wastes of the Arctic, it has been left to Canada to track down these migrations and present its report to the world. That has been done, after careful scientific investigation by plane on the spot, and the current position of the North Pole has been established with specific benefits to navigation and other arts.

As a result, it is estimated "that the magnetic pole moves between five and ten miles annually," and "is at present at Ommanney Bay on Prince of Wales Island."

That is a blessing anyway. Even to have the North Pole tied down for a little while should be a relief to a world adrift at most other points. What with the Queen Charlotte Islands coming up, or going down, as a result of earth shocks, and the rest of it, just to be sure for one day that the magnetic pole is where it ought to be should be a steadying factor, one that will be a comfort to over-worked governments everywhere.

H.M.S. CONDOR

Sir,—I read, with great interest, the article entitled "Disasters Dotted British Columbia History" by Gordon Forbes, in your magazine section recently. I note that he mentions H.M.S. Condor and says that nothing was found of her except part of a lifeboat, a boom and a sailor's cap.

I have attended services several times at the Garrison Church, Esquimalt, and I have seen there a lifebelt marked "H.M.S. Condor."

I have written this just as a point of interest and not as an argument on the above article.

B.C. HOSPITAL SCHEME

Sir,—It would be very interesting to hear how many people have paid their insurance for this year and how many have not.

I am under the impression that those who do pay are now going to be forced to pay increased premiums to make up for the defaulters.

It would be of general interest to know how many defaulters cannot pay and how [illegible] will not pay. Who decides and on what basis, that a person is unable to pay?

There is [illegible] assurance that this Government scheme will be operated economically. It is more probable that it will become [illegible] and more grandiose and that we shall be expected to pay increasingly heavy premiums.

I feel that a maximum premium rate should be set and then let the management cut their coat according to their cloth.

SCIENCE AND HUMANITY

Sir,—I have just read Miss Dorothy Thompson's characteristically vigorous attack on certain sentences quoted from the address which I delivered at one of the opening sessions of the United Nations Scientific Conference on the Conservation and Utilization of Resources.

Miss Thompson has been a practising journalist for so long that one would have expected her to be aware of the danger of condemning a whole speech on the basis of a few sentences used as a newspaper summary. One might even have hoped that she would have taken the trouble to read the complete text before making it the subject of one of her justly famous columns. Other commentators took this precaution.

Miss Thompson's complaint seems to be that I drew a distinction between "scientists" and "humanity" and, speaking for the "scientists," scolded "humanity" for getting us into the difficulties with which we are now faced.

So far as I am aware, no one who heard or read the address found in it any such distinction between scientists and humanity. Throughout the entire speech I was talking of humanity as a whole — including scientists. I constantly used the word "we" in this sense; I talked about "our" record.

With regard to Miss Thompson's regrettable general attack on scientists, I shall make only two comments. First: She did exactly what she accused me of doing. She drew a distinction, in fact almost an antithesis between "scientists" and "humanity." Then she proceeded to blame most of the ills of the world on the scientists. This seems to me to be nonsense and dan[illegible] nonsense. The unending search for truth has enough difficulties to contend with already without having Miss Thompson encourage those who are in revolt against intelligence.

My second comment is quite different. What happened to Miss Thompson's memory when she wrote:

"Thousands of people were killed in Germany for resistance to Hitler's maniacal regime. How many were scientists? Not a single one?"

Were there really no scientists among the thousands of democrats and socialists and Jews who were killed by Hitler? A telephone call to Dr. Einstein might have been a wise precaution before Miss Thompson sent this sentence to the publishers. He was within easy reach, at Princeton.

Isn't checking the facts a basic principle of good journalistic practice?

From "Men of Old"

I know not that the men of old
Were better men than now,
Of heart more kind, of hand more bold,
Of more ingenuous brow:
I heed not those who pine for force
A ghost of Time to raise,
As if they thus could check the course
Of these appointed days . . .

With rights, tho' not too closely scanned,
Enjoyed, as far as known,—
With will by no reverse unmanned . . .
With pulse of even tone,—
They from today and from tonight
Expected nothing more,
Than yesterday and yesternight
Had proffered them before . . .

Yet, Brothers, who up Reason's hill
Advance with hopeful cheer,—
O! loiter not, those heights are chill,
As chill as they are clear;
And still restrain your haughty gaze
The loftier that ye go,
Remembering distance leaves a haze
On all that lies below.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I SEE that Elmore Philpott is trying to drum up enthusiasm for a civic auditorium in Vancouver, a city where people sit out in the rain in order to listen to "TUTS."

That gives this city no room to crow. Only the advent of a new ice arena saved local theatregoers from sitting out—not in the rain perhaps but certainly in the chilly air—to watch the Victoria version of "TUTS."

Which, incidentally, makes you wonder why "Starlight" performances were invented, seeing the artists run for cover at the first opportunity. Not that I blame them, B.C. evenings being what they are, but the name now seems a misnomer here.

It may run counter to sporting thought, in which I like to share, but it is my fancy that Victoria needed a civic auditorium as much as it did an ice arena. Now, I suppose, that idea is out. Once bitten twice shy is apt to be the attitude of taxpayers towards any possible duplication of arena history.

Yet Victoria as well as Vancouver badly needs a civic auditorium.

The new ice arena no doubt will help to fill part of this need—but certainly not during the Winter season, which modern hockey prolongs to great lengths. Between professional and other games, and public skating, there will be small chance of any other kind of arena activity in Winter.

That is as it should be, for the Memorial Arena was built primarily for ice sports.

* * *

Lacking a civic auditorium Victorians will expect the arena to substitute therefor when it can, however. An idle building is no use to anyone, nor does it help to pay running costs.

Were things differently arranged nowadays we could perhaps have both an ice arena and a civic auditorium.

Mr Philpott, for instance, recalls the rough and ready days when if somebody needed a new barn the community held a barn raising. Neighbors came from far and near and had a jolly time raising the rafters, literally as well as metaphorically. He wonders what has happened to Vancouver that this principle can't be applied now, so that Mainlanders can have a new auditorium.

This kind of nostalgia is commendable, but I'm afraid unfortunately out of date. It is one thing to build a barn but quite another to erect a modern auditorium. Enthusiasm might hold a "bee" together for a day or so but not for the months needed for a huge building.

Nor, to be frank about it, is the temper of the day sympathetic to volunteer labor. In an age when the prevalent idea seems to be to do as little as possible for as much as possible in return, there's small hope of concerted action along community building lines. At one arrested stage of the arena construction this paper suggested some such form of citizen help to get things moving again, but everybody immediately ducked out of sight.

* * *

That's a great pity, too, because even a city the size of Victoria might surprise itself if citizens rolled up their sleeves and went to work, without restricting thoughts about contributing a larger share than their neighbors to a community enterprise.

Mr. Philpott has a big job in hand if he hopes to persuade his fellow Vancouverites that the road to a new civic auditorium could be paved with self help, but more power to him. Any such example might be catching.

It might even cross the Strait of Georgia to Victoria, a city where people won't sit out in the rain to listen to their own brand of "TUTS."

And then, who knows, they might feel they should do something about it, as Mr Philpott hopes Vancouverites will.

I'm afraid I'm not so omptimistic as he seems to be, however, although I wish I could emulate his enthusiasm. A civic auditorium would complement the Victoria ice arena nicely, with immense benefit to the whole community.

It's probably a vain speculation this, that I know, but I presume a little bit of wishful thinking now and then does no harm.

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—A movement for the establishment in the city of a hostel for workingmen has been started by a number of Victoria women's organizations.

50 YEARS AGO—A by-law has been prepared . . . to give Mr Henry Croft a lease of the James Bay mud flats in consideration of his reclaiming the flats and building a new bridge across the bay.

85 YEARS AGO—At a meeting of the butchers of the city a commendable resolution was passed that in future their premises would be closed on Sundays.

Germany in Postwar Europe

Fourth of a series of articles specially written for The Colonist by a Vancouver Island man recently returned from Germany where he spent several years in the service of British Intelligence.

By DOUGLAS MORRIS

THE Allied Government's policy was an obvious one, not to give the Germans representative government, but to impose on them a Democratic minority. Most Germans both past and present do not like democracy, and do not want it, but in this instance they had to have it. What they have made of it in the intervening years is now clear for the world to see.

During 1945 most of the old parties gradually emerged in one form or another, but changes in party policy carried on behind the scenes were many and most difficult to keep in touch with until such time as the leaders showed their hand in a public announcement. This often necessitated strong measures on the part of the Military Government to curb their party activities. Both the Socialists and the Communists became very active, and at various times there was a suggestion of their merging, which in view of the events of 1933 seemed a natural move.

Later events, however, turned this idea into an international move in power politics, the significance of which is explained below. The Christian Democratic Union (right-wing nationalists) rapidly gained strength by preaching a doctrine of mild progressivism. But, being originally the most right of all parties, it steadily attracted more and more of the older right-wing elements, until some of its "doings" became very suspect. This was later confirmed when it was found that certain Ruhr industrialists even in those days were favoring the party with financial support. Today, the C.D.U. are in power in Germany.

* * *

Numerous other parties came to light, but upon investigation often proved to be either sinister and reactionary, havens of escapism for old country gentlemen or the fallen idols of a defeated military clique with very little political significance. Often they were allowed out in the open, so that their activities could be more closely watched.

There was much more to understand about the policy of the governments represented in the occupation before implementing such policy in the local councils. Every move was obviously governed by relations with Russia, an important and dominating factor. It was clear to the whole world at that time that the gulf between Russia and the Allies was widening, and the effects could be seen more clearly in Germany than elsewhere.

While not a show of open hostility, it was certainly one of suspicion, and as we now know, later developed into straightforward obstructionism on all sides. At that time this feeling possibly resulted from such factors as the Communist defeat in the Austrian elections, the London Conference of Foreign Ministers, and also from the heated debates in the United Nations. Whatever the cause, it was clear that Russia's policy in Germany, which had been one of extreme vindictiveness up until the time of the Communist defeat in the Austrain elections, from then on underwent a complete change, especially in her own occupied zone. A strictly disciplined police force on a smaller scale gradually replaced the ill-controlled troops who had been in occupation previously; food was imported on a large scale, and industry was revived with raw materials imported from Russia. However, this economic change was accompanied by a new political policy which appeared designed to produce one single political party in the Russian Zone.

* * *

Dominated by Communists and subordinated to Russian designs, it first attacked the leaders of the Christian Democratic Union, who were eliminated for criticizing the land reforms. But when a scheme to amalgamate the Social Democrats with the Communists on a 50-50 basis, suggested originally by the Communist sympathizers within the ranks of the Social Democrats, was turned down by the Socialists, an intimidation campaign started. Socialists opposing amalgamation were dismissed from their jobs, their ration cards were withheld and later many of them landed within the confines of such famous concentration camps as Oranienburg and Sachsenhausen. Those favoring the fusion received immense stocks of printing paper to further the campaign and a terrific propaganda blitz was waged. The world has probably forgotten that eventually the committee of the Social Democrats capitulated and voted in favor of a fusion with the Communists. The next day Marshal Zukov presented them with six brand new motor cars.

* * *

While this battle had been won in the Russian Zone a separate campaign had to be waged for Berlin, it being classed as a separate zone under four-power control. There, under the very eyes of the combined occupation authorities of France, the United States and Britain, intimidation could not be so blatantly carried out. However, immense propaganda resources were placed at the disposal of advocates of the fusion, and a plebiscite of Social Democratic members held on March 31, 1946, in Berlin, eventually resulted in the political and economic battle for that city which has [illegible] going on ever since.

From here on the breach between East and West gradually widened until currency reform, initiated overnight without warning in the Western Zones, sealed the barrier between, gave birth to the blockade and the airlift; and finally destroyed what little if any harmony by then existed of the old four-power control. The system of political representation in one state-controlled and dominated party being opposed to the growth of democratic freedom in the other three zones, engendered a series of continuous accusations against the Western Allies of harboring and backing "imperialists" and "reactionaries" of the "old gang" which has never ceased.

It will now be seen how difficult a job faced the government representative in his search for politically clean men to fill the seats of his local councils, which after all constituted the basic progress in a society free from political intimidation.

Political reliability was at that stage far more important than administrative efficiency, and became the guiding principle for Allied officials in carrying out the policy of their respective governments. A revolution was being staged in Germany, not for the good of that country so much as for the safety of democracy in the [illegible] ahead.

* * *

So local government in the new Germany was born. Initially the key positions were filled not from among the ex-members of those parties who voted for Hitler in the Reichstag in 1933, nor from among those who plotted against him on July 20, 1944, but mainly from among the old ranks of the Social Democrats who had remained steadfast and true to their cause in the face of much adversity.

Many circumstances dictated the course of events which later allowed many holders of office during the Nazi regime to again climb to positions of trust and responsibility in the new government.

The Social Democratic party have continued to receive the support of the people at the polls at every election for each stage of new government in Germany until this most recent poll for the new Western Federal State Parliament, when the Christian Democrats, again supported by the same forces that upheld them in their fight to overthrow the Weimer Republic, were elected by an overwhelming nationalist vote.

Bepop on Ice

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

ESKIMOS don't like bebop. Neither do a lot of other people in cosier climates. But the interesting thing about these Eskimos is that an Arctic ornithological expedition encountered a tribe of them and not one blubber-fed bobby-soxer but wrinkled her nose in distaste at Dizzy Gillespie's beat.

The value of this information in cooling the ardor of our own teenagers is lessened by the fact that the fur-lined itinerants of the Far North didn't respond to classical music either. That, of course, is a matter of education. Given time and patience, they could certainly be trained up to Bach, Beethoven and Brahms. But only a long hot spell the like of which has never been seen in the Arctic is likely to melt down their resistance to bebop.

We've had the hot spell down here already. But we still prefer the three Olympian B's when the mercury climbs upward from boogie to bop.

A KISS

A kiss is a peculiar proposition, of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it and the old man has to buy it. The baby's right, the lover's privilege, the hypocrite's mask; to a young girl, hope; to a married woman, faith; and to an old maid, charity.—Anonymous.

Observation Car:

By G. B.

FROM a reader: "As anticipated, the venture of the Provincial Government into the realm of state socialism through the medium of hospital insurance has proved far more costly than anticipated by members of the Legislative Assembly who so jubilantly voted for the scheme. It should be remembered that hospital insurance was not requested by the public; it was crammed down their throats by the Government. Several thousand persons who formerly paid Blue Cross hospital insurance premiums were quite satisfied with the protection furnished, and because of the absence of bureaucracy, the payments were lower than the present compulsory Government fees. In addition to the Government premiums, Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt Councils are compelled to pay 75 cents per day for every patient who is admitted to local hospitals. This naturally comes from the pockets of property owners and others who pay road and poll taxes. We have been told repeatedly that many persons have not paid their compulsory hospital insurance fees. It would be interesting to know how many are in that category." . . . Plans of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to increase the $2.50 radio licence fee should arouse opposition from many quarters. Many householders never listen to Canadain stations because they are able to hear far better programs from the United States. Our cousins across the border pay no radio licence fee.

Canada's Labor Unions Increasingly Important

OTTAWA, Sept. 1 (CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell and trade union leaders stressed tonight in Labor Day messages the growing importance of organized labor in Canada.

Mr. Mitchell said that in the last ten years organized labor's strength has risen from a little more than 360,000 to almost 1,000,000.

VITAL TO ECONOMY

"That is a considerable proportion of the total working force of Canada excluding those who work in agriculture," he said. "It will be seen therefore, how vital organized labor is to the economy and the general welfare of our country."

Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said that his organization now extends across the Dominion from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island in some 3,000-odd locals.

"The workers affiliated are employed," said Mr. Bengough, "in all branches of our industrial life, construction, transportation in all its forms, manufacturing, public and private services, truly an organization representative of the working people of Canada."

A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said [illegible] ance as a national institution, the recognition of its place and function in industry and the widening sphere of labor's interests are all of the utmost importance to every citizen.

"Labor unions," he added, "now are more and more providing an agency by which the energies and aspirations of the workers may be directed, in co-operation with employers, toward greater production in industry and higher living standards for the people of Canada."

Couple Try Cruise Again In Half-Car, Half-Ship

HALIFAX, Sept. 1 (CP).—A little half-ship, half-car, dubbed "Half Safe," which it isn't—not half—pulled out of Halifax Harbor today, bound on a twice-delayed 2,000-mile first lap of a perilous round-the-world trip.

Captain and crew of the 24-foot home-built war [illegible] Australian and former major in the Indian army, and his attractive wife.

First intended stop is the Azores. If they make it, the two will head for North Africa, then cross-country to Indo-China and across the Pacific to Loe Vu. The objective: First round the world by land and sea in an amphibious craft.

Their first try was a failure. They set out from New York in July, 1948, and when they were seven days out a bearing broke in the little ship's engine. They were picked up ten days later by a tanker and taken to Montreal.

General Hails Progress Made By Japanese

TOKIO, Sept. 1 (INS).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported major improvements in Japan's economic, social and political spheres today and called for "the restoration of a formal peace."

The Supreme Allied Far East com- [illegible] orating the fourth anniversary of Japan's surrender also declared that "the threat of Communism as a major issue in Japanese life is past. It fell victim to its own excesses."

MacArthur said:

"Of the Japanese people I can pay no higher tribute than to repeat that they have fully and faithfully fulfilled their surrender commitments and have well earned the freedom and dignity which alone can come with the restoration of a formal peace."

Group, Not Single Boss, Will Plan Allies' Defence

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP).—The 12 Atlantic Pact countries probably will entrust their defence planning to a small steering committee instead of a single supreme commander.

Diplomatic officials reporting this today said all countries represented on the steering group would have equal rank with no single boss. Decisions would be taken by unanimous vote.

TO DEVISE STRATEGY

A final decision is expected when Foreign Ministers of the pact countries gather here September 17. The ministers are due to set the wheels into motion for devising joint defence strategy for use in event any pact member is attacked.

Meanwhile, the fate of President Truman's request to Congress for a $1,160,990,000 arms aid program for European pact members still was up in the air in Congress.

A sharply-reduced program has been passed by the House of Representatives. Key Senators are reported to have agreed on a $1,000,000,000 figure with emphasis on devising full and final joint defence strategy [illegible] completed.

Representatives of the pact countries meeting here in advance of the Foreign Ministers' sessions, are reported to have ruled out the notion of a supreme commander after much discussion.

UP TO CONGRESS

Under the North Atlantic Treaty the United States has agreed to take "all appropriate steps short of war" if one of the member countries in the alliance is attacked. The actual decision on whether to declare war still rests in the hands of Congress.

Field Marshal Montgomery of Britain, who heads the military planning group for the five countries, is due to continue that role even after the steering committee is formed. His group and its plans will be fitted into the over-all defence scheme.

Beat Germany Single-Handed Say Russians

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP).—The tenth anniversary of Hitler's march into Poland prompted a new claim by the Russians today that they won the war single-handed.

The claim was made in an editorial from the weekly New Times quoted by Moscow radio. Said New Times:

"The Soviet people bore the entire burden of the war against the German Fascist invaders.

"In that single-handed struggle the Soviet Army ground down the main forces of Hitlerite Germany which had the resources of all of occupied Europe."

The editorial said the powers of the West stood by "until it had become obvious that the Soviet Union was able by itself to achieve the decisive defeat of Hitler Germany."

Only then, the journal said, "Did the Western Allies, fearing to find themselves outside the victory feast, enter into military operations in Europe."

Okanagan Apples Ordered by U.K.

KELOWNA, B.C., Sept. 1 (CP) A $724,500 order for 435,000 boxes of apples has been placed by the United Kingdom with Okanagan growers, said A. K. Loyd, general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., today.

Loyd said prices are 10 to 15 per cent lower than the last United Kingdom order in 1946. He said the new prices are "fair."

Shipment of the apples will be made in October and November.

Wins Radio Jackpot Worth $913

Knowing right answers paid off yesterday afternoon for pretty Margo King, 18, of 435 Richmond Road. Blonde, blue-eyed student who recently finished her studies at Oak Bay High School was called on afternoon session of CJVI's "Six-for-One" program. Margo quickly answered first three questions to satisfaction of Announcer Neil Nisbet, but was called wrong on fourth, and told she had failed to win $913 jackpot. Rules of contest required four correct answers out of five questions. When asked in what war the siege of Sevastopol was, Margo had replied World War. Announcer Nisbet had the answer listed as Crimean War, also correct. Research by CJVI officials disclosed that Sevastopol was also under siege in World War. So late yesterday afternoon Margo was informed that decision had been reversed and that she had won huge jackpot. Announcement proved real surprise and gave Margo added thrill.

West got off to a good start anyway when he opened the club jack instead of the more orthodox fourth-highest card in that suit which his partner had bid. He felt that with South bidding spades and diamonds strongly, whatever club length was in the opposing hand would turn up in dummy, and by leading the jack it might be far easier to continue the suit and force the declarer. (Observe that if West had led his club three East would have had to play the king to shut out South's ten, and then the club queen in dummy would have been a barrier to further club leads.)

On the actual opening the defenders could force South with a second club lead and he was reduced to four trumps. Now when he led the trump queen, West held off, but he made the mistake of taking the spade king when South followed up with that card. When declarer saw the break in trumps he simply discarded a heart on West's club return and the trump remaining in dummy protected South against further forces. The contract was undefeatable at this point.

It was too bad that West did not follow up his good opening lead with the right play in trumps. He should have refused the second trump lead as well as the first. Then if South led still another trump West could win and return a club for a force without being bothered by a trump still in dummy, while if South after two trumps shifted to diamonds, West could ruff the third round. The trump ace and the eventual heart trick would then defeat the contract.

Plan Ceremony At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, Sept. 1.—Children who successfully completed the Red Cross swimming course conducted by Rev. G. T. Pattison and Mrs. E. R. Thwaites will receive their ribbons at a meeting sponsored by the Parksville Kinsmen Club on Tuesday. The general public and parents have been invited to attend the event at the Island Hall Hotel at 7:30 p.m. Films dealing with swimming and life-saving will form part of the program.

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE—Diana Lynn, one of Hollywood's most versatile young actresses, now appears for RKO Radio as a comedienne, co-starring with Cary Grant, Franchot Tone and Betsy Drake in Don Hartman's production "Every Girl Should Be Married," a Dore Schary presentation.

DOMINION THEATRE—Jim Brown, last on the Warner Bros. lot to play important roles in Air Force and Objective Burma, returned to this studio to portray the second oldest Younger brother, Bob, in the Technicolor melodrama, "The Younger Brothers."

OAK BAY THEATRE—A musical romance with a new flourish, laid in the nostalgic 1912 period against flamboyant San Francisco accents, Warner Bros.' newest musical piece, "April Showers," with Jack Carson and Ann Sothern, now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

ROYAL THEATRE—Latest best-seller to be brought to the screen is Britannia Mews, Margery Sharp's best-selling novel which has been filmed under the title of "The Forbidden Street." Produced in England, "The Forbidden Street" stars Dana Andrews and Maureen O'Hara and is now playing at the Royal Theatre.

ODEON THEATRE—John Payne can be seen this week at the Odeon Theatre as a war hero and amnesia victim in the taut melodrama "The Crooked Way," in which he shares stellar honors with Sonny Tufts. Benedict Bogeaus produced the film for United Artists release. Ellen Drew plays top feminine lead in the film which is set in Los Angeles and the supporting cast includes such well-known featured players as Rhys Williams, Charles Evans, Garry Owen and Greta Granstedt.

CAPITOL THEATRE—Two of Hollywood's best young players, Barbara Hale and Arthur Kennedy, portray the parents of a small boy who falls into deadly peril in RKO Radio's suspenseful drama, "The Window." Bobby Driscoll has the role of the boy and Paul Stewart and Ruth Roman are the other stars in the production in charge of Dore Schary.

Guide Dog Recognizes Old Trainer

Storm, a Victoria seeing-eye dog, recognized his old trainer when he came to the city this week.

The dog is the friend and guide of Bob Dickson, blind vendor of the Public Library kiosk on Yates Street.

The trainer was L. Proctor of Hazelhurst Foundation for the Blind, Pasadena, Calif., who taught Storm when the dog was a pup.

Storm frisked and wagged his tail when Mr. Proctor arrived. Then owner and trainer put him through a "city test" which he passed with "full marks."

BONUS DISCUSSED

More than 40 members of the B.C. Retired Civil Servants' Association discussed plans to obtain the cost of living bonus and some form of relief in respect to hospital insurance charges at a meeting held yesterday in the Newstead Hall.

Pentieton Girl Married Here

Sweet peas and asters decorated St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church yesterday morning for the wedding of [illegible] and Edward Alexander (Sandy) Campbell, which was solemnized by Canon H. H. Creal.

The bride, who is the [illegible] daughter of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] W. Cockell, of Penticton, was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was of white [illegible] taffeta [illegible] skirt [illegible] white gladioli.

Miss Anna Mae Duke was bridesmaid and wore a blue taffeta gown with a wreath of blue flowers in her hair and carried pink [illegible]. The two flower girls [illegible] were in pink taffeta frocks with wreaths of pink flowers in their hair. Their Colonial bouquets were of pastel sweet peas and [illegible].

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, 1189 Munro Street, had Mr. James F. Horwood as his best man. Mr. Alan C. Horwood and Mr. Howard R. Cockell, brother of the bride, acted as ushers. A reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. [illegible] Ryves, 1138 [illegible] Avenue. A three-tiered wedding cake flanked by tall pink tapers and vases of pink and white sweet peas centred the bride's table.

Leaving on her wedding trip by motor to the Okanagan and State of Washington the bride wore a forest green gabardine suit and accessories with full length [illegible] topcoat and corsage of [illegible] roses. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in Victoria.

Motor to San Francisco Following Wedding Here

SALON-SAFE FOR "BABY-FINE" HAIR
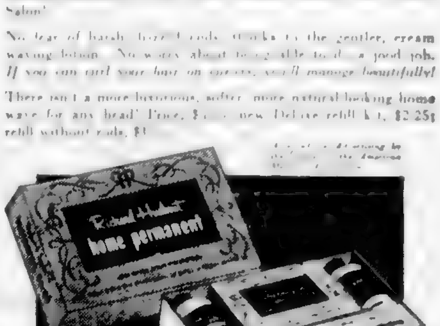
SALON-SMART
FOR EVERY HEAD

Here's a new, gentler home wave that's safe for even the soft, fine-textured hair that lacks [illegible]. Yet this home wave is efficient enough to give strong, [illegible] waves that really stay in and hold up!

It's the new, improved Richard Hudnut Home Permanent! With it, you can use the same sort of preparations ... even the same improved cold wave process that's gentlest and best for waving thousands of heads in the Richard Hudnut Fifth Avenue Salon!

No fear of harsh, frizzy ends, thanks to the gentler, cream waving lotion. No worry about being able to do a good job. If you can curl your hair on curlers, you'll manage beautifully!

There isn't a more luxurious, softer, more natural-looking home wave for any head! Price, $[illegible] new Deluxe refill kit, $2.25; refill without rods, $1.



7 WAYS BETTER

1. Quicker by far ... saves [illegible] hour or more per permanent
2. Waving action more penetrating but gentler! Ample for completely [illegible] including special Hudnut pre-softening
3. Exactly the type of curl you desire: tight or loose — but never a frizz on the ends!
4. Lasts longer ... gives weeks more pleasure and prettiness
5. Improved technique gives deep, soft crown waves ... in seven easy steps
6. Even if dry hair or split ends, [illegible] Richard Hudnut Creme Rinse, wonderful for making hair lustrous, soft, more easy to do
7. Two lengths of rods: standard size for ringlet ends, extra long for deep crown waves

Gulf Islands Sailings Soon to Be Curtailed

—Marine News—

Many residents of the Gulf Islands are not going to like an announcement made yesterday by Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the British Columbia Coast Steamship Service.

The present Gulf Islands steamship schedule of the C.P.R. will end September 19, Capt. Williams said, and after that date sailings to the islands will be made only from Vancouver. Ss. Princess Mary will leave Vancouver at 9 a.m. each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, making a circuit trip to and through the Gulf Islands, then return to Vancouver.

There will be no direct sailing of the ship to link the Gulf Islands with Victoria or Vancouver Island.

There will be, however, a connection between Swartz Bay, near Sidney, and Fulford Harbor on Salt Spring Island. This service, carried on by a small ferry, is daily.

LACK BUSINESS

Captain Williams explained that the Princess Mary would not make a [illegible] to or from Victoria [illegible] because there just isn't any business. Last Winter he noted there were [illegible] which carried sometimes only three or four passengers and hardly [illegible]

GLITTERING CATCH

A glittering "catch" of almost 2,000,000 sockeye salmon so far this season yesterday indicated a record harvest for coast fishermen.

[illegible] show a 300,000 [illegible] previous corresponding cycle year.

Returns from the Hell's Gate fishways on the Fraser River show that Canadians this year have reaped a catch of 948,000 sockeye while American fishermen took more than 1,013,000, a total of 1,961,000.

This compares favorably with 1945 figures, when Canadians took 969,000 Fraser sockeye and Americans 716,000 for a total of 1,685,000.

The International Sockeye Salmon Commission said today they expect another 150,000 to be taken before the season ends.

SALMON PACK UP

More than 857,580 cases of salmon have been packed to date this season in British Columbia, according to a report from the chief supervisor of fisheries.

This compares with a total of 800,577 cases for the corresponding period of last year.

Heaviest landings, according to the report, have been made in pinks —a total of 378,642 cases having been packed to date. The sockeye pack has reached 249,4[illegible] cases. The totals cover commercial fishing districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

Sportsmen Consider Game Conservation

NANAIMO, Sept. 1 — Delegates from districts between Victoria and Alberni attended the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Affiliated Fish and Game Association here. George Baird, Victoria, was re-elected president. R. Larsen, Alberni, was named vice-president, and E. L. McConnan, Victoria, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to invite Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan to attend a meeting of the association to discuss the closing of Sayward area for deer.

Action was taken after a letter was read from W. Lewis of Roberts Lake, who claimed the Sayward game survey was made by skimming over matter and that the money spent on it could be expended in a better manner.

DOCTOR COMPETENT

Commissioner Frank Butler of the British Columbia Game Board, replying to Mr. Lewis' remarks, [illegible] Dr. Cowan should be present to give his side to the meeting. Mr. Butler reminded those present that the survey in question had been [illegible] a period of [illegible] and that Dr. Cowan had also expert's [illegible] and would have [illegible] they made. The survey was not originated by the game board but started in Island organization, the commissioner stated.

Commissioner Butler discussed a motion from the Nanaimo Club asking the game board to find a [illegible] to curb dog running deer in this area. He read excerpts of the Game Act showing that persons allowing dogs to run game could be [illegible] and had been prosecuted. He said he would consider strengthening parts of the Game Act to meet the local situation when it came up for amendment again.

The Alberni delegates suggested that steelheads be taken off the commercial list and become a sport fish only, with a view to having depleted numbers increased.

Commissioner Butler's suggestion that it might be well to await a report of scientific investigations going on in the Fraser River and elsewhere on steelheads, will be acted upon. Meanwhile Alberni will gather data on steelhead recently taken there commercially.

The application of Bamfield Fish and Game Association to affiliate with the Island group was accepted.

Set Plebiscite On Large Sale At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, Sept. 1 — [illegible] city council [illegible] By-Law No. 206, known as the "electrical distribution system sale by-law, 1949," and [illegible] first and second reading.

Copies will be sent to the British Columbia Power Commission for approval. The Provincial Government has approved the purchase of the municipally-owned distribution system by the commission for $70,000 cash.

Aldermen set October 6 as the date on which the by-law will be put to the people at a plebiscite. Robert S. Wood, city clerk, was named returning officer.

Nanaimo Court To Investigate

NANAIMO, Sept. 1 — John Clayton Mutch, who said he used his middle name instead of his surname because persons made a joke out of it, pleaded not guilty in police court to a charge of vagrancy. He was [illegible] Constable Graham [illegible]. Mutch had only 25 cents in his possession when searched at the police station.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts ordered Mutch held [illegible] while police endeavor to [illegible] evidence for him with a brother who Mutch claimed lived in Cedar district. He [illegible] his brother would help him financially and [illegible] could get a job in Cedar district.

Constable Graham said he had Mutch under observation two days while he was wandering about Nanaimo. He saw him go into two coffee shops and [illegible].

Mutch admitted he had previous convictions for drugs, breaking and entering, theft, assault occasioning bodily harm, breach of national registration regulations and gross indecency. He claimed he was trying to go straight.

Prepare Signs At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, Sept. 1.—Showing clear-cut directions to various parts of the Island, three large signs were recently erected by the Provincial Public Works Department at approaches to the intersection of the Alberni and Island Highways at Parksville. The signs, which are in extra large print, can be [illegible] read at a glance by motorists and should prove a great convenience to visitors to the district, particularly as they show mileage to other points.

Parksville Village Commissioners are also having road signs prepared to mark boundaries of the village and inform visitors they are entering Parksville and requesting them to drive carefully. As visitors leave the municipality they will read a "Thank you, call again" sign on the reverse side. It is hoped to curb speeding which has brought a number of complaints from residents living outside the 30-mile speed-limit area.

Royston Loses Island Pioneer

COURTENAY, Sept. 1 — Last rites were held Thursday afternoon for the late Mrs. Margaret Ellen Potter, 80, Royston, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, last Monday after an illness of two years.

A pioneer Island resident, Mrs. Potter came to Nanaimo 60 years ago from her birthplace, Westville, Nova Scotia. She moved to Cumberland in 1900 and had lived at Royston since 1934. Her husband predeceased her in 1934.

Mrs. Potter was actively associated with Florence Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and was charter member of Harmony Rebekah Lodge and the Women's Benefit Association.

She is survived by eight daughters, Mrs. M. Potter, Mrs. F. Wiley, San Francisco; Mrs. P. Miller, Seattle; Mrs. C. Carter, Mrs. M. Gillespie, Mrs. J. Mason and Mrs. N. Trenoar, all of Tacoma, and Mrs. A. Henning, Victoria; two sons, Frank, Kamloops, and James, Royston; one brother, Charlie Crawford, and a sister, Mrs. James Potter of Springhill, N.S.

Arrange Parley Events

PARKSVILLE, Sept. 1 — Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce will join the Qualicum Beach Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring a smorgasbord supper in Parksville Community Hall on September 13 at 6.30 p.m. It will form part of the entertainment arranged for 300 delegates who will attend the 45th annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees Association at Qualicum Beach from September 12 to 14.

Guest speaker at the supper will be Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia. Guests will be welcomed by James B. Washington, chairman of Parksville Village Commissioners. The Parksville group will also join the Qualicum Chamber of Commerce in providing a sightseeing tour during the convention.

Port Resident Dies Suddenly

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 1 — [illegible] Edwards, 55, a resident of the city for 29 years, passed away in his sleep. Born in Aztec, New Mexico, he came to British Columbia [illegible] when he was fifteen years of age. He is survived by [illegible] Warden, Ladner, [illegible] Washington, and an aunt, Mrs. Minnie Bay, at Port Alberni.

He was well known in his earlier days as an outstanding Island baseball player. He was employed for many years as an engineer in logging camps and spent several years as a longshoreman on the Port Alberni waterfront. At the time of his death he was head bartender at the King Edward Hotel. He had been a member of the Bartenders International Union, A.F.L. Local 697 since [illegible]. Funeral arrangements will be made by the Stevens Undertaking Parlor.

Trans-Canada Road Terminus Approved

NANAIMO, Sept. 1.—The Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce nominated H. Cuthbert Holmes, Victoria, to be a vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which will hold its annual meeting at Montreal in October. W. J. Borrie and Howard Mitchell of Vancouver were [illegible] councillors.

Hon. George S. Pearson wrote that he was willing to support a plan to have the proposed short-gap road between Alberni and Tofino as the terminus of the Trans-Canada Highway, but reminded members that the proposal might take its place with other pressing needs in the province.

Members favored the proposal which came from the Alberni Chamber of Commerce to the extent of having the strip of road in question designated as the terminus. They will send Mr. Pearson copies of correspondence from the West Coast dealing with the proposal.

Fred Robinson, president, read various newspaper clippings and editorials showing that the Chamber of Commerce proposal for a courtesy campaign for motorists would prove popular.

Members will make joint representation with the Nanaimo City Council to have the C.P.R. [illegible] under construction at [illegible] and to ply between Nanaimo and the Mainland, to be named Princess Nanaimo. Ald. Earl Westwood said he felt sure the City Council would fall in line with the idea.

TO BOOST NANAIMO

It was decided to prepare a suitable article on Nanaimo for publication in Canada's Weekly, a magazine published in England. The suggestion came from H. A. Framers of the C.P.R.

An interim report of Shelby Saunders of the harbor committee advocated having Nanaimo harbor kept as free as possible for the public use. The report recommended that individual applications for business expansion be [illegible] acted on.

The harbor group had a recent meeting with [illegible] of the [illegible] and on harbor improvements.

The Chamber of Commerce referred to the executive council the matter of suitable dates for a proposed Town Meeting of the Air broadcast here. Stanley Dickens proposed that other organizations be given an opportunity to join in promoting the broadcast.

After reading a clipping from a Vancouver newspaper on conditions of Island roads, members decided the article was not entirely accurate. The matter will be taken up with the paper. The article bore a Nanaimo dateline.

Firemen Ready To Show Skill

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 1 — Port Alberni and the Alberni Volunteer Fire Departments are practicing for [illegible] fire fighting tests to be held at [illegible] in conjunction with the [illegible] convention of the Vancouver Island Volunteer Fire Fighters' Association on Labor Day. The entry list for events is large, with more than ten teams planning to participate.

[illegible] has just completed hard [illegible] several fire department records are expected to be broken. Around the fire hall the fine equipment owned by both cities is in spic and span shape for the tests and if practice and thoroughness mean anything the Alberni Valley departments should lead the way in many events.

Anglers Enjoy Large Catches

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 1 — [illegible] fishing was excellent on Wednesday morning when 12 salmon were weighed and registered at Tyee Club headquarters. [illegible] of the fish weighed 32 [illegible] pounds. Many other fish were taken by the members of the club. Twenty-five fish weighed and registered since August 28 averaged exactly 27 pounds per fish. Last week's fish averaged 31 pounds 9 ounces each. With the advent of sunny weather it is expected the big ones will really start to run. The largest fish caught to date weighed 47½ pounds and the two last weighed 44 pounds. The total weight of fish caught between August 28 and 30 was 675 pounds.

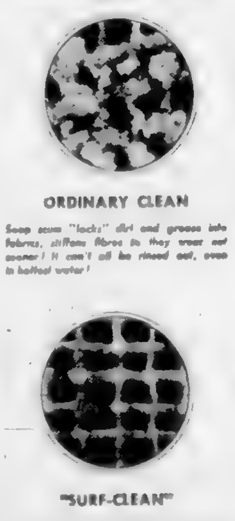
Surf gets clothes Sweeter

A Lever Product

NEW WAY OF WASHING ENDS DIRTY SOAP SCUM



ORDINARY CLEAN

Soap scum "locks" dirt and grease into fabrics, stiffens fibres so they wear out sooner! It can't all be rinsed out, even in hottest water!

"SURF-CLEAN"

Surf makes no scum, takes out any left from earlier washings! Fabrics stay strong! Washes are whiter, brighter, SWEETER! ... "surf-clean!"

Not only whiter, brighter but "Fresh-air-Fresh" even when dried indoors

● Naturally, you want your washes to be dazzlingly white ... brilliantly bright clean!

But you want more than that! You want your washes to be SWEETER, too! You want them to smell fresh air fresh ... dried in the sun fresh ... even if dried indoors!

And they can be just that! How? With Surf. That new lightning quick, long-lasting suds discovery that's already outstripped every washing product introduced in Canada in years. When we say Surf gets your clothes sweeter, we mean it gets them so clean you can smell their sweetness. So clean you know they're clean even with your eyes closed!

Here's how Surf does it.

1. It dissolves the clinging, greasy dirt that "clogs" clothes ... floats it out in a flash.
2. It ends your soap scum problem.
3. It removes germs, gets washes sanitary. Deodorizes them.

Surf does this in any kind of water!—hard—cold. Hard water is rainwater to Surf!

Best of all Surf gives you a way to wash everything with one product. Heavy, greasy things, overalls, dirty work clothes. Fine things. Stockings. Undies. Dainty dresses.

Truly a sweeter way of washing! That's why you'll be seeing more and more Surf washes on the line ... the cleanest ... the sweetest washes you'll see anywhere!

So don't think of using anything else for your washing. Let Surf get it clean ... get it SWEET! Look for that attractive blue box at your grocer's ... it tells a SWEET washday story.

"OUT OF THIS WORLD FOR DISHES!"

Get dishes, greasy pans, twice as clean twice as fast. Get glasses streakless, bright—without wiping. That's the Surf way of washing. The easy on the hands way.

If it's "Surf-Clean"... It's really Clean

Boats Finding Schools of Fish By Electronic Depth-Recorder

Condensed From September Reader's [illegible]

NEW YORK [illegible] Summer of 194[illegible] fishing boats [illegible] forma port [illegible] tion of [illegible] paralyzed the [illegible] kelp bed near Cedros Island off the Mexican coast, waiting for schools of tuna to leave the kelp and return to the open sea, where nets could be set without danger of [illegible] they had found [illegible]. Into this stalemate steamed another seiner—the Caesar Augusto, commanded by Capt. Larry Zaunich. Instead of joining the idle fleet, Zaunich nosed into the kelp bed. Before dark that day he was safely out with his nets intact—and 150,000 pounds of fresh tuna in the hold.

How did he do it? "Easy!" grinned Zaunich, back in port. "I used a gadget that found holes in the kelp bed big enough for my seine and even told me whether there were fish in the holes."

The gadget was a bendix DR depth recorder, an electronic device which started as a navigational aid. Enables [illegible] to see under water [illegible] fog or darkest night. It shows them instantly and accurately where fish are. It shows, too, approximately how many there are, how fast and in what direction they are traveling, and in many cases what species.

SOUND WAVES

The fish-finder operates by sound waves. Continuous streams of sound are emitted from a device on the bottom of the boat. The sounds travel in a widening cone like shotgun pellets and send back echoes when they strike solid objects. Capturing the echoes, the apparatus instantly computes the time elapsed since the discharge of the sound, translates the time into distance and figures the object's size, shape and relative density.

The first bendix DR to be installed on a commercial fishing boat was placed in the Northern Light of Fort Bragg, Cal., in 1946. It had formerly taken Capt. Ted Aaker four days to fill his hold with sole and rock cod, but on his first trip with the magic fish-finder he took a boatload in two days.

Another skipper installed a fish-finder on his boat and started through Hecate Strait, north of Vancouver Island, bound for an area at sea where he had been catching dogfish for their livers. No one had suspected there were commercial fish in the strait itself, but he was back home next day with 20 tons of fish. His normal cruise would have been two days each way and eight days of fishing.

DR's cost $890 to $2,475 depending upon their size and range. There is a tremendous demand from sport fishing craft, but bendix is allocating almost all its output to commercial fishermen in the belief that this amazing device should be concentrated on providing more food from the almost inexhaustible resources of the sea.

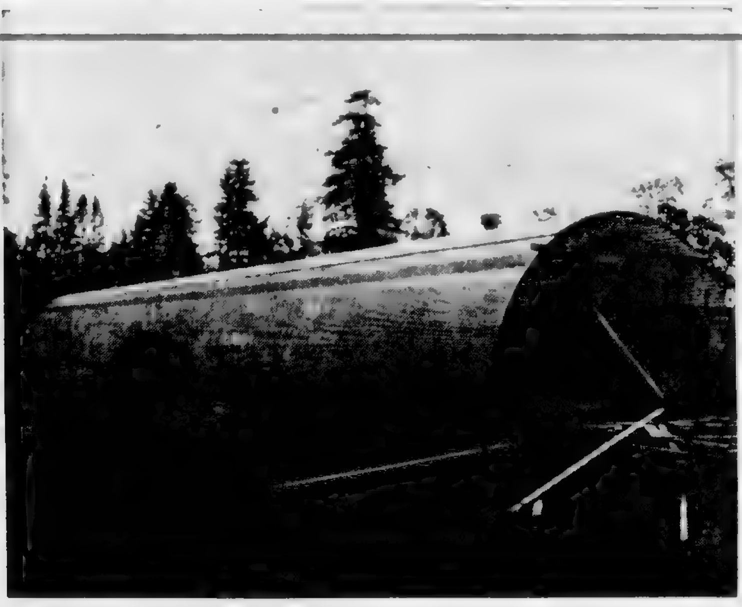
SECOND NEWS SECTION

NO. 224—NINETY-FIRST YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1949

First of Victoria Riding and Hunt Club's Stables Ready for Use



Construction has been completed on first of two quonset-type stables at new site of Victoria Riding and Hunt Club, Ltd. Plans for public opening of fireproof building are expected to be announced in near future. Office building, to house kitchen, dressing-rooms, rest-rooms and administration room, will adjoin stable. Indoor ring is expected to be constructed early in Spring. Above picture shows exterior view of new stable.

Heaneys, R.C.N. Admitted To District Soccer Loop

Two new clubs were admitted to the Victoria and District Football Association at a meeting in the [illegible] night. [illegible] district soccer loop to six teams.

Accepted into the league were [illegible] Navy [illegible]. Application for entry [illegible] However it was decided [illegible] Indians did not make application.

LEWIS HEADS LEAGUE

Charlie Lewis was elected president of the league and Don Gray, former juvenile secretary, was named to the post of secretary-treasurer. The vice-president's post was left unfilled until the next meeting.

After further discussion, it was decided to do away with the [illegible] system of [illegible] and all [illegible] pertaining to operation of the league will be handled jointly by the three top officers.

It was tentatively decided to start [illegible] on Saturday, September 24, [illegible] in [illegible] of the schedule. Playing [illegible] will be drawn up in co-operation with officials of the [illegible] and intermediate leagues in order to avoid conflicting dates for the available playing surfaces. Referees will be instructed to start play immediately at the advertised game time in an effort to avoid the late starting which had been under considerable criticism.

Logger Lands Huge Tyee At Alberni

The largest reported salmon of the year from British Columbia waters, a near record 73½ pound Tyee, was taken from the waters of Alberni Canal by Sid Henley, Sarita River Logging Camp, on Wednesday evening.

Henley hooked the big fellow on a hand line while fishing in the canal between Mahmihl Bay and Kildonan. He was using 24 ounces of weight and a No. 7 50-50 Wonder spoon. The fish measured 53⅝ inches in length and was 33½ inches in girth. The lucky fisherman took his catch back to camp where it provided an excellent meal for his fellow employees.

Set Salmon Derby

Gonzales Fishing Club will hold a salmon Derby over the week-end starting tomorrow at dawn and ending [illegible]. Fish will be weighed in at Foul Bay and must be caught in the area between Golf Links Point and Brotchie Ledge.

According to reports, first coho have made their appearance in Oak Bay waters with several fish being [illegible] during the past two [illegible].

Turnesa in Semi-Finals; Lone Canadian Bows Out

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 1 (INS)—Willie Turnesa, the nerveless little defending champion from White Plains, N.Y., battled through 40-mile-an-hour gales and two opponents today to gain the semi-finals of the national amateur golf tournament.

Turnesa downed Frank Strafaci of Flushing, N.Y., in the quarter-finals this afternoon and Charles Dudley of Greenville, S.C., this morning both by 3 and 2. [illegible] Strafaci had previously [illegible] Bob Fair, Toronto, last foreign hope, by a 3 and 2 count.

Rufus King of Wichita Falls, Tex., qualified to meet Turnesa tomorrow's 36-hole semi-final with a slender 1 up victory over [illegible] Harold Paddock of Aurora, O.

It was King's second [illegible] triumph of the day as he beat MacGregor Hunter of Pacific Palisades, Cal., by the same score earlier.

CAMPBELL, COE MEET

In the lower bracket lanky Bill Campbell, state legislator from Huntington, W.Va., edged Johnny Boros, ex-pro from West Hartford, Conn., 1 up, calmly canning a 12-foot putt on the 18th for the win.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City went 21 holes before [illegible] Walker Cupper Johnny Dawson of Hollywood. The match ended when Dawson, runner-up two years ago to Skee Riegel, missed a [illegible]-foot putt.

The high wind, and later when it died down, the cold unquestionably hampered everyone.

After firing three sub-par rounds previously, Turnesa slipped over standard figures in both matches today in the chilling wind. But if Willie was bothered, his opponents suffered more.

OVERCOMES LEAD

Turnesa was two down to Strafaci after seven holes, but Frank, who had won four of five previous meetings—couldn't hold the champion when the chips were down.

Willie squared the match as Strafaci bogied the par-four eighth and ninth. Then on the tenth, his third straight winning hole, Turnesa got a birdie three to go ahead for keeps.

Canadian Hope Ousted

Bob Fair, youthful Toronto golfer who carried Canadian hopes in United States Amateur Golf championships, fell by wayside yesterday after advancing to fifth round. He was last of foreign players to be eliminated. Frank Strafaci, Flushing, N.Y., ousted Fair, 3 and 2, and then was eliminated later by Willie Turnesa, defending champion. Fair is shown above as he splashes beautiful shot onto sixth green from water-filled trap to take 1-up lead. Early starters were soaked by heavy morning rains in Rochester.

Okanagan Loop Accepts Coast Squads

KELOWNA, B.C., Sept. 1 (CP)—Acceptance of Nanaimo and Kerrisdale hockey teams into the Okanagan Mainline senior "B" league has been announced by league officials.

They will draw up a schedule in which each team will appear for 24 games. Play will start about October 8.

The league last year consisted of Kelowna, Vernon and Kamloops.

Details of the conditions agreed upon for the enlarged league are sketchy. They are said to hinge on each of the Interior teams making two trips to the coast with the coast teams trekking to the Interior twice.

Dr. Mel Butler of Kelowna, president of the league, said the coast teams will probably be in the loop for one season only. Chilliwack is expected to round out the league next year while Penticton may have an entry in the Interior league for the 1950 season.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Today's picture illustrates a very common fault characteristic of many high-handicap golfer. This player, in swinging his club back, has made two mistakes. He has started the [illegible] while [illegible] are still in the address position. [illegible] bad. [illegible] the hands are too high in the backswing. Serious as that [illegible] is [illegible] mistake [illegible] Notice [illegible] back [illegible] pronated the left hand. This is precisely the reverse of what you should do in swinging the golf club. It means that at the top of his backswing he will not have cocked his hands, placing the toe of the club pointing groundward. Instead the hitting surface of the club will be skyward as a result such a swing will lack the important power concentrated at the bottom of the swing by the hands. It will be a [illegible] contacts ball accurately from this pronated hand position.

Full-Scale Activity Scheduled For Grid Sport This Week-End

By The Canadian Press

Football [illegible] full-scale activity on the Labor Day week-end. All 12 teams in Canadian [illegible] [illegible] Saturday and [illegible] Monday.

Here is the lineup:

SATURDAY

Big Four Union: Montreal Alouettes at Ottawa Rough Riders, Hamilton Wildcats at Toronto Argonauts.

Ontario Rugby Football Union: Sarnia Imperials at Hamilton Tigers, [illegible] Beaches at Windsor Rockets.

MONDAY

O.R.F.U.: Rockets at Imperials.

Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union: Calgary Stampeders at Edmonton Eskimos, Winnipeg Blue Bombers at Regina Roughriders.

Only two games were played last week-end: Saturday [illegible] Blue Bombers defeated Regina 13-8 at Winnipeg and Ottawa won a bitterly-debated 7-6 verdict over the Alouettes at Montreal.

ESKIMOS HOPEFUL

The Eskimos are the unknown quantity in the Western [illegible] coach Annis Stukus [illegible] two of their three start [illegible] but few expect [illegible] will be the opener against the alert Stampeders. The former Toronto sports writer may be talking about games against Regina and Winnipeg the following week-end.

The Bombers prepared for their first road trip happy about the way [illegible] were [illegible] Bud [illegible] and [illegible] Stirling.

Ottawa [illegible] the [illegible] Alouettes [illegible] Rough Riders [illegible] say tickets are [illegible] and hope for a record crowd of 16,000.

RIDERS LOSE GOLAB

The Rough Riders [illegible] battering [illegible] The [illegible] Canadian [illegible]

The Argo-Wildcat [illegible] bring together the two clubs many of the pre-season dopesters say will fight it out for cellar position in the Big Four race. The Argos have abandoned their old policy of using only Canadian players and have a group of strong American imports. The Wildcats have a few late-of-season imports [illegible] the Big Four allows.

The Tigers did the biggest importing job in the O.R.F.U. and the week-end game may show whether it pays off. Their ace is Playing Coach Mel Hapes, brought in to replace Frank Filchock who deserted the Tigers for the Alouettes. Sarnia, Beaches and Windsor all threaten to make it tougher for the Tigers this year than last when they rode roughshod over all opposition.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bees had the last laugh in a recent beekeepers' competition. Two beekeepers were stung.

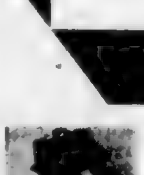
Let us save you time and money. We can give your tires, battery, fan belt, windshield, etc., a thorough check while having your oil brought to a safe driving level. Before starting on your trip, make sure the oil in your crankcase is fresh and clean. Have the old motor oil drained, the crankcase flushed clean, and refilled with the correct grade of Peerless Motor Oil. Make it a point to be sure of your car—it may save you trouble, time and money on the road. To prolong the life of your engine always ask for Peerless Motor Oil.

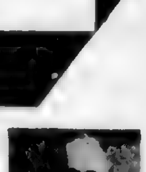
"It's Alloyed"

THE BRITISH AMERICAN OIL COMPANY LIMITED



"There's no question in my mind that the high compression motors of to-day need a premium motor oil. I believe it's true when they say you can't buy a better motor oil," states HARRY HOWE, B-A DEALER, [illegible] STS., VANCOUVER, B.C.

"I like to see a man lubricate his car at correct intervals—sure it's extra business for me—but he is a lot happier—proper lubrication cuts expensive car wear," says BERT LEEDER, B-A DEALER, JARVIS & WELLESLEY STS., TORONTO, ONT.



"It's a golden rule around our place to bring oil to a safe driving level. I've seen too many of these 'take a chance' boys burn out bearings, etc. It pays to use a good oil regularly." ART RIDDELL of ART RIDDELL & SON LTD., REGINA, SASK.

"I think there is a lot to be said on the story of Peerless Motor Oil reducing operating costs. Very seldom does a regular customer of mine have large repair bills", says HENRI MIRON, B-A DEALER, BORDEAUX & LAFONTAINE STS., MONTREAL, P.Q.

4 CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. Janet Hume Harvie would like to take this opportunity to thank their friends for the beautiful floral tributes and kind expressions of sympathy in the loss of a loving mother and grandmother. Would also like to thank the nurses and staff of the Clovelly Private Hospital for their wonderful care and kindness.

We wish to convey thanks to our many dear friends for their sympathy and floral tributes during the loss of our beloved husband and father, especially the staff of the Mental Home, Dr. Carrie Thompson and Dr. D'Easum. Constance, Florence and Marilyn Scrimshaw.

5 IN MEMORIAM

HARRIS—In loving memory of F. W. S. (Bob) Harris, who passed away September 2, 1943.

"They are not dead, O Christ, whom Thou
dost call to enter into rest;
They sleep away the weariness of toil and pain, upon Thy breast.
They are not silent, for their lives still speak to us below,
Lighting the pathway of the will of God with radiant glow."

—Ever remembered by his wife and [illegible]

MANNIX—In loving memory of Donna Mae Mannix, who passed away September 2, 1948.

Among the roses straight and tall
And those that drooped against the wall
Was one sweet little opening bud
We loved the best of all.
But one fair day the Master came
And called the little bud by name—
Upon His loving breast 'twas laid
To bloom where roses never fade.
We dare not mourn too much, nor try
To fathom all the reasons why
He plucked the bud and left the rose,
But I am sure the Master knows.

With us forever in our hearts, Mummy, Daddy and R.

SAMPSON—In ever-loving memory of a wonderful dad, Frank T. Sampson, who passed away September 2, 1946.

"Always with us."

—Ruaix and Shirley Sampson.

Canyon Mishap Causes Death

CAMPBELL RIVER, Sept. 1.—A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury under Dr. N. B. Hall after investigating the case of Thor S. Leland, 38, a bucker employed by the Salmon River Logging Company at Kelsey Bay.

Dr. F. W. Arber stated that death had been caused last Tuesday by shock, a broken neck, severe internal injuries, and hemorrhage.

Evidence showed Leland had been bucking logs in a small canyon. It was believed a falling log had loosened a tree, which in turn crushed the bucker against another log.

Witnesses included Samuel Prystry and Fred Hassey, both fallers. Members of the jury were W. P. Husband, foreman; A. Bunting, K. P. Dunn, P. Gagne, Sr., R. R. Wilkes and Douglas Budden. It was the first fatality at the company camp for seven years.

Leland is survived by relatives in the United States. Funeral services will be held at Campbell River.

CHAPTER VIII

"It isn't a matter of reading up on strange poisons or analyzing cigarette ashes or looking for secret panels in the wall. It's a routine. First you list everybody that had an opportunity to do the job, then you [illegible] have done it had a motive for doing it."

"But look here," Perrault protested, shaking a little. "If that's what you meant when you said I was the last one to see Odile alive . . . ."

"Take it easy, Doctor," counseled Murphy. "You're only the last one we're sure about. We go on from there. So far as I know, you couldn't have any motive. In that case, it would be up to us to find out who could have seen her after you did. [illegible] anybody who lived in the house had that. Mrs Lalande, Miss Lalande, Mr St Amant and Tossie—any one of them could have gone to that room. Just to play no favorites, so could you, Doctor Perrault, and so could Mr Foxworth."

"What's that you're saying?" The question fairly crackled across the room as Foxworth jumped up.

"No use getting angry, Mr Foxworth. We're not playing parlor games. Somebody's been killed. When you came in you didn't ring, or at least I didn't hear you, and no one left this room to let you in. That suggests the possibility that you may have a latchkey to the house."

"It wouldn't, to anyone with a decent mind. It's an insult to Mrs Lalande to make such a suggestion—an insult I won't tolerate."

"Yes, I know. You'd have me broken for this. Before you blow a gasket, let me tell you there's some one else who's going to have to show where he was this [illegible] and what he was doing there. That's the lad who brought Mrs St Amant home last evening, Dupuy. I gave orders to have Mr Dupuy brought here. Meanwhile there's one other angle to talk about while we're waiting. The gun."

"Do we have to go through all that again?" Lestie demanded impatiently. "Everybody knows Odile never had a gun."

"But somebody brought one," Murphy reminded. "Somebody who had access to that room. And I know how it was brought—though not by whom or when. A gift-wrapped gun, no less." He drew a flat packet of neatly folded tissue paper from his pocket, and a length of tinsel edged blue ribbon. Then he took a step toward Tossie. "Ever see anything like this before?" he asked.

"Oh, Lawd ha' mercy!" she moaned at last. "Dat present was de gun what kill mah baby!"

"What present?"

"De present Mistuh Sabin brung wid him when he carry Miss Odile to de bed las' evenin'. Oh, Lawd God in Heab'm, why'n' you lea' me to know hit was a gun de man was totin'!"

The double note of the door chimes punctuated the old negress' quavering lament.

"We heard the bell all right that time," Murphy observed, as Tossie went to answer it. "That'll be Benham, I expect. Well it looks as if . . . . Any news, Rex?"

"Yeah," he said to Murphy. "They've got your boy friend Dupuy's [illegible] under glass at the Third Precinct. Drunk, fighting, disturbing the peace, reviling the police, resisting arrest—"

"What time was he arrested?"

"Not more'n twenty minutes be- [illegible] out here."

"Where?"

"At the Diamond Horseshoe, Dave King's trap on Dauphine Street."

"How long had he been there?"

"He got to the joint after the midnight show, him and some other guys came in together."

"Ummmm. And that's a bum break," Murphy fretted. "Maybe he's not such a damn [illegible] at that. How'd you make out on the print?"

"Ace and eights. No possible doubt about that being the gun that fired the fatal bullet."

"And the fingerprints?"

"Got three for partial [illegible] beaut. And that a [illegible]," he asked.

Murphy nodded. "Might as well check to see if anybody here has [illegible]."

"No use messing up everybody with ink," Benham proposed. "The whorl and arch pattern's so plain that I can tell just by looking at the fingers if they're likely to score."

Benham peered closely at every [illegible] finger. "The whorl and arch pattern appeared on Lestie's and Tossie's fingers."

"Well, might as well take the prints and check them," he decided. "Come on over here to the table with me." He passed the [illegible] back and forth [illegible] and then repeated the process with [illegible] finger pressed against a [illegible] square of stiff white cardboard. "And now you, Auntie," he directed.

From a compartment in the wooden case he removed a small folding lens mount and examined first one card and then the other.

"Can't miss!" he said. Captain Murphy nodded in agreement.

"This isn't pleasant for me," Murphy declared. "But I'm only doing what I have to. Aunt Tossie, I arrest you for the murder of Odile St. Amant."

Little Stories for Bedtime . . .

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

JERRY IS FILLED WITH DISTRUST

As Jerry Muskrat lay in his bed safe in his house during his convalescence, he had time to do a lot of thinking. He thought of how, day after day, he had found all those good things to eat at each of his favorite places, and how there had not been one single thing to make him suspicious. In fact there had been everything to take suspicion away. He began to understand just what that trapper had tried to do, and it seemed to him that nothing could possibly have been more unfair.

"He tried to make me think he was my friend," thought Jerry. "He knew that if I had the least suspicion that he wasn't my friend, I would be watching for traps. So he pretended that he was my friend and he brought all those nice things to me to eat so that I would trust him. I did trust him and he knew it. Then when he was sure that I wouldn't suspect him of doing such a thing he set that awful trap for me. I'll never trust anybody again! I never, never will! It's awful to distrust everybody, but after this I'll just have to."

So Jerry Muskrat was filled with distrust. He had been so very happy there in the Smiling Pool for so long that now life seemed hardly worth while. There was no happiness in it. You see he felt that not only could he no longer trust those who seemed to be his friends, but he was suspicious of everything. He no longer dared to climb freely out on his favorite place along the bank. He was even suspicious of the Big Rock. The only place where he felt absolutely safe was right in side his own house.

But of course he couldn't stay in his house all the time because he had to eat. Of course, everybody has to eat. Then too he had a lot of work yet to do on that house of his to make it ready for Winter. This meant that he had to travel around a considerable to get his food and to get the material for his house. But now he never went anywhere without first looking with the greatest care for signs of a trap.

One of the first things he did after he got through nursing his sore tail was to go to each of the places where that trapper had put good things to eat. He went there not to get those good things, but to find out if there were traps there as there had been on the old log. He found a trap at each place. After that he did not go near these places.

Billy Mink would have found a way to get all those good things to eat without getting into one of the traps, but Jerry preferred to take no chances. He simply kept away from those places. Those pieces of carrot and apple were a terrible temptation, but he contented himself with his regular food and tried to forget that there were such things as carrots and apples. And even when he was hunting for his regular food, he was all the time watching out for traps. He was so filled with distrust that he took no joy in anything.

Next story: "Farmer Brown's Boy Loses His Temper."

August Building Permits Total 279 for $584,748

A total of 279 building permits were issued by the city building inspector's office during August for work valued at $584,748.

While these figures showed a drop in value from July work estimated at $1,352,145 and authorized by 182 permits, it was pointed out that the July total was swelled by the permit issued to the Provincial Government for construction of the $1,012,000 [illegible] building at Government and Superior Streets.

NEW DWELLINGS

The August figures included permits for 17 single family dwellings valued at $100,650, a duplex valued at $7,000, a $27,000 apartment and a $150,000 apartment hotel.

Permits for other big jobs issued during the month went to Diggon's for $75,000 alterations to their new store at the corner of Government and Johnson Street, and the Hudson's Bay Company for $38,000 interior finishing work.

In August, 1948, the city building inspector issued 125 permits for work valued at $369,023.

BRUSH FIRES

Oak Bay firemen extinguished their second fire in two days on Waldron Park on top of Gonzales Hill at noon yesterday.

City firemen put out a small brush fire near the intersection of Ryan and Ivy Streets just before noon.

City Gaining On Demand For Housing

Victoria is catching up on the demand for housing units.

At least that's the verdict of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards published in a recent report.

Other cities in Canada are not catching up to the demand, the same report says, with some of them showing a loss in this department.

House sales for 1949-50 will show a slight decrease in this area, the report adds. A decrease in demand for residential property is also anticipated.

OLDER HOMES LESS

The real estate analysis showed no change in the prices of new residential property, but reported a decline in prices of older residences, with prices of vacant residential land at the same level as 1948.

All real estate boards across Canada reported that first mortgage financing was inadequate.

No increase in the number of places to rent in Victoria was noted in the roundup.

Farm land demand and prices remain constant, the report also shows, with a slight downward trend in prices for farm lands.

Service lots are becoming scarce in Victoria, a condition common to most Canadian cities, according to the report.

Council Splits Aid Plan Funds

PARIS, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation last night adopted a report calling for the division of about $3,670,000,000 among 19 areas taking part in the O.E.E.C.

The division problems caused many bitter arguments in the O.E.E.C. Under the plan, Britain is allotted $962,000,000. It is considerably less than the $1,518,000,000 deficit Britain estimated for herself, but $118,000,000 more than was originally allotted.

BIRKENHEAD, England (CP)—Peter McCourt, believed by his relations to have died in a 1944 air raid, was found in a Birkenhead Hospital.

Patient Collapses, Dies After Tooth Extracted

Sixty-five-year-old Mrs. Arthur Derbyshire, 131 Ladysmith Street, died yesterday afternoon from an apparent heart seizure in the office of Dr. James I. Magrath, 609 Scollard Building.

Efforts of a city fire department inhalator crew in charge of Firemen Percy Edwards, Thomas Crabb and Wilfred Matthews failed to revive the woman. They worked on her for nearly one hour.

Dr. A. D. Bechtel whose offices are in the same building arrived in the dentist's office about two minutes after the patient collapsed. He said Mrs. Derbyshire apparently had a weak heart.

COLLAPSED SUDDENLY

It was reported that Dr. Magrath was talking to the lady after having pulled one of her teeth when she suddenly turned blue and collapsed. He applied artificial respiration until the arrival of Dr. Bechtel and the inhalator crew.

Dr. Magrath said it was the first time he had met Mrs. Derbyshire. The body is at Sands Mortuary.

Funeral arrangements will be announced today.

City police said Mrs. Derbyshire's husband was on an afternoon fishing trip with a neighbor when death occurred.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said last night he couldn't say if there would be an inquest or an inquiry until he investigates this morning.

GRAVESEND, England (CP)—An inscribed dinghy "back board" presented to a winning sculler in Gravesend Regatta in 1849 was found in a builder's yard here.

One Charge Dismissed As Trucker Convicted

Eighteen-year-old Jack Hansen, Victoria truck driver, was convicted of one common assault charge in city police court yesterday, but Magistrate H. C. Hall dismissed a second similar charge.

Hansen was charged with assaulting [illegible] Street, in the washroom of a Government Street theatre on August 20 and again in Beacon Hill Park the next day. Patrick J. Sinnott defended Hansen and Joseph McKenna represented Emmerick.

MAY BE WITHDRAWN

A charge of assault, occasioning actual bodily harm, laid by Hansen and arising out of the park affair, against Emmerick and Winnifred [illegible], 929 Johnson Street, probably will be withdrawn, it was indicated by Mr. Sinnott.

For assaulting Emmerick in the theatre, Hansen was bound over to keep the peace for six months and was instructed by the magistrate not to molest Emmerick.

Evidence showed that the trouble between the two men had been going on for about one year.

JAIL TERM

Richard Ryan, no fixed address, was sentenced to 30 days in jail after pleading guilty to a vagrancy charge.

DRIVING CHARGES

[illegible] Road and Fred [illegible], 12 Menzies Street, each entered pleas of not guilty to careless driving charges arising out of the same accident August 27 at the intersection of [illegible] Road and Government Street. The case was remanded to September 8.

Peach Supplies Dwindle, Early Preserving Urged

If you plan to bottle peaches, do it now. A local wholesaler said yesterday that supplies of preserving peaches from the Okanagan are dropping off and will probably cease by the end of next week.

Italian prunes from the Okanagan, suitable for preserving, are at their best now. Supplies of Okanagan cantaloupes will probably [illegible] for another ten days.

Price of corn on the cob will drop [illegible] sell to 45 cents.

Present ample supplies of bananas at low prices will probably last a week or 10 days.

VEGETABLES PLENTIFUL

Most kinds of local vegetables are in good supply, but there is a shortage of local lettuce and a slight shortage of local cauliflower. A trial shipment of Washington lettuce higher in price and quality than the local product, arrived yesterday.

A carload of California oranges arrived yesterday and another is expected today. Shipments of California lemons and grapefruit and a shipment of Okanagan Alberta peaches and more cantaloupes are also due today.

Also in good supply are cultivated blueberries, sprouting broccoli, pickles, dill weeds and red and green peppers.

Anti-Tito Reds Will Get Help Moscow States

Soviet Radio Says Underground To Receive Full Party Support

LONDON, Sept. 2 (INS).—Moscow radio said tonight that an anti-Tito underground schooled "in the art of conspiracy" is already active in factories and villages throughout Yugoslavia.

In Paris, Dr. Kirtley Mather, Harvard University geologist, told International News Service that he talked to Marshal Tito recently during a tour of Yugoslavia and that Tito "displays no fear" in the war of battle with Moscow and feels that he is setting up an anti-Cominform organization.

NOT EXPECTING WAR

Tito was represented as preparing for a possible Russian attack even though Mather quoted him as saying: "I do not expect the war of nerves will result in a war of bullets."

Moscow radio's latest propaganda barrage against Tito quoted an article in the Cominform's organ, named "For Lasting Peace and Democracy."

The broadcast said that members of the purported anti-Tito underground have "learned the art of conspiracy and know how to avoid detection," and it added:

"True Communists in Yugoslavia are reforming their own Communist party which remains faithful to proletarian internationalism."

New Fire-Fighting Body Planned for Saanichton

A new volunteer fire department for Saanichton will probably be organized in the near future, according to reports from citizens and municipal officials in the area.

Latest word comes from J. Wood, president of the Saanichton Community Club, which went into a huddle with Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law and emerged with his promise to "strongly recommend" the new fire fighting body in his forthcoming report to the Saanich Council.

OVER DIFFICULTIES

The report and the bid for a volunteer department have arisen from recent "difficulties" experienced by the Saanich fire department in coping with fires over the wide area it must cover and "inefficiency" charges from Ward Six ratepayers.

If formed, the volunteer force would be on call for an area extending in a two-mile radius from Saanichton Centre.

The volunteer fire fighters would be given training at No. 1 Fire Hall, Saanich, the report from the Saanichton Community Club states.

Next meeting of the Community Club will be held September 8 at 8 p.m., it was announced.

No mention has been made to this date concerning equipment for the proposed volunteer brigade.

Funeral Tuesday

SENATOR IAN MACKENZIE

Who died yesterday at Banff, will be buried Tuesday afternoon in Vancouver. Services will be conducted in the Central Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock. Honorary pallbearers will include Premier Byron Johnson, Federal Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer of British Columbia, and Senators J. H. King, J. W. Farris and S. S. McKeen of Vancouver. See stories on Page 2.

Customs Port Stays Closed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2 (CP).—The customs port on the Pacific Highway will remain closed to all traffic but buses during the holiday week-end, Tom Reid, Liberal Member of Parliament for New Westminster, said today.

"United States customs officials have refused to co-operate," he said.

The arrangement is a compromise reached at a customs conference held this week.

The Pacific Highway port is normally closed to general traffic on week-ends.

No By-Election Foreseen For School Board Posts

There were indications yesterday that no by-election would be called to fill the vacancy on the Greater Victoria School Board caused by the resignation this week of M. P. Paine, former Saanich representative.

In view of the fact that municipal elections are slated for the first week in December, when trustees normally come up for re-election, it is believed that neither Saanich Council nor the board will go to the expense of [illegible]

It is believed [illegible] could not be held for at least a month.

TWO SEATS VACANT

Following the death [illegible] of Trustee [illegible] representative, Mr. Paine's resignation leaves two seats vacant on the [illegible] board.

Mr. Paine was forced to resign when it was discovered that he had disqualified himself through a technicality of the Public Schools Act. He explained that the board had been buying materials from Island Enterprises and B.C. Roofers and Agencies, of which he is a partner.

Mr. Paine said he was unaware until recently that the board had made small purchases from the two companies, which are not incorporated.

Following his resignation Mr. Paine stated that he would seek re-election to the board in December.

See Most Danger In Next Six Years

IF WAR COMES

[illegible]

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, Sept. 2 (INS).—Western defense [illegible] of the 10-year [illegible] greatest danger of a possible Russian attack against the Atlantic Pact nations.

The Soviets, [illegible] during that period if the Kremlin [illegible] balance of military power in the West.

MOST CRITICAL

Most critical part of the period is seen likely to be between 1952 and 1955.

This calculation is said to be based on the possibility that Russia may be able to [illegible] producing atom bombs sometime during those three years.

Another important factor is the expectation that Western Europe cannot be sufficiently rearmed before 1955 to hold for any length of time the Rhine, the Elbe or any other strategic defense barrier against the Red Army.

General [illegible] chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff, told Congress recently that France probably could not be made safe from invasion for five or ten years.

Western European military experts share this view. In fact, French Defense Minister Paul Ramadier, in an exclusive statement [illegible], said the [illegible] period when an aggressor might be tempted to attack could develop at any time during the next ten years.

SAFE AFTER 1955

However, Atlantic Pact military strategists generally seem to think that after 1955 the rearmament of Western Europe will be far enough advanced that the Kremlin [illegible] too great to start a war with the West.

Big B.C. Fire Sweeps Timber

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C., Sept. 2 (CP).—A raging forest fire in the Harrison Lake area 80 miles east of Vancouver tonight threatened more than 10,000,000 feet of felled and bucked timber.

The blaze at the Canadian Forest Products Harrison Mills operation has covered six acres and burned an estimated 300,000 feet of timber. It is believed to have been started by sparks from blasting operations.

Forestry officials say 125 men are battling flames.

Chinese reports tonight said the heaviest fighting was at a town ten miles from the strategic North-South Kwangtung railroad and 180 miles north of Canton.

Financial Aid Program Drafted at Talks in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (CP).—British, American and Canadian [illegible] ended their preliminary fact-finding conference today. They were reported to have agreed on suggesting six steps for easing Britain's financial crisis.

The big question of how Britain is to earn enough dollars to meet expenses was left unanswered as the negotiators adjourned their week-long discussions.

This critical problem will be handed to the top cabinet officers of the three governments who meet here Wednesday.

Officials acknowledge they are [illegible] about the chances that the coming top level meeting will succeed in finding a way to reverse Britain's economic slump in the near future.

It was learned that these six [illegible] will be considered as [illegible] when the talks [illegible] September 7.

CUT BRITISH BUYING

1. A new reduction in British buying from the United States [illegible] areas offering "alternative sources of supply."

2. Simplifying and streamlining American customs regulations to make it easier for British exporters to get their goods into the United States.

3. Relaxing the terms of the 1946 British Loan Agreement to allow Britain to discriminate during the financial emergency against American goods which must be paid for in scarce dollars.

4. An intensive drive by the British Government to advertise its wares in the United States as a means of attracting new customers.

5. Speeding up American Government purchases of such strategic materials as rubber and tin.

6. More American loans to and purchases from Southeast Asian members of the Commonwealth.

Girl Drowns After Fall From Wharf at Youbou

Nine-year-old Patricia McGregor sat on her bicycle and looked over the edge of Yat Ales wharf at Youbou.

"The water looks nice," she told her friends, Eileen Ledingham and Margaret McKinnon, who had come to the wharf with her at 9:15 yesterday evening. "I'd like to go for a swim."

[illegible] after she spoke she [illegible] fell 25 feet to a [illegible] rolled off and drowned in 30 feet of water.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Coroner A. E. Green pronounced death accidental after [illegible]

Eileen Ledingham said Patricia was [illegible] on her bicycle with one foot on the wharf and one on a pedal, leaning over the lake when she fell and landed on her back across the log apron, with her head toward the wharf, apparently knocked unconscious.

Eileen ran from the wharf to the beach and swam out to the place where her friend fell but when she reached there Patricia had disappeared.

Meanwhile, Margaret McKinnon ran to call for help. Const. William Ayward, B.C. Police, went out in a rowing boat with William Pinckard and Sid Robertson.

Using a portable spotlight they found the body on the bottom in 30 feet of water and recovered it at 10:45 p.m. with a hastily made grappling hook.

Dr. C. W. Mewhorr found life extinct.

Patricia was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. McGregor, Youbou. Mr. McGregor is a B.C. Forest Products millworker.

C.M.H.C. Says Ottawa May Take Greater Responsibility for Housing

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP).—Canada's critical housing shortage may cause the Federal Government to take a greater share of housing responsibility which normally belongs to the province, the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said today.

Never before has the housing situation been [illegible] bad as it is now, the corporation said in a brief prepared for the Royal Commission on [illegible] Arts and Science Development.

INFLUENCED BY HOME

It gave its views on housing because of [illegible] A Canadian was influenced and [illegible] by the sense of satisfaction or discouragement from the character of the house in which he lives and the security which it affords.

More than that, the design of a house was a physical expression of the Canadian way of life. [illegible] environment in turn shaped society and [illegible]

The corporation noted that [illegible] in which the roles of Federal, provincial, municipal and private are therefore are being defined.

[illegible] was a matter of property and civil rights, and therefore a provincial and municipal government was finding itself more and more involved as the ultimate housing authority.

The corporation recommended:

1. A central special library be set up. [illegible] documents dealing with homes and planning.

2. A collection of photographs of [illegible] be gathered to illustrate the historical development of [illegible] growth of communities in Canada.

3. Documentary films to dramatize housing conditions [illegible] films could be used to demonstrate the role of community organizations in home and planning improvement.

Claims Tokio Rose Not U.S. Citizen

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2 (INS).—The defence in the Tokio Rose treason trial claimed today that accused Mrs. Iva Toguri d'Aquino is a Portuguese citizen and therefore should not be tried for treason against the United States.

Introduced [illegible] evidence was [illegible] Abranches Pinto, veteran Portuguese consul in Tokio who asserted that under his country's civil law Iva became a Portuguese citizen through her 1945 marriage to Felipe d'Aquino.

Records of the marriage were also placed in evidence.

Senator Ian Mackenzie Dies on Visit to Banff

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 2 (CP).—Senator Ian Alistair Mackenzie, one of Canada's better-known political figures, died here today. He was 59.

Senator Mackenzie had been suffering since Monday from a severe heart seizure. He was stricken while holidaying with his wife at Sunshine Lodge, 14 miles west of here.

Senator Mackenzie's death ended a [illegible] career as [illegible] lawyer and [illegible] He represented British Columbia in the Senate, to which he was summoned January 19, 1948.

Son of poor parents, he was born in the Parish of Assynt, Sutherland, in 1890 and [illegible] brilliance which was to see him graduate with [illegible] from Edinburgh University in 1914.

The tall Scot came to Canada [illegible] War he was commissioned in the 72nd Battalion. He finished the war as a staff captain after being under fire at Ypres, Kemmel, Vimy Ridge and the Somme.

His political career began in 1920 when he was elected to the British Columbia Legislature with a record vote.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY

Senator Mackenzie became Provincial Secretary of British Columbia in 1928. Former Prime Minister Mackenzie King called him to Ottawa in 1930 to become Minister of Immigration and Colonization.

Gave Canada Great Service, Says Premier

Premier Byron Johnson yesterday paid tribute to the memory of Senator Ian Mackenzie.

"It was with profound regret that I received the news of the passing of the Right Honorable Ian Mackenzie," he said.

"Senator Mackenzie has served his country and this Province in particular with outstanding ability and devotion. For nearly 30 years he served in public office and during that time he held several important posts both in the Federal and Provincial Cabinets. [illegible] He was a man of great [illegible] House [illegible] Canada and British Columbia particularly have suffered a great loss in his demise. Higher Price of Eggs, Pork Sends Living Cost to Peak

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP).—Higher prices of eggs and pork products during July sent Canada's cost-of-living index to a new high of 162.8, indicating an over-all increase of 61.5 per cent since August, 1939.

This latest figure by the Bureau of Statistics showed where the index, based on 1939 equals 100, stood at August 1. On July 2 it was 162.1.

The jump of seven-tenths of a point was a tapering off from the leap of 1.6 points the previous month, when food prices resulted in the largest [illegible]

The Statistics Bureau said the increase [illegible] food index from 2[illegible] to 2[illegible]

Other groups which go to make up the index showed little change.

The clothing index dropped one-tenth of a point to 18[illegible]2.

Russia Most Likely to Strike In First Five Years of 1950's

By that time it is hoped that Western Europe will no longer be wide open to Russian attack as it has been for the past three years and is today.

Some Western defence planners think the temptation for Russia to attack will be the greatest when the rearmament of Western Europe reaches the halfway mark. They believe that even at that point it would still be possible for the Soviet armies to sweep swiftly across the continent.

A quick invasion of countries like France might then net Russia vast quantities of new military equipment; armament factories, newly developed air bases and supplies of all kinds.

French political leaders also think the danger of a Soviet attack would become very great indeed if the Atlantic Pact powers [illegible] decide to accept the new West German state into their alliance and should approve the rearmament of Western Germany.

There are some Western military leaders who believe the question of rearming West Germany will have to be seriously considered as the Atlantic Pact defence plans progress.

LINE ON ELBE

Highly authoritative French sources told International News Service that these plans now definitely envisage the Elbe rather than the Rhine as the first line of the Atlantic Pact allied defence in Western Europe at least as long as Germany remains split between Russia and the West.

Holding the Elbe, it was pointed out, is essential to protect the industries and resources of the Ruhr. Not only is this industrial heart of Germany a vitally important "workshop" for Western Europe, but its acquisition by Soviet forces would greatly strengthen Russia's war potential.

France's political leaders also feel that it is most important [illegible] for the French nation to have the first line of Western defence farther east than the Rhine.

There has been some talk [illegible] the Western defence [illegible] of stationing on the Rhine or the Elbe ten divisions composed of American, British and Canadian [illegible] equipment [illegible] rushed to the line quickly if it appeared that Russia was preparing to attack.

MIGHT CHECK PUSH

It is thought that the force plus what the French, Belgian and Dutch could contribute might be able to check a sudden Soviet [illegible] American tactical air force to be [illegible] across the Atlantic.

If a Soviet offensive could be held in check that long, the Western military experts think the American and British tactical air forces might possibly be able to break up the attack by [illegible] Russian troop concentrations, provided, of course, the Western [illegible] gained control of the air.

New Telephone Equipment Coming to Relieve Shortage

Thousands of Victorians are still without telephones in their homes.

B.C. Telephone officials announced recently that to help remedy the situation [illegible] lines of additional automatic equipment would be installed in the Empire, Garden and Beacon units of the Blanshard Street central office. But the new installations will still leave many people waiting.

Company officials also reported that more of the hard-to-get equipment was on order for further expansion.

The equipment was [illegible] provide facilities for [illegible] approximately 2,500 new telephones.

They added that owing to the "uncertain supply conditions they cannot [illegible] definitely when [illegible] of the equipment mentioned will be available for service."

Civil Servants of B.C. Expect Wage Increase

A 7 increase in the cost of living index, announced from Ottawa yesterday gave the Provincial Government a possible $1,000,000 wage increase bill.

Under a verbal agreement between civil servants and the government is committed to increase wages by 10 per cent for each 12½ point rise in the cost of living index. [illegible]

Heads of the Provincial Government Employees' Association stated yesterday they expected to get the raise.

"The Government is committed to pay the increase under its own formula," said F. P. O'Connor, Vancouver, secretary-manager of the association. "Our members have been waiting for this since April 1948."

EXPECT ACTION

Said Gordon Moore, president of the Association: "We definitely expect the Government to honor our verbal agreement."

Mr. O'Connor said representatives of the association had arranged for a meeting with Premier Byron I. Johnson and Hon. George S. Pearson, Provincial Secretary, [illegible] to discuss the increase.

The association has 7,000 members but some are not members of the permanent civil service and do not come under the cost of living formula for wages. It is estimated that 1,[illegible] civil servants in Victoria would receive the boost.

No intimation came from government sources yesterday as to what action is planned.

Transit Franchise Is a Two-Way Bargain

WITH the ink hardly dry on Greater Victoria's transit franchise and the resulting change-over from street cars to buses, a second change in the basic application of the fare structure is now being sought, with substantial operating losses to back the application when it goes before the Public Utilities Commission. Alderman Diggon's assertion overnight, as chairman of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, that some of the committee feel that the commuters' pass may have to be eliminated and unprofitable service curtailed in order to avoid a general rate increase will come as a shock to many transit users.

The commuters' pass was one of the elements upon which the franchise was awarded in the first place, and no amount of denial will refute that. It has never been popular with the operating companies and this is the second attempt to remove it. If what the chairman of the Transportation Committee states proves to be the real intent of the operating companies in their forthcoming application. Also it is saying it rather quickly to state that those who travel most regularly on the transit system should pay the top tariff, or that they have been unfair in their use of the weekly pass.

As against that, if the transit companies can prove an operating deficit of $225,704 within six months, as of March 1 last, there is no question but that some adjustment will have to be made. There has been some time now to try out operating costs, compared with theories and pre-franchise pledges, and running costs are what will govern the outcome in the end. The case will go shortly before the Public Utilities Commission for its formal hearing, and with all due notice to the four municipalities concerned. At that hearing, however, the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee will be expected to keep one clear eye on the primary contract—which was to give adequate bus service at a cost the public could pay.

Colorful Figure Passes From Political Scene

ONE of the most colorful figures of contemporary political life passes from the Canadian scene with the sudden death of Senator Ian Mackenzie. In British Columbia especially the news will be received with deep regret, for although of national repute his attachments were rooted in this province and he was numbered among its distinguished citizens.

Ian Mackenzie, as he was popularly known, was a striking example of the young Scottish immigrant who made good immediately after his arrival in an adopted land. To Canada he brought the background of a brilliant Edinburgh scholastic career, natural talents and a forceful personality which quickly found expression. By the time he was thirty he was a well-known Vancouver barrister, had served overseas with the Canadian troops in the Great War, and had become a member of the British Columbia Legislature.

Thereafter for thirty years his life was spent in the domain of public service, as a parliamentarian and Cabinet minister in both Provincial and Federal fields. His influence grew in proportion to his massive stature. He held several important national portfolios, he was a leader in debate and prominent in defensive preparations before the World War and in its postwar rehabilitation problems. Only two years ago he was elevated to the Senate, and his unexpected demise robs that chamber of the fruits of a long and varied parliamentary experience.

What Will the Scots Do With It?

SOMETIMES announcements from the Provincial Department of Trade and Industry intrigue the imagination without wholly satisfying the curiosity. Take for instance that item about shipping kelp spores by air to the Scottish Seaweed Research Association. Now there is a nice, friendly gesture. It is the good neighbor policy, stretched across the width of the continent and the Atlantic; which is quite a stretch even in a fore-shortened world. Curiosity goes begging, however, until one can learn what the Scots will do with the kelp spores.

At various times on this Coast kelp has been used for fertilizer, for the extraction of potash, reputedly more than once as a denatured jam-filler; to say little of its commonest use, which is to tie boats to while fishing for ling cod. The idea of transplanting kelp beds is novel in these waters; usually navigators, trollers and others have asked that they be removed. Perhaps the sturdy Scots have found a new use for it. We should ask. Under the circumstances the Department of Trade and Industry ought to protect the unvested kelp interests hereabouts. It should be kelp spores for information, or else no kelp. That would be reasonable and fair.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Sir,—I agree with R. J. Pring, in which he objects to the way the health insurance rates have or may be increased. Most certainly bachelor ladies, bachelors and the married couples without families should not be paying the lions share of the tax. Many people with children are quite well off, and others are drawing large salaries and wages. In addition the Government is paying people with families a nice amount each month for each child, and the rates for families should have been higher, if anything, even if the Federal Government does pay the children's allowance. Many of us do our utmost to stay out of hospital, yet we are practically paying for many who flood our hospitals in a great many cases who shouldn't.

Much could be said quite truthfully regarding the single and childless couples, and certainly much could be said about many who are never satisfied unless they are stationed in a hospital and now think they may as well get it back some way. Yet we ask ourselves, do the doctors, some of them, send some there whom they find it easier to examine in a hospital? When some of us realize how we have been old-fashioned enough to look after many ills in our families, we wonder if many who do not have hospital treatments in the year should not be given a rebate by the Government who collects.

DEVALUATION RISKY

Sir,—Although we have the assurance of our Minister of External Affairs, Hon. L. B. Pearson, that "somehow or other the flow of goods multilaterally must be restored," it is difficult to visualize (in view of past and present experience) how this change can be brought about among nations so widely apart in their degree of development. The North American continent alone has the capacity to produce more than half the effective demand of the world in manufactured goods.

As war-stricken nations gradually recover from the direct impact of war, the addition they make to the total of marketable goods will be greater than the world has power to consume. This is the problem of surpluses which has sprung upon the world since the inception of powered machinery in the brief space of about 150 years.

Are we to find means whereby this abundance can be enjoyed by all or are we going to continue striving for economic advantage, one nation against another, which can only lead, as in the past, to war?

It is only too patent there can be no multilateral trade until international currencies are freely interchangeable. Bilateral trade is the present logical means whereby essential trade may flow. It is not necessarily an end, but constitutes an effective lever toward the end which Mr. Pearson has in mind.

Why should Britain be the one called upon to shoulder the consequences of dollar scarcity and be expected to debase the value of her pound? And what guarantee would America give that she would allow Britain's thereby cheapened goods to scale her tariff walls and compete in America's home market? I am afraid, none whatever. America's export of goods and services during the past 35 years has been in excess of imports to the staggering amount of, roughly, $100,000,000,000. To fulfil the obligation of a creditor, a nation should allow her debtor to pay their debts with imports. America requires payment in gold or dollars.

Assuming Britain devalued her pound by, say, 20%, it would mean that she would have to pay 20% more pounds in interest on her debt to America and Canada, as well as on the repayment of the debt principal. Also, her quota holding in Bretton Woods Fund and Bank would have to be increased by 20%, entailing an amount of $251,000,000.

It is questionable whether devaluation would be of lasting value. In the first instance it would probably stimulate sales abroad but on the other hand Britain's purchases abroad would cost 20% more in terms of pounds, which would react unfavorably on the cost of production, causing, as it would, the cost of living and labor, thus defeating the benefit for which it aimed.

Again devaluation would be strenuously resisted by those countries within the sterling area more prolific in their ability to earn dollars, surrendering same to the sterling pool and being credited with sterling.

From "The Passing Strange"

The corn is sown again, it grows;
The stars burn out, the darkness goes;
The rhythms change, they do not close.

They change, and we, who pass like foam,
Like dust blown through the streets of Rome,
Change ever, too; we have no home,

Only a beauty, only a power,
Sad in the fruit, bright in the flower,
Endlessly erring for its hour,

But gathering, as we stray, a sense
Of life, so lovely and intense,
It lingers when we wander hence,

That those who follow feel behind
Their backs, when all before is blind,
Our joy, a rampart to the mind.

Personal Belief

By FRANK KELLEY

ONE is occasionally asked questions—I suppose it is flattering in a way that anyone should credit you with knowing much about anything in particular that the questioners should really attempt to answer for themselves. That is the only way, it seems to me, to get a satisfying answer, especially to one query, no matter how much knowledge the other fellow might be rated as possessing. Anyway, as I see it, final determination as to how to interpret the matter must rest with oneself.

Why I should have been selected to explain a problem which, first and last, is every man's own individual business I can only guess, and the guess is hardly half-satisfying, I must admit. Who the questioner was, I do not know.

It was a telephone call and could have been from one of those good people who leave leaflets on your doormat if by chance you might not answer their knock and listen to what they have to state verbally about your present status and your disposition in the hereafter. Or I might have been just a [illegible].

All fair enough, as things go, and while we generally follow along our own reverent thought in the long run, no matter what we hear, it need not be construed a presumptuous if someone appears interested enough in our hereafter classification to try and lead one's steps along certain byways today and tomorrow.

* * *

At any rate, while it might have been some joker, the question which came my way over the telephone is as old as thought itself, and its substance will remain a matter for conjecture, discussion and controversy as long as what the late Bill Nye called "the think tank" continues to hold man's best asset, the brain.

Evidently the caller had been reading some diatribes, signed and unsigned, appearing in the press recently, containing slighting references to the conception of the cosmos as pictured by believers in the Christian trend of life.

Great scientists, as we all know, have maintained there can be no effect without a cause, but have never explained what was the first cause to effect a universe or people the earth, sea and air with all that go to them is; and while other scientists of later days are seemingly not so sure the universe always existed, they do not present the array of arguments some of their learned predecessors favored.

At the same time as I was asked to state what my personal belief about our universe here means to me, I will say it is my humble opinion that as we are endowed with the faculty of reason we should figure it out for ourselves. We have heard both sides—how the universe always was and how it was created by a benevolent Providence. Weighing the evidence seen on every hand we should be able to come to our own conclusion, whichever philosophy offers us most peace of mind and let it go at that.

* * *

For myself I must admit there were moments when I have been alone in some cloistered forest or privileged to look up from flowered meadows towards an altar at which one could not help but worship reverently, and I have had the profound feeling there must be something beyond the earthly existence, and whoever or whatever ordained or consummated all the visible grandeur would not destroy it through caprice or calculated wan[illegible].

At such times, I must confess, everything in Nature seems to shout at me, proclaiming that some benign Providence is the cause of the effect we behold. It is not a bad philosophy, either, with something more satisfying than the frustrations which are more or less a part of no belief at all.

Germany in Postwar Europe

This is the fifth of a series of articles specially written for The Colonist by a Vancouver man who recently returned from Germany, where he spent several years in the service of British Intelligence.

By DOUGLAS MORRIS

THE full history of the processes and ramifications involved in the policy of destroying that political party which brought the world so near ruin will never be told. Born on a wave of enthusiasm and determination on the part of the Allies to ensure complete destruction of everything Nazi, it soon became subject to all the machinations of bribery and corruption that the Germans as a race had become addicted to during that party's growth under the Hitler regime.

Initially, the policy was basically sound, but its implementation was thwarted and frustrated at every turn. Firstly by leading figures in the German administration, and secondly by political and personal intervention on the part of interested Allied agencies who found in it escapism on the one hand and opportunity on the other. Gradually becoming bogged down in a sea of paper bumph and red tape, coupled with multitudinous interdepartmental regulations, an inside knowledge of its machinery and secret personality files soon became well known to the myriads of quietly efficient frauleins who sooner or later were involved in its application. Administrative efficiency, while often contrary to German public opinion, in many instances won the battle over political reliability, mainly through the efforts and ambitions of departmental chiefs of the administration on both sides.

* * *

A typical example would be the head of a university library. Knowing that his services were required by the Allied educational representative, he would advise the denazification official that of course he was a Nazi; he could only retain his position in those days by becoming a party member, but that was necessary to enable him, for the future literary health of Germany, to combat Nazi efforts to Nazify his library. Today denazification is dying a lingering death in the hands of the German judiciary powers, it having become a weapon in the hands of those carrying on a never-ending fight to reinstate that which the occupation has endeavored to destroy.

The process of sifting out all Nazis or politically clean persons to fill positions of responsibility and trust in the new government was not confined to seats on the new government councils. Its effect was felt in every walk of life, from the humblest servant employed in an Allied establishment to the heads and staffs of all civic enterprises and industrial bodies.

The overt Allied intelligence security agencies in co-operation with occupation police were charged with the implementation of this policy of house cleaning, later supplemented by German panels, though in the early days military forces bore the brunt of carrying out the mass arrest policy. Then the procedure was fairly simple, for all ranking party officials down to a specified grade were automatically arrested by whoever could lay hands on them first.

* * *

The legalities of this system were later questioned, and by 1946 the power to arrest was restricted to certain control officials who were answerable for their actions. Both humor and satire on the part of all participants proved this a very exciting form of occupation during 1945-46, by the end of which time the majority of known ranking party adherents were cooling their heels in internment, or accounted for in other ways.

In the meantime the re-establishment of the country's civic administration was proceeding at a fast pace. This all necessitated very heavy demands for labor of all kinds, mostly met from the German economy, but often supplemented by applicants from the thousands of displaced persons, most of whom were looking for revenge or a way out to a new life.

To the Germans with their ever-ready sense of humor the situation became both harassing and ludicrous. Installed by military government one day as a schoolmaster or a doctor, a German might find himself denounced and interned the next as a party adherent, mainly through the efforts of some personal enemy who by virtue of his part in the denunciation would immediately apply for the job.

A form known as a "Frageboden" was used as a questionaire to help Allied officials in determining the status of an applicant, and no German who had up until then escaped internment would dream of being caught without one or two completed forms on his person. The sums paid off in bribes between individuals in procuring satisfactorily clean "Frageboden" were beyond mention. A common form of greeting on the street in those days was: "Guten Morgen! Gute Frageboden?" and each in [illegible] would gently pat the breast pocket.

Many other difficulties faced the man in the street in his search for daily sustenance. While the wave of criminal looting had subsided it had more often than not left the tradesman minus his tools and equipment necessary to follow his calling. Cigarettes formed the main basic currency together with articles of food value like coffee and chocolates, mostly obtained from the occupying forces and these were exchanged for the more staple items of diet like meat and vegetables from the farmers who were not suffering from any shortage. In his daily round to effect such bartering the German always ran the risk of search and arrest by both Allied and German police, for having possession of illicit goods, more often than not he was highjacked by his own fellow travelers. Again if he had missed the denazification net, there was always the risk of arrest and internment in Holland, Belgium or France.

Add to all this the mad wave of "I spy," intimidation, arrest and denunciation that went on behind the scenes between friends and foes alike, one can then visualize the farcical situation that exists.

While the actual Nazi party membership approximated less than eight million people, the number of hangers on and supporters who paid lip or cash service to ensure party support and privileges, plus thousands of professional men who in most instances were unwitting victims of its tenacles and doctrine by force, could never be truly gauged and decided. This situation added to the ways of escape on the one hand and to methods of denunciation on the other. Therefore in the process of sifting the wheat from the chaff many innocent suffered with the guilty until such time as investigation proved their case favorable or otherwise to the Allied cause.

The average German, Nazi or otherwise, once employed, won the praise and admiration of all for their trustworthy ability and conscientious efficiency. Thereafter future efforts on the part of investigation agencies to oust employees for proven past records invariably ended in favor of the accused. By that time he or she, mostly the latter sex, [illegible] more often than not proven not only administrative efficiency but loyal sociability with the departmental chief concerned.

The whole process of denazification, hated and ridiculed by Ally and German alike from its inception, sealed the doom on our efforts to democratize Germany. The book was finally closed when Churchill, during a speech in early 1948, stated "We cannot condemn a whole nation for the sins of a few."

Mrs. and Miss

In deciding that no distinction between Mrs. and Miss is to be made in the new electoral registers, the Home Secretary merely reverts to former usage. Until the 17th century "Mis[illegible]" was the correct form of address for all women, married or single, and the diminutive "Miss" dates only from the time of Charles II.

Observation Car

By G. B.

A VICTORIAN who drove to Alaska sent the following note: "I noticed many automobiles bearing 'Alaska or bust', but they should have read 'Alaska with dust'. From Dawson Creek to Lower Post the Alaska Highway is 620 miles of gravel and dirt. It is a convenient route from Edmonton to Alaska, but the driving is extremely arduous, and some of the scenery is monotonous. However, from Mile 392 to Mile 496 there are snow-capped peaks on either side of the highway, mountains with emerald mantles of evergreens, and bald rock in striking rainbow tints. Muncho Lake at Mile 456 has a setting that Lake Louise would envy. Fish are reported to bite there at almost any time of year. The highway has been highly overrated as a tourist playground. Most of the tourists I met looked dirty, tired and fed-up. Prices are terrific. Gasoline costs anywhere from 63 to 69 cents per gallon. The few outposts that provide meals charge $1.15 for bacon and eggs. Lunch costs from $1.65 to $2.25, and supper $1.75 to $2.95 for an ordinary meal. Pie and coffee cost 45 cents. Soft drinks are 20 to 25 cents per bottle, and chocolate bars run from 10 to 18 cents each. Beer retails at 50 cents per pint. No gasoline credit cards are accepted from Mile 533 to Alaska. All gasoline service stations also operate lodges for travelers, and a simple room costs from $2.50 to $3.50 per night for one person. A drive along the Alaska Highway is costly. I shall be glad to return to the soothing scenery of Lower Vancouver Island and the bright lights of Victoria."

Psychologists believe Friday is not a good day to begin new undertakings, because many persons are tired after the week's work. They estimate the best work days are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with Saturday the worst.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

A STORY that is enjoying a lot of popularity recently is the one about the lumber camp cook who, seeing a bear trying to break into his kitchen, heaved a stick of stovewood at the intruder. And the bear ran and picked up the stick and brought it back to the cook.

It was somebody's tame bear, and all it wanted was a little of the amenities of a camp cook house.

When we befriend wild creatures, we usually seal their doom. In the Summer just ending, hundreds, perhaps thousands of families have made pets of wild animals around their Summer cottages. Raccoons, deer, foxes, [illegible] ducks and many other pretty creatures have been fed and petted and invited to make free of the premises. They have thus been deprived of their greatest protection, their fear of the scent of man. The raccoon or the fox will walk cheerfully, even hopefully, into the first trap he meets this Fall. The deer, scenting a man, will come expectantly into the open to greet a friend. The ducks that have been chummed with will be the first in the pot this October.

The hard thing to rationalize with regard to our wild life is that those who would love to make a pet of a wild animal outnumber perhaps fifty, or even a hundred to one, the number who kill wild animals for profit or sport. In other words, we have a hundred men and women going about, with kindly hearts, making it easy for one man to kill.

What makes this situation hard to rationalize is that you could just as easily prohibit men from hunting as you could prohibit men and women and children from loving wild creatures. In short, it can't be done. It stands as one of the great irreducible differences in human nature and human character. And it is as old as that first hairly cave man who suddenly, noticing a wild flower for the first time, sighed.

Believe Document Purposely Planted To Lessen Punishment of Refugee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (INS).—State Department sources today expressed belief that one of the documents left behind by repentant Russian refugee Anatoly Barsov was a "plant" designed to lessen his punishment behind the Iron Curtain.

Two documents were discovered in Barsov's Washington hotel room after he left and turned over to the State department.

In one, a diary, the Soviet airman who this week made a round trip of his 1948 flight from Russia reportedly described his first experience in the United States in a highly favorable tone.

The other document, a coverless memorandum pad, contained notes on Barsov's impression of the American mode of life and reportedly compared this country unfavorably with his homeland.

This is the document which State Department sources believe was purposely left behind by Barsov where it would be discovered. They pointed out that Barsov's new [illegible] in Russia is not likely to be too pleasant, at best, and that he may have been trying to make a case for himself.

It was reported that the diary ended with the early days of Barsov's stay in the United States. It reportedly contained accounts of [illegible] escape from Russia to the American zone of Austria with a companion, Peter Pirogov, in a stolen plane.

The diary was said to carry on through the pair's week-long tour of the State of Virginia. Barsov and Pirogov were first tempted to flee Russia by literature describing the beauties of the state.

Translation of the two documents has not yet been completed. The translaters are searching carefully for any hidden reason for the flight from the Soviets of Barsov and Pirogov, particularly any possibility that the whole thing might have been inspired from Moscow.

Say Bands of Russian Troops Invade Iran in War of Nerves

By WILLIAM O. DOUGLAS
Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 2 (INS)—Bands of Russian soldiers invade Iran from the north every few days as part of the Soviet war of nerves.

The patrols sneak in and make encircling movements as far as 40 miles within Iran. They keep on going until they meet Iranian troops, then there is a skirmish and the Russians withdraw.

Eight Russians were killed in one skirmish this Summer and three or four Iranians in another.

Sometimes the Russian patrols have as high as a company of soldiers.

It happened every week or so this Summer.

The raids take place in a range of trackless mountains on the Soviet-Iranian border. The boundary is not well marked, and there are no roads in the area. In fact, there are only two north-south roads between the U.S.S.R. and Iran.

NOT ACCIDENT

If the Russians penetrated a mile or so it might be an accident, but not when they go as far as 40 miles.

Some of the skirmishes took place while I was in Iran, although I never was in any of them. Some took place within five to 50 miles from me, I should judge, while I traveled through the Elburz Mountains.

Talk of the Soviet raids was common in official and army channels.

I was escorted by about 12 very fine Iranian cavalrymen led by Gen. Djehanbani, a wonderful man and a very efficient cavalry officer.

My Iranian visit, June 28 to July 14, was part of my vacation trip through the Near East with my son Bill.

Czech "Purge" Seen in Order On Passports

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Communist Government's new order cancelling all Czecho-Slovak passports as of November 30 was described by Western diplomatic sources here today as a kind of "passport purge."

A Government announcement Thursday said all current passports, including diplomatic ones, will become invalid on that date and must be turned in for new ones.

An accompanying [illegible] ruled that from now on all Czech nationals traveling in foreign lands for more than ten days must submit their passports for registration at Czech legations in whatever country they are visiting. This would ensure a close check on the movements of travelers.

(In Washington, Juraj Slavik, former Czech ambassador to the United States, said the new Prague ruling will hasten decisions by Czechs abroad whether to break with the Communist regime.)

Minister Back From Vacation

Rev. Moir A. J. Waters, minister of First United Church, has returned from his vacation, part of which was spent at the School of Religion and Life at Naramata in the Okanagan Valley.

The school was for ministers and laymen. Dr. Howard Thurman of San Francisco, negro pastor of a church which acknowledges no racial boundaries, was the guest lecturer.

Mr. Waters conducted a course on "[illegible] and His Message for Today." He was able to make a good start on getting to know British Columbia and returned enthusiastic about the province.

Married at St. Alban's

At [illegible] Albans Church on August [illegible] of Doreen Sue [illegible] daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ra[illegible], 1684 Pembroke Street, to [illegible] Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Welch of Vancouver, was solemnized by Rev. F. F. M. Tomlin.

Given in marriage by her twin brother, Mr. Bill Ra[illegible], the bride was lovely in white satin fashioned with fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and high neck finished with collar embroidered with beads and pearls; the graceful skirt swept into a long train. Her full-length veil was arranged under a coronet of orange blossoms. A bouquet of [illegible] gladioli and [illegible] completed the bride's [illegible]. Mr. W. Booth [illegible] gown of blue [illegible] of orange blossoms [illegible] of honor for her [illegible] carried a bouquet of [illegible] and fuchsia gladioli.

The bridegroom had his brother Mr. Bert Welch as best man and ushers were Mr. William Boothroyd and Mr. Allan Wilson.

During the signing of the register Miss Margery Patterson sang "O Perfect Love," accompanied by the church organist.

The reception was held at the home of the bride where the parents of the newlyweds welcomed the guests with them. Gladioli and lighted white candles decorated the table which was centred with the three-tiered cake. Mr. Bert Welch proposed the toast.

Leaving for the Mainland en route for a honeymoon motor trip through the Interior, the bride wore a black crepe frock with hat, topcoat and accessories in grey, and a corsage of pink roses and carnations. The couple will live in Victoria.

Bright Days 'Compensation'

August, a "below normal" month in most respects, redeemed itself in its last week with even brilliant days registering sunshine between ten and 13 hours.

A report from the Gonzales Observatory yesterday claimed only .06 inch of rain fell during the month, .03 inch below normal.

The sun shone a total of 237 hours during August, 65 hours below normal. Mean temperature was 59 degrees, one degree below normal, and the maximum temperature recorded was 82 degrees, on August 28.

Precipitation between January 1 and August 31 for the city was 12.29 inches, again below normal by 1.4 inches.

Minimum temperature of August was 50 degrees, set on the 13th and 26th, while the minimum on the grass was 45 degrees, on August 26.

AIDS TO NAVIGATION

The Hydrographic Service of Canada produces and distributes all Canadian hydrographic Aids to Navigation. Scientific work begins with field surveys and is completed by the production and distribution of navigation charts, volumes of Pilots and Sailing Directions covering coastal and inland navigable waters, standard tidal publications for the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the Water Level Bulletins for the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes Waterway.

CHAPTER IX

Ellen was very grave, as became an old retainer on the day of a funeral in the family circle and without awaiting instructions she laid out a black ensemble for Ruth to wear. [illegible] Foxworth was al[illegible] stairs to join him. But his ill humor had passed, and as the day progressed he seemed to take a subdued satisfaction in the major role he was playing. He himself ushered Ruth in for that last inevitable look at Odile which his niece had so greatly dreaded; he sat with her in her pew directly behind the one occupied by Amelie, Caresse and Leonce at the funeral, and after the services at the cemetery were over he assisted the weeping mother into the first car and got in beside her.

Ruth rode back to the house with some distant relative whose mourning was almost as heavy as that worn by Mrs. Lalande. When the last of these out-of-town visitors had departed Foxworth offered suggestions amounting to instructions [illegible] group.

"Leonce, you'd better take your mother and sister home and sit with them awhile. This has been a strain on them also . . . Amelie, my dear, please go and lie down . . . Caresse, you'd better go to your room too . . . Ruth, the car's waiting. I'm sorry to leave you to your own devices another evening, but there's still a lot to be done here."

Neither of the first two persons thus addressed appeared to resent these directions in the least. Amelie trailed from the room, leaning upon Foxworth for support. He glanced back at Caresse.

"I haven't the least idea of going to lie down," she said, with a terseness worthy of his own. "I'm going for a walk . . . Would you care to go with me?" she added, suddenly addressing Ruth.

"Why, yes, if you'd like to have me," Ruth replied, slightly startled by the unexpectedness of this approach.

"All right. My things are [illegible] . . . I'll pick them up as we go along."

The Fashion Plate Dress Shop had certainly done extremely well by Caresse, Ruth reflected. She was far and away the smartest looking girl Ruth had seen in New Orleans. She walked rapidly down Richmond Place, her taffeta petticoat rustling pleasantly as she went, the suede handbag, which matched her suede gloves and her suede shoes, tucked securely under one graceful arm. When they reached St. Charles Avenue, she paused.

"Do you care which way we go from here?" she inquired.

"Not in the least. Besides, the main idea is to get air and exercise, isn't it?"

"It's one of the ideas. But I've a letter I'd like to show you if you don't mind. I want to ask your advice about it. I thought we could go to Audubon Park and sit on a bench. That is, if you're willing."

"Of course, I'm willing. I'd be glad to do anything you feel like [illegible]"

Caresse turned right and went uptown, past the looming red brick of Loyola and grey, ivy-clad Tulane. Then they crossed the broad double roadway and the neutral ground of the avenue to the ornamental gate of Audubon Park. Presently they came to the shore of a winding little lake and found a bench. Caresse immediately opened her smart suede handbag and took from it a commercial-sized envelope.

"This came in by airmail special early this morning," she said. "It's a wonder I got it, in the midst of all the hullabaloo. But Lop thought it probably had something to do with the funeral and brought it straight to me. I read it while I was drinking my coffee . . . Haas and Hector is a pretty big department—got lots of class."

"Yes, one of the biggest in New York. And one of the most important. Not just in size either. It's got lots of class."

"That's what I thought. All right, go ahead and read the letter, will you?"

"My dear Miss Lalande:

"Your tri-weekly radio program, broadcast under the auspices of The Fashion Plate Dress Shop, has been called to our attention by our representative, Miss Miriam Hickey.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

FARMER BROWN'S BOY LOSES HIS TEMPER

It was a long time since Farmer Brown's Boy had visited the Laughing Brook, and the Smiling Pool, so of course he knew nothing about what had been going on there. One morning, having nothing else to do, he took it into his head to go over to the Smiling Pool to see how Jerry Muskrat was getting along. Jerry saw him coming and his heart was so filled with distrust because of what he had suffered from the trapper who had so nearly caught him, that he actually suspected Farmer Brown's Boy.

"I used to think that I could trust Farmer Brown's Boy," muttered Jerry, "but I don't trust him. I don't trust anybody. As likely as not Farmer Brown's Boy has been friendly just so that he can take advantage of it." So Jerry promptly hid where Farmer Brown's Boy could not see him, but where he could watch Farmer Brown's Boy.

The latter was whistling, a habit he has when he is feeling happy. He came straight down to the bank of the Smiling Pool and there he stood for a few minutes looking at Jerry's house. "I guess you are pretty near ready for cold weather," said he, just as if he were talking to Jerry. "I've brought a couple of carrots for you and I hope you will enjoy them. You'll find them over by that favorite old log of yours."

Farmer Brown's Boy pulled a couple of carrots from his pocket and walked over to the old log which lay half in the water and half out. It was the very log where Jerry had been caught in the trap by his tail. When Farmer Brown's Boy got there he gave a little whistle of surprise. There were some pieces of carrot already there. Then Farmer Brown's Boy face clouded. "I wonder what this means," said he, and at once began to look about. It didn't take him long to discover the trap fastened to the old log. "Ha! I thought so!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy, and his face became angry looking.

He reached down and got hold of the chain of the trap and pulled it free from the log. Then he tossed it up on the bank and at once went over to another favorite feeding place of Jerry's. There, just as he expected, he found another trap. This he also threw up on the bank, and his face looked angrier than ever.

Now Farmer Brown's Boy knew all about trapping, and, what is more, he knew all about the ways of Jerry Muskrat. So he went from place to place where he thought traps might be set. He found two more, and by this time he had quite lost his temper.

"I'd like to know who it is has dared to set traps here," he grumbled. "This is on our land, and everybody knows that we don't allow trapping. I guess I'll have to go up the Laughing Brook and see if there are more traps up there. I'll take these traps along with me and whoever owns them will have to come up to the house to get them. Then I'll give him such a good piece of my mind that he won't do any more trapping along the Laughing Brook and around the Smiling Pool."

Next story: "The Angry Trapper."

According to Culbertson

Copyright, 1949, by Ely Culbertson

The choice of no trump for the slam contract in today's deal was dictated by "match-point considerations" but, as it happened, South found the hand easier to play at no-trump than it would have been at a suit.

♣ A Q 7 4

Several North-South pairs landed at six hearts; others, at six clubs, and in these cases the declarers found themselves in deep water and invariably went down one or more tricks.

At one table this was the bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 N T	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 N T	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, fearing that a spade lead would go into an opposing tenace, chose the "neutral" heart opening. Dummy's king won, and after prolonged study of the situation, South led a low diamond toward his own hand and put in the ten-spot! He felt sure that West must have considerable length in spades for his bid since he obviously held so little in high cards, and therefore, quite aside from the fact that six missing cards (as in diamonds) do not figure to break 3-3, South decided that there was better than an even chance that East had diamond length.

When the diamond ten held South cashed the queen, went back to dummy with a heart, and ran the diamonds discarding two clubs and a spade from his own hand. Then he carefully cashed the spade ace before he collected the ace and queen of hearts! This was a vital preliminary to the end-play he had in mind. As he had hoped, when three cards were left in all hands South's being the spade queen and the ace-queen of clubs, West was reduced to the spade king and the king-ten of clubs. Now, sure of his ground, South threw West in with spade, forcing the club return up to the major tenace.

Careless Driving, Siren's Sound Cost Man $45, Use of Licence

Dennis Norman King, 306 Edward Street, was fined $36 and his driver's licence suspended by Magistrate H C Hall in city police court yesterday when found guilty on a careless driving charge.

On a charge of unlawfully using a siren horn, King pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

Constable Deans Blackstock testified that the accused passed several cars August 27 on Esquimalt Road sounding a siren. When King saw him, the constable said he changed direction and fled. He located him after a [illegible] and took him to the [illegible] for questioning, explained Constable Blackstock who charged King with careless driving on Russell, Henry and Mary Streets. He added that the accused took the corners too fast.

King told the magistrate he never knew the constable was chasing him and stated he wasn't traveling any more than 25 miles an hour at any time.

REMANDED FOR TRIAL

Robert G. Gregory-Allen, 3046 Jackson Street, pleaded not guilty to a careless driving charge arising out of an accident August 29 at the intersection of Finlayson and Quadra Streets. He pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car without insurance and not having financial responsibility himself. King is the holder of a restricted licence. He was remanded to next Wednesday for trial.

Charge of common assault against Jack M. Lewers, 1289 Vista Heights was dismissed by the magistrate. Lewers was charged with assaulting his wife.

List Home Schedule Of Cougar Contests

Friday Is "Hockey Night" in Victoria—Advance Ticket Sale Opens Thursday

Victoria's Pacific Coast Hockey League home schedule of 35 games, opening at the Memorial Arena on Thanksgiving Day afternoon, Monday, October 10, will feature 20 Friday night contests, release of the Cougars' official home schedule discloses.

The balance of the schedule includes three holiday afternoon games—Thanksgiving, Boxing Day and January 2. Two Saturday night and ten Tuesday night fixtures round out the schedule. Afternoon games are billed to start at 3, while the regular starting time for night games will be 8:30.

PORTLAND IN OPENER

Portland Eagles provide the opposition for the Cougars in the home opener. It is the first of five Victoria appearances for the Oregonians. The league's two other Canadian entries, Vancouver Capilanos and New Westminster Royals, will each make seven appearances in the Memorial Arena. Tacoma plays here six times and the Seattle Ironmen five. The P.C.H.L.'s Southern Division clubs, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Fresno, Oakland and San Diego, each play one game here.

The complete home schedule:

1 Monday, October 10, Portland
2 Friday, October 14, New Westminster
3 Tuesday, October 18, Vancouver
4 Friday, October 21, Tacoma
5 Tuesday, October 25, Los Angeles
6 Friday, October 28, Portland

32 Friday, March 3, Tacoma
33 Friday, March 10, Seattle
34 Tuesday, March 14, Vancouver
35 Friday, March 17, New Westminster

With the opening of the Cougars' training camp only about three weeks away, Owner Lester Patrick and Manager Fred Hutchinson are each engaged in a major problem. Patrick is now en route to Montreal for the National Hockey League meeting and hopes to be able to announce the signing of a well-known coach as well as additional playing strength.

NAME COACH SOON

The Victoria owner has been negotiating for a playing coach for some time and the choice has narrowed down to two men. No names have yet been released but it is believed that the man Patrick has in mind is or was an N.H.L. player.

Meanwhile, Hutchinson has been besieged by requests for a chance to purchase season tickets from impatient fans and is busy making final arrangements for ticket sales, which will begin next Thursday at 9 a.m.

SEASON PLAN

Under the plans released by Hutchinson, it will not be necessary for season's subscribers to pay for their tickets in advance. Instead a deposit on the ticket for the final five games of the season will reserve the same seats for all 35 games and a preference for the playoffs. The holders then make their purchase from game to game on a pay-as-you-go plan.

Season ticket holders will have a priority on the choicer seats. Over-the-counter sale of tickets for the opening game will open approximately on October 1.

Cowley at Renfrew

RENFREW, Ont., Sept. 2 (CP).—Bill Cowley, erstwhile centre for Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, has been signed to coach the Renfrew Lions in the Upper Ottawa Valley League this Winter.

Name Line-Up For Inter-City Cricket Match

Final match of the home-and-home cricket series between picked Vancouver and Victoria teams will be played at the Beacon Hill Oval on Monday, commencing at 10:30 a.m.

Victoria will be minus several of its better players in trying to reverse the result of the first match, played in Vancouver, May 24. The home club won a narrow decision in that one.

Reg Wenman will skipper the Victoria side. Other team members named are Jack Sparks, Dick Scott, Jim Richards, Jack Payne, Owen Morgan, C. E. Lonsdale, Jim Oakman, Bill Stanley, John Vyvyan and Godfrey Wenman. Among the players unable to play appear the names of George Payne and Ted Parkins, two sturdy bats; Ted Oakman, Alan Griffin and Green.

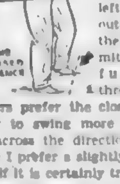
Scores Ace at Colwood

Playing with her husband and her brother, Hugh Kennedy, at the time, Mrs. Vic Painter aced her tee shot on the 157-yard par 3 fourth hole at Colwood yesterday. She used a No. 2 iron for the shot.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Today's picture illustrates the closed stance. As you see, this means the left foot is nearer the imaginary line from ball to green than the right. In a square stance, both toes are equi-distant from the line of desired flight. In the open stance the left foot is slightly further back from that line than the right. In all three stances the toes are pointed slightly out but with the left toe more so.



You point both toes out to give you a firmer base for your swing. But the left toe is pointed out more than the right to permit a smooth, full follow through. Some players prefer the closed stance in order to swing more easily inside out across the direction line. And while I prefer a slightly open stance myself it is certainly true that some excellent players get fine results with a closed stance. For the player with a pronounced tendency to swing his hands out and around in the down stroke instead of swinging his hands rather straight down from the top and leaving it to the shoulder and hip pivot to carry clubhead out accurately to the ball for such a player the closed stance should work satisfactorily.

Facing six games in the last three days of the W.I.L. season, Victoria Athletics are going to have to look better than they did last night if they wish to retain fifth place. Last night they lost their second straight game to Tacoma as Bob Kerrigan held them well in check while his mates came up with two big scoring innings for a 10-2 win.

The loss left the A's only a game and a half ahead of the Tigers and only two and a half games ahead of the last-place Bremerton club. Facing two games with Tacoma today and tomorrow, and a pair with the Jackets on Monday, the A's could drop all the way to the bottom of the heap.

Just over 3,000 fans turned out for "Charlie Balassi Night." The popular outfielder was the recipient of gifts from fans, business firms and the club management in a pre-game ceremony and provided some entertainment of his own with his familiar guitar and cowboy music. As is so often the case, it was all he contributed. In four trips he managed to get a base on balls.

MITCHELL TIRES

Dick Mitchell, shooting for his second victory since joining the club late in the season, matched Kerrigan for six innings but tired and went out under fire in the seventh when the Tigers put together six hits and a pair of errors to tally five times and break up a 2-1 game. Frank Logue came in to make his 47th mound appearance of the season and was tagged for the final three Tacoma runs in the eighth when the Tigers received the benefit of some loose Victoria defensive play. Vic Buccola's eighth-inning hoist over the centre-field wall was the only earned run charged against Kerrigan.

The usual Saturday split twin bill winds up the series today. Joe Blankenship has been named to work the afternoon game, with Jim Propst, making his last start of the season, gunning for his 17th triumph under the lights and seeking to protect his league-leading strikeout total.

American Entries Seek Speedboat Crown

Pacific Northwest outboard champions will be among 40 American entries seeking Western Canada speedboat crown at Shawnigan Lake on Monday. They include Pat Cummins, Seattle, Class "C" hydroplane; Al Benson, Seattle, Class "F" runabout; Bill Rankin, Seattle, "C" service runabout; Barnie Loutherin, Tacoma, "C" racing runabout. Some of entries, including R-78, owned by Johnny Sheriff, and R-41, owned by Pat Cummins, are shown at recent regatta at Green Lake, Washington. Powered by 40, 50 and 60-h.p. motors, boats are capable of speeds up to 67 miles per hour. First race will start at 1:30 p.m.

In B.C. Final Today

JIMMY MORRISON

Flashy shortstop of Douglas Tire senior "A" softball team, Morrison will be at regular position when Tiremen meet New Westminster Army and Navy at Upper Central tonight at 6:15 in first game of best-of-five series for provincial title. Second and third games will be played on Sunday at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. with fourth and fifth games, if necessary, billed for Monday. League officials announced last night that extra bleachers to accommodate additional 400 fans have been installed along left and right field foul lines.

Parker Gains Semi-Final Of U.S. Tennis Tourney

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 2 (INS).—Frank Parker tossed another silent punch at the officials who left him off the Davis Cup team by beating Eric Sturgess today, 6-3, 6-8, 6-1, 6-4, to gain the quarter-finals of the National Singles Championships.

The Californian, his game so sure that he commited only 52 errors to 81 for the South African, thus eliminated the man who was ranked first among foreign entrants and who reached the finals of the Nationals a year ago. In turn, Parker will face Davis Cupper Gardnar Mulloy in the quarter-finals tomorrow.

In a day notable for the fact that gorgeous Gussie Moran and fourth-seeded Shirley Fry both were upset in the third round of women's play, Ted Schroeder, Billy Talbert, and Australia's young champion, Frank Sedgman, advanced to the round eight.

DROBNY BRILLIANT

So did Czecho-Slovakia's Jaroslav Drobny, who beat Earl Cochell 6-2, 6-2, 8-6, to complete the quarter-final pairings. Drobny scored 22 service aces in the match.

Drobny plays Talbert tomorrow, Sedgeman faces Schroeder and Pancho Gonzales, the defending champion, encounters Art Larsen, the young San Franciscan who put out Jack Bromwich in the big one yesterday.

Schroeder vanquished Sam Match 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. Talbert evicted the stocky Frenchman, Robert Abdesselam, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Sedgman disposed of Eddie Moylan, 6-3, 6-2, 10-8, though when Moylan recovered his form in the third set it was fortunate for Sedgman that he was, for the first time in the tournament, at the top of his game.

The defeat of Miss Moran was a triumph in tenacity for Mrs. Betty Hilton, top-seeded foreign entrant among the women. The British lady saved match point with a desperate ground shot against Gussie in the second set, then came back to win 1-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Miss Fry lost 7-5, 7-5, to Mrs. Helen P. Perez, an unseeded player from Los Angeles.

Something of an upset seemed in the making in the first quarter-final event of the tournament, which pitted top-seeded Louise Brough against Beverly Baker. Nineteen-year-old Miss Baker won the second set, 6-2, after losing the opener, 6-1. But blonde Louise steadied her attack and won the decider, 6-2.

Miss Brough's opponent in the upper-bracket semi-final will be third-seeded Doris Hart, of Miami, who conquered Barbara Schofield, San Francisco, 6-2, 6-0, in the other women's quarter-final held today.

Capilanos Set New Gate Mark

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2 (CP).—Bob Brown, general manager of the Capilano Baseball Club, estimates over 130,000 fans have stormed through the gates of Capilano Stadium this season to watch the Vancouver Western International League squad in action.

This sets a record for the Caps. The previous high was 1947, a pennant-winning year, when 127,000 fans paid to see the Vancouver club.

Brown, in an optimistic mood, figures final attendance totals this year should be slightly over 140,000.

Short-Handed Tillicums Halted by Nanaimo, 12-7

NANAIMO, Sept. 2 (CP).—Native Sons of this city annexed the first game of the Provincial Senior "B" lacrosse semi-finals tonight, defeating an injury-riddled Victoria Tillicums, 12-7.

Sparked by Jack Scott with four goals, Nanaimo took a 4-1 lead in the first period and were out in front by an 8-6 tally at the half-way breather.

Winners counted three in the third stanza while holding Victoria scoreless. Each team bagged a singleton in the final chapter.

Minus the services of star playmaker Norm Coates, John and Gordie Bamford and Al Denoni, Tillicums nevertheless staged a valiant battle. Terrific heat, coupled with Nanaimo's aggressive checking, however, had its effect after 30 minutes of play.

Art Green and Don Henderson were the individual stars for Victoria, the former sniping three goals. Jack Reid, Ed Popham and Henderson accounted for the others.

For the winners, Reg Dorman netted three. Jim Gold, Arch Johnston, Soup Calverly and Cy Appleby counted the balance.

Second game in the best-in-three series goes Saturday night here. Should a third game be required, it will be played Wednesday at the same locale. Winner meets the survivor of the Trail-Kelowna Interior semi-final at Nanaimo next week-end.

Plan Swim Class

The Victoria Amateur Swimming Club will hold special swim classes for children six years old and up, it was decided at a general meeting held Wednesday evening. Classes will start Monday, September 19, at 7 p.m.

Parents who wish to register their children are asked to write Mr. W. Doodridge, secretary of the club, at 3415 Seymour Avenue.

King Eliminates Turnesa In U.S. Golf Semi-Final

By JOHN BARRINGTON

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 2 (INS).—Rufus King, a husky 35-year-old Texan hotter than the Lone Star State's sun, knocked defending National Amateur Golf Champion Willie Turnesa out of the tournament today in a surprising 2 and 1 semi-final upset.

King advanced to the final of the tourney at Rochester's Oak Hill Country Club along with drawling Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, who routed Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., 8 and 7, today.

The two Westerners will clash tomorrow in the 36-hole final round.

Turnesa, seeking his third amateur title and his second in a row, did not give up without a struggle.

WILLIE TURNESA

Deserted by his putting touch and minus his customary mid-iron wizardry, he scrambled back to a tie three times.

But King, as surprised as everyone else to find himself still in the running, refused to fade.

LED FROM START

The Texan had opened the match in the morning by taking two straight holes, and he kept the pressure on the champion all day. King never trailed.

Turnesa caught him on the sixth hole with a deuce on a par-three 154 yarder, and on the next two King immediately rammed putts of 30 and 46 feet down Willie's throat.

Willie caught up again on the 14th. But King gave himself putts of 18 inches and 20 inches on the 16th and 17th to win both.

And so it went. Turnesa drew even again on the tenth hole of the afternoon round—the 28th of the match—but he bogied both the 30th and 32nd after bad drives, and King was two up again.

Willie won a desperate respite on the 34th, getting down in par-four figures while King whacked his drive far to the right and took a five.

But it ended on the next one when Turnesa took a seven to King's birdie four.

There never was any doubt in the Coe-Campbell affair.

The lanky Oklahoman, a defeated semi-finalist in the tourney last year and a member of the Walker Cup team, had far too much for Campbell.

The pokey West Virginia legislator, who was warned by the tournament committee at one point to speed up his play, was down six after the first 18. He made two back when a couple of bad drives gave Coe bogies.

But after lunch the runaway resumed. Coe's straight-down-the-middle brilliance won him the 19th, 20th and 21st with the exasperated Campbell bogeying all of them.

After that it was just a matter of running out the string. Coe took one more hole, the 27th, and they halved the rest until Campbell ran out of holes.

Coe's morning round, a par 71 was the best of the day for anyone. In fact his general steadiness made him a heavy favorite over King for tomorrow's final.

Adanacs Lead Westerns In Boxla Final

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 2 (CP).—Steady, cool-headed pressure and smart stick-work in the clinches combined to give Adanacs a 12-9 victory over Burrard Westerns in the first game of the Inter-City Lacrosse League finals here.

The night's tussle was a typical play-off opener with both clubs taking few chances in the early going and gradually putting loose as the pace quickened.

A brief but bloody fist duel between Adanac Johnny Douglas and fiery Fritz Cavallin ended with Cavallin on the floor from a right hook by ex-Navy middleweight champion Douglas.

Starry Norm Baker stopped a last-quarter Burrard rally at 10-8 as the A's played it cosy to protect a game-long lead.

Baker and Severson both had three goals and an assist to lead Adanacs, while Bus Byford, Jack Byford and McLeod tallied braces for the losers.

Idle Leaders Drop Half Game in Race

Newcombe's Runless Skein at 30 Innings As Dodgers Blank Giants—Bosox Triumph

New York Yankees and St. Louis [illegible] the Cardinals, pacesetters in the American League and National League respectively were both unscheduled yesterday and both saw their leads clipped by half a game.

Boston Red Sox used the home-run route to defeat Philadelphia Athletics, 8-4, and cut the Yankee lead to two and a half games while big Don Newcombe stole the spotlight as Brooklyn Dodgers blanked New York Giants, 8-0, to advance within a game and a half of the Cardinals.

Newcombe, who is making a strong bid for the rookie of the year award, limited the Giants to five hits. He ran his scoreless pitching [illegible] to 30 innings in posting his 14th victory of the season. He struck out seven men to tie Warren Spahn of Boston Braves for the league lead with 119 strikeouts.

ERRORS STARTED IT

A couple of Giant errors and singles by Carl Furillo and Jackie Robinson gave the Dodgers three runs in the first inning and started Dave Koslo on the way to his tenth defeat.

The loss dropped the Giants into fifth place behind Philadelphia Phillies, who defeated Boston Braves, 6-3.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Practically everyone who follows [illegible] Slaughter is a fine ballplayer. Every opponent [illegible] how dangerous he is at bat or in the field or traveling around the bases. I still think Slaughter is underrated.

You will hear and read much more about Ted Williams, Stan Musial and Joe DiMaggio than you'll hear or read about the Cardinal Tar Heel. Williams, Musial and DiMaggio deserve all the rousing cheers that can be hurled their way. They are all great ballplayers. But if Country Slaughter isn't a great ballplayer also, what is he?

Here is a fellow who is better than a .300 hitter but when you need him he is better than a .400 hitter. He is one of the best outfielders in baseball with a great arm. And there is no better man on the bases, as the Red Sox of 1946 will remember.

MAKES USE OF LEGS

I still have a clear cut picture of Slaughter in Spring training. He gets his legs in shape by using them a lot. Shortly after the Spring job is under way, you'll see Slaughter at bat. He'll take his share of batting practice, but after his final hit he doesn't retire to the bench. He starts out around the bases scoring at full speed.

This doesn't happen once a day. I've seen it happen five or six times through batting practice—Slaughter circling the bases from plate to plate.

It seems like an easy jaunt around the bases. But try running them at full speed several times a day. Slaughter will turn this training trip day after day through March. When the season opens his legs are ready for the long haul to October.

TOOK A CHANCE

In the 1946 series he had injured his right [illegible]. He was advised not to take a chance, to miss that final game—otherwise he might never play again.

"I'll play in the one anyway," Slaughter said. He threw out a Red Sox runner at the plate and won the game with a last desperate scramble from first to home.

Country Slaughter doesn't look for headlines. [illegible] is quiet and he keeps out of the spotlight. He is close to the shy side. You won't find a pleasanter, nicer guy in the game. And you won't find a ballplayer who'll win more games for your side, which is the main idea of the active profession. Country Slaughter was one of the stars of the series played in 1942, and 1946. He'll also be one of the stars of the 1949 series if the Cards get in it. If the Dodgers don't get in you will find one of their main obstacles has been this same Enos Country Slaughter.

HEADLINE OWNERS

This season you've [illegible] a lot once more about Williams, Musial and DiMaggio. Also Henrich, Mize, Stephens, Robinson, Dom DiMaggio, Reese, Marion and others.

Among the pitchers you've read quite a collection of words about Parnell, Raschi, Pollet, Newcombe, Reynolds, Lemon, Garcia, Hutchinson and Trucks.

But what about Ken Heint[illegible] and Ken Raffensberger of the Phillies and the Reds? It isn't quite so easy to win ball games for these two clubs as it is to win for the Yankees, Red Sox, Cardinals and Dodgers. But Heintzelman has won around 16 ball games with the Phillies and Raffensberger has won something like 14 games with the Reds.

There's a chance that Heintzelman could have made a terrific difference in the all-star game. Yet he wasn't even picked. All this Philly starter has done is to stand out as the best pitcher of the 1949 campaign so far.

STRETCH BATTLE

There's a couple of teams which also deserve more acclaim. They are the Browns and the Senators.

This battle for the Cellar Title is becoming historic. Just as one seems to have it tied up some pitcher or some hitter comes through to win a game.

I was talking with a Brown supporter. "I was dead sure the Browns had the Cellar crown already won," he said. "Then along came the Washington Senators to crowd the picture. We had already shaken the White Sox loose as they moved up. [illegible] after all we still had that fellow Dillinger and we had Gerald Priddy. And now and then Cliff Fannin or Ned Garver would bag a game. We tried to sell most of our good ones and clinch the cellar. [illegible] Washington is hard to beat these days. It's been a great race between both clubs, but I believe the Senators have at least a losing edge. They'll be tough to handle down the stretch."

Toronto Youth Captures 15-Mile Swim Laurels

TORONTO, Sept. 2 (CP)—Cliff Lumsden, 18-year-old Toronto truck driver, outlasted 47 marathoners to win the 15-mile World Swimming Championship and first-place money of $5,500 early tonight. Youngest to win the event, first started in 1927, he covered the distance in seven hours, 54 minutes and 55.6 seconds.

There were only three left at the finish.

Second-place money of $2,750 was taken by Ben Gazel of suburban Mount Dennis, who finished a good mile in the rear.

In addition to the $5,500 Lumsden won $600 awarded as a bonus for leading at each mile and for the fastest mile of the race.

VETERAN FINISHES

Nine hours after the start of the race William Sadlow, Jr., of Whitestone, N.Y.—at 47, the oldest man in the race—had finished his 14th mile and appeared certain to take third-place money of $1,000. Darkness had covered Lake Ontario waters as Sadlow made his lonely swim in the water.

[illegible] officials offered him $750 to come out but the American who placed fifth in the 1934 swim and eighth, three years later, decided to stick it out.

Sadlow, guided by searchlights, finished in 9:54:14, nearly two hours behind Lumsden. Grabbing a loud speaker, he thanked throngs gathered on the waterfront at the finish line for "waiting around."

"I finished seventh last year and I decided to do better this time," he told a cheering crowd.

It was a tough day all around as the 60-degree water forced grease-covered marathoners to the sidelines. Only 34 of the original 47 covered the first mile. This was reduced to 20 in the second, 17 in the third, 10 in the fourth and down to five at the eight-mile mark.

SIX AWARDED PRIZES

After Sadlow finished, officials announced they had given $850 in prizes to six swimmers who negotiated the longest distances before giving up. It was divided this way:

Henry C. Pierr, Brooklyn, N.Y., more than nine miles, $275; Donald Gronin, South Glens Falls, N.Y., more than [illegible] miles, $175; Alex Winick, Toronto, more than seven miles, $150; Fred Taiola, Lodi, Calif., seven miles, $125; John Jaremy, Toronto, more than 6½ miles, $75, and Charlie Grover, Boston, Mass., 6½ miles, $50.

George Duthie, director of sports at the Canadian National Exhibition, announced $2,000 was still left in the $12,900 pot and that a consolation three-mile race would be held for the non-finishers next Tuesday afternoon.

Youth Reaches Coveted Double As O.C. Cricket Schedule Ends

LONDON, Sept. 2 (Reuters)—Brian Close, 18-year-old Yorkshire all-rounder, today became the youngest player in history to complete the coveted double of 1,000 runs and 100 wickets in an English cricket season when he had scored 19 runs in Yorkshire's second innings against the M.C.C. at Scarborough.

Close is also the youngest player to represent England and the youngest to gain his Yorkshire county colors.

The series of county championship matches ended today brought the program virtually to an end. Warwickshire, which did not gain a point from a drawn match against Nottinghamshire, failed to deprive Worcestershire of third place behind [illegible] and Yorkshire, finishing with 168 points [illegible] Worcester's 172.

Tonight's score-card:

At Folkestone: Kent defeated Lancashire by 118 runs. Kent 344 and 202 for six declared. Lancashire 144 and 284.

At Worcester: Combined Services defeated Worcestershire by 44 runs. Combined Services [illegible] and 227. Worcestershire 286 and 199.

At Birmingham: Warwickshire drew with Nottinghamshire. Nottinghamshire 344 and 189 for six declared. Warwickshire 334 and 160 for four.

At Bournemouth: Hampshire drew with Essex (abandoned rain). Hampshire 370 and 139 for six. Essex 418 for eight declared.

At Scarborough: Yorkshire drew with M.C.C. Yorkshire 423 for eight declared and 2[illegible] for three declared. M.C.C. 410 for eight declared and 109 for five.

At Hove: Sussex drew with Surrey. Sussex 321 for six declared and 217 for eight declared. Surrey 281 and 1[illegible] for five.

Moreno Drives Brunshot To Narrow Stake Victory

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2 (CP)—Glenburgie Farm's Brunshot, a six-year-old Gallator gelding, drove to a neck victory over Lady Ginger to whip today's best brand of stake horses sent postward in the featured seventh race at Exhibition Park.

Jockey Henry Moreno, returning [illegible] which cost him the lead in the jockey's race, kept Brunshot behind the pace of the front-running Lady Ginger, and got the gelding up to a short margin at the wire.

Polipat was third in the seven-horse field. Brunshot, who sprinted the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5, was the public choice and paid $5.70 on the straight end.

Jockey Willie Slocum injured his arm before the start of the fifth race when his mount, Lynn Valley, threw him in the gate. The injury was not con[illegible] serious. Harry Johnson replaced Slocum and Lynn Valley finished fifth to the winning Calcium.

The favored Trace Band took the first and, coupled with 4-1 Gene S., produced a $49.40 daily double. Winiklup scored an easy two-length victory in the eighth and combined with Lahadion for a $116.90 quinella.

WAR TO THE DEATH

VANCOUVER (CP) —Chief medical health officer, Dr. Stewart Murray says Vancouver will likely always have some rats, but he's pushing a campaign to kill as many as possible. He says the only answer to the problem is complete incineration of all garbage and industrial waste in the city.

COMOX DISTRICT FALL FAIR OPENS AT COURTENAY

Photograph shows Fifth Street, main business thoroughfare at city of Courtenay, where Comox District Fall Fair will be opened this afternoon by H. J. Welch, M.L.A. Exhibition will close Monday night. J. H. Avent, manager, stated yesterday that committee had been hard pressed to find sufficient space for large number of exhibits. In addition to livestock, farm products and industrial displays there will be baseball tournament, hobby show, loggers' sports, bathing beauty contest and swimming gala

Arrow Ban Arouses Courtenay District

COURTENAY, Sept 2.—Members of the Courtenay and District Fish and Game Association are not at all happy about the Government order-in-council which prohibits use of bow and arrow in hunting game.

The club passed a resolution which called for a strong letter of protest to the Attorney-General. Members described the action as "arbitrary," in that fish and game groups in the province had not been consulted prior to the order-in-council. It was also noted that protests to the department had been ignored.

Members were also critical of the Sayward Forest closure for deer hunting, stating that the recommendations on which the closure was based had been gathered in the course of a three-day trip into the area. They felt this "investigation" was inadequate.

The club heard with regret that the Comox Logging & Railway Co. Ltd., planned to close its Wolf Lake gate to hunters this season because of fear that too great an influx would come about following the Sayward closure.

A letter of protest to the game department will call attention to the fact that the club's recommendation for a deer season opening two weeks later than usual had not been considered.

Nanaimo Jaywalker Makes Fast Retort

NANAIMO, Sept. 2.—Constable Robert Ring of the Provincial Police was checking jaywalkers in the business district. Upon stopping a jaywalker he received the following reply: "I am glad to see you doing this. I am a member of the Nanaimo Board of Trade and we have been trying to get something like this started."

Duncan Briefs

DUNCAN, Sept 2.—Alexander Walker, C.B.E., a former Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, has purchased the property of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Staines at Malahat Beach, Mill Bay. Mr. Walker was responsible for the wartime activities of the Legion. He formerly lived at Calgary. Details of the transaction were handled by David B. Keir, who served overseas with Mr. Walker during the Great War. Mr. and Mrs. Staines plan to live at Victoria for six months.

The former Admiral Nugent property on Norcross Road has been purchased from J. M. Gilroy by Dr. N. Goodbrand, who will minister to the medical needs of local Indians. Mr. Gilroy will move to property on Hospital Hill.

Pioneer Woman Dies at Duncan

Mrs. Charles G. Doering, a pioneer resident of Cowichan district, died at Duncan Thursday, five days before her 89th birthday.

Born in Scotland and educated at Sherbrooke College, England, she spent her early childhood in India, and Oregon State. In the 80's she came with her father, John Reid, to Victoria. In 1894 she married John Bannatyne Jackson of Dublin, Ireland, and settled at "Fairburn," Cowichan Station, where her two sons, Edwin Robert McCreight and John Basil, were born.

After the death of Mr. Jackson she continued to live at the family home, and later married Charles G. Doering of Vancouver and Ashcroft, who died in 1927.

RAISES FINE CATTLE

For many years Mrs. Doering was well known as a breeder of some of the finest Jersey cattle in the province. She also imported many Morgan and Kentucky horses to Hat Creek Ranch in the Cariboo. In her youth Mrs. Doering was an ardent church worker, and for some time served as secretary at St. Saviour's Church in Victoria West.

She is survived by her two sons, and three grandchildren, Barbara Hope Jackson, Cynthia Patience Granfield and Edwin Derrick Jackson.

Ayrshire Cows Gather Prizes

DUNCAN, Sept 2.—Vancouver Island Ayrshire Club members won six firsts, six seconds, four thirds and 17 other prizes at the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver. Winners included:

Reserve senior champion bull, Grandview Jaunon 5th, C. L. Alderson, Cowichan Station; reserve junior champion female, Dawsondale Clara, H. Dawson & Son, Nanoose Bay, and reserve grand champion female, Haughland Xmas, Mr. Anderson.

The club's exhibit took second prize in the district herd competition. Ayrshires were judged by A. E. McArthur, Howick, Que. Mr. and Mrs. McArthur inspected several Ayrshire herds on the Island Thursday and Friday.

Police Locate Missing Craft

NANAIMO, Sept. 2.—Arthur Newbury reported his power boat Robert E. Lee stolen on Wednesday. Sub-Inspector W. J. Thomson, Provincial Police, received word on Friday that the craft was tied up at the immigration wharf at Vancouver.

Name Chairman

QUALICUM BEACH, Sept. 2—Trustee Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, Victoria, will preside during the 45th annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees' Association in the Qualicum Beach Community Hall from September 12 to 14. Speakers will include Dr. Roy Daniels of the University of British Columbia, and Dr. Norman McKenzie, university president.

Honor Official At Cumberland

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 2.—A presentation to W. H. Cope, who has been appointed Government agent at Clinton, was made by members of the Government agency here.

A. C. Freese made the presentation of a set of pipes and a tobacco pouch, and extended the good wishes of associates.

Mr. Cope and his wife also received gifts from members of the Masonic Lodge and its sister organization. Mr. and Mrs. Cope have been active in Cumberland fraternal and social activities for years.

Vagrant Draws Year in Prison

NANAIMO, Sept. 2.—John Clayton Mutch was sentenced to serve one year at hard labor by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts in police court, when he was found guilty on a charge of indecent assault on a male. Mutch said he had recently been discharged from a Victoria hospital, and also released from Oakalla in June. He admitted serving sentences for a number of previous convictions.

He asked the court if he could not be sent to Essondale instead of jail. The court answered medical doctors would have to pronounce him insane.

Mutch was first held on a charge of vagrancy after Constable Gordon Graham discovered he had a previous record, and observed him wandering around city streets. Mutch claimed he was expecting to get a job in a nearby district where he had a relative. The relative told police he had not promised Mutch a job. The charge of vagrancy against the accused was dismissed.

Organize Club At Courtenay

A new Kiwanis Club has been formed at Courtenay, it was reported yesterday by Denis Hagar, lieutenant-governor of the Pacific Northwest district.

An organization meeting of the new Up-Island club was attended by Mr. Hagar; Charles Dakin, Nanaimo, past lieutenant-governor of the district, and several members of the Nanaimo Kiwanis Club.

Officers of the Courtenay club are: Russell Inkster, president; Richard Seale, first vice-president; Robert Cummings, second vice-president, and Horace Nelson, treasurer. Directors are Roy Fyfe, Dr. A. Christie, Sidney Donaldson, Robert Grant, Christopher Holmes, M. Brown and A. Ramsell.

All-Sooke Day Profits $3,148

SOOKE, Sept. 2—All-Sooke Day netted $3,148, Walter Conder reported at a meeting of the Sooke Community Association. Robert O. Gibson, president, expressed the gratitude of the district to J. H. Todd & Sons, Ltd., and others who had assisted.

Discussion was held on plans to improve Sooke River Flats.

Frank G. Gray presented an outline of the origin of All-Sooke Day.

F. L. Paddon suggested that the association assist Sooke churches.

Bertram Mugford reported that a larger notice board would be erected in the village.

QUALICUM BEACH, Sept. 2—J. W. McKenzie made a hole-in-one at the seventh while playing on the Qualicum Beach Golf Course.

Large Sports Meet Set For Labor Day

NANAIMO, Sept. 2.—More than 100 athletes, compared with 60 last year, are entered in the Native Sons' Labor Day sports meet here, which members believe will enjoy the largest attendance on record. An excursion train will run from Victoria.

Among Nanaimo athletes that [illegible] of Victoria, is Jack Lower, who is expected to give a fine account of himself in the mile event.

Latest entry of athletes came from a newly-formed athletic club at Mission.

A three-mile race will be introduced for the first time. Entrants include Clifford Salmon, D. Denton, John Chapel, Lyle Sandberg, R. Goden and Sidney Smith.

Hon. George S. Pearson will open the meet. Peter Maffeo will be superintendent; Jack Harrison, and A. Clark, referees; Jack Russell, chief judge; J. B. Litch, chief field judge; B. S. Abrahams, chief timekeeper; Philip Piper, starter; Jack Preer, announcer; S. Hawthornwaite, chief clerk of the course; P. Foster, clerk of the course; Cec. [illegible] Swan and Henry Deifel, registrars and recorders, and Austen Wright, surveyor.

Court Imposes Heavy Penalty

CAMPBELL RIVER, Sept. 2.—Edward Richards was fined $100 in Campbell River police court by Magistrate R. L. Haig-Brown for creating a disturbance in a beer parlor at Campbellton. In default of payment he was ordered to serve 30 days in prison.

Shoots Cougar

CHEMAINUS, Sept. 2.—Henry Helman heard a noise in the woods on Thursday night and noticed that his cougar hounds seemed restless. He loaded his rifle, unleashed the dogs and tracked a cougar to Swallowfield Farm. A single shot ended the career of the marauder.

Officer Leaves

COURTENAY, Sept 2.—Constable Malcolm Matheson, Provincial Police, who has been transferred to Sooke was honored by fellow officers when he was presented with a brief case. Sub-Inspector Thomson of the Nanaimo detachment extended the good wishes of Constable Matheson's associates in his new position.

Your Health and Your Weight

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

NEEDED IN GLAND OVERWEIGHT

I have spoken before of the various types and shapes of men and women seen at the seashore.

There is the very fat individual where excess fat is on all parts of the body. We naturally think of his or her overweight as being caused by lack of thyroid extract in the blood. In many of these "billowy" individuals the use of thyroid extract daily gradually reduces weight, but no overweight—or one of normal weight—should be given thyroid extract unless a metabolism test shows that the thyroid gland in the neck is not manufacturing enough thyroid extract.

Giving thyroid extract where sufficient thyroid extract is being manufactured is dangerous as excess thyroid extract increases the heart rate and raises the blood pressure in the blood vessels, which may cause a heart stroke or a brain stroke.

Where the excess fat is across the shoulders, upper arms, chest, abdomen, hips and thighs with no excess fat on upper arms or upper legs, it is usually due to lack of juice from the front part of the pituitary gland lying on the floor of the skull. While there is not an accurate method of measuring the amount of this juice being manufactured, physicians inject small quantities of this extract and watch its effect. Too much of this extract, used to reduce weight, could cause a serious change in the appearance of the overweight particularly an overweight woman.

Other types of gland overweight are caused by underactivity of the adrenal glands, one above each kidney, and also of the sex glands.

That depending upon gland extracts to reduce weight is a mistake in the great majority of cases, is stated by Dr. M. M. Kunde in "Annals of Internal Medicine." Overweight may result from glandular dysfunction, but only when lack of thyroid juice is part of the disturbance is hormone gland treatment helpful. Obesity (overweight) from all other causes requires a high protein diet (meat, fish, fowl), low fat and low starch diet.

Dr. Kunde suggests that there should be double the usual serving of meat, fish, or fowl with all fat removed and an egg eaten twice daily. Uncreamed cottage cheese and gelatin are permitted. Vegetables may include cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, kraut, spinach, celery, asparagus, string beans, onions, radishes, lettuce and other greens, cucumbers, mushrooms, summer squash, tomatoes, rhubarb, okra and egg plant.

Grapefruit, strawberries, cranberries, lemon juice and saccharine are allowed but no sugar.

From 30 to 40 grains of calcium lactate, 600 to 1,000 U.S.P. units of vitamin D, and 12 to 15 plain brewer's yeast 7½ grain tablets are taken daily.

As we study the above list of foods to eat and realize the amount of acid foods (meat, fish, fowl) eaten, we see the logic of taking the calcium lactate daily. This not only helps to overcome the amount of acid food eaten but also supplies the extra calcium needed as every cell in the body needs calcium just as much as it needs iron supplied by meat, fish and fowl.

Body shape or configuration of 70 individuals observed by Dr. Kunde, Northwestern University, Chicago, corresponds to all types of so-called endocrine gland obesity. Ages varied from 34 months to 55 years. "A craving for starch foods was generally present." Under a strict diet, practically all members of the group lost weight—in some cases between 100 and 117 pounds.

Men Threaten To Occupy Canada House

LONDON, Sept 2 (CP).—Canadian seamen today presented an ultimatum to Canada House, threatening a sitdown strike if they are not granted repatriation by next Tuesday."

The demand was addressed to Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner in London. The men picketed Canada House this week, demanding an audience with Wilgress to present their grievances but the High Commissioner is in Scotland.

CLAIM OF MEN

The group of seamen who appeared today claimed to represent 70 Canadians who did not rejoin their ships when the vessels sailed at the end of the London port tie-up. They contended the shipping companies are obligated to repatriate them to Canada under terms of The Canada Shipping Act.

Andrew Brogan of Vancouver, 48-year-old galley "boy," led the deputation to the High Commissioner's secretary. He left this message:

"If repatriation is not granted by noon next Tuesday, we will remain at Canada House."

Chiefs to Stop In Edmonton

EDMONTON, Sept 2 (CP).—The United States joint chiefs of staff will make a one-hour stop-off in Edmonton Tuesday morning en route to Alaska where they will inspect United States defence, R.C.A.F. Northwest Air Command announced today.

The party will include Gen. Omar Bradley, Gen. Hoyt Vandenburg of the United States Air Force, Gen. Lawton Collins of the Army, and Vice-Admiral Arthur D. Struble, deputy chief of naval operations.

VAUGHAN ENDS CAREER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2 (AP).—Floyd "Arky" Vaughan, former National League batting leader, retired from baseball today for the season—and possibly for good. The 38-year-old Vaughan was playing with San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League.

Doctors Warn of Harm From X-Ray Shoe Fitter

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (AP).—When a customer sticks his feet into a shoe store X-ray machine for a fitting, according to two Harvard doctors, he may be stepping into trouble.

Uncontrolled radiation from the gadget could well interfere with the normal development of a child's feet, they reported today in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The two are Dr. L. H. Hempelmann, special assistant to the director of the Atomic Energy Commission's division of biology and medicine and a research associate at Harvard Medical School, and Charles R. Williams, assistant professor of industrial hygiene at the Harvard School of Public Health.

Already there have been cases reported of children whose feet have stopped growing because of excessive exposure to the shoe store machine, Dr. Hempelmann said.

Unless these X-ray machines are necessary for the proper fitting of shoes, their use should be abandoned entirely, the journal recommended.

In New York, users of the machines denied they are dangerous for customers, but said protective devices are needed to keep shoe store clerks from being over-exposed to the rays.

Asks Costello Be Questioned

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (INS).—A Senate "Five Per Cent" investigator demanded today that Frank Costello be questioned to determine if he is connected with Washington influence peddling and especially whether he ever gave money to Maj.-Gen. Harry Vaughan.

Costello is described in the record [illegible] committee as a "New York gangster."

Montreal Stocks

MONTREAL, Sept. 2 (CP).—There was a stronger feeling near the final hour on the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market. Mines were firmer, although several issues lost heavily. Industrial sales were slow, but mining business went ahead of a sharp pace.

Passenger Death Rate For Planes Shows Drop

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP).—The aircraft passenger death rate has tumbled from 26.6 in 1930 to 1.3 in 1948 for every million passenger-miles flown.

These figures were offered by [illegible] safety assistant of Trans-Canada Air Lines, Winnipeg, as proof that improvements in training techniques and in aircraft design and performance generally along with innumerable safety devices have greatly reduced the number of accidents in the last two decades.

He was speaking at the 41st annual convention of Dominion fire chiefs on the subject of crash fires.

PILOT ERROR

Pilot error still remains the major cause of accidents. In 1948 60 per cent of all accidents in Canada were attributed to poor judgment, poor technique, inexperience and carelessness on the part of pilots.

The percentage pilot error was not high in view that it represented all types of flying in Canada including students, private and unscheduled operations as well as the scheduled air line operators.

The accident rate in the case of scheduled air line operators was much lower due to the stringent qualifications necessary to obtain and hold an air line transport pilot's licence.

It was hoped that engineering and research in fuels will have eliminated the crash fire as a serious threat to human life and property before the danger of airfields in close proximity to built-up areas arises to the high point it has in the United States.

B.C. Amateur Divoters Led By Mawhinney

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2 (CP).—Long-driving Bill Mawhinney, stylish Vancouver Quilchena golf star, shot a sizzling 68 on his home course today to lead the first 18-hole qualifying round of the British Columbia amateur championships.

Mawhinney was three under par touring the outgoing nine holes in 32 and coming back with a 36.

Two strokes behind the tall Vancouver star was Seattle's Oscar Sund who clipped one stroke off par with a sparkling 70.

Mawhinney's clubmate, Jimmy Robertson of Vancouver, had a great chance to tie Sund for second place. Robertson was one under par on the 16th hole. Par golf over the remaining three holes would give him a tie.

The 92 starters swing into the second 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round tomorrow.

Modern Science Boon To Fishing Industry

Marine News

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Sept. 2 (CP).—Sails and oars have been almost completely ousted from the fishing industry by Diesel engines, radar, echo device, radio-telephone and aircraft.

The full effect of the new devices on the fishing industry is yet to be felt, said Dr. J. L. Hart, chief biologist of the Pacific Biological Station at Nanaimo, B.C.

He noted the technological advances in fishing methods in a paper today before fishing experts at the United Nations Scientific Conference on the conservation and utilization of resources.

Highest on the list of recent improvements he placed the high-speed Diesel engine which gives small vessels the advantages of safe fluid fuel and ample hold and living space.

Small vessels also gained a greater feeling of security in offshore fishing through use of the radio-telephone, which also was used effectively in rounding up fishing boats whenever a large school of fish was found.

The echo-sounder served a dual purpose, he said. A safety device it tells when the water is getting too shallow and has been used in detecting schools of cod.

Radar also increased fishing efficiency by saving navigation time. This use would expand with increasing numbers of radar stations along coasts.

Hart noted that aircraft played a two-fold role in the fishing industry: They freight fish from isolated lakes of Northern Canada and scout for tuna, whales, sardines and sharks.

CATCHING PINKS

The first large-scale venture in the catching of pink salmon at the mouth of the Strait of Juan de Fuca by Canadian fishermen is now well under way.

Gordon Barrie, local representative for the Federal Department of Fisheries, said yesterday there are at least 60 British Columbia vessels in the area and they are all making "fair" catches. There are also about 50 American seiners there.

Practically all the fish are being taken directly to canneries at Steveston and Vancouver by packers.

There was also a large fishing fleet operating in Johnstone Strait, in the Alert Bay area.

READY FOR REGATTA

At least 25 vessels of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club will take part in the annual Cowichan Bay regatta to be held tomorrow. They will include lightnings, stars, comets, auxiliary cruisers and power boats.

Maple Bay and Genoa Bay will be the official registration points for [illegible] the regatta, and vessels will rendezvous at these points tonight. Vessels from all over the British Columbia coastline and the Puget Sound area are expected to be present.

Feature race on the Sunday program will be that of auxiliary cruisers competing for the Sir Thomas Lipton perpetual trophy. This award put up annually by the Royal Victoria Yacht Club is now held by George Miller, of the Corinthian Yacht Club of Seattle.

Vessels of the Victoria yachting fraternity taking part in tomorrow's regatta will be headed by Commodore Dr. R. J. Wride's trim Cherie.

It was all part of the efficiency survey of the civic administration ordered by City Council and conducted by Stevenson & Kellogg, management engineers.

239 Men Fight Kamloops Fires

A total of 239 men are battling 14 forest fires in the Kamloops forest district, the British Columbia Forest Service reported yesterday.

Worst fire is at Jowet on the Kettle Valley railway where a blaze has been raging unchecked since the first of the week. Forestry officials said 150 men are now fighting the blaze and changing wind conditions give hope that it will be brought under control.

Elsewhere in the province there was little change in the number of fires. No new blazes were reported in the Vancouver forest district.

The hazard is high in the Nelson district however, the service warned and thunderstorms may make the situation critical.

Saanich, Oak Bay Report Added Building Activity

Building activity in Esquimalt lessened last month but was still on the increase in Saanich and Oak Bay.

During August the Esquimalt building department issued 22 permits for construction valued at $61,950, ten of the permits being for dwellings costing $60,500. In August 1948, 22 permits were issued for building worth $6[illegible].

To date this year there has been $501,256 worth of construction on 156 permits compared with [illegible] permits for $572,660 worth of building in the same period last year.

UP IN AUGUST

Saanich building figures were up again last month when 49 new houses were built at a cost of $198,050. Total permits applied for numbered 128 for construction costing $249,050. In August last year total permits amounted to 121 for building worth $288,080.

To date this year there have been 779 permits issued for construction costing $1,981,067, of which there were 385 for house construction costing $1,728,700. The same number of houses were built last year at a cost of $1,722,05[illegible].

Twenty-two permits were issued by the Oak Bay building department for construction valued at $152,967 last month. Of this number, [illegible] were for dwellings costing $67,500. A permit also was issued for construction on Oak Bay Avenue at Yale Street of a $78,[illegible] apartment building. Total construction in the same [illegible] of 1948 was worth $[illegible].

So far this year 109 new houses have been built in Oak Bay and the total value is $870,395. Total value of all building from January to August is $1,110,976 compared with $863,501 for the same period last year.

Total for the first seven months of 1949 now stands at 1,688 transactions involving $10,372,[illegible]. Total for the corresponding period of 1948 were 1,520 transactions involving $12,13[illegible],300.

Loading Zones For Truckers Asked of City

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce this week asked the City Council to establish permanent loading zones for light delivery trucks on the west side of Broad Street between Fort and Broughton Street, and on View Street adjacent to the Y.M.C.A.

George Warren, managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated in a letter to Council that a member of his board of directors had reported that business concerns operating trucks downtown are constantly receiving complaints from their drivers about the impossibility of finding parking space.

Mr. Warren said that if loading zones were established under a 15-minute parking limit, considerable loss of time would be avoided by truck drivers trying to find a place [illegible] of [illegible] parking and allow ample time for the salesman to deliver his merchandise in the area named.

Board Decision Planned Soon On Rail Rates

Judgment Will Be Handed Down During Month on Freight Case

By TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The Board of Transport Commissioners will hand down its long-awaited judgment on the 20 per cent freight rates case in the latter part of the week ending September 17, and if not, then during the following week.

This information is given as a "definite statement" by members of the board tonight. Argument on the application of the railways was heard by the chief commissioner, Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald, and his colleagues on the tribunal, off and on between January 11 and April 5. Judge Archibald returned from his native Nova Scotia today. He had been working on the judgment.

FILED YEAR AGO

The request of the railways for a further 20 per cent boost in general rates—over and above the 21 per cent increase which was granted by the old board on March 30, 1948—was filed about a year ago. Their case was based mainly upon the impact upon their expenses of the 17-cents-an-hour wage increase which staved off a nation-wide railway strike in July last year. The railways also pleaded an additional burden from the advancing costs of material.

British Columbia, the Prairie Provinces and the Maritime Provinces strongly opposed the railways' claim, arguing that the 21 per cent freight rates increase of March, 1948, which the provinces had submitted the railways were not entitled to at the time as excessive and unjustified, amply took care of the higher expenses which had occurred since that time.

Meanwhile, there is a hiatus for a couple of weeks until after the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor hold their annual conventions this month. In current negotiations between the railways and unions representing some 14,000 employees for a further wage increase, 15 A.F.L. international railway unions are asking for a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay as they would receive for a 48-hour week, plus a wage increase of seven cents an hour. Leading members of these unions will be attending the T.L.C. convention opening in Calgary on September 15.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers, affiliated with the C.C.L., has a separate demand, but it means close to the same thing.

Proposals Give No Hint Of Quick Aid to Britain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP).—For grim months to come, Britain apparently must rely on her dwindling resources to cope with the dollar crisis.

Officials noted this today in measures of possible American aid reported ready to be submitted at the forthcoming top level American-British-Canadian financial conference—they are almost entirely long range in effect.

The meetings have nothing to do with continuing Marshall Plan assistance.

BASIS OF AGENDA

The relief proposals were worked out in a week-long preliminary survey by economic experts of the three countries which ended here yesterday. These suggestions are being sent to London and Ottawa this week-end. They will form the basis of the agenda for the main conference opening here Wednesday.

This will bring together the highest Cabinet officials of the United States, Britain and Canada in a search for means to cope with the emergency which has clouded postwar recovery prospects for the entire Western world.

Several score experts who made the preliminary study failed to come up with any general solution, it was made plain by officials with first hand information.

The experts worked out a detailed series of recommendations for consideration of Britain's Ernest Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps; United States Secretaries Acheson and Snyder, and Canada's Lester B. Pearson and Douglas Abbott.

Included are reported to be proposals to lower American customs barriers and ease import restrictions, speed American stockpile purchases from sterling area sources, expand British exports and cut back British imports from the United States, and to grant new loans to India and possibly other Commonwealth.

REQUIRE MONTHS

But officials noted virtually all these would require months to have any telling effect on the dollar shortage.

The general conclusion was that for the immediate future, it will be up to Britain herself to cut down probably even further on imports which must be paid for in dollars while doing all possible to step up exports which earn dollars.

Early Start Anticipated In Loggers' Strike Vote

A government-supervised strike ballot among 32,000 coastal British Columbia lumber workers represented by the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) will likely commence early this week.

Union heads have asked that the vote be completed by next Saturday.

Officials of the B.C. Labor Relations Board have said that they hope that the task will be finished by that time.

The vote, involving employees of some 200 operations throughout the coastal logging region, will be the largest government-supervised one since the supervisory provision was incorporated into British Columbia labor legislation.

9,000 ON ISLAND

If there is a strike, it will involve some 9,000 Vancouver Island I.W.A. members.

However, if the loggers vote to walk out, it is thought likely that the Labor Relations Board will make some last-minute attempt to bring the operators and union together again in talks.

Negotiations between the I.W.A. policy committee and Forest Industrial Relations, employers' representatives, ended two weeks ago with the announcement by the board of a majority conciliation report, rejecting all major union demands.

No Daily Colonist Tuesday Morning

THE Colonist staff will observe the Labor Day holiday tomorrow and consequently there will be no paper Tuesday morning. The next regular edition will appear Wednesday with full coverage of world and local news and special holiday events.

Joe De Bona, left, Hollywood real estate dealer who flies for fun, is shown leaning from his plane yesterday to greet actor James Stewart and Mrs. Stewart after winning the Bendix cross-country race for propeller planes. De Bona's victory in the race from Rosamond Dry Lake, Calif., to Cleveland was achieved with an average speed of 470.1 miles an hour. Stewart was one of the flyer's backers. See story on Page 2.

BULLETINS

148 Killed

By The Associated Press

The United States toll of accident deaths climbed to 148 by the end of the first full day of the three-day Labor Day week-end.

Since 6 p.m. Friday, 127 persons had been killed in highway mishaps by Saturday midnight. Eleven persons drowned and ten others died from various accidental causes related to the holiday.

Carrier Arrives

HONGKONG, Sept. 3 (INS).—The British aircraft carrier Triumph steamed into Hongkong to strengthen the British Crown colony against a possible attack by Chinese Communists.

The British Hongkong defences have been steadily strengthened since the fall of Shanghai.

Two New Typhoons Head Toward Japan

TOKIO, Sept. 4 (Sunday) (INS).—A new typhoon, accompanied by howling 100 to 110 mile-per-hour winds, following in the wake of a lesser 70-mile-per-hour gale, swept onward today toward battered Japan.

Japan was struck by two volcanic eruptions within two days on Friday and Saturday as the main island of Honshu sought to dig itself out from a devastating typhoon that hit in mid-week.

The United States Air Force reported that the typhoon "Lise", was located 400 miles southwest of Iwo Jima at 4 a.m. Sunday. It is not expected to reach Tokio before Tuesday.

The smaller new typhoon, "Madeline", is now 600 miles southwest of Tokio. It is, however, expected to pass east of the Japanese capital.

The volcanic explosions, which caused minor damage, came without warning.

A terrific roar accompanied the eruption of Mount Asama, north of Tokio. A stream of lava poured down the side of the 8,000-foot peak.

Although the volcano is not far from the Summer resort of Karuizawa, popular with American servicemen and Japanese alike, there were no reports of casualties although some damage was reported. Additional and possibly heavy damage was anticipated later when the ash settles on Japan's vital crops.

Japanese newspapers told of a "Hiroshima atom-like cloud" that mushroomed out of the crater, and said that inns and restaurants near the rim were buried under hot ash.

Only yesterday 4,000-foot Yakeyama, further North, erupted for the first time in 60 years.

The volcanic eruptions came in the wake of a mid-week storm that left at least 111 dead, 49 missing and 449 injured in Japan.

Week-End Expected To Be Clear

The weatherman has given his blessing to Labor Day week-end celebrations Sunday and Monday.

He handed out a "clear" Victoria and Island forecast for today, and added that the outlook for Monday is even more sunshine.

"A wide band of settled weather" lying off the coast from Southern Alaska to California is expected to make things easy for holiday-makers enjoying the last long week-end of Summer.

Meanwhile, boat and aircraft reservations between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle are jammed, and hotels are ready for a super-busy week-end.

End of holidays is expected to give a flip to holiday travel as parents accompany their children in observing the funeral services for Summertime fun.

See List of Events for week-end on Page Three.

Victorian Chosen to Go To Kashmir as Adviser

A Victoria man is on his way to troubled Kashmir to act as assistant to the military adviser on the United Nations commission investigating rival India-Pakistan claims to sovereignty over the former princely state.

MAJOR H. S. C. ARCHBOLD

It was unofficially reported that Major H. S. C. Archbold, Canadian Scottish Regiment, was leaving today for Srinagar, Kashmir's capital. He is one of three British Columbians appointed to assist Lt.-Col. Harry Angle, Kelowna, military adviser to the commission.

Head of the United Nations Commission is United States Admiral Chester Nimitz. Canada was assigned the task of providing military advisers.

Major Archbold, a graduate of the universities of Toronto and Alberta, obtained his discharge from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police early in the World War and joined the Canadian Scottish.

Commissioned from the ranks in March, 1941, he attended the first officers' training corps school at Gordon Head.

APPOINTED TO STAFF

Following appointments in the Second Battalion, Canadian Scottish at Brigade and Pacific Command headquarters, he took the War Intelligence Staff Course at Royal Military College, Kingston, and was appointed to the directing staff of the staff college.

He went overseas early in 1943 to join the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish. Soon afterwards he was appointed to an intelligence planning post on the general staff at headquarters, First Canadian Army.

Subsequently he was appointed to general staff intelligence at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, to planning posts at the War Office and S.H.A.E.F.

In January, 1944, he was appointed General Staff Officer in charge of Intelligence at headquarters, Second Infantry Division. He served through the Northwest Europe campaign with that formation.

RECEIVED MENTION

Major Archbold was mentioned in despatches during the fighting south of Caen.

He attended Imperial Staff College at Camberley, then returned to First Canadian Corps Headquarters in Holland.

After his return to Canada in 1945, he remained in the active army until the reorganization of the Canadian Scottish into the reserve army in 1946. At that time he was appointed to command support company.

In March, 1948, he was promoted to the rank of major.

Result of Autopsy May End Mystery

City Girl Drowned In Lake

Results of an autopsy being performed on the body of 18-year-old Roberta A. Smith, 3163 Gamma Street, which was found floating in Thetis Lake yesterday morning, may solve the mystery of the tragedy.

British Columbia Police officials co-operating with [illegible] investigators [illegible] believe that there was [illegible] evidence that the girl met with foul play.

It is expected the autopsy may throw a lot of light on the mysterious drowning of the [illegible] telephone operator whose body was found at 7.15 a.m. yesterday by three crew members of H.M.C.S. Cayuga who were fishing in the area. They were J. G. R. [illegible], 330 Richmond Avenue, a chief gunnery instructor; Chief Stoker William Pierce, 165 [illegible] Avenue, and Petty Officer Reginald Rimmer, Rock Bay Avenue.

AWAIT STATEMENTS

Although police have found persons who saw the girl after she left home they declined to release details until formal statements had been taken from these witnesses. They also believe that some person or persons have information about the case but are not coming forward. There have been conflicting reports about whether or not the girl could swim.

Miss Smith left her home about 3 p.m. Friday to report for work at 5 p.m. but didn't show up, police said. She was wearing a suit but when found floating in the lake she had slacks on. Her skirt was found wrapped in a towel on the shore.

BROKEN TEETH, CUT

A black purse was around the girl's neck and she was wearing white shoes and a grey jacket matching the skirt. She had one or two broken lower teeth and a small cut under one eye.

The girl's family doesn't know why she was at Thetis Lake at all and could not say if she had gone there alone or with someone. There is a possibility that the girl was climbing the rocks around the lake, slipped and fell into the water. The broken teeth and cut eye indicate this could have happened. Police do not believe she was criminally attacked.

Inspector Robert Owens and Sgt. O. J. [illegible] and Sgt. [illegible] are in charge of the investigation.

An inquest will be set next week.

PICTURES MAY HELP

Police found nearly 100 pictures in a wallet found on the girl. The pictures were mostly of girl friends and boy friends. There were many pictures of sailors which may aid police in their investigation.

Police have asked anyone who saw the girl on Friday to report to them immediately because every scrap of information will be valuable.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith, four brothers, Elwood, Meridam, Martin and Glenn, and one sister, Elaine. The body was taken to McCall Bros.' Funeral Chapel but is now at Sands Mortuary.

ROBERTA SMITH

Economic Union Sought By European Assembly

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 3 (AP).—Europe's Consultative Assembly today called for a European economic union and made plans to seek United States aid in its creation.

The union would have a free money market and a single preferential trading system embracing European colonies and empires, and perhaps a single postage stamp.

The assembly of 101 delegates from 12 nations voted overwhelmingly by a show of hands to call upon the Ministerial Committee, the Upper House of the Council of Europe, to prepare such a program for economic union. The Ministerial Committee is to meet here next month to consider the recommendation.

TO SEND DELEGATION

Plans are afoot to send a delegation headed by Assembly President Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium to Washington while the British-American dollar talks are in progress. The delegation's job would be to request tariff cuts and to facilitate treaty changes such as the United States' "most favored nation" trade agreements.

In effect, the proposed economic union would extend Britain's preferential trading system by which trade with her Empire and colonies receive favored treatment in tariff rates to the French, Dutch and Belgian Empires and eventually to the other European members of the council: Ireland, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Luxembourg, Greece and Turkey.

Such a union would run counter to the "most favored nation" treaties these nations now have with the United States. Washington's permission would be necessary before one member could give its neighbors better trading rights than Americans now enjoy.

Britain's Socialists moved in favor of a free money market when assured this would not involve removing control of European currencies in their relation to the dollar.

Balkans Viewed As Trouble Spot

IF WAR COMES

Is war between Russia and the West inevitable? If war should come, where and how is it likely to start? Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service, tells herewith the answers Western leaders give to these and similar questions. This completes his series of six articles on "If War Comes."

PARIS, Sept. 3 (INS).—Many European statesmen think that if world war comes again it is most likely to start in the Balkans.

They do not, however, consider such a catastrophe imminent, nor do they consider it likely in the foreseeable future unless the Soviet regime should deliberately decide to risk military action to settle the great power politics struggle between East and West.

Nevertheless, the possibility of an outbreak of war in the Balkans which might lead to a world conflict is not being overlooked by the Western European chancellories.

CHIEF DANGER

In fact, this traditional trouble spot of Europe is viewed as the chief danger to peace at the present time.

This is due to the intensification by Russia and the Soviet Satellite States of powerful pressure against the Yugoslavian regime of Marshal Tito, whose defiance of the Kremlin marks one of the most momentous political developments in Europe since the end of the World War.

The Soviet-sponsored war of nerves against Tito is in full swing.

Workmen Busy on New Government Building

—Colonist Photo.

Workmen are busy changing landscape at Elliot and Government Streets, site of Provincial Government's new $2,000,000 office building. Four-story, fireproof, reinforced concrete structure, it is scheduled for completion 18 months from now. Plans call for tunnel to connect new building with main Legislative Buildings across Government Street.

Balkans Seen as Starting Point If Russia Launches New War

Western European diplomats are not quite certain what the Kremlin is up to.

There is, of course, no doubt that Russia is trying to liquidate Tito. What worries the Western statesmen at present is the extent to which the Soviets are prepared to go to do so.

Russia has tried in vain for more than a year now to bring about Tito's downfall internally. A few months ago Western diplomatic advices from behind the Iron Curtain referred to rumors that the Kremlin had issued instructions for the liquidation of Tito before the end of this year, even at the risk of war with Yugoslavia.

NEW RUMORS

These rumors have been followed by others concerning Soviet troop concentrations in Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. Tito himself referred to these rumors recently, asserting that they were intended merely to "intimidate" Yugoslavia. He added, nevertheless, that "We are prepared to prevent all provocation and to defend our country against everyone."

Ever since it became apparent that the break between Tito and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin was final, Western diplomats have felt that Russia would not precipitate war with the Western powers, or southern satellite flank remained exposed by the Yugoslavian split.

These diplomats remain convinced that if Russia was contemplating war with the Western powers, or seriously feared the danger of it, the Soviets would resort to measures to replace Tito with a puppet regime in order to close that exposed Yugoslavian flank.

SEEN AS PRELUDE

Thus, the diplomats think that if Russia started a military conflict with Yugoslavia, it might possibly be the prelude to another World War.

It is also feared that if the neighboring Soviet satellites picked a fight with Yugoslavia, Greece might easily become involved. With the Western Powers, and especially the United States, committed to the defence of Greece, the conflict could set up a chain reaction that might eventually lead to a major war between East and West.

Even if the Kremlin should decide to risk war to try to liquidate Tito, it is doubted that the Red Army would actually invade Yugoslavia at the beginning of the conflict.

Western diplomats are inclined to believe that the armed forces of the Soviet puppet states, such as Albania, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary, would act first, probably supported by some Red Army troops disguised in satellite uniforms.

MIGHT FINISH JOB

Should military intervention by these forces fail to bring about the quick collapse of Tito's regime, then it is considered possible that the regular Red Army and air force might move in to finish the job.

Tito is believed to have one of the best armies of the smaller powers in Europe. According to the international committee for the study of European problems, he has 57 divisions formed into six armies with a total strength of about 600,000 men. With the addition of the militia and auxiliary troops, his armed manpower numbers nearly one million men.

However, he has a very weak air force and his army lacks heavy armaments.

Western military experts think he probably could hold out against the satellite states, but that he would be quickly overwhelmed if the Red Army and air force launched an all-out offensive against him.

If fighting in Yugoslavia became the prelude to a major conflict between East and West, it would be the second time in [illegible] a major war had started in that turbulent country. It was the assassination of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand in Sarajevo on June 25, 1914, which precipitated the Great War.

DIRECT ONSLAUGHT

If Russia should suddenly decide on war to prevent the restoration of the balance of military power in the West, then it is believed the conflict would start by a direct assault against the Atlantic Pact nations rather than by any side show in the Balkans.

The direct onslaught, in the opinion of Western military strategists would probably take the form of sneak aerial attacks against atom bomb plants and industrial targets in the United States while the Soviet armies started a sweep across the European continent.

It is believed that unless Russia folded up quickly under the impact of the atom bomb, the Western powers would find themselves battling for survival against a world revolutionary movement with Asia in the hands of the Communists and most, if not all, of Europe occupied by the Red Army.

QUICKLY LIQUIDATED

French political leaders are convinced that the intellectual strata of Western European society would be quickly liquidated once the Soviet armies moved the Iron Curtain to the English Channel.

It is generally assumed that the Atlantic Pact nations would eventually defeat Russia militarily. However, there are many European political observers who fear that the cost of victory in terms of the drain on Western economy and in the destruction of what is left of European civilization might mean the end of the American and Western way of life.

That is why the French particularly feel that the great task confronting Western statesmanship today is to win this historic political struggle with Russia by measures short of war.

The objective, in French opinion, must be to persuade the Soviet leadership to change its foreign policy and abandon the idea of world Communist domination.

There is a growing belief among some Western European political leaders generally that unless this can be done, war between East and West is inevitable.

Bolivians See Sure Victory

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 3 (AP).—Bolivia's general staff predicted [illegible] revolution.

The general staff said it had a [illegible] La Paz [illegible] the Andes [illegible] been taken today from the rebels.

Fifteen hundred Government troops were reported marching on Sucre, [illegible] the Andes some 250 miles southeast of La Paz and nearest to the capital of the remaining rebel stronghold.

British Air Giant Takes Taxiing Test

BRISTOL, England, Sept. 3 (AP).—The 130-ton Brabazon I, biggest airliner in the world, moved under its own power for the first time today—in a series of taxiing runs.

Test Pilot Bill Pegg guided the monster up and down a mile and a half of runway at ten miles an hour five times while a team of nine technicians studied its 1,000-instrument dials.

The Brabazon has a wing-span of 230 feet, a fuselage length of 177, and a rudder which towers 50 feet from the ground. It will never go into commercial service, but a new Brabazon II, of which it is the prototype, is expected to carry 100 passengers nonstop from London to New York.

The Brabazon II is designed to fly 350 miles an hour at 35,000 feet. It will have sleeping berths, a large dining-room, lounges, a cocktail bar and a movie theatre.

Record-Smashing Marks Air Races at Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP).—Husky Joe De Bona streaked home first in the Bendix cross-country dash today to highlight a National Air Races program given entirely to record-smashing.

De Bona's victory in the 13th running of the 2,000-mile push from Rosamond Dry Lake, Cal., was made with an average speed of 470.1 miles an hour. The record of 447.9 m.p.h. was set by Paul Mantz last year.

Bill Odom, who likes oceans and continents for his records, hung one up in his first try at closed-course racing today by winning the Sohio Trophy at an average of 388.3 m.p.h. He exceeded [illegible] set in 1947 by 28 miles an hour.

Odom has another big race ahead of him—the Thompson 225-mile event on Labor Day for $40,000 in prizes.

De Bona, who was forced down by fuel shortage last year and finished just over a minute behind Paul Mantz in 1947, said he was finished with racing.

Those two performances topped a day in which every speed record open to assault took a lacing.

FASTEST OF DAY

The fastest speed of the day was the 529.6 miles an hour averaged by Major Vernon A. Ford of the Air Force, flying a Republic F-84 Thunderjet single engine fighter.

He led a small field of Thunderjets from Muroc, Cal., air base with a stop at Salina, Kas., to refuel. His elapsed time was three hours, 4 minutes, 51 seconds for the 1,993-mile trip.

Pope Assails Polish Action

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 3 (AP).—Pope Pius XII today accused Poland of violating religious rights.

He condemned the activities of Warsaw's Communist government and urged Poland's 20,000,000 Catholics to defend Christ and the Church with all their might.

In a letter to Polish bishops dated September 1, the pontiff charged that in Poland "virtually all Catholic associations have been suppressed, religious teaching in the schools has been impeded, the free growth of religious or clerical institutes has been forbidden . . ."

The letter, sent on the tenth anniversary of the Nazi invasion of Poland, was addressed to Adam Stefan Cardinal Sapieha, Archbishop of Krakow, and to all Polish bishops. It was published today in Il Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper.

Maj.-Gen. Short, Blamed After Jap Attack, Dies

DALLAS, Sept. 3 (AP). — Major General Walter C. Short, 69, who was stripped of his command after the Japanese smashed unwary Pearl Harbor, died tonight.

Dr. John Chapman, his physician, said Short died of chronic heart disease.

"He died very quietly," Dr. Chapman said. "He was in a stupor."

At his bedside with the doctor were Short's wife and his only child, Major Walter Dean Short.

The Japanese attack on December 7, 1941, ended General Short's 40-year army career. A few days after the bombing raid he was relieved of his command.

Within a few weeks he retired at his permanent rank of major general.

In early 1942, a Presidential board of inquiry labeled Short and Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, Pearl Harbor navy commander, "derelict of duty." Kimmel also was relieved and retired.

NOT DERELICT

[illegible] Congressional investigating committee reported Short and Kimmel were guilty of nothing worse than errors in judgment. It said they were not "derelict."

Young Short said his father had been ill several months. "He took a turn for the worse today," he said.

Short always contended he was not to blame for the Pearl Harbor disaster.

He told the Congressional investigating committee in 1946 that Washington had not supplied him with information from an intercepted Japanese message.

Every Citizen Traffic Policeman Under Plan Proposed in Letter

Every citizen will be a "traffic policeman" if the [illegible] advanced recently by a local resident is ever put into effect.

Inspired by the current Greater Victoria Traffic and Safety Council safety campaign, [illegible] was R. W. Porter, 723 [illegible] Street, wrote yesterday [illegible] and the council endorsing the campaign in principle.

But he also suggests that it could be improved upon.

Mr. Porter wants a stronger attack made upon the [illegible] and the [illegible] driver, according to his letter.

"POLICE ITSELF"

"Police patrolmen cannot be everywhere at once," he remarks. "I suggest that the public [illegible] police itself . . ."

Here's how the [illegible] would work out, Mr. Porter [illegible]:

The individual citizen witnessing a traffic law infraction would report the offence along with such data as licence number, time and place of the incident, to the safety council by letter.

He would do this reporting on a self addressed postage prepaid form made available at service stations and financed out of the $1 now being charged by the council for its membership pledges.

OFFENDER INFORMED

The council would, in turn, inform the offender that he had been observed breaking the law.

"The council couldn't prosecute, of course."

But Mr. Porter thinks that the reports could be made available to law enforcement officers if and when the careless driver was arrested at some subsequent date in his reckless lifetime.

At which time he infers a driver with half a dozen bad report cards might be viewed in a very dim light by the court.

Appeal Ruling September 12

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (CP). An appeal has been launched by the [illegible] against a police court judgment under the early closing by-law for gasoline service stations. It will come before a County Court judge September 12.

The appeal is against a judgment of Magistrate Oscar Orr who dismissed a charge against Lucas M[illegible] for keeping a service station open after 7 p.m.

Magistrate Orr found the by-law defective because it did not clearly provide all the regulations necessary for opening and closing hours.

University Student's "Dream House" Now Model---May Become Reality

Everybody likes to think about that dream house.

But Alwyn Hodgkinson, 16, a University School student who lives with his parents at [illegible], off the Island Highway, believes in translating his dreams into actual models.

Then he goes a step farther and tries to talk his father into building a house from the model-size model.

The first time the budding architect put together a model house his father turned the design down in a hurry. It had everything but an indoor swimming pool and would have looked out of place anywhere but in Beverley Hills, California.

MAY BECOME FACT

The latest model, however, has a good chance to become a reality. It is a pleasant ranch-house style bungalow [illegible] to fit its proposed hilltop location. Mr. Hodgkinson feels he may build this one some time in the near future.

Alwyn, who hopes to go on to a career in architecture, builds his models out of cardboard.

They are actual working designs with house doors that open and close, garage doors that swing up to allow toy cars to run in and out.

FURNISHED

Landscaping effects are also complete with lawns and shrubs and rooms of the model house are filled with miniature furniture.

The young architect takes about two weeks to complete a model house, he reports.

And when not building models he draws plans for houses.

So don't be too surprised if you find yourself living in a Hodgkinson Dream House one of these days.

Victoria's Best Tourist Season Booms Sales in City Stores

If we aren't winning the battle for more American dollars, it apparently isn't the fault of Victoria's merchants.

Yesterday they reported the biggest tourist season in the city's history with sales volume on woolens, linens, silver, china, souvenirs, Indian craft, postcards and pottery bulldogs well above last year's quota.

A routine check of local stores, mostly Government Street establishments, made yesterday, disclosed the fact that most retailers here believe more United States visitors came to Victoria this merry 1949 Summer season than in any previous year.

Here are some general observations on the [illegible] season as the Labor Day week-end heralds the end of the holidays.

Some merchants thought they detected a slight increased sales resistance on the part of their American customers.

Most of them felt that this year's high rate of sales could be attributed to the fact that complete stocks of most lines are now available for the first time since before the war.

Not a few of them would like to keep their stores open Wednesdays during the Summer months.

In this connection one dealer in native handicrafts said that "68 doctors" recently arrived in Victoria on a Wednesday and were "plenty angry" about being unable to buy goods here.

"They had held off buying all across Canada until they got to Victoria, and then the stores were closed," he related. "That was about $7,000 lost."

In lighter vein was the complaint of a lady who runs a souvenir shop just outside Victoria.

Postcards were her trouble.

"We sold them so fast we couldn't keep a stock up," one of her clerks said.

"So we had to drag out some old stock featuring Victoria scenes showing ladies in bustle skirts and gentlemen in top hats."

"And pictures showing the Empress Hotel without a speck of ivy on it," she added.

It's a sort of nice temperature reading of current tourist trade conditions that the ancient postcards sold out as well.

Tenth Anniversary Has Not Brought Peace

THE tenth anniversary of Hitler's mad charge across Europe, a grim resumption of war after the Armistice of 1918, has established some things after much tribulation but lasting peace is not one of them. Whatever the wish, it cannot be said today that the world has learned its lesson. Sword rattling and jingoism, bad faith and distrust, envy and bitter rivalry, those factors which make human unrest, are still alive and operative. Yet with it all increasing numbers of people have seen the ghastly failure which armed aggression leaves in its wake.

Hitler's boast that he would conquer the world or leave it wrecked for 1,000 years was, of course, the talk of a cracked brain. He did neither. Yet the defeat the Nazis suffered has not been anyone's victory in a material sense. Victors and vanquished both "lost the war," and that is perhaps the true history of all wars. [illegible] at the expense of a knocked down world [illegible] has the lesson gone home, however [illegible] in Germany today there are those who [illegible] follow another Hitler [illegible] arise. It will be the world's task [illegible] there at least history will not repeat [illegible]

For the rest, civilizations do [illegible] perish in the midst of travail and effort. It is only in sloth and ease that a people go down never to rise again. There may be some comfort today in that. Peoples of all nations are more world-[illegible] than they have ever been. In spite of all of the problems, grave and severe difficulties are being faced. From this, if human effort can achieve it, may one day come a [illegible] and a wiser world, one in which the eternal verities will be given their true value. [illegible] least is the hope that will be [illegible] today in a [illegible] of people. [illegible] his right mind wants a third [illegible]

Pecking at Inflation With a Toothpick

ANNOUNCEMENT that a point-seven increase in the official cost-of-living index may lead to a million dollar increase in the annual Provincial Civil Service bill and that the Government has committed itself in advance to that brings to mind once again the unevenness of this arrangement. It is like picking at inflation with a toothpick to try to shield 7,000 permanent and temporary Civil Servants from risen living costs at the expense of taxpayers by no means so protected. Yet if the bargain was made it will have to be kept. At the first opportunity, however, the Government should extract itself from an arrangement which should not have been entered into in that form.

No single province in Canada can afford to underwrite inflation either in whole or in part. To do so on a piecemeal basis is only to throw uneven costs against those who are not protected, in this instance the general taxpayer [illegible] into the [illegible] up again goes the [illegible] is no beating [illegible] antees. Also [illegible] If $1,000,000 [illegible] civil pay of B[illegible] time has come [illegible] with fewer than 7,000 [illegible] manent and part time.

Indian Summer Is the Best of the Year

HERE on the Pacific Coast September usually ushers in a second helping of Summer anywhere from four weeks to six weeks long. If that happens this year, and the month has started fairly, the Indian Summer may outdo its predecessor. Warm days and mild nights with golden sunshine and a riot of Fall colors everywhere, are the usual dividends of the second helping. It is the harvest of the year, with everything in its fruit and a full round moon overhead by night.

It is a time when song birds are silent because they are replete with food; when ducks make their way in scattered bands from the North into every coastal inlet; when dawns and sunsets over the blue waters of the Pacific flame with all the colors of Joseph's coat; when creepers turn scarlet against their sun-baked walls. The combination of land and water, alpine meadow and green treed valley [illegible] stream, which Vancouver Island has to offer is at its best in the Indian Summer.

It is to the outdoors that [illegible] turn when school has reassembled [illegible] ing the speckled trout or the [illegible] nimble-footed deer. COMMUNITY CHEST

Sir,—May I through your columns appeal to the citizens of Victoria?

As the Community Chest campaign nears and the need [illegible] becomes ever greater, I ask for consideration of what this appeal means to Victoria. [illegible] effort. Twenty-six members make up the board which meets every month and keeps a close contact with each and every agency. A budget committee goes into every detail of all accounts and no agency is admitted unless the board feels it is entitled to receive assistance.

It was and still is the intention of this board that through one annual appeal campaign expenses, which naturally accrue, should be minimized and that the one donation should provide sufficient funds for the twenty agencies. When one gives one dollar, that is only five cents per agency to carry out its work for the year. It is hard to understand how Victorians, who are always public spirited, allowed our contribution last year to be the lowest in Canada. Through better understanding of the wonderful work being accomplished by each agency, the campaign committee has every hope that Victorians will respond more generously this year. Many blame the Chest for the continued tag days over which it has no control, and this should be understood by the public; also that none of the twenty agencies has held a tag day since the inception of the Chest in 1937.

Canvassers should give their time freely as well as their contributions, and the response of the public urgently is required. We need hundreds of canvassers. Anyone willing to offer assistance, please telephone me, G 5149, or Campaign Headquarters, Prince Robert House, B 4269.

TRANSIT FARES

Sir,—Recognizing transit costs have risen, due to increased costs for materials, maintenance, repair bills and wages, etc., increased fares, already big enough for the size of Greater Victoria, is not the solution in making transportation pay for itself, as is evidenced by the decrease to roughly 2,400 the number of [illegible] passengers since the cost rose from $1 [illegible]

A straight ten-cent fare will certainly boost revenue, but further decrease the number of passengers, and the transit system will still show an annual deficit.

GREAT difficulties involved in taking a supervised strike vote in the huge, sprawling logging industry brings to mind the dispute that flared in the British Columbia Cabinet in 1947 on the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act. The dispute resulted in the resignation of Hon. George S. Pearson as labor minister. He claimed several parts of the act were not practical and the supervised strike vote was one of them.

Up to now the Labor Department has never had to face a test of its facilities on such a large scale, nor has it the personnel to send to hundreds of logging camps along the Coast.

Possibility of this strike has the British Columbia Government worried. It fears a strike would be long and costly to everyone concerned, including the Government.

Inventories of lumber and logs are high, markets are slipping, and the Government knows that many operators, especially smaller ones, might welcome a chance to shut down to allow some of the present stocks to move. Because lumbering is so basic in British Columbia's economy, a long strike might cause a tremendous slump in the Provincial economy—a slump from which recovery might be slow.

All this is placing Captain Cates, the new Labor Minister, in a very tough spot.

The Government's program for developing a great road chain in British Columbia's hinterland shows a great faith in the future. There is no doubt that it will help to develop the Province and bring about desirable decentralization of industry and population.

Driving about the Province, however, one can't help getting the impression the Government has its eyes so fixed on a rosy horizon, full of hope for the future, that the everyday demands of the people, who are supplying most of the money, are getting secondary attention.

This writer took a trip over the Cariboo road a while ago. It will be a fine highway if plans are completed—280 miles of top-grade black top rolling from Cache Creek to Prince George. Driving up the road, however, you can count on the fingers of both hands the number of vehicles passed in a day. Gas stations spread often 25 miles apart lie between still more scattered communities that have little more than a general store and a post office. Definitely the Cariboo Highway is a road for tomorrow.

But there are some highways of today around Victoria. The population is here, the traffic is here and growing every day. For every tourist in the Cariboo there are hundreds here.

We took a drive to Sooke the other day and passed more cars in an hour than you'll see in a day on the Cariboo. It's true there is some road surfacing going on, a few curves are being straightened. But when the present work is finished the Sooke road will remain a paved trail, with tortuous twists and masses of rock blocking out oncoming traffic on hairpin turns.

Need we bring up the Patricia Bay Highway or the arterial road from the Island Highway into the city? The Government says they are coming but meanwhile work is roaring ahead on what is now a sparsely populated hinterland.

So much of the news from Britain has been gloomy and foreboding, lately, that it comes like a fresh spring sea breeze after a long dismal Winter to hear Beverley Baxter, the brilliant journalist and British M.P., say with such absolute conviction that Britain will not be downed. Socialism, he says, may have been a good thing. It will do much to dispel the great illusion of the 20th century—that men and nations can do less work and end up richer. The working man in Britain is learning that cold fact faster than any other working man in the world, he says, and out of all the turmoil may come a new Britain, with her genius at improvisation leading the world as she has so often done in the past in producing a society that is free and abundant.

Sir Thomas Beecham and "Us"

(From The Evening Citizen, Ottawa)

THE misuse of the pronoun "we" is common enough to big men. It must be tempting to those in command of great affairs to speak not only for themselves, but for everyone. Yet even the most distinguished public men might well take careful thought before they employ the word. When Mr. Churchill, in the early stages of the war said, "we will fight on the beaches, we will fight in the streets," many soldiers could not refrain from wondering whom he meant by "we." Sir Thomas Beecham, the musician, whose utterances are usually vigorous, if not always clear, now uses the word again. In Edinburgh, where he has gone to conduct the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, he told reporters that "we are broke."

If he spoke for himself, the public might well be reminded that insolvency is not a new condition for artists. Some [illegible] accumulate a remarkably large store of this world's goods. But the popular notion that artists—whether musicians, painters or writers—can always use an extra dollar is probably close to the truth. Yet Sir Thomas asked reporters to underline his statement three times, when obviously, if he spoke for himself as an artist, the news could not be considered sensational.

Possibly Sir Thomas spoke as an economist. Economists, like statesmen, have the disconcerting habit of speaking for others as if they meant themselves. "We" are not productive enough, "we" must lower our standard of living, "we" are a great people. The pronoun never seems to be "you," except in the case of "work is good for you." The pronoun, there, never seems to be "us" or better still, "me." With a little care, the pronouncements of our leading men might well be more accurate, if less self-congratulatory.

Victoria in Beard and Crinoline

From Files of The Daily British Colonist for September, 1862

By G. E. MORTIMORE

COMPARED with the Winter streets of Victoria, the Cariboo trail was a four-lane highway.

The new City Council, at its first meeting, should devise ways to make roads to the suburbs passable during the impending "rainy season," The Daily British Colonist urged.

"Last year the resident on a suburban lot, if he succeeded in reaching his home without being sloughed half a dozen times in the course of his walk, or more properly speaking, 'wade,' was considered a skilful navigator, and one who would prove a capital guide to the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky or the labrynthian passages of the Catacombs at Paris.

"We well remember last Fall that a respectable citizen, the father of a large family, having taken a drop too much of beer, in starting for home about 12 o'clock one night, missed his footing at Patrick's corner and tumbled head-foremost into a horrid mass of filth which covered the street in that vicinity to a depth of at least three feet . . .

"He was nearly smothered to death before a sergeant of police, in going his rounds, discovered a pair of boots sticking soles up in the mud, and rightly judging that there was a man at the other end thereof, extricated the unfortunate fellow . . . and led him, smelling like anything but a nosegay of flowers, to the arms of his loving wife.

"Of course, the City Fathers don't want their dutiful children to wade through seas of mud and filth to reach their homes from the month of October in one year to the first of [illegible] and [illegible] there- [illegible] their duty at the very first meeting by the adoption of a [illegible] measure to provide for the improvement of the streets."

New Brunswick Barrister Elected To Head Canadian Bar Association

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 3 (CP).—One of New Brunswick's most prominent barristers, A. N. Carter, 59, of St. John, N.B., today was named head of the Canadian Bar Association for the next year.

He was elected at the final session of the 31st annual convention of the organization, succeeding Stanley H. McQuaig, of Edmonton.

[illegible] gathering in the 35 year history of the C.B.A., the convention drafted and approved a long series of resolutions recommending a number of changes in Canadian laws.

Subjects dealt with during the week-long meeting ranged from the complex problems arising from the proposed abolition of appeals to the Privy Council to minor alterations in taxation and insurance laws.

The convention accepted an invitation to hold its annual meeting at Washington, D.C., in September 1950. The convention will take the form of a joint meeting with the American Bar Association.

An invitation to hold the 1952 annual meeting in British Columbia was tabled for consideration.

"No organization co-operates more greatly with Dominion and Provincial governments than the Canadian Bar," Justice Minister Stuart Garson said in a brief address at the final luncheon meeting of the convention.

He said he did not think that any professional organization used its professional privileges with a greater regard for the public welfare.

Mr. Garson gave a brief outline of steps being taken by his department to bring out a new edition of the Revised Statutes of Canada. The revisions will incorporate a complete overhaul of both criminal and civil statutes.

Majority of today's general sessions were devoted to choosing of officers and to giving formal approval to numerous resolutions.

One resolution approved asked for both Dominion and Provincial Industrial Relations legislation to incorporate similar legislation to that in effect in British Columbia where a secret strike vote must be taken as a preliminary to strike action.

SOCIETY TO MEET

The Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Dock Building.

Members and associate members are asked to attend the meeting where plans will be discussed for the coming season when the group's major production will be "The Pirates of Penzance."

Sailor Awaits Court Penalty

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP). — Seaman Patrick Joseph Ryan now must "sweat out" a naval officer's review of his court-martial before learning his penalty for missing his ship.

He hopes his story that he was "Shanghaied" into the French Foreign Legion, and the scars and broken teeth he says he got in that rugged army will win him leniency.

A five-man navy court-martial adjourned yesterday without acquitting 24-year-old Ryan of a charge of desertion. Navy legal experts said the action amounted to a finding of guilt but leave the way open to reduce the charge, perhaps to "unauthorized leave."

Ryan told the court tersely:

"Sir, I was granted liberty leave from my ship. I got intoxicated. When I came to my ship was gone. I tried to get to it. I was shanghaied into the French Foreign Legion. I've got scars all over my body from the beatings I had to take. My teeth were knocked out."

Urge Fight Against Reds And Recession

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP). In Labor Day messages the nation's top Labor officials appealed today to industry and workers alike to fight against depression and Communism.

A.F.L. President William Green called for action "to preserve the free American way of life from the threat of domestic Fascism and world Communism."

"Both on the national and international fronts," Green said, "America is [illegible] and [illegible] own country reactionary forces are attempting to turn the clock backward and are gambling upon a depression to return them to power over the nation's economic and political life."

RUSSIAN HOPES

"On the world front the leaders of the Kremlin are [illegible] upon a depression to [illegible] America, [illegible] to gain control [illegible] of Europe and Asia. We must [illegible] depression [illegible] take place."

Philip Murray, head of the C.I.O., said:

"For our own sake and for the cause of freedom everywhere we must show that free collective bargaining works in behalf of all the people, that we can avert mass unemployment and, in fact, constantly raise our living standards, that our Government acts vigorously at all times and in all places to avert hardship and distress, while buttressing our civil liberties and our economic rights."

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, said:

POOR CONDITIONS

"In too many areas, substandard working conditions still persist. These bring adverse effects upon the whole economy. They tend to drag down wages in high-wage areas, reduce the work-week and cause work to flow into sweatshop establishments. They also have an adverse effect upon decent business management, for the lower wages have an effect reaching to the extreme end of our economy."

Babies Poisoned; All Will Recover

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3 (INS).—It was a rush day for the stomach-pump gang at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital today.

Five tots, ranging in age from six months to three years were given the works.

Olga Beyke, three, had her two three-year-old neighbors, James Koehn and James Donaldson, over for a little [illegible] of methylene blue [illegible].

The mother of two-year-old Dana Gregg rushed him to the hospital when he toddled up with an empty aspirin bottle and complained that the "candy" was good but he couldn't get the cotton stopper down.

Six-month-old Jay Stephenson crawled out on his front porch and sampled some ant paste.

All will recover.

Measure Ends Mail Orders To Avoid Tax

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (CP). Vancouver's $1,000,000-a-month mail order business in tax free United States travel tickets is over.

The United States Government ruled Friday, the 15 per cent tax on transportation [illegible] lifted in Canada [illegible] also to funds sent to Canada or Mexico to buy rail [illegible] fares.

It cuts short the request for tickets by mail order which for nearly six months have been flooding into air line and travel agency offices from Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Honolulu.

One air line [illegible] alone has been booking $700,000 monthly in tickets on mail orders, bringing its Vancouver office second only to its New York office in ticket-selling volume.

However, American tourists still will be able to buy transportation tax free when they are actually in Canada. And Canadians will continue to ride tax free on journeys started in Canada or for trips between two United States points if paid for in United States funds.

ATTEMPTED ENTRIES

E. R. McAdam, 1208 Oak Bay Avenue, reported to city police early yesterday morning that an attempt had been made to enter his premises by a rear door.

Constable Rodney McNeill attended and found that someone had broken a window in the rear of premises formerly known as Freeman's auction rooms. The culprits fled in a car, it was reported.

An attempt also was made to force open the large doors of the Empress Garage, corner of Broughton and Wharf Streets, police said.

Officials Start Arranging Seating Plan in Commons

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP).—Commons officials are due to start work within the next few days on a seating arrangement for members of the Commons elected in the June 27 general election.

There are so many Liberal members that some will occupy seats ordinarily filled by members of the Opposition.

Present Commons standing is: Liberals 188, Progressive Conservatives 40, C.C.F. 13, Social Credit ten, Independent four, Independent Liberal one, vacant seven; total 262.

RIGHT AND LEFT

The Government had a somewhat similar top-heavy majority after the 1940 election and for five years there were Liberal members to the right and left of the Speaker.

As a centre front seat opposite Prime Minister St. Laurent is reserved for the Leader of the Opposition, some Liberals will find themselves ranged alongside George Drew's Progressive Conservative forces.

Mr. Drew's representative mainly will be behind him and to his left. Farther down from the Speaker on the Opposition side will be the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties and some Independent members.

POSSIBLE CHOICES

Fisheries Minister Mayhew and John Hart, former Liberal Premier of British Columbia, are mentioned as possible choices to fill the Pacific Coast province's two vacancies in the Senate.

Mr. Mayhew, 68, has been a member of the Commons since 1937 and has been in the Cabinet for about two years.

Mr. Hart, 7[illegible], was Premier of British Columbia from 1941 to 1947 and was first elected to the Legislature in 1916.

The British Columbia vacancies were caused by the death of Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, one of the Liberal senators for the province, and by the death about three years ago of Senator R. F. Green of Victoria, another Liberal.

There are nine other Senate vacancies, three in Ontario, two in Nova Scotia, one in Alberta and three in the new province of Newfoundland.

MEETING CANCELED

Tips Gained Through Tests Might Save Life in Crash

BUFFALO, N.Y., Sept. 4 (AP). Some tips that could save your life in an automobile crash have come from research here.

If you're riding beside the driver, you're in the most lethal place in the car. Put your forearm tightly against some smooth part of the dashboard, and rest your head against your arm.

As driver you'll be busy till the last instant trying to stop or steer out of trouble. But if all seems lost, put your head, padded with your forearm, against the steering wheel.

In the back seat, rest your head in the same way against the back of the front seat.

GUINEA PIG

The tips come from Edward R. Dye, head of the development division of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory. They're based on what happened to a mechanical man who has been a collision guinea pig for the last two years.

Lots of people have escaped unhurt, in seeming miracles, from plane and automobile crashes. The experiments with the mechanical man were made to learn why they did, and how autos and planes can be engineered to give more people the same chance.

The tests have turned up some of the basic principles, Dye said.

In a car, all sharp edges and heavy objects should be eliminated, or else placed where your head cannot hit them. Studies of real accidents show your head is the most vulnerable spot of your body. Injuries to the neck and chest come next.

One answer would be to re-design the things your head could hit. Make them flat or curved, and cover them with crushable padding material, at least one inch thick.

It would also help to have as many seats as possible face the rear of the auto or plane. Then the energy from a crash would be delivered uniformly over the spine.

SHOULD GIVE WAY

The steering wheel should be of light construction. The steering post should be built to give way under heavy impact.

Dye says a car should be built so that the greatest amount of weight is ahead of the passenger.

The main idea is to provide for a uniform distribution of the shock of impact on the human body. If the shock is distributed evenly the body can withstand tremendous jolts.

Fail to Find Trace of Ark

AT AN ARMY OUTPOST ON THE TURKISH-IRANIAN FRONTIER, Sept. 3 (AP).—A gruelling five-day search over the three sides of Mount Ararat failed to disclose any visible trace of Noah's Ark.

The American four-man archaeological expedition exploring the high Bible lands returned late yesterday, still hoping to uncover the ship on the north side, which must be approached from another direction.

They and an A.P. correspondent and 30 Turks who accompanied them were utterly fatigued.

It was a harrowing experience for nearly all on the 16,916-foot mountain. At one time they faced disaster through a breakdown in the water supply, and all were on meagre rations through one day and entirely out the second day. Then a guide discovered a stagnant pool into which members of the party literally rolled themselves.

Turkish army and gendarmerie forces with the expedition kept a constant alert against the possibility of attack by hostile elements, particularly Kurdish bandits and smugglers who frequently slip into Turkey.

Today's quotation: "The first thing to learn in intercourse with others is non-interference with their own peculiar ways of being happy, provided those ways do not assume to interfere by violence with ours."—William James.

[illegible] or seek aspirations. Ideas: get in touch with those who count in your particular sphere. Dress attractively, be at your best where appearance and manners are concerned.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19—(Aries) Spend a pleasurable day with those who hold your affections; widen your social set.

April 20 to May 20—(Taurus) Turn your thoughts to congenial doings or fulfilling obligations conscientiously.

May 21 to June 20—(Gemini) Let the zest for living dominate you today; get a full share of pleasure from unfolding events.

June 21 to July 22—(Cancer) Give some careful appraisal to the things you own; you can discover new worth in them.

July 23 to August 22—(Leo) Share activities with others. Make the rounds, see close pals, relatives, nearby folk.

August 23 to September 22—(Virgo) Display solicitude for those who need you, serve. Consider health, clothing.

September 23 to October 22—(Libra) Achieve freer scope and greater progress. Reserve the evening for personal interests.

October 23 to November 21—(Scorpio) Dedicate the day to making your household a happier place. Reach agreement on unsettled issues.

November 22 to December 21—(Sagittarius) Deeper understanding with others wins recognition or services. Take a little trip.

December 22 to January 19—(Capricorn) Centre your attention on finances and assets; seek to improve your possessions.

January 20 to February 18—(Aquarius) Gain recognition and favors from others; pursue your desired ends.

February 19 to March 20—(Pisces) Be a "friend in need"; go in for out-of-the-ordinary activities.

Planning ahead: Good for sociability, entertaining, etc., September 4, 8, 11, evening of 12, 14, 16, 19, 20, 21.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1949

Today's quotation: "Enthusiasm always exaggerates the importance of important things and overlooks their deficiencies."—Hugh S. Tigner.

Monday for everyone: The day lends itself best to the pursuit of minor tasks and objectives. Be a good shopper, effect savings, attend to employment and health interests. Evening: shun haste.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19—(Aries) Keep up contacts with persons in a position to promote your aspirations. Make friends.

April 20 to May 20—(Taurus) Be active in business, career, parental interests. Evening: shun inharmony.

May 21 to June 20—(Gemini) Expedite your overall program. Make plans, take necessary trips.

June 21 to July 22—(Cancer) Try to derive some profit from the resources of others. Discharge debts.

July 23 to August 22—(Leo) Solidify partnership publicities. Call on those whose judgment you trust for advice.

August 23 to September 22—(Virgo) Make progress on the job front, gain ground regarding health necessities.

September 23 to October 22—(Libra) Enjoy some extra freedom, relaxation, fun. Ring in persons willing to help you today.

October 23 to November 21—(Scorpio) Make a prompt start this morning; you can accomplish most during the daytime. Evening: effect savings.

November 22 to December 21—(Sagittarius) Swing your mental processes into "high gear", do some rapid "brain work" to get ahead.

December 22 to January 19—(Capricorn) [illegible] affairs. Better your possessions, assets.

January 20 to February 18—(Aquarius) Shape policies, guide the course of events, be an active participant in today's affairs.

February 19 to March 20—(Pisces) Turn to unfinished business, clear your slate of matters that need a final touch.

Planning ahead: Good for sociability, entertaining, etc., September 8, 11, evening of 12, 14, 16, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 27, evening of 29, 30, October 1 and 3.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1949

Today's quotation: "Culture is what your butcher would have if he were a surgeon."—Mary Pettibone Poole.

Tuesday for everyone: Gain an early start at the forenoon [illegible] part of the day. [illegible] catch up with odds and ends of tasks and contacts then. Later guard against [illegible].

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19—(Aries) [illegible] Evening: [illegible]

April 20 to May 20—(Taurus) Morning: be alert to hints, hunches. Evening: [illegible]

May 21 to June 20—(Gemini) Morning: [illegible] new methods for [illegible] and income. Evening: protect assets.

June 21 to July 22—(Cancer) Morning: make plans, contacts which can help you forge ahead. Evening: recheck judgment, [illegible] in transit.

July 23 to August 22—(Leo) Morning: settle monetary matters to [illegible] satisfaction. Evening: don't exceed spending capacity.

August 23 to September 22—(Virgo) Morning: win through to some understanding or agreement. Evening: keep dealings with others on an even keel.

September 23 to October 22—(Libra) Morning: jot down valuable suggestions, ideas, hints and put them in operation. Evening: be cautious.

October 23 to November 21—(Scorpio) Morning: strike out strongly to secure time-set goal. [illegible] Evening: keep a check on feelings, finances.

November 22 to December 21—(Sagittarius) Morning: enhance real estate interests, domestic or office affairs. Evening: clear away some difficulty.

December 22 to January 19—(Capricorn) Morning: forward commercial and community affairs. Evening: expect small returns from social efforts, recheck details.

January 20 to February 18—(Aquarius) Morning: float required sums or hit upon an opportune purchase. Evening: keep tabs on [illegible]

February 19 to March 20—(Pisces) Morning: "register" with others; accelerate projects, individual ventures. Evening: moderate feelings.

Planning ahead: Good for sociability, entertaining, etc., September 11, evening of 12, 14, 16, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 27, evening of 29, 30, October 1 and 3.

Plan New Oath For Athletes Entering Games

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Sept. 3 (CP)—The oath to be taken by athletes at the opening of the British Empire Games in Auckland next year may be different from that of previous games. The present oath includes [illegible] Empire and the glory of sport."

The Indian Olympic Association has been asked by the secretary of the Empire Games Council in England, K. S. Duncan, whether this is still acceptable in view of recent political changes.

Following the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London, the organizing committee in Auckland suggested that it might be desirable to include the word Commonwealth in the oath in view of the feelings of some countries.

Duncan has suggested to India that the old oath be retained. His [illegible]

"It is perhaps a little difficult to find the right test for all countries in these days of change but I hope that India, which has accepted the invitation to the British Empire Games in 1950, will agree to this oath.

"If, however, you wish a change in the normal oath, I would suggest that it could finish: 'For the honor of our Commonwealth and Empire and the glory of sport.'"

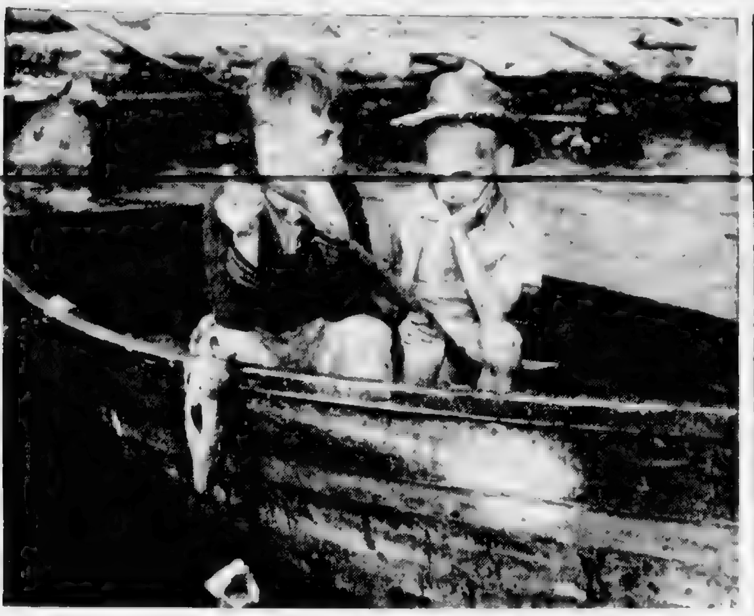
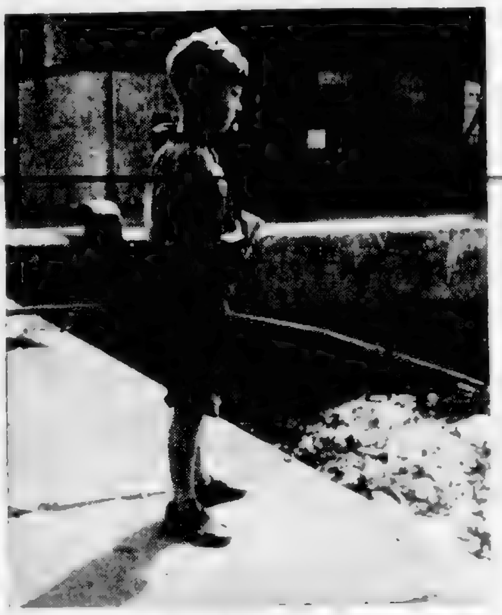
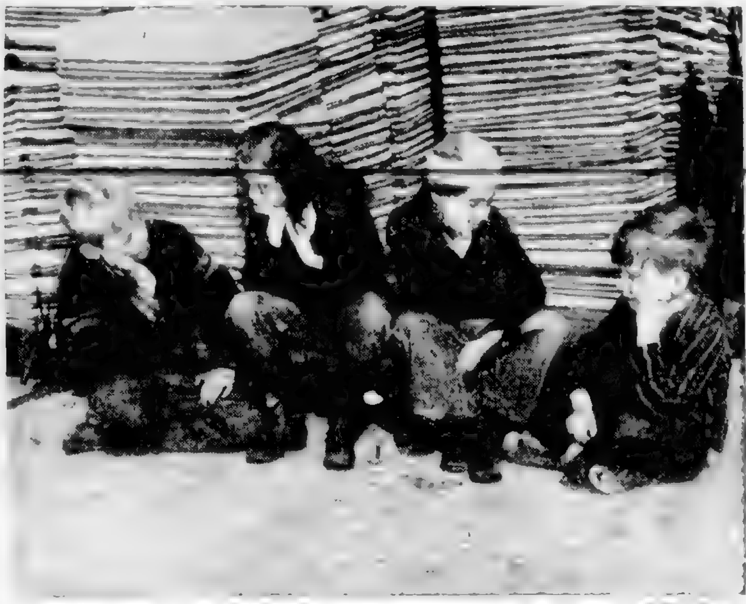
Children Gather Last Summer Memories for Schooldays



Tuesday morning will finish holiday season for thousands of Victoria youngsters. Happy carefree fishing days in and around the waterfront are over for another year. Raymond DeMacedo, nine (left), and Harry Stanaby, six, are shown sitting in boat discussing prospect of being cooped up in classroom for another year of studies. Fish is two-pound rock cod caught off end of breakwater.



Youthful fisherman George Twyman, aged nine, equipped with home-made fish pole and can of bait, prepares for last fling before school bell rings. Tall stories of this fishing jaunt will probably feature in schoolroom discussion on Tuesday.



Round table conference over prospects of another school year is shown above. Sitting on dock in warm Summer sunshine, four typical school children review happy vacation days. Shown left to right, they are Donald Stewart, 12; Rita and Patricia Scott, both aged nine, and James Carvath, eight. A school desk will act as elbow rest for these four children on Tuesday morning.

Entrepreneurs Lament Victorians Shun Proffered Entertainment

The Entertainment World

By BARNETT McKINLEY

This is a tale of one city, Victoria, and the faltering fortunes of entrepreneurs in four fields of entertainment.

The most poignant story is told, perhaps, by Mr. Monty Montague, who runs the C[illegible] here.

Mr. Montague, a [illegible] type of citizen, who has never had a drink in his life, and only learned to smoke since he came to Victoria ("I do it to keep from biting my fingernails," he says), once owned a modestly prosperous night club in Vancouver.

Surprisingly enough, a large proportion of his clientele were Victorians, Mr. Montague reports.

"IF ONLY . . ."

The nightclubbing Victorians, he contends, used to come to him and say, "Oh, boy, if we only had a night club like this in Victoria."

So, pretty soon, as Mr. Montague now recalls somewhat bitterly, he was saying to himself, "Oh, boy, if I only had a night club over there."

The next thing he knew he had taken over the Si[illegible].

"I was a man with a purpose in life," he remarks, wryly. "I was bringing Broadway to Victoria."

Last night he was willing to admit that the lights on Victoria's Broadway were getting dim.

"A LITTLE EARLY"

"I had a big crowd one Saturday night recently," he reports. "Even the police came."

Since that night Mr. Montague has been careful to close his night club at 12 o'clock on a Saturday night.

"It's a little early," he thinks. "I can't believe that the people who leave here at midnight go straight home."

He is fond of explaining that sirocco means a warm wind.

"But right now it's slowed down to a chill breeze," he adds solemnly.

MORE TROUBLE

Equally heartrending is the story of Mr. Hymie Singer. Mr. Singer, who is not without fame in his chosen role in show business, is also having his troubles in Victoria.

For some weeks now he has been importing such things as trained monkeys, bathing beauties, magicians and dancers to lend glamour to the stage of his R[illegible] Theatre here.

The experiment has not been an unqualified success, he reports.

He is now dallying with the idea of bringing in a troup of female impersonators.

"This is a very talented group," he remarks, "and will undoubtedly wake everybody up."

THIRD CHAPTER

Then there is the little matter of a civic theatre, third chapter in the account of entertainment woes.

While there are any number of articulate people willing to advance some firm views on Victoria's neglect in this respect, it is only necessary here to quote the quietly voiced opinion of veteran actor James McGrath.

Mr. McGrath, who has done his fair share of emoting on the amateur theatrical stages of this city, has just recently returned from acting-directing chores in England and leaves no doubt in a listener's mind that the theatre is not all it should be in Victoria.

It contrasts pretty poorly, he thinks, with the entertainment offered in small United Kingdom centres, a York [illegible] which is able to have six plays running in various theatres in the city at any given time.

GOOD EXAMPLE

The case of the theatre in York in recent years is a good example, he believes, of what can be done to bring good plays within popular price range in smaller civic centres.

"York was starved for first-class dramatic presentations," Mr. McGrath reports, "until a theatre foundation was formed and a regular civic theatre established."

Right after this organizational work, York wasn't starving any more and its citizens were enjoying any number of light comedies, plus occasional drama, and one yearly production of a Shakespearian play, according to the record.

"This varied program, played in an up-to-date theatre, with the latest lighting and inter-communication systems, was a great encouragement to amateur and semi-amateur acting talent in the area," Mr. McGrath points out.

LIST OF PLAYS

With the vague hope that a permanent repertory theatre is not an impossibility in Victoria, he brought back a list of 30 English plays which have been attracting popular acclaim and are well suited for players here, he thinks.

They have never even been heard of here, he says. Victoria is years behind in the theatre.

Final episode in this version of Victoria's four act entertainment tragedy is being played out with quiet intensity at the Broughton Street Gallery of the Greater Victoria Art Centre.

On the pastel painted wall of the centre's small gallery in the past weeks have hung some of the finest paintings that ever brought enlarged pleasure and astonishment to the eye of mortal man.

SMALL HANDFUL

It has been a thoroughly enjoyable and educational experience for the small handful of the faithful who have turned out religiously to each new exhibition.

But as far as popular appeal goes, the gallery is apparently another dud.

Art centre officials are inclined to blame this lack of support on the fact that the gallery is after all only a makeshift.

They would like to have a new modern building where the work of the masters old and new could be displayed to proper advantage.

* * *

When George Formby, leading British comedian of stage and screen, arrives from London next month, his "London Music Hall Varieties" will include six outstanding acts from the United Kingdom's music hall circuit.

The famous entertainment unit will appear for one night in Victoria sometime in early November.

Most sensational of the supporting acts to Georgie and his banjo-ukulele, is Robert Harbin, billed as an "illusionist" who will present effects never seen on this side of the Atlantic.

SIMPLE EQUIPMENT

For instance, he saws a woman in half or even thirds without the customary elaborate equipment of people who saw women in half. Harbin uses only two chairs, a plank and a saw—and of course an unlimited supply of women.

Other famous British artists in the varieties are Gus Brox and Myrtle, comedy [illegible] routine; Cynthia and Gladys, novelty balancing act; Alec Clive, mimic; Medlock and Marlowe, comedy acrobatic and novelty dance act, and the Humoresques, a vocal quartette of two men and two women.

Allowing plenty of time for Mr. Harbin's sawing, the show is expected to run for close to three hours.

Advance notice calls it "the ultimate in family type entertainment."

You'll have to make up your own mind if sawing people in half is family entertainment.

* * *

"The Perfect Woman" arrived in Victoria yesterday—motion picture version, that is.

This intriguing idea was thought up by British film makers, who will go almost anything to get ahead of Hollywood, where even Lana Turner has never been billed as perfect.

In the British film of the same name the perfect woman is portrayed by Patricia Roc, a pretty, fair candidate for the title in real life.

SENSIBLE IDEA

The simple plot concerns itself with a parody of the Dr. Frankenstein [illegible]. The idea of creating a perfect woman robot instead of a monster will, of course, strike many citizens as a sensible idea.

Some of the advantages of the robot woman are an inability to talk very much and a prompt obedience to all the commands of her creators.

At this date it is impossible to tell where the machinery breaks down and Miss Roc emerges as a creature of flesh and blood, with quite a few remarks to make.

But it's almost certain that's the way the plot develops.

70,891 Fur Seal Skins Taken During Season

Marine News

A total of 70,891 fur seal skins were taken this year in the Government-administered sealing operations in Alaska's Pribilof Islands, according to a report received here yesterday from the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. The yield was 749 skins above last year's take.

The season for the taking of fur seals began June 10 and continued on a daily basis from June 17 to July 27.

The fur seal industry in the Pribilofs is a United States Government responsibility, but 20 per cent of the skins becomes the property of the Canadian Government, under provisions of the 1944 Alaska fur seal law. Approximately 80 per cent of the world's fur seals go to the Pribilof Islands to breed.

After being dressed and dyed by a fur company in St. Louis, the furs are offered for sale at public auction, net proceeds going to the United States Treasury.

Valuable by-products of this year's catch include 356 tons of fur seal meal, 14,000 gallons of carcass oil and 33,000 gallons of blubber oil. These products are made in a government operated plant on the Pribilofs, and will also be offered for sale through public auction.

RICH CARGO

The Tacoma-based fishing boat Pacific Queen will sail from Seattle Wednesday with a million-dollar cargo of meat and other foods for strikebound Honolulu, her owners revealed yesterday.

The big boat, which recently returned from a successful fishing voyage in Alaskan waters, is loading 800 tons in Seattle.

Unloading in Honolulu will be accomplished through an agreement between stevedoring companies and the striking longshoremen.

HAWAIIAN PICKETERS

A group of Hawaiian Islands maritime strike pickets arrived in Seattle yesterday to picket a pineapple-bearing barge which may be brought to a Puget Sound port for unloading.

William Gettings, regional director of the striking International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, said the barge was loaded in the Islands by non-union stevedores.

AFFECTED BY QUAKE?

Grays Harbor fishermen are wondering if the sudden disappearance of tuna from the Washington coast about ten days ago might have something to do with the recent earthquake off the British Columbia coast.

Only 30 or 40 tons of tuna have been unloaded at Grays Harbor the past two weeks. Commercial fishermen say warm currents have moved in close to the coast, usually a favorable sign for Albacore tuna, but the fish still are absent.

New Ferry Problematic

George Paulin, local agent for the Black Ball Ferry Line, is not placing too much importance on current reports that the line is considering the building of a new [illegible] passenger vessel to serve the Puget Sound area and this city.

Because tourist travel to Victoria and the Island has experienced a major boost this season, a strong belief has grown that the Black Ball Line may place a new and larger ship than the present ferry Chinook on the Seattle-Port Angeles-Victoria service.

On January 7 of last year The Daily Colonist interviewed Captain Alex M. Peabody, president of the shipping line in Seattle, and at that time he said his firm would be all in favor of a new ship for the run "if business warranted."

Speaking of the possibility of a new ship yesterday, Mr. Paulin intimated it would be "just common sense" to figure such a ship would be built if it were deemed certain the business would be forthcoming. Current mention of a new Black Ball vessel for service to this city, he said, was in no way official.

Well-Known Educationalists To Speak in Extension Series

Thirteen well-known British Columbia educationalists will speak in the 1949-50 lecture series of the University Extension Association starting September 26, it was announced yesterday by R. T. Wallace, president.

The series is keenly anticipated and we expect record attendance in view of the high calibre of the speakers chosen, Mr. Wallace said. The membership fee for the series is $1, but non-members will be permitted to attend. A collection plate will be available in order that visitors may assist in defraying expenses.

AVOID CONCERTS

All speakers will begin their talks at 8.15 o'clock each Monday evening in the Victoria College Normal School auditorium. The final lecture will be delivered on April 10.

Mr. Wallace said the program has been arranged so as to avoid as far as possible the times the Victoria Symphony Orchestra presents their concerts.

The opening lecture on September 26 will be given by Dr. George M. Volkoff, professor of physics at U.B.C., who is considered one of Canada's best authorities on atomic energy and power. His topic will be "Atomic Energy in War and Peace."

The program following will be:

October 3—Dr. D. S. Davidson, associate professor of anthropology, University of Washington, who will [illegible] the life of the aborigines of Australia. He will show the film [illegible]. Dr. Davidson is considered a leader on the Pacific Coast in knowledge of primitive peoples. His topic: "Stone Age Life in Contemporary Australia."

March 27—Dean George F. Curtis, dean of the faculty of law, U.B.C., who will speak on "The Changing Commonwealth."

April 10—Prof. Dorothy Somerset, assistant professor in English and dramatics, U.B.C., who will speak on some topic relative to the field of drama.

Affairs of United Nations Gaining Airwave Prominence

The affairs of the United Nations will be increasingly prominent in radio programs this month as final preparations are made for the opening of the fourth annual General Assembly at Flushing Meadow, September 20.

At 3.30 p.m. Tuesday the Trans-Canada [illegible] resume its regular weekday series, United Nations Commentary, a day-by-day report on developments at U.N. headquarters by King Gordon, C.B.C. correspondent at Lake Success.

Next week Trans-Canada will present the first of six weekly documentary programs designed to point up world reliance on U.N. for peace and security in the post-war world.

OPEN SEPTEMBER 11

The broadcasts will be heard Sunday evenings beginning September 11.

They will be supervised by Norman Corwin [illegible] [illegible]

The [illegible] presented from the U.S., Great Britain, and Canada will be presented by the National Broadcasting Company in co-operation with U.N.

First of the broadcasts, called Could Be, will be written, directed and produced by Mr. Corwin. [illegible] touched off the World War, it will attempt to show what could happen if the nations concentrated on blitzing the problems of peace.

Others in the series include Sometime Before Morning, written by Millard Lampell and produced by W. Gibson-Parker; The Biggest Show on Earth, written and produced by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, and Junction in Europe, written by Mr. Gibson-Parker and directed by Mr. Corwin.

Material recorded by Allen Sloane in Europe will be used in a final program entitled "11 Memory Street," describing the work of the International Refugee Association.

My ideas pay off too!

"Up here at Cominco* we make metals and fertilizers—the biggest producers in the British Empire, I've heard. I want to tell you about the suggestion plan we've got here. It's a real money maker if you can come up with an easier or safer way to do a job or one that will save in repairs and maintenance.

Each month there's some "fifties" and "hundreds" passed along to the boys—I've cashed in three times, but not in the big money yet. Biggest award so far was around $750.00 and that's the class I'm shooting for—could do with it for the trip I'm planning this summer.

You see, if you get the ideas and they are good enough, Cominco will pay off—guess that's good business for both of us."

Big I.W.A. Strike of 1946 Recalled As Loggers Again Prepare to Vote

[illegible] may not be [illegible] British Columbia's logging industry this year.

But with strike ballots counted in the main [illegible] of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and actual voting pending completion of Government supervisory arrangements, many residents recall uneasily the big walkout of 1946.

The 1946 strike, said to be the most extensive and costly in the history of the province, lasted for more than a month.

HUGE WAGE LOSS

At its end Stewart Research Ltd. (now Forest Industrial Relations) employers' representative, said it had involved a loss in wages of $8,000,000 and in lumber production of 300,000,000 board feet.

The strike was called on May 15 by Harold Pritchett, then president of I.W.A. District No. 1, after Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, appointed mediator by the Federal Government, had failed to bring the parties to agreement.

Thirty-two thousand coastal lumber industry employees walked off their jobs, to be followed a few days later by several thousand Interior and Northern workers.

The union had originally demanded a contract granting the 40-hour week, a 25-cent an hour increase in pay, union shop and the voluntary check-off.

The wage demand later came down to 18 cents and the employers offered 12½ cents an hour if the union would drop all other demands.

OPPOSED UNION SHOP

As in subsequent [illegible] including this year, the operators consistently opposed the union shop principle.

As the strike reached its peak operations in allied industries [illegible] construction [illegible] to a standstill until an estimated 50,000 workers were reported idle throughout the province as a result of the walkout.

Justice Sloan, continuing to mediate, recommended settlement on the basis of a 44-hour week, a general increase of 15 cents and the voluntary irrevocable check-off.

The employers accepted but the union refused.

Public opinion began to turn against the I.W.A.

Dominion Minister of Labor Humphrey Mitchell pronounced the recommendations fair.

FELT LOCALLY

Locally the strike was making itself felt although less acutely than in Vancouver.

Sawmills were closed, carpenters and other building trades workers were being laid off. Construction was almost halted although the union was permitting a trickle of lumber destined for veterans' homes to pass through pickets.

In Cranbrook, [illegible] newspapers were [illegible] closure of pulp mills.

Northern Vancouver Island [illegible] million dollar [illegible] industry together with [illegible] were seriously threatened [illegible] box shortages.

Finally on June 19 [illegible] signed an agreement [illegible]

They settled for the [illegible] 44-hour [illegible] from April [illegible] hour week [illegible] year and the voluntary irrevocable check-off of union dues.

Entering the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was [illegible] gown of heavy white crepe [illegible] with draped [illegible] long pointed sleeves and [illegible] bustle [illegible] into a slight train. Her [illegible] heirloom [illegible] was caught [illegible] and caught at the [illegible] with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls. An all-white bouquet of gardenias and larkspur in cascade completed the bride's lovely ensemble.

Miss Jean McKenzie-Grieve, gowned in misty-blue crepe with square neck, a draped-effect adding interest to both bodice and skirt, was the bride's only attendant. Two ostrich plumes in shades of blue were arranged as her headdress and she carried a small crescent of Dorqua gladioli.

Mr. Arthur C. A. Baker, brother of the bride, was groomsman and ushering were Mr. William Pinkard and Mr. Rodmond Lea.

The reception was held at Oak Bay Beach Hotel, the parents of the young couple assisting them in receiving the guests. Mrs. Baker chose for the occasion a [illegible] ensemble with [illegible] accessories and Mrs. Ford was smart in green silk with matching accessories. The three-tiered cake topped with pink rosebuds centred the prettily decorated table. The [illegible] bride was given by Mr. F. Clifford Adams.

For a honeymoon at Qualicum Beach, the bride wore an apple green doeskin suit with matching hat, brown accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Satin and All-Black Frocks Featured for the Teen Ager

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept 3 (INS) —Next Fall's curious mixture of junior fashions should bring out either the cutie-pie or the Cleopatra in coeds!

Teen-agers—accustomed to dressing in "P.I." (parent-issued) clothes—can now trade the sugar-coating for sophistication. And do it with fashion-dictated propriety.

Fifth Avenue shop windows are stocked this week with an odd combination of trends. Junior mannikins sport creamy satin frocks, prim [illegible] cottons, jeweled shoes and denim jeans.

For the first time, it's up to the back-to-school girl to decide whether she's to be cuddly or coquettish. And it's up to mother to accept all-black dresses, satin jackets, snug hips, and low-dipping necklines for her daughter.

SOPHISTICATED STYLES

[illegible] "big three" junior glamor items for Fall include: 1, Short satin frocks 2, rhinestone and pearl-studded shoes, and 3, all-black date dresses.

Runners-up include heavy gold jewelry, black velvet basque jackets wine-colored coats, and jeweled ankle bracelets.

These high-fashion trends, designed to sophisticate "Sis," are counteracted by dozens of the quaintest, most demure and most casual styles for juniors by seasons

In all of Fifth Avenue's teen departments, buyers agreed that the top sellers will be: Dark plaid clothes in cotton and wool; jumpers in all fabrics; velveteen and corduroy shirts and skirts, and fleece or tweed coats.

They will best sell because, will buyers, "Casuals will sell over glamour clothes, as long as there are mothers."

There will be a strong comeback for Autumn cottons in the teen-age field with colorful ginghams and cotton plaids on every show rack on Fifth Avenue. They range in price from $7.95 to $20.

Most of the dark cottons have either touches of white pique or the newer velveteen trimmings. Their bodices are usually buttoned down the front and the skirts are skinny-hipped but flared at the hem.

CORDUROY SKIRTS

All stores are showing corduroy skirts most of them straight and slim, with separate leather belts. The new flared corduroys have huge pockets on the hips.

Three-button classic jackets are the most popular separates in corduroy, but suits have snug waist-length jackets with rounded shoulders and pockets at the bust-line. The two big corduroy colors for Autumn are dark green and copper.

Jumpers for juniors next season will have tight fitting tops and full gathered skirts. Newest of necklines is the square type to show off tucks, jabots or shirtwaist collars on blouses.

Jumpers are being shown in velveteen, wool plaid, corduroy and (for the very snooty) leopard-stencilled velvet.

Junior shoes will be trickier and dressier than they have been for several seasons—with everything from rhinestones to pearls embroidered on the toe or heel.

Handbags will be smaller and plainer than last season's, lending themselves to trimming with jeweled clips or pins that match the shoes.

But a young lady will look her most ravishing in the rain thanks to a group of new velveteen, twill and cotton storm coats designed with sou'wester hats and umbrellas to match.

Nanaimo Home Awaits Couple

Bronze chrysanthemums and asters in pastel shades decorated St [illegible]' Church, Tuesday at 1 o'clock, when Rev. E. Munn solemnized the marriage of Dorothy Patricia, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H Groom, 1273 Pembroke Street, to Ernest A. J. Lemon, son of Mrs. A. C Lemon, 351 St James Street, and the late Mr Lemon.

The bride, given away by her father, was radiant in a gown of [illegible] shoulder neckline finished with fold of the same material to form cap sleeves and panniers over the hips of the full skirt. The long moire taffeta mitts and bonnet-shaped headdress trimmed with pastel flowers and embroidered shoulder veil matched the bridal gown. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, swainsona and white heather to complete her costume.

Mrs. W S James, matron of honor, gowned in dusky-pink silk taffeta with bustle-back, flower-trimmed bonnet-shaped headdress in the same shade and long mitts, was her sister's only attendant. An arm bouquet of pink carnations and white sweet peas complimented her dress.

The best man was Mr W. S James, and ushers were Mr Donald Kerley and Mr Blair Pulton.

The choir, of which both bride and groom are members sang "O Perfect Love" while the register was being signed, Mrs R Yerburgh presiding at the organ.

The reception was held at Olde England Inn, where Mr and Mrs Groom and Mrs Lemon assisted the young couple in welcoming the guests. The table, decorated with sweet peas and carnations, and lighted white candles, was centred with the three-tiered cake. Mr Munn proposed the health of the bride.

Leaving for the Mainland for a honeymoon by motor, the bride wore a grey gabardine suit with navy blue hat and accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mr and Mrs Lemon will live in Nanaimo.

Princess Margaret, Sharman Douglas Great Friends, Enjoy Impish Pranks

By JOAN CAPREOL

LONDON, Sept. 3 (Reuters)—Sharman Douglas, the American ambassador's blonde daughter whose gamin grin and breezy manner not only conquered London society but also captivated the Royal Family, is not so sure that she wants to settle down in the United States when her father retires.

"She has made so many friends and such good friends that she is torn between the two countries," [illegible]

Best friend of the 20-year-old girl who has developed in two exciting years from a Vassar schoolgirl-in-blazer to a poised chic society hostess, escorted to night clubs by the younger British peers, is Princess Margaret.

If the darling of London gossip columnists is not accompanying Princess Margaret on a constant whirl of social functions including film premieres balls and races, she is not far away.

While Princess Margaret is visiting the Edinbugh festival the ambassador's daughter is at Drumlanrig Castle, the guest of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch.

This American girl has just spent a holiday with the Royal family at Balmoral Castle, the King's Scottish residence. While there she helped Princess Margaret celebrate her 19th birthday.

The two girls interchange their friends, share the same love of impish pranks and set the styles for the younger set.

EYEBROWS LIFTED

[illegible] cently when Princess Margaret and Sharman led a surprise can-can dance, complete with costume, at a fancy dress ball at the Princes Gate home of the American ambassador.

Princess Elizabeth, who turned up as a housemaid, had not been taken into their confidence.

Sharman's father has insisted that she get down to some serious work next week. He has ruled that she finish the secretarial course she started last June at a London business college but with which receptions and Royal garden parties interferred.

BIGGEST TANKER

The largest oil tanker yet to be built in the United Kingdom—the 24,900-ton C J Hambro—is now nearing completion at the Furness Shipbuilding Company. She is being built for Norwegian owners and is expected to start trial runs this week.

The vessel is the first of the new large oil tankers being built in Britain, including ten of 26,000 tons each. Ten similar vessels are on order for Norwegian and American [illegible]

Another British tanker, the British Captain, was launched last week by the shipbuilding firm of Harland & Wolfe. She is over 12,000 tons and designed to carry petroleum in bulk. In the construction of the ship, welding was adopted to a considerable extent.

GIRL GUIDES

The Sixth Victoria East Girl Guide Company will resume meetings on Thursday in the Oak Bay Community Centre Hall at 6:30 p.m. All girls from 11 to 15 years will be welcome. Parents are invited to attend the opening meeting.

Escapes Injury In Accident

William B. Anders, 968 Heywood Avenue, luckily escaped injury at the intersection of Niagara and Government Streets yesterday when [illegible] car overturned after a collision with a car driven by Benjamin Sealey, Jr., Jordan River.

City police said Sealey was driving south on Government Street when his car was in collision with Anders' car which was proceeding west on Niagara Street.

Oil Search On Islands Not First

Possibility of petroleum being found in the Queen Charlotte Islands was described as remote but not impossible in a Federal Government geological report some 33 years ago.

And according to Provincial Government experts, seepages of tarry, oily substances from rocks and shales have been noted for years in the area upon which attention has again been focused by the recent announcement of Royalite Oil Co. to prospect for oil there.

Provincial Mines Department reports show drilling was carried on for some time near Tlell [illegible] on the west coast of Graham Island before the Great War.

In 1916 J. D. MacKenzie, in a report entitled [illegible] of Graham Island, British Columbia, published in the Federal Government's geological survey series, concluded that the possibility of workable bodies of petroleum being found in the Charlottes was regarded as "extremely remote."

That they occur is not regarded as impossible, but nothing to indicate their existence has been seen by this writer, and until some further and more satisfactory natural conditions are found, prospecting blindly with the drill is discouraged.

Pioneer Resident, Mrs. Cates Dies

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (CP).—Mrs. George Cates, 8[illegible], pioneer resident of British Columbia and widow of Capt. George E. Cates, well-known coastal ship builder, died here today.

Mrs. Cates, a native of Newfoundland, came to British Columbia before the turn of the century. She had been in ill health for several years.

Toll Climbs

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP).—At least 13 Canadians have died in Labor Day holiday week-end accidents thus far.

Seven of the deaths have occurred in Ontario.

It is expected the toll will reach well in excess of the 50 mark by the time the holiday comes to an end Monday night.

Fair to Open At Colwood September 10

COLWOOD, Sept. 3.—Colwood's [illegible] Country Fair will get under way at 2 p.m. Saturday, September 10. Being prepared on a larger scale this year, the fair will occupy a large part of the Community Hall grounds as well as the hall itself.

[illegible] held inside the hall in the evening [illegible] this year proceedings will start in mid-afternoon.

The Colwood Community Club is in charge of the midway and concessions, while the Colwood Women's Institute is preparing the exhibits of flowers, vegetables, home cooking and needlework.

JUDGES CHOSEN

Judges of fruit, flowers and vegetables are J. Pearce and M. Bristow, while Mrs. G. C. Stevens [illegible] and Mrs. A. [illegible] will judge the cooking and needlework.

Entries are free and exhibits are donated to the [illegible] sale which will take place during the evening.

Proceeds of the fair will be [illegible] between the two organizations [illegible] to be used for work beneficial to the community.

Acting Commissioner

Agnes Ireland, 36, formerly of Windsor, Ont., will become the first woman to hold the post of acting high commissioner to New Zealand. Miss Ireland, now deputy [illegible] secretary, takes over her [illegible] during the absence of the present acting high commissioner, Dr. W. Gordon Hogg.

New Submarine Cable To Boost Mainland Link

B.C. Telephone Co. [illegible] and plant forces will start on the biggest project [illegible] when [illegible] 12 miles of new submarine cable between Point Roberts and Mayne Island later this month.

Designed to provide additional long distance facilities between the Mainland and Vancouver Island, the new cable eventually will supplement existing [illegible] laid down in 1930 over the same route. The project will cost $[illegible].

ONE PIECE

Manufactured in England, the [illegible] 6[illegible] feet of the new cable will be laid in one piece five and a half miles stretching through United States waters from Point Roberts [illegible] the [illegible] and the remaining six and a half miles [illegible] waters from the [illegible] Mayne [illegible] to 630 feet.

The present all-cable route from Vancouver to Victoria consists of aerial and underground to Point Roberts, submarine from Point Roberts to Mayne Island, aerial across Mayne Island, submarine from Mayne Island to Swartz Bay [illegible] 12 [illegible] from there to Victoria.

[illegible] will be [illegible] the full capacity of the new cable which has a potential [illegible] 45 circuits.

Quality of Air Force Recruits Worries New Zealand Officials

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Sept. 3 (CP).—Air force officials in New Zealand are showing deep concern at the poor quality of would-be airmen.

Of those applying for the air force, 8 per cent fail medically and 28 per cent are rejected on educational grounds as unsuitable. A further 14 per cent withdraw voluntarily so that only half those applying finally enter the force.

Authorities say they are at a loss to understand the low education standards. A written test is considered essential because of the amount of theory in air force training and should be within the grasp of any graduate of an elementary school. Pupils with any high school training should be able to pass it easily.

Even then every allowance is made for the fact that most of the youths are unprepared for a written test and have been away from school for a year or more.

To compensate for this, those who cannot make headway after a [illegible] are handed individually and shown how to tackle the problems set. In spite of this, 28 per cent show no capacity to master the test and are rejected.

Young women seeking to join the Women's Auxiliary Air Force show a higher standard. Only 14 per cent fail on educational grounds. Officials say the average prospective W.A.A.F. is better educated, has a better bearing and personal appearance and a much greater service pride than youths of the same age who apply for admission to the air force.

The [illegible] at Lethbridge, Alberta, is the first of its kind in Canada.

Added Charge Involving Drugs Laid Against East Indian Man

Labh Singh, elderly East Indian, 727 Roderick Street, who has pleaded guilty to wounding Massa Singh, 812 Roderick Street, was charged at a special sitting of Saanich police court yesterday with having possession of morphine.

The offence is contrary to the Opium and Narcotics Drug Act and is alleged to have taken place August 27. The charge was laid by Constable W. E. McLatchie of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Labh told Magistrate H. C. Hall he wanted to retain a lawyer to defend him and was granted a remand to next Thursday. He is in custody.

The first charge laid by Saanich police was the result of a fight at the home of Massa Singh on August 27. Labh is awaiting sentence on this count. He was employed at the Esquimalt drydock. Subsequent investigation by the R.C.M.P. resulted in the drug charge being laid.

Constable McLatchie told Magistrate Hall that an application has been made to Ottawa for counsel for the case.

CITY POLICE COURT

Joseph A. Hudlin, 1311 Pembroke Street, was fined $30 by Magistrate Hall when found guilty on a careless driving charge arising out of a Gorge Road accident August 21. Similar charge against Alvin K. Lord, 204 [illegible] Road, arising out of the same accident, was dismissed by the magistrate.

Clarence A. Hind, [illegible] Cedar Hill Road, pleaded not guilty to a dangerous driving charge arising out of an accident Friday night at the intersection of [illegible] Avenue and Blackwood Street. He was remanded to Tuesday for trial. Hind was taken into custody after the accident. Charge was laid by Constable Donald Bale.

Rural Homes Too Costly, Report Says

Costs of homes in the rural districts near Victoria are pegged a little high, real estate operators here believe, according to a recent report.

At present time, the report states, a home in the country costs as much as a comparable one in the city.

With that established, you have to start weighing up the pros and cons.

HAVE ADVANTAGES

Advantages of the rural home include lower taxes and more land in most cases, it is pointed out.

On the other hand, most people have to add transportation costs to the general estimate when considering a home outside the city.

[illegible] sales of property and homes in outlying districts have slowed down, real estate agents say.

Despite [illegible] sales, prices are holding steady.

Bars of Gold "Just Cheese" To Employees

[illegible] would you like to work alongside half a million dollar's worth of gold?

Employees of the Dominion Government assay office here do it frequently, but it doesn't affect their equilibrium in any way.

"Why, it's just like a bunch of cheese to us," said one man, as he gazed at a pile of dull, yellow bars on a table.

Workers casually wander around the office with carts bearing the bars, each sufficient to keep a man financially happy for the rest of his days. As Government merchants the employees buy and value gold daily. This is the only office of its kind outside the Royal Mint at Ottawa.

The precious yellow wealth arrives from the provincial mines by air mail or air express. Some consignments are in powder or nugget form, which are melted down into ingots and assayed.

More than $4,000,000 worth of gold passed through the office in 1948. In the late 30s it was common to have twice that amount.

Originally opened in 1901 to cope with the influx of gold from the fabulous Klondike fields, the office has been doing a thriving business ever since.

Farmer in Regina Plains Happy After Five-Day Harvesting Job

YELLOW GRASS, Sask., Sept. 3 (CP).—There is a big difference in this year's estimated $400,000,000 [illegible] $70,000,000 yield the province harvested in 1934. For one thing there has been an increase in the price of wheat from 60 cents a bushel to about $2.

There have been other changes in the last 15 years.

Take Farmer Herbert Erb, 29-year-old World War veteran, as an example.

ONE MAN NEEDED

This week he finished harvesting a 4,000-bushel wheat crop in the rich Regina plains farming country about 60 miles southeast of the Saskatchewan capital.

The job was done in five days with a self-propelled combine, requiring one man. Erb, clean-shaven and no manure on his boots—he hasn't cows or horses—hauled the [illegible] while his helper took off the crop.

In the nearby town of Yellow Grass, farmers have built $15,000 homes. A farmer with a new car is the rule rather than the exception. Winters at Vancouver and California are commonplace.

Fifteen years ago on his fathers' farm, Erb recalled that harvesting was a month-long operation. Stookers set up sheaves from dawn to dusk for little more than $2 a day. A combine expert this year gets $12 for a ten-hour day.

In 1934 stookers were followed by a 15-man threshing crew who filled the farmhouse and bunkhouses and kept the womenfolk cooking all hours.

Gone is the once-thrilling call "the threshers are coming." But as Erb put it: "That's the way to farm. I can't imagine any job like it."

STRAIGHT BACK

He [illegible] at the [illegible] about [illegible] of keeping them down on the farm after they've seen Paree. After seeing Paris and [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] Canadian [illegible] [illegible] Erb headed straight back to farming.

He [illegible] a debt-free [illegible] 320 acres [illegible] his machinery at $20,000. The [illegible] had [illegible] few years.

But while Erb was busy taking 25 [illegible] farmers in other parts of the province were [illegible].

Announce Dates For Music Tests

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2 (CP).—The 1950 British Columbia musical competition festival will be held here March 28 to April 5.

Adjudicators will be Russell Green, choral classes; John Sterling, instrumental, and Alex Redshaw, vocal. All three are being brought here from England.

Hugues Lapointe Comes Closer To Father's Post in Cabinet

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (CP).—Ten years ago political observers were predicting that Hugues Lapointe would follow in his famous father's footsteps and become Canada's Minister of Justice. This week that prediction came within a step of being realized.

The popular 36-year-old Hugues, known to his friends as "Bob," was appointed Solicitor-General. In the post he will deal with many of the problems that come under the jurisdiction of the Justice Department.

Observers are now saying he will spend a short period of training in the post and take over the justice portfolio from Hon. Stuart Garson.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Hugues did not serve long in the Commons with his father, the late Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe. He was elected to the Commons in 1940 and a little more than a year later his father died. Hugues spent part of that year Overseas. He returned for the funeral but then went back Overseas. He was wounded during the invasion of France.

His training in the Army where he rose to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, was put to good use when he returned to the Commons after the general election of 1945. He was appointed Parliamentary Assistant to the Defence Minister and in the Commons handled many of the problems affecting the Army.

Last year he was appointed Parliamentary Assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson, and he still held that post when he was elevated to the Cabinet.

LEARNING

Hugues is not the forceful colorful speaker his father was but political observers say he is learning.

Many have difficulty pronouncing his rather unusual first name which frequently in error is spelled Hughes. There appears to be some disagreement over the correct pronunciation. Most, including Mr. Lapointe, pronounce it "Uge" almost like the Indian grunt "Ugh." Others pronounce the "H" just slightly.

This is probably why his friends just call him Bob.

Wheat Crop Estimated At 346,000,000 Bushels

WINNIPEG, Sept. 3 (CP).—The Winnipeg Tribune places Western Canada's wheat crop at 346,000,000 bushels, compared with 363,000,000 bushels harvested in 1948, and says heat has pared crop yields for the current season, with wheat suffering the heaviest bushel loss when compared with yields in prospect early in August.

In its sixth and final telegraphic crop report, The Tribune forecast a wheat crop of 59,000,000 bushels for Manitoba, compared with 57,000,000 bushels a year ago. The outturn is almost 5,000,000 bushels less than that predicted early in August.

Saskatchewan's 1949 wheat crop estimated now at 200,000,000 bushels, is 11,000,000 bushels less than the Tribune's preliminary estimate of August 10, and compares with 191,000,000 bushels produced in 1948.

The Alberta wheat estimate has been pared less than 1,000,000 bushels when compared with an estimate of less than a month ago, and is set at 86,200,000 bushels, against 115,000,000 bushels harvested in 1948.

The newspaper said that with the production figure down this year as compared with last, smaller yields are being realized on larger seeded acreage. The average yield of 13 bushels an acre in 1949 compares with an average yield of 15.8 bushels an acre for 1948.

In 1948, 23,045,000 acres were sown to wheat in Western Canada, compared with 26,490,000 acres sown to the same crop this year.

The Tribune estimates the 1949 oat crop for the Prairie Provinces at 206,000,000 bushels compared with 224,000,000 in 1948. Barley production is placed at 111,000,000 bushels, or 31,000,000 bushels fewer than in 1948.

Flax production is estimated at 1,706,000,000 bushels, on an acreage greatly decreased as compared with last year. The 1948 flax crop in Western Canada totaled 16,500,000 bushels.

The rye crop in the three Prairie Provinces is estimated at 11,200,000 bushels, compared with 22,350,000 bushels in 1948.

BABY'S CONSTIPATION
SERIOUS IF NEGLECTED

BABY'S daily movements are something of which absolutely accurate track must be kept. When he misses, something must be done at once. Constipation is serious for baby.

Mrs. John T. Reid of Hespeler, Ont., has this to say: "Having had seven children and having used Baby's Own Tablets for all seven can say they are the best and gentlest regulator for children. During teething Baby's Own Tablets were a boon to me as they cleared up at once any digestive disturbance or fretfulness."

Equally effective for simple fever, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ailments of babyhood.

Quick in their action. Sweet tasting—easily crushed to a powder if desired. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Get a box today. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if not satisfied.

One of Last In Old Trade

MONTREAL, Sept. 3 (CP).—Thomas Lamoureux, 70-year-old native of Kingston, Ont., is a craftsman who for 20 years has used an old beef-bone in his business. He uses it to patch up broken pieces from ivory statues.

One of the last of the once-common china-craftsmen, Lamoureux has been repairing damaged crockery, fine china, glassware and crystal ornaments since he learned his trade from his father at the age of [illegible].

He came to Montreal 20 years ago and established his trade here. Working in his rear basement room, he claims he has used the same beef bone for repairs for 20 years now.

He says he never charges by the value of the damaged objects but by the rivet. The most expensive object he ever patched up was a pair of Chinese vases worth $5,000. He charged $3 for the work.

Of Saskatchewan's 120,000 farmers, 50,000 this year will receive $12,000,000 in aid under the Federal Government's Prairie Farm Assistance Act. One of the heaviest payments since the act was passed ten years ago, it will go to farmers who have a wheat yield of eight bushels or less to the acre.

Most of the payments will go to the almost-perennial drought area in Southwestern Saskatchewan but partial losses also were suffered in [illegible]

Bumper yields in the north and northeast, however, are expected to give Saskatchewan an all-over total of about 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. Thus the Central Prairie Province again will produce the lion's share of Canada's wheat.

Massage

By DR. J. B. WARREN

When you are massaged there is no increase in work done by the heart and lungs and only a slight increase in circulation of blood as there is no increase of acid in the blood.

However, massage opens up the little blood vessels in the part massaged and thus removes wastes and broken-down material from the part. It increases amount of oxygen in the red blood cells for an hour following the massage.

EXTRA PRECAUTIONS

Sgt. Brooke Douglass [illegible] has explained why safety patrols do not operate at the primary schools, namely Quadra Primary, Spring Ridge, Bank Street, Kingston Street and Beacon Hill. The reason, according to the sergeant, is that the children range in age from five to eight years and it is deemed inadvisable to place the degree of responsibility upon children of such tender years.

Motorists therefore are respectfully asked to take extra precautions when passing these school [illegible] stated Sgt. Douglass.

Police officials point out the difference between the 15-mile-per-hour school signs and the 15-mile-per-hour speed limit signs for restricted zones which are displayed at certain danger points throughout the city.

EFFECTIVE 24 HOURS

They explain that the school signs are in force from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. whereas the 15-mile-per-hour speed limit signs are in force 24 hours a day. These signs are currently displayed at the following places: Pandora Avenue at Cook Street; Begbie Street between Stanley and Belmont Avenues (Stadacona Park); [illegible] Street and Pandora Avenue [illegible]

Regulations Concerning Burial Of Ex-Servicemen Explained

Regulations with regard to burial of ex-servicemen are explained in a brief released last week by the local office of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

"It is evident that these regulations are not well known," it is stated in the letter addressed to veterans [illegible]

The following points are explained:

1. The D.V.A. will not be responsible for funeral expenses when a patient dies while on treatment strength. Burial may be made in any cemetery in accordance with the regulations. Authorized headstones are erected about six months after the burial.

2. If the deceased is a disability pensioner it is [illegible] may be [illegible] in accordance with Section 31 of the Pension Act which provides for [illegible] payment of funeral expenses by the department if the estate is not sufficient. The payment in all such cases does not exceed $1[illegible] provided [illegible] for the burial does not exceed $150.

SPECIAL APPLICATION

[illegible]

3. In case [illegible] burial is the responsibility of the next of kin.

4. The department advises request for assistance from the Last Post Fund through the nearest veteran organization if there is financial distress at the time of ex-serviceman's death.

"The Last Post Fund application must be made by the family of the deceased before the burial," it is emphasized. Applications after the funeral will not be considered.

[illegible] strength or while serving in the Canadian Army, navy or air force may be buried in the Veterans Cemetery administered by the D.V.A. here.

The brief ends with the statement that deaths of all veterans [illegible] be reported to nearest veterans officer or direct to the D.V.A. office.

What About CROSS-COUNTRY TRAVEL with a HILLMAN?

READ WHAT A RURAL MAILMAN HAS TO SAY ABOUT HIS 12,323 MILES OF DRIVING ON COUNTRY ROADS

Mr. Robt. H. Forsyth, of Grimsby, Ont., whose letter praising the Hillman is one of many received from happy Hillman owners

"I've driven my Hillman 12,323 miles since last December," writes Mr. Forsyth, "and this is just to tell you how pleased I am with it. Naturally, my job takes me over all kinds of roads in all kinds of weather, but I've never once been stuck! Some of the farm tracks in my territory are full of deep holes and ruts that would severely test the biggest cars made. But even under those conditions my Hillman is amazingly comfortable and holds the roads well! I'm getting really good gas mileage—about 3? miles per gallon with 230 stops at Rural Mail Boxes."

"I can speak very highly of my local Hillman dealer," adds Mr. Forsyth. "Everyone from boss to mechanics has given me first-class service."

For the convenience of Hillman owners, a permanent network of dealers provides parts and service from coast to coast in Canada and the U.S.A. Arrange now with your dealer for a Hillman demonstration ride!

Little Stories for Bedtime . . .

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE ANGRY TRAPPER

Jerry Muskrat had about decided that Farmer Brown's Boy wasn't coming back when he heard footsteps and a moment later Farmer Brown's Boy appeared coming down the Laughing Brook toward the Smiling Pool. Jerry remained hidden where he could not be seen but where he himself could see all that went on around the Smiling Pool.

In one hand Farmer Brown's Boy carried a bunch of things that clanked as he walked. Jerry knew what they were. He would know those things as far as he could see them. They were steel traps. Jerry scowled as he saw them. The sound of them hitting together sent little cold shivers over him. They were dreadful things, even more dreadful than that terrible gun. There was nothing to fear from the latter save when they were in the hands of hunters, and any one with his wits about him ought to be able to see a hunter in time to seek safety. But these dreadful traps were left hidden in the very place where a fellow had the right to feel safest, ready to seize him in cruel steel jaws and hold him to suffer pain and dreadful [illegible] could think of nothing so dreadful as those steel traps and so he shivered at the sight of them.

Farmer Brown's Boy threw the traps down on the bank of the Smiling Pool. His usually sunny face was clouded. From his pocket he took a piece of paper and a pencil. Then he sat down and began to write. When he had finished he went over to Jerry's favorite log and thrust a stick in the bank just above it. The top of the stick was split and in this he slipped the piece of paper. Then he went back, gathered up the traps, slung them over his shoulder and tramped off in the direction of home.

All the rest of that day Jerry kept an eye on that piece of paper at the end of his favorite old log. It puzzled him. He didn't go near it. He didn't dare to. He was suspicious of it. It might be a new kind of trap. Jerry was very unhappy. Early the next morning Jerry heard some one coming down the Laughing Brook. He promptly hid where he could watch. In a few minutes the stranger whom he had one time thought his friend appeared and it was plain to be seen that he was very angry. He was muttering as he strode along. Almost at once he saw the piece of paper left by Farmer Brown's Boy. He strode over to it, picked it up and read it. This is what was on it:

"No trapping or hunting is allowed on this property. You, whoever you are, can get your traps at Farmer Brown's house."

The trapper turned and shook his fist in the direction of Farmer Brown's. Then, still muttering, he walked away hurriedly, but not in the direction of Farmer Brown's. Jerry didn't understand it at all but for some unknown reason he felt better.

Pass	Pass	Pass

West should have ignored the double of four spades to outbid five hearts, but as it happened the one-trick sacrifice this would have entailed proved to be unnecessary!

Not wanting to lead from either of his major tenaces, West opened his singleton diamond. The ace won, and the lead of the heart ace dropped the outstanding trump. Then perhaps hoping that he would win all the tricks declarer played the diamond king from dummy. He was doomed to disappointment, however when East turned up with the stopper. Apparently, South felt that his only chance was to establish the diamond suit, so he led a third round, giving the trick to East. That defender lost no time in shifting to a club, and West collected two tricks to defeat the contract.

South was in a highly advantageous position in this deal, if he had only known it! With the outstanding heart's dropping on the first lead of the suit it should have been only a minor annoyance that the diamonds did not break 2-2! Upon seeing the diamond break, declarer should have realized that it would be fatal to go ahead and give a diamond trick to East permitting a club return through the king! Why not avoid this danger through a very simple manoeuvre? Instead of leading the third diamond, South should have played dummy's spade king and discarded his own third diamond! He could easily control West's return, go to dummy with a trump, ruff out the diamond suit and return once more with a trump to cash the established diamond tricks.

PLAZA THEATRE A grand triple billing at the Plaza this week William Tracy in "Tanks a Million," "Yanks Ahoy" and "About Face." Don't miss this laugh-packed masterpiece of mirth.

FOX THEATRE On our screen for three days is an excellent combination double bill with Edward G. Robinson and his usual superior drama in one picture and William Powell supplying the comedy for the lighter side in the other picture.

ROYAL THEATRE One of the happiest and most satisfying motion pictures ever made is showing Monday at the Royal Theatre and this reviewer left it in a glow after having seen it. It is Paramount's picturization of Damon Runyon's "Sorrowful Jones," co-starring Bob Hope and Lucille Ball and featuring in important roles William Demarest, Bruce Cabot, Thomas Gomez, Tom Pedi and little Mary Jane Saunders.

OAK BAY THEATRE The joys and tears of a typical American family and the first romance of a teen-age daughter are treated with gentle humor and appealing tenderness in "Cynthia," which heads the program on the Oak Bay screen this week.

CAPITOL THEATRE Clark Gable and Alexis Smith form the exciting new romantic team in "Any Number Can Play," which opens at the Capitol Theatre this week as one of the year's top attractions. [illegible] drama of a night in the life of a big-time gambler, the M-G-M hit also features Wendell Corey, Audrey Totter, Frank Morgan, Mary Astor, Lewis Stone, Barry Sullivan and Marjorie Rambeau.

ODEON THEATRE Is there such a thing as a perfect woman? Yes, there definitely is in the new Two Cities film, "The Perfect Woman." She is a robot made by a scientist, she obeys a few simple words of command, can't talk, eat or sleep, and only shows violent emotion if the word "love" is mentioned. Patricia Roc and Nigel Patrick are co-starred with Stanley Holloway in this mirthful masterpiece.

ATLAS THEATRE Richard Widmark, Lionel Barrymore and Dean Stockwell are starred in the new Twentieth Century-Fox sailing film, "Down to the Sea in Ships," the story of the adventures of the men aboard the Pride of Bedford, a whaling brig. It is set in the 1880's and is replete with action and adventure.

ORGANIZE TRAP LINES

CRANBERRY PORTAGE, Man. (CP)—Trap Line Inspector H. Wells flew to Norway House recently to discuss plans for registered trapping lines for Indians and others. He said the Indians are in favor of registering their lines and he hopes to gain the assent of part-time trappers to the plan.

Many Join St. Laurent In Tribute

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 3 (CP)—Canadians from all walks of life joined with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent yesterday in paying tribute to the memory of Senator Ian Mackenzie of British Columbia who died here early today from a heart attack.

The Prime Minister, who arrived here only a few hours before Senator Mackenzie's death, said: "I have been shocked to learn of the sudden death of the Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie.

"Senator Mackenzie was a senior colleague in the Government when I joined the Mackenzie King Administration in 1941 and I recall with gratitude his many courtesies and kindness in the days when I was new to public life.

"The memory of Ian Mackenzie will long be cherished by the hundreds of thousands of veterans whose welfare was his first concern until he was obliged by failing health to retire from the Administration.

"His death will leave a large gap in the Upper House of Parliament and in the Liberal Party to whose interests he was so deeply devoted."

Stanley H. McCuaig of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Bar Association, said Senator Mackenzie was [illegible] a gracious [illegible], a gallant soldier in the Great War and a statesman whose long record of devoted service to this country will be remembered by his fellow citizens."

In Vancouver, Senator S. S. McKeen said that Shaughnessy Military Hospital and [illegible] Hospital [illegible] are "Senator Ian Mackenzie's greatest monuments."

ECCLES, Lancashire, England (CP)—Don't let grannie or auntie kiss or croon over your baby, says Dr. J. F. Spence, Eccles' health officer. The kiss, he says, might mean an infection. But he adds: "I don't expect to see my advice carried out in my lifetime."

Drought in South Africa Takes Big Toll of Life

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Sept. 3 (CP).—The Eastern Cape of South Africa has been burned powder-dry by its worst drought in history.

In some sections no rain has fallen since the last week in May. Estimates of the human dead in the native territories of Ciskei and Transkei run as high as 2,000.

The native commissioner's office says the bodies of 12,700 cattle and of more than 20,000 sheep and goats dot the once fertile pastures of Ciskei alone.

Report of similar condtions come from [illegible] in the Northwest Cape, on the opposite side of the province.

In other parts of the Union rain has been abundant. The wheat growing interior of the Cape expects crops well up to average.

In the drought areas cattlemen are hacking the branches off bushes with edible leaves and cutting the prickly pears in a desperate attempt to keep their herds alive.

Some cattlemen have moved their animals hundreds of miles to the still green pastures of the Free State and Transvaal.

The Government has a long-range plan to ease future droughts. Dr. J. C. Ross, director of soil conservation, estimates the plan eventually will cost approximately $400,000,000.

Scoop Sand Out of River

CHESTER, England, Sept. 3 (CP).—A giant floating "vacuum-cleaner," pumping day and night, is scooping up tens of thousands of tons of sand from the tidal marshes of the River Dee.

Saturated sand is shot through two miles of pipes and spilled out on the soggy shore near Shotton, on the Cheshire side at the head of the estuary. The poured sand is compacted into the firmest of building foundations. A blast furnace and coke ovens will be built on it.

Netherlands engineers are doing the job.

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "She is a widow woman."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "italic"?

3. Which one of [illegible] misspelled? [illegible] peaceful.

4. What does the word "apothegm" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with fe that means "capable of being done, practicable"?

ANSWERS

1. Omit woman. 2. Pronounce first i as in [illegible] 3. Peaceful. 4. A short, pithy and instructive saying. "A good apothegm is often a safe master to follow." (Pronounce ap-o-them, a as in at, th as in think, accent first syllable.) 5. Feasible.

U.K. Emigrants Taking Homes To Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 3 (Reuters). — House-hungry Australians have welcomed an announcement that 1,000 British railway workshop workers will migrate to Australia this year bringing their own prefabricated houses with them.

The "bring your own homes" plan —called by W. S. Kent Hughes, Victoria Transport Minister, "operation snail"—grew out of negotiations between the Victoria Government, architects and builders, the British Board of Trade and a firm of prefabricated house contractors in Nottingham, England.

HOUSES ORDERED

When it was known here that the railwaymen and their families were willing to migrate as a group, the Victorian premier cabled an order to Nottingham for 1,000 prefabricated houses to accompany them.

Some of the prefabs have arrived to augment Victoria's railway staffs.

The finished cost of the prefabs in Australia is expected, Hughes said, to be £1,420 ($5,680) for a three-bedroomed house, inclusive of fencing, paths and all services.

Overseas Briefs

WYE, Kent, England (CP).—A new housing estate here will have 36 varieties of trees and shrubs lining the avenues.

BLACKPOOL, England (CP).—Mice bred by David Wilks, ten, won four first prizes at Lytham St. Anne's Agricultural Society Show.

MITCHELDEAN, Gloucestershire, England (CP).—John Thomas, 80, a Boer War veteran, married Emma Trigg, 88, in Mitcheldean Church.

WATFORD, Hertfordshire, England (CP).—A church and a brewery are being considered for preservation as ancient buildings here.

WHITTLESEY, Cambridgeshire, England (CP).—A jeep was used to land a dolphin ten feet long and weighing 1,344 pounds in the River Nene here.

DERBY, England (CP).—With a £400 ($1,600) grant from the Carnegie Trust, Derby is organizing an exhibition portraying 150 years' industrial history of the town and surrounding country. It will be held in Derby's century-old museum.

Australia Counting Up Losses After One of Severest Winters

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 3 (CP).—Australians will not soon forget the Winter of 1949.

It hasn't only been the weather. But it's no wonder they look hopefully to Springtime when one adds to record winds and rains and the worst snowfalls in some parts for 40 years all the rigors of a general coal strike.

WORST SUFFERERS

New South Wales, the south-eastern state that holds 30 per cent of Australia's population, has suffered worse than the rest of the Commonwealth. Autumn rains created a record and meteorologists warned that a bad Winter lay ahead. But they couldn't foresee the coal strike that lasted seven weeks.

The strike put about 500,000 Australians out of work. To everyone in New South Wales it brought daily discomfort. With the country's largest coal seams at its back door, the state has never bothered about any other source of power for making electricity. The other states have developed their own resources, turning to water or soft coal.

COAL STOCKS "FROZEN"

They were not so badly hit therefore when all hard coal production stopped in New South Wales, however, householders were without electric or gas radiators for seven weeks [illegible] were [illegible] most people were able [illegible] of the Hunter River Valley people [illegible] north of Sydney. Here is produced [illegible] Australia's [illegible] most of [illegible] In the [illegible] June the Hunter River rose rapidly and burst through its protective levees. It swept [illegible] the town of Maitland and flooded while the slowly dropping floods left their homes covered in foul-smelling mud. Seven people, caught by the floodwaters, died during a disastrous week-end at the end of June.

Agricultural experts still haven't figured out the flood damage but a fair estimate is probably about £1,000,000 in pastures, orchards and stock.

Further south in New South Wales heavy snowfalls killed about 50,000 sheep and blocked communications for days. Canberra had its heaviest snowfall for 30 years.

Investigation Underway in U.K. On Outlay to "Sick" Workers

LONDON, Sept. 3 (CP).—An investigation is under way to determine whether British workers are [illegible] the Supply Ministry [illegible] and the Government [illegible] whether the outlay is justified.

Under the National Insurance plan, the 60,000 workers in the ministry's Royal Ordnance factories are allowed full pay for 13 weeks a year during sickness. In event of illness for a further 13 weeks, half pay is drawn.

BETTER OFF SICK

Workers often draw extra funds from special "sick clubs." This means that some are better off when away sick than when working.

As part of the Government investigation, personal appeals will be made. Jack Jones, parliamentary secretary to the supply ministry, is [illegible] factories for heart-to-heart talks [illegible] workers. [illegible] Government that if they exploit the National Insurance scheme [illegible] at the expense of [illegible] said Jones [illegible] worker.

CLAIMS INCREASE

Since National Insurance went into effect July 5, 1948, sickness benefit claims by Royal Ordnance employees have increased by about 30 per cent. The amount of time taken off also has increased.

Officials say they are convinced some men are feigning illness for several days at a time.

In the first year of the insurance scheme as a whole, there were 7,000,000 new claims for sickness benefit. Claims rose to a peak of 220,000 a week in February and now run about 100,000 a week.

Canadian's Criticism Gets Lively Response

LONDON, Sept. 3 (CP).—Seen through Canadian eyes, London is often a city of second-rate restaurants, old-fashioned hotels and dreariness after dark.

Arthur L. Woods, visiting the British capital after 25 years in Canada, summed up these common complaints in a letter to the Daily Telegraph. He said the "smallest hamlet in the backwoods of Canada" offers better service than London after 5:30 p.m.

"I couldn't buy cigarettes, a magazine, a paper, fruit or drugs after 5:30 p.m.," he wrote.

The response was lively.

WOODS CHIDED

M. E. Wood, who identified himself as a fellow Canadian now living in London, chided Woods for bad manners. In a letter to the same newspaper, he said that if Woods had spent the war in England he would have realized homes had to be restored before hotels.

Two Londoners supported Woods. George Campbell said the criticism was only too well justified. "Our caterers," he said, "are still offering the technique of the school picnic without the fresh air."

Mrs. Z. L. Law of Edgware, London, said she finds interest and variety in the British capital, but agreed that certain amenities are lacking.

Uses Plane To Supply Pub's "Needs"

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 3 (CP).—Beer, as North Americans who were here during the war discovered, is more than merely Australia's national drink. It is a sport, hobby or necessity, according to one's viewpoint.

For many Sydney men the fact that beer supplies were thin for nearly two months during the coal strike was the worst feature of the entire labor dispute.

But one Sydney hotel keeper kept supplies going right through the drought thanks to a midget racing plane which he keeps at a nearby airport.

He is A. J. R. Oates, RAAF squadron leader and D.F.C. winner during the war. When he came back to civilian life, he bought a tiny monoplane which had twice won the Kings' Cup air race in Britain. It is the fastest small private plane in this district.

But Oates doesn't use it only for racing. Whenever beer supplies at his pub, The Good Intent, are running short he wheels out his plane and explores the brewing position anywhere in the 1,200 miles between Brisbane to the north and Adelaide to the south.

Lung Disease Takes Big Toll In Coal Mines

MERTHYR TYDFIL, Wales, Sept. 3 (CP).—Every year close to 2,000 South Wales miners are forced to give up the work which assures them their daily bread. They become infected with pneumoconiosis, a disease of the lungs caused by breathing coal dust.

The Government in London is trying to do something for them. But its elaborate scheme of re-employment promises to be a flop.

Most pneumoconiotics can work providing the job does not involve heavy labor and the place of employment is reasonably free of dust. A minority have the disease in an advanced stage and can work only in specially sheltered conditions. These are reasonably well taken care of.

SPECIAL FACTORIES

For the larger group the Government has built ten special factories. The idea was to rent these plants to private firms at low cost on condition at least half the employees were disabled miners.

But private enterprise has balked. It has found the ex-miners inept at intricate and delicate work. And that is about the only kind their conditions of employment permit.

Of the ten factories built, six have found tenants. These have employed so far a total of 56 pneumoconiotics of whom there are some 4,000 unemployed.

At What Age Will You Go Bald?
Nature Warns You When Hair Loss is on the Way
Look in a mirror, and picture yourself 5 years from now.
If you see signs of thinning hair now—hair that looks drab and dull—if you see dandruff, take warning!
Dandruff often warns you of thinning hair, unhealthy scalp. This is because your hair traps dirt, dust and grime from the air. These combine with scalp oil, dried skin and perspiration to form a waxy accumulation of dandruff lying tightly on your scalp. Your hair is choked off from nourishment it needs, may become dull, lifeless and thin out.
For healthy, good-looking hair, you should dissolve away all dirt and dandruff from your scalp. Use Fitch Dandruff Remover Shampoo, the only shampoo guaranteed to remove dandruff.
Fitch works right down into the thousands of tiny hair openings in your scalp. It leaves your scalp antiseptically clean, able to breathe freely, so your hair can be healthy, lustrous, alive-looking.
Prove It Yourself
Get Fitch Dandruff Remover Shampoo for healthy, good-looking hair—try the economy size, 69c. Be proud of your hair—start Fitch care tonight.

Italians in Africa Prefer Freedom Or British to Return of Home Rule

TRIPOLI, Sept. 3 (AP). — The human tragedy of nearly 75,000 Italians in Africa seems to be forgotten as diplomats wrangle over the future of Italy's former colonies.

In lands where once they were masters these Italian men, women and children live with insecurity as a constant companion.

Like the rusting Fascist tanks on the desert, their old way of colonial life is a ruin of Mussolini's New Roman Empire.

ARABS MENACE FUTURE

Dynamic Arab nationalism menaces their future.

Not even the Italians seem to know what they want. Here in Tripolitania, where 40,000 live, it is estimated that more than one-half are afraid of a return of Italian rule.

British and United States sources give these reasons:

1. Arab nationalism is stronger than ever before. The Mufti of Libya has said he would lead an armed revolt if Italian rule returned. Local Italians fear they might be massacred by outraged Arabs despite efforts of the British occupation forces to protect them.

GOOD JOBS THREATENED

2. Many young Italians feel all the good jobs would be taken by metropolitan Italians and they would be regarded as colonials fit only for second-class positions if Italian rule returned. These young men feel it is to their economic interest if Tripolitania goes under British trusteeship or even becomes free.

3. Under the Peace Treaty Italy has only three divisions and no bombers. Many Italians fear there would be no safety for them with Italy so weak militarily. Not until 1930 did the Italians finish off Libya. Today the Arab independence movement is stronger than ever.

Tripolitania remains the big problem.

Most ardent foe of a return of Italian rule among the Italians is Dr. Errico Cibelli, one-time Fascist colonial official.

"The Libyans will never accept Italian rule again. It would endanger the lives of all of us Italians if the U.N. gave Tripolitania back to Italy," he said in an interview.

Fire Rates Cut In B.C. Cities

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (CP).—Reductions in British Columbia fire insurance rates have been announced by Graham Rose, chief surveyor for the province's 173 board insurance firms.

Rates on dwellings in Vancouver and Victoria were slashed by 10 per cent, and elsewhere in the province the rate will be cut by [illegible] per cent in towns and cities with fire protection.

The cut does not apply to towns and cities classed as unprotected or semi-protected. This class received a rate reduction April 1.

Tiremen Take Lead In Provincial Final

Norm Martin Blanks New Westminster, 4-0, In Softball Series Opener—Two Games Today

Backing Norm Martin's six-hit hurling with a flawless fielding performance, Douglas Tire, city and Island senior "A" men's softball champions, blanked New Westminster Army and Navy, 4-0, at Upper Central last night to take a one-game lead in the best-of-five series for the Provincial title. Second and third games are billed for 2 and 5.30 p.m. today, with the fourth and fifth contests, if necessary, scheduled for tomorrow.

Tiremen garnered seven hits from the offerings of Jim Aitken but they bunched five of them into two scoring innings. Singles by Gar Taylor, Jimmy Morrison and Vic Dale gave them two runs in the first frame and Martin's single, a fielder's choice, Taylor's triple and a wild pitch accounted for the final two markers in the fifth.

WELL-PITCHED GAME

Army and Navy could only put two singles together in the fourth inning as Martin exhibited near-perfect control, walking a lone batter. He took ten batters on strikes and had kept them off stride with a sharp drop and smart change-up.

Taylor and Dale paced Tiremen's attack each with two for four. Reg Jerome, with two for three, and Sid Martin, with two for four, led the visitors.

With Charlie McKay away on holidays, Manager Jim Lackie is faced with a pitching problem for the second game of this afternoon's twin bill. Ken Gunder will start the opening contest at 2 p.m. and if he goes well may come right back again in the second game. Russ Briscoe and Earl Lee were named by Manager Dave Blair to start for New Westminster.

Naval Golfers Seek Golf Cup

The R.C.N. Golf Association will stage the inter-ship competition for possession of the Cole Trophy at the Uplands Golf Club Thursday. H.M.C. Dockyard is the present holder of the trophy.

The five teams, H.M.C.S. Naden, H.M.C. Dockyard, H.M.C.S. Ontario, Reserve Fleet and Canadian Service College, may play as many players as they wish but only the six low gross scores of each team will count for possession of the cup.

There will be, in addition to the team competition, an individual low net competition, high and low hidden hole competition, a "kickers" handicap and a "poker hand" competition.

Entries must reach the ship's golf representative or Mr. Foster, secretary of the association, before noon, Tuesday. Draw and starting times will be published Wednesday.

Crippled Vet Completes Channel Swim

CALAIS, Sept. 3 (INS).—Fernand Dumoulin, a crippled Belgian war hero, fought his way successfully across the stormy English Channel tonight in a 21-hour battle, then collapsed on the rocky coast near Dover. He became the 29th person to complete the crossing.

His trainer said Dumoulin, 34-year-old industrialist, was officially timed in 21 hours and 1 minute. This was nearly three hours better than the 23 hours and 48 minutes taken by Philip Mickman, 18-year-old British schoolboy, who is the only other person to have swum the Channel this year.

The best record time since 1875, when Channel swimming began, was set in 1926 by Veneslas Spacek of Czecho-Slovakia. He was clocked in 10 hours and 45 minutes.

Gertrude Ederle of the United States holds the women's record of 14 hours and 31 minutes, set in 1926.

Victoria Athletics have yet to cinch fifth place in the W.I.L., but two budding New York Yankee farmhands performed well enough to win berths on The Colonist's all-star club, selected each season at the request of the league, which names the official all-star club from selections submitted by baseball writers.

Named as the best in their position by the writer are Second Baseman Gil McDougald and Southpaw Jim Propst. McDougald is certain to receive stiff competition from Vancouver's Len Tran for the keystone berth, but Propst can hardly fail to be recognized as the W.I.L.'s top left-hander.

GREAT RECORD

Since joining the club with the season six weeks old, Propst has won 17 out of 23 decisions, and gone the route 20 times in 24 starts. He leads the league in shutouts, with four and in strikeouts, with 192 in 188 innings of pitching.

Conceding that Tran holds a def- Conceding that Tran holds a definite defensive edge over McDougald, the Victoria second baseman gets a close nod on the strength of superior hitting ability and a steadily improving brand of play which labels him as a prospect who could go all the way.

In every position there is certain to be a wide divergence of opinion. The number of capable veteran players in the league makes it extremely difficult for the younger players to be considered. Selections should be based on performance alone.

Behind the plate, the choice lies between Bud Sheely, the Vancouver veteran, and Jack Parks, promising Spokane youngster. Off this year's record plus the added advantage of experience, the call goes to Sheely for the backstopping berth, although Parks is the better prospect.

BARTON HAS EDGE

At first base, it must be Larry Barton of Spokane, a player with enough ability to hold his own in Triple A baseball. Barton not only holds a wide edge at the plate over Victoria's smooth Vic Buccola but is no slouch himself with the mitt.

Shortstop narrows down to a battle between Yakima's Dick Briskey and Ray Tran, the other half of Vancouver's potent double-play combination. The steadying influence in the Cap infield, Tran must nevertheless yield to Briskey, who has played consistently good baseball for the league leaders. Again at third base, the choice lies between Vancouver and Yakima players. Ted Jennings must be rated over the Caps' Jimmy Robinson although Robinson holds a bulge in batting averages. Jennings is the more dangerous hitter and a stronger defensive player.

GOOD HIT, LITTLE FIELD

Defensive ability, has been sacrificed for punch in the outfield. Dick Sinovic of Vancouver is almost certain to be a near-unanimous choice for one of the three positions. Although neither is strong on the defensive end, the call for the other two outfield berths goes to Ed Vanni, Yakima, and Clint Cameron, Wenatchee. A top-notch base runner, Vanni is an ideal lead-off man and leads the W.I.L. in hits. Cameron is without doubt the best hitter in the circuit.

There are a number of good right-handers all of all-star ability. Dewey Soriano is probably the top moundsman but a sore arm shelved him for much of the season. With Soriano out of consideration, the place goes to John Marshall. His feat of winning 21 games for the hapless Bluejackets is recommendation enough. Wenatchee's Hal Rhyne, a former infielder who has spent the biggest part of the season in the outfield, is the utility choice.

ORENGO DID BEST

There can be little quarrel with the choice of Joe Orengo as manager. Although he has had a powerful club right from the getaway, Orengo has made few mistakes and he has had his veterans hustling all year, a difficult accomplishment in the lower minors.

Boiled down to statistics, the record of the team, excluding pitchers, is amazing. There is a team batting mark of .348, a total of 913 runs batted in and 107 home runs, 60 triples and 276 doubles for nine players.

Charley Coe, Oklahoma City (right), is congratulated by Texas' Rufus King after Coe overwhelmed latter, 11 and 10, at Rochester, New York, yesterday to capture United States National Amateur Golf championship. Coe said he has no plans to turn professional and will retire from competitive golf until Spring.

Native Sons Gain Final; Trim T.A.C.

Still minus two stars, a short-handed Tillicums septette bowed out of the hunt for the B.C. senior "B" lacrosse championship at Nanaimo last night by dropping a 9-5 decision to Nanaimo Native Sons. Nanaimo won Friday's game 12-7 and took the best-of-three series in straight games to advance to the Provincial final against Trail Golden Bears, who ousted Kelowna last night. The series opens at Nanaimo on Thursday.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Tillicums held a wide margin in the opening session of the close-checking contest, which was featured by the smart netminding of the opposing goalkeepers, Fred Fulla for Nanaimo and Buzz Long, but tired from their early efforts and faded before Nanaimo's reserve strength.

Jack Reid opened the scoring at the nine-second mark when he converted Red Mason's pass to put Tillicums ahead. Bob Long followed with a marker at 1.10 and Ed Popham tallied at 4.45 to give Victoria a three-goal bulge. Good fired home Nanaimo's first goal just before the end of the first period to leave Tillicums in front 3-1 at the first breather.

Nanaimo scored three goals in the first ten minutes of the second period to go ahead for the first time, 4-3, but Reid took Johnnie Bamford's pass and beat Fulla with a hard shot at 11.35 mark to deadlock the count.

NANAIMO IN FRONT

Scoring was at a premium in the third period as the clubs played it close to the vest. Don Whyte netted the only tally to put Native Sons in front, 5-4, as the teams rested for the final period.

Don Garland scored what proved to be the winning marker at the three-minute mark in the final stanza. Wes Manson and Gold tallied 25 seconds apart in the seventh minute to give winners an 8-4 edge. Art Green scored Tillicums' final goal on a pass from Mason at 7.15 and Scott completed Nanaimo's scoring 25 seconds later.

EX-R.A.F. LINE-UP

The Ex-R.A.F. line-up for the cricket match against Beattie tomorrow follows: D. Day, A. Jagger, S. Joyce, C. Bagot, P. Neal, A. Wooley, E. Dever Masters, W. Boyes, A. Attwell, J. McIlvenny and S. Collins. The match will be played at Macdonald Park starting at noon.

Add Left-Winger To Cougar Roster

WHILE Owner Lester Patrick was en route to Montreal in search of playing talent, Fred Hume, manager of Victoria Cougars, yesterday announced completion of a deal whereby the Island's Pacific Coast Hockey League entry gained a left-winger.

The latest addition, bringing the number of players on the Cougar roster to six, is Pat Dockery, of Calgary. Dockery, who was obtained from Boston Bruins, turned professional last season with Tulsa of the U.S.H.L. and was later transferred to Los Angeles. Only 20 years old, he is highly regarded as possible N.H.L. material.

The other five players owned by the Cougars are Defencemen Bud James and Fiori Geogan and Forwards Bernie Strongman, Roy McKay and Fred Hildebrand.

Pacifics Enter Softball Final

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 3 (CP).—The Vancouver Pacifics advanced to the Western Canada girls' softball final tonight when they defeated Moose Jaw Royals, 7-3. The West Coast outfit took the semi-final series in two straight games.

The defending champions will meet St. Vital Tigerettes—Manitoba title holders—in the final in Winnipeg.

Anne Korona limited the Saskatchewan representatives to a sixth-inning single by Lois Greene.

HASTINGS, England, Sept. 3 (Reuters)—A century by New Zealand's captain, Walter Hadlee, was the highlight of the first day's play in the three-day match against South of England.

At close of play the tourists were 363 for nine, of which Hadlee had made 114 not out.

Tonight's score-card:

At Southampton — Sussex, 105; Hampshire 282 for seven.

At Scarborough—South 364 for six. North to bat.

At Kingston-on-Thames — The Rest, 173, Surrey, 161 for three.

Clogg Ousts Mawhinney In B.C. Amateur Tourney

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (CP) — Defending champion Percy Clogg of Vancouver today eliminated two of the leading contenders for his title, as he battled his way into the quarter-finals of the British Columbia amateur golf championships.

The easy-swinging Fraser course star fired a par-busting 67 at stylish Bill Mawhinney, tourney favorite and 1948 Canadian junior champion, to post a 2-up victory.

Sensational 16-year-old Laurie Roland of Vancouver fell victim to Clogg's sparkling golf in a first-round match, losing out 4 and 3.

SCROGGS ADVANCES

Staying in the title hunt was Victoria's hard-driving Frank Scroggs, who posted an easy 5 and 4 win over R. L. Moore of Vancouver. Scroggs was hard pressed to win his first round tilt. He was taken to the 18th green by J. Johnston, Vancouver, before notching a 1-up victory.

Veteran Jimmie Robertson, playing on his home course, ousted Lyle Hurschman of Vancouver, 3 and 2, in a hard-fought duel.

Stocky Dave McBeath of Bellingham, Wash., kept in the hunt with a smart 1-up win over Hugh Morrison, Vancouver.

Qualifying round medalist, Jackie Reynolds of Vancouver—who shot a sizzling 18-hole round of 66, Friday—entered the lower bracket of the quarter-finals as he defeated Ed Sharpe, Vancouver, 3 and 2.

KEN LEA DEFEATED

In other second-round matches, Bud Johnston beat Noel Daniel 2 and 1 in an all-Vancouver clash; R. W. Hanley, Vancouver, beat J. P. Ellis, Jr., 2 and 1, and Hans Swinton, Vancouver, beat Ken Lea, Victoria, 6 and 5.

Tomorrow's quarter-final matches will bring Percy Clogg up against Bud Johnston, while Ellis will meet Robertson.

In the two remaining matches Scroggs goes against McBeath, and Swinton against Reynolds.

Parker-Gonzales Match Features U.S. Net Semis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 3 (INS)—Top-seeded Ted Schroeder and defending champion Pancho Gonzales had to play five sets apiece against a pair of underdogs today before they could advance with Frank Parker and Billy Talbert, to the semi-finals of the National Singles Tennis Championships.

Schroeder finally triumphed over Australia's Frank Sedgman 6-3, 0-6, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4, and tomorrow will oppose the third-seeded Talbert, who defeated Jaroslav Drobny, the self-exiled Czech, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, in the quarter-finals today.

LARSEN IS STUBBORN

Gonzales and Art Larsen, the southpaw from San Francisco chased each other all over the court in a wild match that ultimately went to Gonzales, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

The scar-faced Gonzales, whose actual source of triumph was his scorching serve, meets Frank Parker tomorrow in what will probably be the outstanding match of the tourney.

Gonzales will be out to vindicate his choice over Parker to fill the second singles position in the 1949 United States Davis Cup team.

Today, Parker swiftly evicted another Davis Cupper, Gardnar Mulloy, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

GREAT MATCH

The match between Schroeder and Sedgman kept the crowd of 10,000 on edge. Each player was at the height of his game, and some of the volleys, one especially in the third set in which the ball crossed the net seven times without touching the ground, were fantastic.

Sedgman, the 21-year-old singles champion from Down Under, probably never has played so well as he did in winning seven straight games from Schroeder today. He won the second set at love and the first game of the third set.

The Talbert-Drobny event was a walk-over.

TALBERT IN HURRY

Twice runner-up for the National title, Talbert used only 51 minutes today in throttling the Czech ace in the quarter-finals at the West Side Tennis Club. An early crowd of 10,000 gasped at the economical dispatch with which he settled the event.

Drobny's service, which created 22 aces in his slaughter of Earl Cochell yesterday, found its match in the blazing work of Talbert at the line.

In women's play, defending champion Margaret Du Pont ran tall Patricia Canning Todd to distraction in winning their quarter-final engagement, 6-3, 10-8.

O.C. PLAYER STICKS

The tenacious play of Mrs. Betty Hilton, top-seeded invader from Great Britain, who saved match point and went on to defeat Gussie Moran yesterday, won out again in the quarter-finals today. Mrs. Hilton won her way into the semi-finals with Mrs. Du Pont by out-steadying Helen Perez, Los Angeles, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Yankees Retain Margin; Dodgers Lose Half Game

Allie Reynolds came up with his best game of the season yesterday blanking Washington Senators, 6-0 on three hits to keep New York Yankees two and one-half games ahead of the pressing Boston Red Sox. The American League runners-up thumped Philadelphia Athletics, 10-3, as Ellis Kinder hurled his 18th victory and Ted Williams and Bobby Doerr connected for their 37th and 16th home runs, respectively.

St. Louis Browns edged Cleveland, 4-3, and Detroit Tigers moved within two games of the Indians by topping the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

In the National League, Brooklyn Dodgers lost another half game in their battle to overtake St. Louis Cardinals, losing to New York Giants, 6-3. The Redbirds battled to a 9-9 stand-off with Cincinnati after 15 innings of exciting baseball.

Philadelphia Phils moved within a game of third place by beating Boston Braves, 10-3. Ralph Kiner hit his 40th home run for Pittsburgh but the Pirates lost to Chicago Cubs 11-7. It was the third straight year Kiner has hit 40 or more home runs, a feat surpassed only by Babe Ruth, who hit 40 or more from 1926 to 1932.

Wolverhampton Retains Slim O.C. Soccer Margin

LONDON, Sept. 3 (Reuters). — Wolverhampton Wanderers held fast to their one-point lead in the Football Association's league First Division today by edging Blackpool 2-1.

Despite their excellent form, however, the Wanderers victory was no walk over. At half-time the teams were tied 1-1 and to the crowd of 32,000 packing the Blackpool citadel, there seemed little to choose between them.

One point behind, Manchester United fought a fast and furious battle with Manchester City before 47,000 at Old Trafford, and scored a well-merited 2-1 victory. The City led 1-0 at half-time but their forward play deteriorated in the last half of the game.

ARSENAL DROPS

Biggest soccer crowd of the day, 56,000 at Highbury, London, saw Liverpool beat Arsenal, 2-1, in a well-played, keenly fought match. Liverpool now stands two points behind Manchester United, while Arsenal dropped to seventh place.

At Middlesbrough, in spite of a poor start, Portsmouth beat the home defenders 5-1.

Charlton Athletic invaded Fulham and beat them 2-1 before an enthusiastic London crowd of 35,000. Newcastle United playing at home to Aston Villa jumped several places in the First Division standing with a 3-2 victory.

THREE-WAY TIE

In the Second Division, Tottenham Hotspur raised their points total to eight beating Cardiff City 1-0 on Cardiff's home ground. They share top spot with West Ham United who beat Plymouth Argyle 3-0 and Blackburn Rovers, victors over Bury 2-1.

Notts County took a one-point lead in the Third Division Southern by beating Bournemouth and Boscombe Athletic 2-0. Southend, beating Bristol Rovers 2-1, edged Bournemouth out of second spot—one point behind the leaders.

Stockport County stayed at the head of Third Division Northern though they were beaten 2-0 by Carlisle United. Gateshead also climbed to the top, defeating Chester 3-0.

In Scotland, Rangers consolidated their leadership of Division "A" by forcing Aberdeen to a 1-1 draw. Forfar Athletic, tieing with Albion Rovers 2-2, stayed on top of Division "B."

How can I get cleaner shaves?

Use this new blade that has less vibration!

When the thin steel of an ordinary blade vibrates against your beard, it "skips" over whiskers and "pulls". Ever-Ready Corux blades reduce vibration because they are scientifically strengthened by rigid corrugations. Corux blades are stronger, more rigid—made from finest surgical steel, honed to perfect keenness. Get Corux—and whisk off your whiskers, cleanly, closely, comfortably. The Corux blade is made in Canada's most modern blade factory and is the only blade of its kind in the world.

Churchmen Gain in Race; Incogs Upset by Oak Bay

An unexpected Oak Bay victory over Incogs and Five C's triumph over Cowichan yesterday gave the Churchmen an edge over Incogs in the Victoria and District Cricket Association standings.

SPARKS DOES WELL

Oak Bay had a surprisingly easy time with Incogs at Windsor Park, dismissing the league leaders for 31 [illegible] for nine wickets. Jack Sparks was the standout for the winners, hitting up 34 runs and then taking six Incog wickets for 10 runs.

Reg Wenman hit up 23 runs for the losers with Godfrey Wenman making five, Tisdall getting four and the rest of the line-up all going out without scoring. Sparks missed a chance to catch Reg Wenman on the first ball else the defeat would have been even more pronounced.

Five C's and Cowichan managed to get in their match at Duncan. Jack Payne took five wickets for two runs and Charlie Pugh took four for six runs as the home team was dismissed for 18 runs in the first innings. Five C's managed to get 56 runs in reply and then put Cowichan in to bat again.

QUICK SCORING

This time, the losers hit up 86 in short order and left the Victorians with the task of scoring 58 runs in 30 minutes. Harper, Griffin and Richards went right after the bowling and managed the necessary runs with only a couple of minutes of time left.

In a third match, the visiting Seattle XI bowed to Albion, 102-[illegible], at Beacon Hill Park. Seattle batted first and found Albion bowling difficult. Ted Oakman took six Seattle wickets for 21 runs. Oakman and Jack Shanks each had 16 runs for winners, with Sherratt and Corbyn sharing 30 runs.

Rule Indians Must Use Rod

SEATTLE, Sept. 3 (AP).—Indians fishing the north bank at Celilo Falls must catch their Columbia River salmon with rod, hook and line to stay within the law, the State Department of Fisheries said yesterday.

The traditional spears and nets of the Indians are considered commercial gear under present laws and can be used only on the reservations.

Sports fishermen — white or Indian—may fish with a "rod held in the hands" at any time of the year on the Columbia, the department said. The fish, however, may not be sold during the closed season.

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

There are three vital posts that mark the movement of a pennant race. The first is Memorial or Decoration Day in late May. The second is the Fourth of July, the halfway period. The third is Labor Day at the head of the open stretch.

Memorial Day [illegible] Fourth of July gives you a pretty fair idea involving the first two or three teams in each big league.

But by Labor Day it's grim business. It is usually the survival of the fittest in each circuit, restricted generally to two teams. That is the way it will be on Labor Day 1949 in the National League. Facing the final turn that leads into the main stretch the [illegible] gives you the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The American League, on the other hand, gives you the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox, plus the Cleveland Indians with Detroit just faintly in the picture. There are now six teams left in the pennant race where sixteen started out with such pleasant dreams five months ago. Ten teams, including the world series partner of 1948, the Boston Braves, have [illegible] folded, but Bill Veeck's Cleveland Indians still have the cards [illegible] in the old wigwam.

TWO FEATURES

The American League race has presented two outstanding features. One is the astonishing outfit the Yankees have put up against a heavy casualty list. Practically the only member of the squad who hasn't been rendered hors de baseball is Casey Stengel who has suffered enough heart attacks to demand the services of ten doctors.

Wherever they finish, the Yankees of 1949 have written a chapter that baseball will remember. And this chapter includes the names of every one on the squad.

There is little doubt that if the Yankees had known only average, normal luck they would have been at least ten or 12 games ahead at this point. The race would have been over. But even with the long absence of DiMaggio, who has missed nearly 70 games, and the injuries to Tommy Henrich, they have a chance of completing the miracle against almost incredible odds.

RED SOX POSER

The second unusual turn in this race is the rise and fall of the Boston Red Sox. Back in early July they suffered eight defeats in a row and dropped 12 games off the pace. They hadn't looked too good before.

From this deep decline McCarthy's hired men clawed their way up into the thick of the fight. After coming to within a game and a half of the Yanks, with the lead in sight, they fell back temporarily. Now they are climbing back again, in a strong position to take over the stretch run through September.

"The Red Sox have what looks to be the best team in baseball. They are the best on copy paper. They have the power and the pitching, if you believe figures mean anything.

HEADING INTO THE STRETCH

The two clubs that are best equipped to handle the stretch are the Red Sox and the Cardinals.

The Red Sox have three of the big hitters in baseball. They are Ted Williams, Vernon Stephens and Dom DiMaggio. Johnny Pesky isn't far away. The Cardinals have two of the big hitters in Stan Musial and Country Slaughter.

In the matter of team hitting, the Red Sox are many points in front of the Yankees, and the Cardinals are well ahead of the Dodgers.

Now we'll move over to the defensive side, which includes the subtle art of pitching. Here the Red Sox, with a staff headed by Mel Parnell, have much the better of the argument. In the same way the Cardinals have more consistent pitching when lined up against Burt Shotton's keen young men.

Shotton has about only two dependable pitchers. They are Newcombe and Roe. The Cardinals have Pollet, Munger, Brecheen, Brazle and Staley. Pollet usually slips a trifle in late August and September, but Brecheen picks up pace in the last few weeks.

CARDS, SOX AT HOME

The Cards and Red Sox play most of their games after Labor Day along the Mississippi or around Back Bay, which is slang for home. The Yankees will be at home, but the Dodgers will be on the road. The Yankees have been the type of team that can't be tossed through the porthole. They have fought a battle too long against too many odds. They have won too many games where the odds and the breaks were all against them. They have had uncertain pitching all season. Vic Raschi was the best-[illegible] pitcher in either league until August blew in.

Other teams have gotten along with four infielders and four outfielders. The Yankees have needed at least nine infielders and six or seven outfielders. Casey Stengel has kept his entire bench as busy as two hives of bees.

Casey may lead his Yankees into the harbor, but the odds are against him. You can beat the odds - but you can't keep on beating the odds forever. We look for the Cardinals and Red Sox to take charge after Labor Day and bring a return of the long haul from Boston to St. Louis, or vice versa.

AUSSIE CLUB WINS

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Sept. 3 (Reuters). — Australia today defeated New Zealand, 11-6, in the [illegible] Rugby Union test match.

Coe Amateur Golf King; Ends Match on 26th Hole

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Sept. 3 (INS) — Coe was king and King was nowhere in sight at the windup of the National Amateur golf championship today.

Skinny Charley Coe, Walker Cup star from Oklahoma City, administered the second worst trouncing in National Amateur history as he defeated jittery, outclassed Rufus King of Wichita Falls, Tex., 11 and 10 in the 36-hole final on the rolling Oak Hill Country Club course.

Coe, warming slowly to his task, was four over par for the first three holes and one down at that point to King, the outsider who yesterday toppled Defending Champion Willie [illegible]

Charley took charge right then and there. He won the fourth with a birdie to even the match and went ahead on the seventh. When they stopped for lunch at the end of the first 18, he was five up.

PULLS AWAY

He birdied three of the first four holes after lunch and took the first five, giving him a string of six straight holes as he also had captured the 18th.

The match ended on the 26th green when King, already ten down, finally gave up. He put his tee shot into a trap, exploded into the rough near the green, and finally got on in three but failed to run down a long putt.

Coe was on in two with an eight-foot putt to make and sat calmly on the little cane-chair he had carried all day.

King conceded the putt, the hole, the match and the championship.

The only worse defeat in U.S.G.A. amateur championship history was recorded in the very first tourney in 1895 when C. B. MacDonald beat C. F. Sands, 12 and 11.

The drawling 25-year-old Coe had an even par card for his 26 holes. However he was four under after the first three holes.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Notice that this player's clubshaft is pointing diagonally across the direction line instead of being parallel with it, and the toe of the club is not pointing directly at the ground as it should. A club swung from this position will produce a pronounced hook because the clubface will swing into the ball with too much inside-out, across the direction line and the club-face will pass from left to right across the ball imparting a spin which will produce a hook. At the top of the backswing, the clubshaft should be parallel to the direction line. [illegible] notice that this player's hands are far out over his right shoulder whereas his hands should be held [illegible] and nearer to his head to produce a more vertical swing. Then, from this position, his clubhead would [illegible] the direction line and [illegible] down from here [illegible] give him a straight ball with a faint hook at the far end of the shot.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Sept. 3 (Reuters). — Adrian Quist today retained the Australian hard court lawn tennis championship, defeating Geoff Brown, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4 in the final.

Loggers to Oppose Club Piloted by Chuck Restell

A former star Victoria athlete will be back in town this week to attempt to take the Western Canada Senior A men's softball championship back to Calgary.

He is Charlie Restell, manager of Calgary Erics, who meet Timber Service, British Columbia zone champions, in a best-of-five series at Royal Athletic Park. All games will be played under the lights, with the opener scheduled for Tuesday, starting at 8 p.m. Other games will be played on succeeding nights until one team has won three contests.

Restell left Victoria last year to play for Calgary Buffaloes in the fast Alberta semi-pro baseball circuit. He obtained a job in Calgary and took over the management of Erics this season. Little is known about the club except that Earl (Peewee) Gill is the mound ace and wields a potent bat.

Wally Smith, manager of Timber Service, last night announced Joe Bryant, star of the provincial series against Fred Ashers of Vancouver, as his choice for mound duties against Calgary in the opener. Available for relief are Ray Hough, Earl King and Bernie Clarkson, although Hough may be kept ready to start in the second game on Wednesday.

Timbermen are rated an excellent chance of bringing the Western Canada title, won by Esquimalt Meat Market in 1947, back to Victoria. Given little support to advance far in play-off competition, the third-place finishers in league play upset Douglas Tire, city champions, in the zone semi-final, defeated Brentwood Aces in the final and then scored another upset by ousting Vancouver's Ashers in the provincial final.

Ottawa Again Edges Alouettes; Argos Start Season With Win

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders won their second game over Montreal Alouettes in the Big Four season when a single point brought them a 22-21 victory. The team now leads the Big Four.

The winning point came only five minutes before the final horn. A rouge from a kick by Howie Turner gave the game to Riders.

Riders opened the scoring on the first play of the game when Karpuk grabbed a Montreal pass out of the air and raced forty yards for a touchdown. Other Ottawa scores were racked up by Turner and Flip McDonald. Eric Chipper laced two converts and a field goal.

A third-quarter touchdown by the Riders made the score 21-9.

Then the Montreal team opened up and scored twice, both by Chuck Anderson on passes from Frankie Filchock. An interception of an Alouette pass by Don Loney saved the day for Ottawa.

KROL PACES ARGOS

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP) — Toronto Argos opened their Big Four football season today with a victory over Hamilton Wildcats. The score at the final horn was 26-18.

Joe Krol, centre half for Argos, stole the scoring honors. His two third quarter touchdowns brought the Argos into the lead 18-12.

Krol racked up 15 points in two touchdowns, three converts and two punted singles. Halfback Frank Dunlap and quarterback Russ Reader made the other touchdowns.

The Argos and Wildcats play their next game in Hamilton on Labor Day.

ROCKETS TRIM BEACHES

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 3 (CP) — Windsor Rockets scored a 20-1 victory over Toronto Beaches in the opening game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series.

An outbreak of fighting in the fourth quarter saw Windsor's Vic Schmidt and Jarvis of the Beaches banished from the field.

Gerry Dawson's forward passing set up two of the Rockets' touchdowns. Both his scoring throws were received by Bob Simpson.

SARNIA TOPS TIGERS

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 3 (CP) — Sarnia Imperials had a victorious opener in the O.R.F.U. today, defeating champion Hamilton Tigers 7-6.

The Imperials got a converted touchdown in the second quarter and early in the fourth Bill Weiss kicked the single point that put them on top. The touchdown came on a passing play from George Curtis to Burr.

The six Tiger points were scored by Merl Hapes, former professional half with the New York Giants.

Tough to Beat

BERNIECE LOONEY

Winning women's professional five-mile Canadian National Exhibition swim is getting to be habit with Berniece Looney of Warren, Ohio. She led all way in capturing this year's event in two hours, 33 minutes and 37.7 seconds — five minutes slower than her record time two years ago. This year's triumph was her third straight.

"Y" Tracksters To Compete In Title Meet

Team Captain Harry Mitchell will be seeking his third straight British Columbia sprint title when Coach Bruce Humber's Y.M.C.A. track and field squad competes in the provincial championships at Nanaimo tomorrow.

The "Y" team is rated an excellent chance of capturing the aggregate award with Mitchell favored to win the century dash and 220-yard senior sprint from "all" Mainland competition for the third year in a row, and Bob Hutchison looming as an overwhelming choice for a double victory in the junior sprints.

Phil Matson will compete in the junior mile and half-mile events. Don Pimlott will contest the junior 440 and 880-yard races, and Willie Belababa will enter the junior 880.

The women's team will be headed by Pat Fleming in the high jump and 220-yard sprint, and Dawn Josephs in the high and broad jumps. Adrienne Taylor will compete in the senior sprints, while Carlide Marshall and Pat McRae will contest the junior girls' sprints and broad jump.

The "Y's" 440-yard senior men's sprint relay team, which was unbeaten in two years of competition, will be reunited for the first time this year in an attempt to win its third consecutive British Columbia championship. Gordy Pynn, who has been out with a leg injury all season, will be back and will team up with Hutchison, Rafael Duke and Mitchell.

Cleveland Peak Attained, Veeck Seeks To Try Greater Spectacles in New York

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (INS) — Denials or not, you can be pretty certain that Bill Veeck will bring his bag of baseball tricks to New York one of these days. He is water, and New York is his natural level. The man's bound to find it.

If Branch Rickey moves over to the Yankee organization, and there [illegible] he will in time, for he is incapable of taking the undercover censure he has been receiving from Dodger stockholders for leading them into the fathomless red ink of professional football — Ebbets Field could be Veeck's alighting place.

Veeck's other chance, of course, is at the Polo Grounds. Horace Stoneham is going to be forced to do something about that decaying property within a short time.

Stoneham tries hard enough, and good teams have been built on less of a financial footing than he seems able to command. But there hasn't been a lack of imagination in the Giants' front office since John McGraw stopped trying 20 years ago. Veeck has an imagination that squirts rainbows out of his red ears. Bill could resuscitate what was for so long baseball's finest franchise.

YANKEE STADIUM OUT

The Yankee Stadium appears to be closed to the daring young man. Del Webb, who runs that show, takes it as seriously as most men regard, say, their church.

It so happens that Webb could buy and sell young Mr. Veeck about 20 times, even if Bill eased out of Cleveland with a capital gain of a million. This is one of the reasons Webb [illegible] Veeck [illegible] of the Yankees last Winter. He would pay a million a year for the privilege of holding [illegible] with the Yanks.

New York is the goal of every man of Veeck's temperament who ever strayed into sports. It is the big time which men of that mould must tackle. Biologically, there is no substitute.

SEES HUGE CROWD

"I'd draw three and a half million at either the Yankee Stadium or Polo Grounds," Veeck has told friends. And we are not one to doubt it. He packed 2,620,627 into Cleveland Stadium last season in a city of less than 1,000,000 population (one of the smaller big league towns). On the road his Indians played to 1,762,399 paid. Including the world series and exhibition games, the Indians probably were seen by 5,000,000 last season.

Veeck would bring to New York baseball, especially the grim and shockingly dull confines of the Polo Grounds, the verve of a modernistic Larry MacPhail.

Until Bill came along nobody even thought of giving a customer a "day," nobody thought to pass out 20,000 orchids to as many ladies in one night, nobody thought of running in excursion trains from points as far away as 250 miles, nobody in the American League thought to bring in negro players or, in that league, insist that the people never encounter a lull at their ballyard.

This must have been a rough year for him, not so much because the Indians are running short of their 1948 form but because he must fear that he has touched his promotional peak in Cleveland. The fellow lives in the hope of doing something bigger and more astonishing [illegible] have had the feeling that he had done it all as far as Cleveland is concerned.

He has done a remarkable job with the Cleveland stock. One holder who put $10,000 into the organization when Veeck came in was offered $150,000 for his holdings last Winter. Veeck apparently owns 30 per cent of the stock, with voting control of perhaps another 30 per cent. There is not much question that he could get out with almost a million clear, though the stock is not worth quite as much as it was a year ago.

Veeck quit baseball once after his leg was taken off, and decided to become a rancher. But he was back in a matter of months, raising money with the late Harry Grabiner and probably won't be headed out of the game again [illegible] New York and [illegible] the big town [illegible].

In the outside chance that he can't make it to New York, probably an intolerable thought to him, Bill would like to go back to Chicago and do something about the White Sox. There might be another out for him [illegible]. The big chunk of stock in the Washington Senators, owned by the estate of the late Billy Richardson, is being quietly offered for sale.

But it's New York he's after, no matter what he must tell the people of Cleveland who have come to regard him as a combination in[illegible] and side show. He was [illegible] for this town and no one realizes it more keenly than he.

MONTREAL, Sept 3 (CP)—Canadian gold mining interests have a keen eye on the three-power monetary conference at Washington. It is their hope some action will be taken on the price of gold [illegible] a sufficient boost to [illegible] thousands of tons of reserve ore ready to be worked.

"We are just waiting for something to be done about the price," said John Dunsmuir of Vancouver, president of [illegible] Cariboo Mining Company. "We hope some action will be taken at the Washington conference."

Decisions made at the Anglo-Canadian-United States financial talks at Washington will be of particular interest to British Columbia. Few British Columbia operating mines are showing sufficient profit to pay a dividend.

Many have suspended operations due to high operating costs and the fixed selling price of $35 an ounce. Others are close to the point where they would have to [illegible] a stretch of [illegible].

METALS PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept 3 (AP)—A jump in copper sales and a dull price situation in zinc highlighted metal news last week.

Copper bookings ranged from 4,000 to 9,000 a day, compared with an average of 3,400 last week. Producers' refined deliveries to fabricators in August are believed to have topped 80,000 tons against the [illegible] tons shipped in July.

Sale of Horse Meat for Food Shows Steady Gain in Britain

LONDON, Sept 3 (P)—A horse is often worth more dead than alive in meat-short Britain today.

Sale of horse flesh for human consumption, prevalent on the Continent, is on the increase in the United Kingdom. It can be bought openly and cheaply in more than 1,000 special shops which sell nothing else. They are scattered throughout 36 principal cities and towns. [illegible] in some restaurants providing it is billed as such. Not many menus list horse flesh, but it is admitted some of the "special steaks" offered by favor-bestowing waiters are actually horse.

A London newspaper in a recent article said:

MANY LIKE IT

"Do you eat horse? Do you like it? Today in Britain there are nearly 750,000 people who do and many thousands more who don't know that they do."

Government departments are reticent on the subject. They can't say how much horse flesh actually reaches dinner tables. But they admit an increasing [illegible] meat export as well as domestic and illegal as well as legal is threatening the country's horse population.

More than 200,000 horses are known to have been slaughtered in [illegible] area alone slaughterings have increased from 1,100 a week in 1945 to 1,500 a week. Before the war there were about 180 licensed horse slaughterers in the country. Today, there are more than 400.

TWO INVESTIGATIONS

The Government is concerned and that is reflected in the fact two investigations are underway.

One involves a committee headed by Lord Rosebery, one of Britain's leading horsemen whose racing stables are famous. It is delving into the export of horses for work and slaughter, slaughtering for food, and whether breeding for slaughter should be encouraged.

The second committee is concerned with health and will investigate the whole structure of meat inspection in Britain, including horse flesh.

WANT MORE CONTROL

Farm organizations would like to see more control. Farmers complain that at country sales they cannot compete with "dealers" who [illegible] for a horse [illegible] half the price.

The price of a good horse steak? Restaurant prices vary. But in a horse butcher shop horse flesh is Government controlled at one shilling a pound, half the price of the best rationed beef.

Ancient "Whaleback" Still Plying Lakes

FORT WILLIAM, Sept 3 (CP)—[illegible] the last of 27 or 28 ships of [illegible] the St. John Ericsson [illegible] grain carrier attracts [illegible] among visiting seamen as it passes up and down the Great Lakes.

The 51-year-old vessel built at [illegible] was one of the [illegible] days as "McDougall's dream." More recently [illegible] has been called the "cigar [illegible]" and the "pig boat."

The [illegible] vessel, 400 feet long with a 40-foot beam, justifies the [illegible] which have been applied to [illegible].

[illegible] in design, especially [illegible] in which it was designed by Alexander McDougall, the [illegible] from its rounded snub-nosed [illegible] to its curved stern, is entirely [illegible] in rounded steel plates. [illegible] hull and decks give it a whaleback appearance.

There is only one other self-propelled craft like it left on the Great Lakes, Capt. H. B. Bazeley said. The other ship is the Meteor, which has been converted into an oil-carrier.

USED AS BARGES

There are, however, two barges, the "137" and the "Alexander Holley," once self-propelled, which are still carrying grain.

The John Ericsson, a regular caller at Fort William and Port Arthur, [illegible] every ten days. [illegible] Toronto [illegible] and Sarnia.

The design of the ship and the narrowness of the [illegible] make the unloading and [illegible] cargoes [illegible] slower than the more [illegible] craft.

The Ericsson is [illegible] the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company of Toronto.

Young Thieves On Probation

NANAIMO, Sept 3. Two minors and a juvenile of Nanaimo who pleaded guilty in police court to attempted theft of a tire from a Chase River parked car in August were each placed under probation officer for one year on a bond of [illegible] by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts.

Two other minors were fined $25 each after pleading guilty to possession of beer.

A district juvenile was fined $25 for theft of money from milk bottles.

RUGBY, Warwickshire, England (P)—C. P. Harris, 83, who is retiring as clerk to the governors of Rugby School, is the last of a direct family line in the post since 1740.

Mrs. Kirkbride and family wish to thank all friends and neighbors, also Agency Department of Transport, officers and crews of the C.G.S. Estevan and C.G.M. Berens, also Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, for their kind expressions of sympathy and lovely floral tributes.

5 IN MEMORIAM

BARNES—Laura, passed away September 4, 1948.

Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.

Lovingly remembered by Dad and the family.

ELLISON—Passed away September 5, 1948.

A year has passed since that sad day
When our dear mother passed away.
Her love and kindness fills our hearts,
And leaves us sad, that we must part
With one so dear, so gay and kind.
Where is the comfort brought by time?
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by her daughters, Rose Ellison and Violet Doswell.

40A BUILDING MATERIALS

HOME BUILDERS' VALUES

STEWART & HUDSON are experts in the field of retail lumber and building materials, many years of experience are passed on to you whereby you can save money on the construction or renovation of a home. By advising you on the selection and use of materials you will find it means dollars in pocket when you shop at STEWART & HUDSON.

FLOORING SPECIAL

A duplication of orders has resulted in an overstock of flooring which must be moved from storage and our loss is your gain. Flat grain flooring, kiln dried grade "D" random lengths and well machined, suitable for kitchens, bathrooms, bedrooms, etc. Per 100 board feet, only $8.50.

Same type flooring only lengths from 3 ft. to 4 ft. for only $7.00 per 100 feet.

Early shopping is recommended for [redacted] items as flooring is still scarce.

CEDAR SHIPLAP SIDING

The dual purpose lumber, one side can be used for ordinary shiplap work, turn it on reverse side and it can be used for a rough cedar siding effect with vee-ed edges. Drop in and see this item for exterior finish, No. 1 grade, per 100 ft., $8.00.

SHINGLE SPECIAL

Here's the chance to get a LOW COST asphalt roof for that home of [redacted], asphalt fire resistant shingles, square butts 210 lbs per square and colors in red, green or black, only a limited quantity. Bundle covers 30 square feet for only $3.90.

P.V. HARDBOARD

The popular untempered hardboard, a full ⅛ inch thick; this board can be used in hundreds of jobs, such as wallboard, backs of cupboards, lining porches, basements, upstairs rooms, as subfloor under linoleum or carpets; hard and durable, smooth finish which can be stained or painted with ease. Cuts and saws easier than plywood. Keep a sheet or two in your basement for the odd jobs. Why is it the biggest selling wallboard of its type on the market . . . the price, I guess, a large 4 ft. x 8 ft. sheet for only $2.96.

PLYWOODS?
We Have the Stocks

¼ inch, good one side, 4x8	$3.20
⅜ inch, good one side, 4x8	$4.16
½ inch, good one side, 4x8	$5.44
¾ inch, good one side, 4x8	$7.[illegible]

When you think of plywood, think of us. If it's only a small piece, less than a sheet, we can cut it while you wait . . . quickly.

CEDAR WALL SHAKES

Have you seen the new look in shakes, WONDER KOTED, need no further painting ever, in white. Drop in and see them or have our representative call at your home with samples. Same low price for this quality item. Unit complete with carton of shakes, undercourse, nails to cover 30 square feet, for only $7.28.

Drop in and see the many not advertised specials in lumber, values from $15 per M and up. This is not cull or junk lumber but practical if used in the proper place. Also top grades of old growth fir and hemlock, shiplap, 2x4 and joist, planed four sides or edges only. And remember STEWART & HUDSON guarantee customer satisfaction with every purchase.

The garage is separate and extra large and the grounds are laid out in picture book style. Full price for all this is only $6900

FIRESIDE DREAMS WITH FIRM FOUNDATIONS

Are now a reality. Thanks to the owner of this well-built ten-year-old bungalow situated among other pretty homes in High Cook Street. The cosy living room features a nice fireplace and parquet oak floors. The kitchen which also has a dining nook, has ample cupboard space and a tile sink. There are two good bedrooms and a 4-piece Pembroke bath. Full basement with drive in garage, furnace, etc. The property is beautifully landscaped complete with fishpool, lawns, flowers, etc. We recommend this at the low price of $6950

FAIRFIELD

Close in and on a very nice street is this well-built stucco bungalow consisting of a nice through hall, spacious living-room with fireplace, family size dining room with built-in features, a very nice kitchen, 2 bedrooms, a cute sunroom or den and, of course, a bathroom. Then there is a concealed stair which leads to a completely finished bedroom and a playroom up. Full basement with furnace, tubs, etc. Very nice property in lawns, garden, lots of fruit trees and a separate garage. Full price $8500

Riggs Turns Net Entrepreneur, Seeks Top Amateurs for Jaunt

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 3 (INS)—Jack Kramer, Pancho Gonzalez, Frank Parker and Jaroslav Drobny may soon become the big four of professional tennis. That statement is full of maybes, but it is distinctly in the mind of Bobby Riggs, who'll be behind it all.

Though Riggs will not say so openly, his series with Kramer — [illegible] last year has worn the public appetite thin.

"There will always be interest in professional tennis," Bobby said earlier this week at Forest Hills, where he was trying to put a friendly hex on Ted Schroeder. It would not sit well with Riggs and Kramer were Schroeder to become the winner of the national singles championships, because Ted has said time and again he will not turn professional.

ANOTHER MATTER

Gonzales, Parker and Drobny are other matters entirely, though. If Gonzales wins the nationals again, he [illegible] turning his [illegible] in turning professional. Parker, a top-ranked player for ten years, is 33 and said to be definitely in his last year as an amateur. Drobny, the self-exiled Czech, has said that he wants to turn professional. He needs money.

Though Kramer and Gonzales would do well in a swing of American audiences, few United States fans can get excited about Parker and Drobny. Therefore the forthcoming pro tour—run by Riggs and Kramer—may turn out to be the biggest international jaunt in tennis history.

In Europe especially, Parker is a highly popular figure, and Drobny, it goes without saying, is too. Riggs, in this setup, would play little

BEHIND THE SCENES

There is something of a mystery in the behind-the-scenes manipulations. Some people are asking what became of Jack Harris, the entrepreneur who gave professional tennis its postwar shot in the arm with the Riggs-Budge series, then signed on Kramer. Harris suddenly is no longer connected with the enterprise in any way.

The Riggs-Kramer plans depend to a great extent on how their targets fared in the present nationals. Kramer is to join Riggs at Forest Hills tomorrow (Sunday) to help put the idea of the tour across, and there are feelings that they will not have too much trouble.

Piper Will Use Senator's Gift

VANCOUVER, Sept. 3 (CP).—The mournful lament for Senator Ian Mackenzie's funeral here Tuesday will be played on a set of bagpipes the late Senator gave to Pipe Major Edmund Eason.

Senator Mackenzie died yesterday at Banff, Alta. He was 58.

Pipe Major Eason will play outside the Central Presbyterian Church here Tuesday afternoon before the funeral service and later at the graveside in the Abbey, Ocean View Burial Park.

Victoria Third In Volume Of Air Travel

Total revenue received for the month of August was the highest ever experienced by the local office of Trans-Canada Air Lines, it was reported yesterday.

Ticket sales over the domestic services of the air line were 21 per cent higher than the previous month of July and 39.5 per cent higher in comparison with August of last year.

Trans-Atlantic services of the [illegible] showed a revenue boost of 71 per cent over July and an increase of 128.8 per cent over that of August of last year.

TOPS MONTREAL

It is interesting to note that as far as the total number of T.C.A. domestic passengers is concerned, Victoria is the third largest in the entire system. This city is exceeded only by Toronto and Vancouver, with Montreal in fourth place.

In more than 785 flights between Vancouver Island and the Mainland in August alone, close to 1,000,000 passenger miles were flown.

R. L. Williams, district manager here for T.C.A., said: "These figures give further proof of the ever-increasing popularity and acceptance of air travel by the public, not only in Victoria but throughout Canada."

Jets Can Down B-36's "Easily"

BONN, Germany, Sept. 3 (AP)—Willy Messerschmitt, noted German aircraft designer, said today the United States B-36 superbomber "can easily be shot down by a modern jet fighter."

"The new jets can shoot any bomber out of the sky," declared the man who built the first jet fighter ever used in combat.

Asked about aviation progress in Russia, Messerschmitt replied:

"I don't know. But I do know that many of my best constructors and engineers are now in the Soviet Union."

Ernie Spaulding Wins Another At Langford Speedway Races

Ernie Spaulding in the speedy No. 9 car, added to his long list of wins when he copped the main event at Langford Speedway last night before an estimated 3,000 racing fans.

Jack Spaulding in the No. 1 car, who was second up to the last lap, roared up to within 50 yards of the finish line and then his car failed. He coasted [illegible] third place a shade [illegible] who placed second.

The Class "B" full reverse main event was won by Don Olds in the No. 60 car. Dave Cooper in No. 33 was second and Elanc Eng in No. 7 placed third.

Ernie Spaulding was top man in the Helmet dash with Vern Bruce in No. 36 second and Olds third.

The first heat race packed a thrill for the fans when Bruce, who was in second position at the time, locked wheels with Olds and forced the speeding car to drop back in the race. Jack Spaulding was second and Simpson was third.

Digger Caldwell, driving the American No. 4 car, was top man in the second heat race. Del Fleming in No. 20 was second and Eddie Kosterluk in No. 22 was third.

[illegible] Spaulding was first to [illegible] heat race with Olds second and George Hutchinson driving the No. 10 car third.

The fourth heat race was the most confusing event of the season. Only two of the drivers out of the six-car start were driving the car they normally race in. Gar Warren in No. 11 was first in the mix-up, with George Haslam in No. 12, second and Brownie Brown in No. 3 was third.

Police Ready For Marchers

PEEKSKILL, N.Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today ordered all available state police to the Peekskill area tomorrow to guard against another riot between war veterans and the supporters of negro singer Paul Robeson.

Robeson failed to appear at an open-air concert last Saturday when anti-Communist veterans clashed with the left wing singer's audience. At least eight were injured but Robeson was intercepted by friends before he reached the scene.

He immediately pledged a second effort, scheduled for 1 p.m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow afternoon about a mile from last week's riot scene.

The veterans said they plan to match [illegible]

Port Angeles Retains Hart Trophy

Port Angeles pushed over an unearned run in the ninth to edge Victoria All-Stars 2-1 in the deciding game of a best-of-three international amateur baseball series at Port Angeles on Friday. The Americans retained the Hart Trophy by their triumph.

Port Angeles opened the scoring with an unearned run in the fifth and Victoria deadlocked the count in the seventh when Bill Reynolds drew a walk and scored on Bob Poore's base hit.

The game was featured by the smart hurling of Abbey for the Americans and Don McKinnon. Abbey gave up but three hits, while McKinnon was touched for four.

Longden Wins On O.C. Track

FOLKESTONE, Kent, England, Sept. 3 (Reuters)—Johnny Longden, North American champion jockey on holiday in Europe, today scored his first success [illegible] when he rode G. Parmer's Whim II to victory in the £300 ($1,200) Dymchurch Welter Plate over one mile, two furlongs.

Earlier Longden had failed to reach the first three on P. Bartholomew's Castle Square in the Fillies Nursery over five furlongs.

Whim II, a four-year-old colt, was a hot 5 to 2 favorite for the Dymchurch Plate, in which there were only three runners. Whim II led all the way to win by eight lengths from King Admiral.

Winnipeg Entrant Wins Swim Title

TORONTO, Sept. 3 (CP)—Vivian King of Winnipeg today won the Canadian amateur women's one-mile swimming championship and Ross Gold Trophy over a field of nine at the annual Canadian National Exhibition. Her time was 27 minutes and 40.8 seconds.

Denies Fear Of Invasion By Russians

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 3 (AP)—Yugoslavia today denied it fears any Russian invasion.

A report that it is thinking of [illegible] Red Army attack was called pure guesswork.

An official statement from Marshal Tito's Government said:

"On the second of this month, the United Press printed news from official Yugoslav sources to the effect that the Yugoslav Government is supposedly considering the possibility of an invasion of Yugoslavia by Russia [illegible]

FABRICATION

"It is officially [illegible] news to the effect that Yugoslav official circles made [illegible] statements is an invention. The [illegible] the fabrication [illegible] of the correspondent of the United Press in Belgrade."

(The United Press in New York has no comment on the denial immediately.)

[illegible] Ministry of Information [illegible] denied a Voice of America broadcast which said Belgrade had complained to the International Danube Commission about the presence of an armed Soviet ship on the Danube River last month.

[illegible] the ministry said "that the news about this complaint is untrue."

In New York a Voice of America spokesman denied the report. The spokesman said that a Voice broadcast yesterday quoted an unidentified Yugoslav official as saying his Government had registered the complaint [illegible]

Arrest Follows Wild Truck Ride

A wild ride in a stolen truck, owned by Lee Sing, 554 Fisgard Street, resulted in the arrest yesterday morning of Gunner Richard Rock, Work Point Barracks.

Rock was arrested by Constables Norman Galbraith and George [illegible]. A [illegible] and Rock [illegible] by a witness, police said. Rock has been charged and will appear in court Tuesday morning.

The truck, which had been parked by H. H. Sam, 2929 [illegible] Avenue, was taken from outside the Liberty Cafe, Yates Street, at 6:40 a.m. It was later located on Head Street in Esquimalt near Work Point Barracks.

CAPS SIGN BRAYSHAW

Bill to Halt Privy Council Appeals May Be Left in Abeyance for Year

OTTAWA, Sept. 3 (CP)—A measure designed to abolish legal appeals to the Privy Council in London due to be revived by the Government at the session of Parliament opening September 15 may be left in abeyance until next year.

Several things point to a possible postponement, one of them is the fact that an appeal against a Supreme Court decision on margarine is due to come before the Privy Council while the first session of the 21st Parliament is in progress.

Another is the fact that the Canadian Bar Association at its convention in Banff, Alta., urged that enactment of the legislation be delayed to permit a complete study of the question.

Prime Minister St. Laurent favors abolition of the appeals and at the last session Justice Minister Garson sponsored a bill that would make the Supreme Court of Canada the final tribunal of the country.

However, the bill was not advanced beyond the introduction stage because at the time there was still some controversy over a Supreme Court decision which held that a Federal ban on the sale and manufacture of margarine was ultra vires of Parliament.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture applied to the council for permission to appeal and it was granted. The appeal likely will not be heard before October at the earliest. The Autumn session of Parliament is not expected to go much beyond the end of November if that long.

With the backlog of work left over from the session which ended April 30 to permit a general election on June 27 and with new legislation due to come, observers believe the Government may decide to leave the Appeal Bill over for another session.

The Privy Council has already ruled that Parliament has the power to abolish the appeals and such action appears to be favored by most members. Some feel, however, that the right to appeal to the council on constitutional issues should be retained.

Gala Opening Set For Saanich Fair

All roads on the Saanich Peninsula will lead to the agricultural hall and grounds at Saanichton on Labor Day. Arthur J. R. Ash, M.L.A., will officially open the 81st Saanich Fair at 2 p.m.

[illegible] cattle for many years guarantees keen competition and the saddle horse events will also surpass those of last year.

Dr. S. F. Miles and his committee have had a busy time lining up the different events and improving the ring from the spectators point of view. Some youthful riders have entered for the Western ability [illegible] they will "steal the show."

More than 50 competitors from Victoria, Up Island points, and Vancouver have already registered to complete in the 21 classes, comprising the Highland dancing and piping events.

GARDEN CONTEST

The agriculture committee of the Victoria Rotary Club is sponsoring a boys' and girls' school garden contest. The schools, eleven in number, include some as far away as Milnes Landing.

There are numerous contests for children, such as cattle judging, home handicrafts, poultry and rabbit exhibiting.

The open sports for boys and girls will be under the direction of the Saanichton Community Club.

TO SHOW COOKING

The Saanich ladies will display their collections of bottled fruit and home baking as well as sewing and kindred arts. Competitors in these sections will automatically compete for the "Mitchell Turgoose" cup and miniature which is awarded to the exhibitor obtaining most points in the interior exhibits.

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., and Mrs. Pearkes are awarding a cup to the winner of the most points in the fruits section.

GREAT STRIDES MADE

Saanich Fair is truly representative of a rural fair which is [illegible] representative of the activities and skills of the residents of the Peninsula. It is a far cry since the first humble exhibition was held in a barn but the passing years have seen it develop with the children and grandchildren of the early pioneers still maintaining an active interest as evidenced by such names as Thomson, Nimmo, Mitchell, Malcolm, just to mention a few.

Many Labor Day Events Set For Albernis' Big Celebration

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 3.—The three-day Labor Day celebration which started Saturday, is the culmination of many years' effort by the [illegible] Club, the Alberni District Joint Labor Council, who sponsored the Paul Bunyan Day celebrations of loggers and lumber workers, [illegible] the Port Alberni Gun Club, which [illegible] for the first time the West Coast championships [illegible] and the Port Alberni [illegible] Club and the Port Alberni [illegible].

Hundreds of visitors are expected to take advantage of the new highway. The visitor can fish in the morning, watch a log-birling championship in the afternoon on Sunday.

AIR SHOW SUNDAY

The air show Sunday will demonstrate bombing nothing atomic—just sacks of flour, but the display will be accurate in every detail.

At Recreation Park in Port Alberni after the crowning of the Labor Day Queen in Alberni and the parade between the two cities, the loggers will go through their paces, a wide variety of events having been arranged.

The Port Alberni District Joint Labor Council is making an effort to make this the greatest Labor Day in one of the fastest growing cities in the Northwest.

The Vancouver Island Fire Fighters Association will hold their semi-annual convention at the twin city of Alberni. There will be representative teams from every volunteer fire brigade on the Island. Every kind of test known to these departments will be displayed on the newly-paved Johnson Street at Alberni.

A ship from the United States Navy with 12 officers and 125 crew is here for the celebration.

Prepare Fair For Luxton September 12

LUXTON, Sept. 3.—The Metchosin Farmers Institute will hold their annual Autumn fair at the Luxton Hall and fair grounds on Monday, September 12.

A large prize list has been issued with 319 classes of entries.

Secretary F. J. Williams will receive entries up to September 7, and exhibits will be accepted between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. on the day of the fair.

The section devoted to fruit, vegetables and flowers will be convened by Mrs. A. Turner and Miss M. L. A. Savory of Langford.

The field crops and dairy produce will be in charge of A. F. Carlson.

A large selection of livestock convened by H. Williams and A. McIntyre will have a special cup donated by Birk's and Sons Jewellers, for purebred Jersey and grade Jersey cattle.

Charge Driver In Accident

CHEMAINUS, Sept. 3.—Charge of dangerous driving has been laid by Chemainus Constable Thomas Kelly against C. Guenther of Nanaimo whose car was impounded after an accident Monday near Chemainus. The case is set for September 8 before Magistrate G. F. Tisdale. The car, police say, was in head-on collision with a car driven by G. S. Moore of Trail. Eric White, a passenger in the Guenther car, received cuts and bruises.

Island Woman Bags Her Sixteenth Cougar

Proudly displayed by Devlin Yates, 11 (left), and Michael Ripplingale 13 of Victoria is skin of cougar shot by Mrs. John Yates of Becher Bay, at East Sooke last week. Also in picture are Mrs. Yates cougar hounds Bess and Jim. Cougar was sighted in East Sooke early in evening and word was sent to Mrs. Yates. Animal fled to pasture of Hubert Thornett, who fired load of buckshot at escaping cat. Mrs. Yates and her husband arrived later in evening and after picking up scent soon had cougar treed. Animal again escaped but later was treed once more. Mrs. Yates then killed it with single shot. It was her 16th cougar. Young male, it weighed 110 pounds and was seven feet six inches long.

Mill Bay Notes

MILL BAY, Sept. 3.—Several local residents have been among those successful in taking large springs recently, one of the most successful being George Hawk, who has had several, ranging from 15 to 35 pounds. Ralph Kerr landed a 20-pounder while George Black, a visitor, landed three weighing 1[illegible], 13 and 18 pounds. Pearl pink [illegible] plugs were the successful lures.

* * *

Recently returned from a business trip to New York and Montreal, David B. Kerr expressed gratification at being back on Vancouver Island. During the trip East he met many people who hope in the future to retire on the Island.

* * *

In the opinion of old timers salmon fishing in the bay is deteriorating due to the presence of fur seals, many of which have been noted during the past two years. In the past week two of the largest were destroyed, also a smaller one. If the situation does not improve, it is proposed to ask the fishery authorities to clear them out.

G. C. Mocka, who has been absent from the area for the past two years as resident engineer of the new pulp mill near Nanaimo, has been indisposed for the past week due to a form of flu and has been unable to pay his usual week-end visit to his residence.

Thousands Present at Opening Of Annual Fair at Courtenay

COURTENAY, Sept. 3.—Favored by sunny skies Comox District's 58th annual Autumn fair got under way today and will continue through Sunday and Monday. Already accounted one of the most successful ever staged here, the fair is attracting crowds estimated in the thousands.

Farm and garden produce and livestock entries are at an all time high. Covered stalls, built only this year to shelter cows and horses, were taxed beyond capacity and a good number of animals had to be tethered to nearby trees, trucks and cars.

OFFICIAL OPENING

Ceremonies this afternoon saw Fair Board Chairman Harry Codley declare the fair officially open.

After a livestock parade a bathing beauty contest was staged in front of the grandstand with Corinne Brown, Doris Feeley, Kassie Cessford, Sheila Currie, Phyllis Bridger, Joan Thompson and Kay Tanner competing for the title "Queen of the Fair." Winner was Sheila Currie.

Loggers' sports followed and prizes worth $500 were distributed to winners in the log bucking, sawing, chopping and splicing events.

Tomorrow will see a swimming gala at the Courtenay Pool in the afternoon with Courtenay and Powell River teams taking part.

Baseball finals will be played Monday.

PHOTO AND PLAN BY "HOME BUILDING IN CANADA"

House No. 171 [illegible] compare with the one [illegible] at the rear goes down to the Red River, Winnipeg. Notice the bay and large kitchen window to take advantage of the rear view. Beside the plans shown there is a full basement with panelled game room with fireplace, washroom with shower, laundry and a large storage room. The exterior is chocolate brown siding with [illegible] a green roof. [illegible]

Plan for Small Furniture In a Small Home

[illegible] are [illegible] for big rooms and so are many other pieces of furniture which are so designed that they do not fit in the small rooms of many present-day cottages. Remember this when you plan [illegible] and when you purchase furniture for it.

There is much furniture which is built on proper scale for small and medium-sized rooms. Such scale furniture performs all the functions of the larger sizes and in no way adversely affects the utilization of a room. For many years period furniture [illegible] have been [illegible] substitutes based on earlier models built to be used in houses twice the size of the average 1949 new home. Sizes were often inherited rather than calculated from needs to use.

[illegible] pieces [illegible] in the living and dining-room. [illegible] about the fixed [illegible] double or single [illegible] size but usually [illegible] Chesterfields are gradually being reduced in size. Early ones were built to accommodate four persons [illegible] today [illegible] Chesterfield longer than 72 inches. From [illegible] use standpoint larger Chesterfields are not necessary. [illegible] have been growing smaller and [illegible] within the last few years. For [illegible] dining an occasional or non-dining table with any dimension greater than 38 inches seems unnecessary.

When a new home planner goes on a space saving program the dining-room is frequently reduced in size because many people consider a large dining area a luxury. The rub comes when moving day arrives and an attempt is made to place the old, large size "buffet" in the reduced dining-room. Most families need the dish storage space [illegible] and there [illegible] a way to provide it without [illegible] the six or seven feet in length [illegible] for a long low piece. A dish storage piece which is small in [illegible] size but that will store just as many dishes as the usual long low piece [illegible] and work in a small room.

Another means of gaining storage area without loss of [illegible] floor space is the efficient corner cupboard. This type of storage [illegible] otherwise wasted space [illegible] and if built in at the time the house is constructed means just that much less furniture.

Low roofs produce low walls in upstairs rooms against which new furniture, particularly chiffoniers and chests of drawers, just won't work. This situation is found in many [illegible] half houses and in most attic rooms. This under-the-eave space need not be wasted because there is one piece of furniture, the bed, which can be made to fit a low wall, saving full-length portions for the taller pieces.

Built-in beds have saved many an awkward bedroom, and if the bed can be constructed at the time the house is built it may even cost less than a furniture store bed.

Ninety out of the average 100 bedrooms are all the same [illegible] and the wallpaper. The living room, the dining room, the game room, all seem to have had the benefit of thought, and attention to the exclusion of the sleeping rooms, which fall into the usual stereotyped monotony.

Bunk beds have long been popular for boys' rooms, week-end cottages and shore homes but there are other forms which such beds can take, making them suitable for any [illegible].

Some built-in bed suggestions: Make the bed space about six inches longer than a regular bed [illegible] it is well to have good "toe" room. If the bed is enclosed on three sides build two singles instead of a double [illegible] it is much easier to make. If you build in a double bed arrange it so that two sides are open for ease in making. CHAPTER IX (Continued)

"Miss Hickey feels that the [illegible] experience you have already had combined with the [illegible] effectiveness of your [illegible] of your personality, might qualify you for a [illegible] long been [illegible] to the many unique services offered to our distinguished and discriminating clientele, which extends from coast to coast. Without being prepared to go into details at this point, I may say that such a position would not be dissimilar in character to your connection with The Fashion Plate Dress Shop in New Orleans. It would, however, be much wider in scope, much more productive of opportunity and we believe much more remunerative. It would, of course, entail your residence in New York City.

"If this tentative offer sounds attractive to you, as I hope it will, I suggest that you contact Miss Hickey, who is staying at the St. Charles Hotel and make an appointment with her for a personal interview at some time in the near future convenient to yourself.

"Hoping for an early and favorable reply, we remain

Respectfully yours,
HAAS and HECTOR."

Ruth put down the crackling sheets to find Caresse looking at her with questioning eyes. [illegible] I think that's a perfectly wonderful letter! And a [illegible] that would mean all kinds [illegible] [illegible] it would mean living in New York. I suppose that would be the catch. I suppose you wouldn't want to leave New Orleans."

"Yes, I would. I'm crazy to leave New Orleans. I'd leave tomorrow if I could."

"If you feel that way [illegible] why don't you telephone Miss Hickey the first thing in the morning?"

"I've already telephoned Miss Hickey. I did it while [illegible] rest of you were at the [illegible] I have an appointment with Miss Hickey at ten o'clock [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] I thought we could make good [illegible] [illegible] so much. But I [illegible] don't know that I'm qualified [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] judgment in a case like [illegible]

[illegible] I don't see why I didn't think of him myself! Let's go to his house and ask him right away. You haven't met Judith, have you? She's a grand person. I think we can catch them both at home right now. They almost always spend the latter part of the afternoon with the children."

* * *

Joe, very casually dressed and holding a pipe in one hand, opened the door for them himself.

"Well, this is a [illegible] surprise!" he remarked [illegible]. "How are you, Ruth? [illegible] Judith will be down in a minute. She's [illegible] [illegible] I was helping her [illegible] part of the new [illegible] Meanwhile, what about a drink?"

He ushered them into a book-lined room. Then he disappeared to return shortly afterwards with well-filled glasses and some cheese-crackers on a small tray.

"[illegible] Judith you were here," he said [illegible] [illegible]

"Naturally. I want to see Judith too," Caresse informed him, accepting her drink. "But I really came to consult you. I've had a very important letter. I showed it to Ruth and she gave me some good advice. But she suggested that I show it to you [illegible] [illegible]

"[illegible]" Joe answered.

[illegible] he read it. He put it down with much [illegible] of comment that Ruth had made.

"[illegible] that's great!" he exclaimed [illegible] [illegible] Then he [illegible] Judith Caresse [illegible] Avenue [illegible]

"I'm awfully glad to see you both. Can I hear the wonderful news right away, before I get involved [illegible]

[illegible] hands with both girls [illegible] a chair for herself, she sat down on the arm of [illegible] and read the letter.

Judith looked up from the letter. "[illegible] wonderful!" she said. "Have you any idea when you could start, Caresse?"

"I've already got my appointment with Miss Hickey. I could leave tomorrow on the Crescent if she could."

"I must remind you of something, Caresse, though Lord knows I hate to," Joe said. "You can't think of leaving town until the mystery of Odile's death has been fully solved."

"Why, Captain Murphy's already [illegible] She's in jail right [illegible]

"You know very well she didn't kill [illegible]

"But those fingerprints!"

"I know all about those fingerprints. But that doesn't prove a [illegible] Toosie probably moved the gun without even knowing what she was doing when she found Odile and knelt beside her. Toosie's arrest was [illegible] of some sort. I don't know just what The Murphy's up to, but he knows just as well as [illegible] [illegible] I do, that Toosie didn't kill Odile. While Toosie might conceivably have fired the gun, she couldn't possibly have written the suicide note."

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "WARP"

If a group of persons were asked to give the first thought evoked by the word "warp," some would answer "warped wood"; others would allude to a warped or distorted character. Still others would suggest "warp" as a term in weaving, as in the familiar combination of "warp and woof." All would be correct. This [illegible]

The derivation of "warp" is from the Old English "warpen," which is [illegible] "to throw." With [illegible] variations of spelling it [illegible] other Teutonic languages and [illegible] several meanings all stem from that [illegible] "to throw" or "to cast," and from the related Sanskrit "vrj," meaning "to twist."

In the satirical poem "The Vision of Piers Plowman," written in the 14th century by the Englishman William Langland, the term "warp" seems to have been used almost in its literal sense of "to throw" or "to throw out," applied to speech. But very soon it took on the angle of "to twist," the core of the other allusions. Not only "warped wood" to describe wood twisted out of shape, but the warped mind were [illegible] in early literature. In [illegible] time, the poet Dryden [illegible] "[illegible] first [illegible] for [illegible] warped my mind."

The use of "warp" in weaving is a direct derivation of the source meaning "to throw." In that it names the threads which extend lengthwise in the loom [illegible] the woof [illegible] might be [illegible] thrown or cast across the threads going the other way.

Actors Try Out for Comedy Roles

Victoria actors, above, try out for parts in hilarious Kaufman and Hart comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," forthcoming Victoria Players' Guild production. Picture was taken last night at School of Theatrical Arts, 1318 Broad Street, during casting. Left to right: Margaret Hincks, Michael F. Francis, Noel Cusack, Gordon Harris; Thomas W. Mayne, assistant director; Lt.-Col. Victor W. Mills, director; Alec McGowan, president of the guild.

Select Actors for Roles For Comedy in October

Mid-October has been set for the first production of the second season of the Victoria Players' Guild.

At a well-attended meeting Thursday evening at the School of Theatrical Arts, Broad Street, reading for roles in the comedy "The Man Who Came to Dinner" by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart got under way.

Colonel Victor Mills who will be remembered for many a day as "Papa" in the "Barretts of Wimpole Street" last Spring will direct "The Man Who Came to Dinner," with Thomas Mayne as assistant director.

It is planned to put on an evening of three one-act plays later.

The group did exceptionally well with last year's three productions and there is every indication of their continued success this year.

Cordova Bay Speedboat Entries Ready

The Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association will hold speedboat races at Cordova Bay tomorrow in conjunction with the Cordova Bay Community Club and the Victoria Acrobatic Club.

Four Vancouver boats are scheduled to compete, with others expected over if the weather is favorable. Jim Hutchinson with his "Teaser III" and Al Le Gan with his "Stolen Time II" lead the Vancouver entries. "Teaser III" was winner of the Gold Cup in Vancouver recently and "Stolen Time II" was winner of the Okanagan Lake championship at Kelowna. Charlie Kobus with his "Mercury IV" and Ted Currell with his "7-11 IV" are the other two speedboats entered.

Vancouver Island has 12 boats to challenge the Mainland favorites. They are: Ken Cameron from Cowichan Lake, Colin Horton's "Rosie" from Mill Bay, Wallie Butler's "Miss Sooke," Lorn Prevost's new Pacific one-design, Harold Whitehead's new cracker box, Bob Watson's new cracker box, Ron Barker's "Tom Bay," George Baldwin's "Mis-B-Havin II," Brock Robertson's "Yehudy," Ray Fairservice's entry, a Mercury-powered runabout, Lou William's entry, a utility outboard runabout, Tony Battam with an outboard hydroplane.

The Victoria Acrobatic Club will give a display of fancy diving, water skiing and surf board riding during the regatta. Races start at 1.30 p.m.

Named to Help End Dispute

Conciliation Officer W. T. McLaughlin has been named to assist three Vancouver foundries and 175 of their employees, represented by the United Steel Workers of America, Local 3546, in reaching agreement.

Companies involved in the dispute over wage increases, statutory holidays, vacations and group insurance plans are Vancouver Machinery Depot Ltd., Vancouver Iron Works, Ltd., and Vancouver Engineering Works, Ltd.

F. W. Place has been appointed to assist Bestovall Canning Co., Ltd., Vancouver, and the United Packinghouse Workers of America, Local 380, in negotiations over union demands for 15-cent-an-hour increases and additional holidays.

One hundred workers are affected.

BOSTON, Lincolnshire, England (CP)—Sprightly Aid. Charles William Fleet, 68, reckons he is as good as any man of his age. But he thought he was asked too much when he received army call-up papers. The War Office had made a mistake.

THRYBERGH, Yorkshire, England (CP)—A safe containing records of marriages and baptisms of the local church stolen nine months ago was found ripped open in a nearby reservoir. The papers were intact and now are being restored.

Y.W.C.A. Brings to Many Aid, Companionship

MRS. A. C. BRAND HELPS Y.W.C.A. TRAVELLERS' AID

The Y.W.C.A.'s building at the corner of Broughton and Blanshard looks a quiet enough place, and so it is; yet behind its ivy-colored walls passes a constant stream of humanity in search of some kind of friendly relationship.

Though by no means a charity organisation, the Y.W.C.A. does a great deal of work for which it is never paid. That is why it is one of the agencies of the Greater Victoria Community Chest, which will open its campaign for $135,000 next month.

Miss Christina Gardiner is the presiding genius at the "Y." She keeps a friendly eye on all its activities. The comfortable lounge with its books and pictures, has a homey informality; the pleasant grey-haired lady at the desk has none of the chilling airs the public somehow, quite erroneously, [illegible] to associate with persons [illegible] "professional receptionists."

ONE OF MANY

The Travelers' Aid is but one of the many services of the Y.W.C.A. This enterprising branch, under the guidance of [illegible] Gertrude Aikenhead, a trained social worker, meets every ship that docks at Victoria. Many and varied are the services rendered. Happy-go-lucky tourists who arrive late in the evening with nowhere to go are provided with accommodation through the room registry service; "un-mets" who have mislaid addresses of friends or relatives are assisted by multiple telephoning.

Occasionally there are run-away girls or young women with obviously serious problems who avail themselves of the "Y's" spare bed and sometime become a long-term responsibility. Nearly 20,000 such services to both men and women travelers are rendered each year.

The residence and food service committee under Miss Mae Brown, trained dietitian, looks after the catering and comfort of the members. Every effort is made to avoid the institutional. Tasty meals at moderate charges are offered at the self-serve counter in the attractive dining-room. Gifts of flower, and magazines from well-wishers brighten the living-rooms.

SPONTANEITY

Spontaneity is the keynote of the residents' activities. Sitting round the fire a glee club is arranged one evenings; with exams impending a study group forms; girls discover a taste for ping-pong and a tournament is organized.

Miss Gardiner's special pride is what she calls her "Thursday Niters," a little group of D.P. girls. They come to be taught English and to discuss the problems of adaptation in their new homeland.

AID PROJECTS

A program committee under Miss Eleanor Turvey, secretary, and Miss Dorothy Toseland, assistant secretary, looks after entertainment and recreational activities. They arrange conferences and discussions, dances and tournaments, and behind each there is usually some service project—the raising of funds to adopt an orphanage in England, to send food and clothing to the needy or to raise the Victoria allocation for the World's Y.W.C.A. Reconstruction [illegible].

More than a dozen interest groups receive instruction in such subjects as leathercraft, eurythmics, health and beauty, and needlepoint.

Hi-Y clubs have been formed in some of the local high schools with the purpose of preparing members for a fuller, richer and more worthwhile life.

Like all welfare organisations, the "Y's" are hampered by lack of funds. Last year the Greater Victoria Community Chest contributed $13,000 toward the Y.W.C.A. budget, but this was less than 30 per cent of the whole. To make ends meet, economies have to be practised which limit the scope of the work.

NEW MAIL SERVICE

Announcement was made yesterday by the Canadian Post Office Department that a regular air mail service will be inaugurated about September 19 between Vancouver and Hongkong, via Tokio.

The department will mark the inauguration of the service by two special cachets which will be applied to first-day covers on the initial trip between Vancouver and Hongkong.

Philatelic covers for transmission by first flights must reach the postmaster at Vancouver by September 16. Covers arriving too late will be returned to the sender.

FACTS BEHIND THE FURNACE

A furnace is not bought for a month or a year ... it is an investment on which the comfort of your home depends. The Pacific is different from the standard cast iron furnace in that it has every joint welded sealed against any possible leakage of fumes or smoke. It is the lasting quality of the Pacific that will give you years of service after other furnaces are useless and dangerous, and your Pacific is especially adaptable to conversion to oil.

Be sure to have your faithful old furnace re-cemented this Winter. We'll do the job.

Alberta Oil News

By C. O. NICKLE
Special to The Colonist

Dr. O. B. Hopkins, vice-president and director of Imperial Oil Limited and H. H. Hewetson, chairman of the board, in an interview at Calgary, September 2, stated that the [illegible] Regina is definitely being extended to the Head of the Lakes an additional 700 miles, and will be routed through the southern sedimentary area. He also said that their company is currently contemplating its extended route to run through Superior, Wisconsin.

INCREASED DIAMETER

The line, originally planned to run from Edmonton to Regina on the basis of a ten-inch pipe, was increased to 12 and then 16 inches in diameter. Then further enlargements were necessary made, which finally ended up with a 20-inch line from Edmonton to Regina, 16-inch line from Regina to Gretna, Manitoba, and an 18-inch from Gretna to the Head of the Lakes. Estimated cost of this project was stated by Mr. Hewetson as around ninety million dollars. It is believed that Imperial will be in the position to move crude from Edmonton to Regina in the Fall of 1950, while oil flow from Regina to the Lakes should commence the following Spring.

Imperial's refinery at Edmonton is currently processing around 21,500 barrels of Leduc crude daily. Mr. Hewetson stated that he hoped that it could be held at that figure and that efforts will be made to increase this capacity if possible. This is the largest refinery west of Sarnia, Ontario, as the Regina plant runs through around 15 to 17 thousand barrels daily and the Calgary plant capacity is about 10,000 barrels daily. Sarnia's present throughput is around 55,000 barrels daily.

TO SET UP RATE

Imperial's plan is to set up the rate of oil flow through the pipeline to around 60,000 barrels daily during the Summer months and decrease it to around 10,000 barrels daily in Winter, to average the 35,000 that is expected to come from Alberta during the initial stages of the pipeline operations. Oil tankers will be able to operate on the lakes only about 7 months of the year, thus the 35,000 barrels per day mark will be maintained for Alberta crude throughout the season.

Also announced by Imperial officials was that the company has in mind further drilling in the Golden Spike area, about 16 miles southeast of Edmonton. It is planned to move a rig into this region either north or northeast of the fabulous discovery during next week. This extension test will be located about a quarter of a mile from the 16,000 barrel per day producer, and Imperial has in mind the thought of following a similar short step-out [illegible] bend and Redwater discoveries. One rig will be working in this region continuously until the end of this year and should result in at least one completion.

NEARING OBJECTIVE

Canadian Gulf Oil Company is nearing the first objective D2 zone of Devonian at its Gulf Bauer No. 4 well, [illegible] follow up to its Stettler [illegible] discovery around two miles to the north. In addition, Gulf is moving in equipment for another test around 25 miles south and slightly west of the discovery. This latter wildcat, Gulf-G. E. Upton No. 1, will also probe for D2 and D3 Devonian production that proved so prolific at the [illegible] discovery.

Another follow up to discovery that was spudded this week is the Superior-Joseph Lake No. 2, situated about 18 miles southeast of Edmonton. The first well drilled in this area, an oil discovery in the Viking sand, has, since inception of production the latter part of March to August 30 of this year, yielded 9,181 net barrels of 37 degree gravity crude. Seven feet of productive sand was encountered at the initial well, but only one foot of zone around 3,264 feet was opened by jet perforations. The Joseph Lake ventures are located on an 8,960 acre lease block farmed out by Imperial Oil, owned 50 per cent by Imperial, 15 per cent by Petroleums, 12½ per cent each by Superior Oils and Kroy Oils, and 10 per cent by Jupiter Oils. The new well, spudded two days ago, is located a quarter of a mile north of the discovery.

STEADY YIELD

Now heading the list for producing companies at Redwater is Imperial Oil Limited, discoverer of the field, with 38 oil wells on steady yield, and more being placed on production approximately every five days. Following close behind Imperial's record is Western Leaseholds Limited of Calgary, trailing by two, with 36 wells on production. Royalite Oil Company and the British-American-Hudson's Bay team each owned 16 oil wells. Canadian Gulf Oil Company has 13, the Pacific-Atlantic-Sunray-Calvan team has 10, the Anglo-Canadian-Home Oil team has 9, the Barnsdall-Honolulu-Seaboard-Los Nietos team owns 8, Amerada Petroleums has 6, the Pacific-Sunray-Princess-Calvan team owns 4, and the Texaco Exploration-McColl Frontenac team has one oil well.

This week Imperial Oil Limited increased its acceptance of crude oil from the Redwater, Leduc-Woodbend and Golden Spike oilfields. The boost is due to an increase in demand for crude oil. The new market allowables, affecting Imperial and firms selling their products to that company, became effective September 1.

Imperial's new quota is as follows: Redwater, 13½ daily; Leduc-Woodbend D3 zone, 115 barrels daily; D2 zone and Lower Cretaceous, 80 barrels daily; and Golden Spike, 325 barrels daily.

It's so different today

PIRACY on the High Seas was, no doubt, exciting until it came to breakfasting on salt pork and ship's biscuit. Nowadays that delicious cereal, Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes, is eaten joyfully on both sea and land. It's made from not one but TWO grains — sun-ripened wheat and malted barley.

Bold buccaneers of today come aboard with zest when Grape-Nuts Flakes are in the offing. And a good thing too, because these honey-golden flakes provide nourishment they need . . . useful quantities of carbohydrates, protein, phosphorous, iron and other food essentials. Say "Ahoy, Mr. Grocer! Grape-Nuts Flakes, please!"

A Short Story

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

PAUL wanted to keep on with his job as an insurance salesman. Bess objected. Bess didn't approve of anything so prosaic. She was in favor of his doing something more spectacular.

"But shucks, honey, it's a good job. We can get along swell on what I'm making. There's a future in it too. Mr. Karpen said so."

"A future!" said Bess. She sniffed. "I declare, Paul, sometimes I think you'd be willing to hibernate like a small-town nobody."

Paul became desperate. His better judgment, common sense and instinct told him that Bess was all wrong. On the other hand he loved her. Which of course makes a situation.

Bess was [illegible] the [illegible] attention [illegible] at her telephone [illegible].

TOMMY GUNS! [illegible] were going to hold up the [illegible].

The telephone office was located upstairs over the [illegible] store. Across the street was the bank. It was almost closing time. As Bess stared idly from the window a black sedan drove up in front of the bank.

Bess [illegible]. The three men [illegible] up the walk were carrying things that Bess [illegible] recognized [illegible] "Tommy guns." [illegible] heavens! [illegible] they were going to hold up the bank.

Bess' heart began [illegible]. For a moment she was beside herself with fright. Then her mind began to function. She began [illegible] in plugs. She spoke [illegible] to the voice that answered. She [illegible] that switch [illegible] another. She talked again and [illegible] that switch [illegible] for a [illegible]. But then across the street there was a terrible disturbance. A tommy gun began to chatter. A police siren sounded. More shots. A lot of yelling. A spray of bullets [illegible] through the window of the telephone office. Bess flinched but she stuck to her post.

That night the papers were full of the attempted [illegible] bank robbery. There was a picture of Bess on the front page, a [illegible] column picture with a big [illegible]. Most of the head [illegible] of the [illegible] was at the switchboard [illegible] and grim. She had warned first the local police, then the state police barracks, then the police of several nearby cities. She had saved the bank from being robbed and the bank was talking of giving her a purse. The would-be robbers, however, had gotten away, though the trail was hot.

That night the little cottage where Bess lived was the centre of great excitement. Reporters came from everywhere. State and [illegible] county authorities were [illegible] the living room. Bess [illegible] was the [illegible] had a good look at the robbers [illegible] over again [illegible] and over [illegible] her telephone [illegible] o'clock before [illegible] parted and she was allowed to go to bed.

The next day it was worse. She wasn't permitted to go to work. Police and reporters wanted to ask her questions. Representatives from the telephone company were there to congratulate her. Townspeople crowded about the [illegible]. The newspapers carried more pictures of her. By nightfall she was a [illegible].

The excitement lasted four days, then began to taper off. Bess [illegible] relieved. She was tired out. That night the townspeople were giving a banquet in which she was to be the guest of honor. [illegible] she was to attend the Chamber of Commerce luncheon. [illegible] evening [illegible] was holding a banquet [illegible] which she was to be given a purse [illegible].

[illegible] were captured and a [illegible] was [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible].

A week later Bess was taken to a sanitarium to rest up. She [illegible] nearly sick. But she pretended to be. It was the only means of escape she could think of. The morning after her arrival she sent for Paul. He sat down beside her and stared at her pleadingly.

"Darling," he said, "please [illegible] give up your [illegible] another agent. We can get along [illegible] your salary. [illegible] tomorrow and [illegible] a [illegible] quiet life."

"But I had thought you wanted me to be famous!"

"Famous!" [illegible] "That's the last thing I want you to be. Why I'd hardly see you if you were famous. The excitement would kill me. What I want is you all to myself."

"Fine," said Paul.

Sereault's Mill in Alberni

Power From Waterwheel In Early Lumber Plant

By JOHN C. BOHLE

ONE of the earliest lumber mills in the Alberni district was erected at Kitsucksis Creek where it joins the Somass River. It was in operation in 1890. The owner was Mike Sereault, a young, ingenious and resourceful pioneer.

Power for the mill was obtained from an overshot water wheel. A flume three hundred feet long, four feet wide and [illegible] feet deep brought water from a dam [illegible] further up the creek. The mill was [illegible] to [illegible] in Kitsucksis [illegible].

A [illegible] was [illegible] mill. Sawdust was carried away by water and sluiced up [illegible] the Somass River. Logs on the [illegible] were set up [illegible].

From this mill came lumber for [illegible] Alberni [illegible] Alberni Hotel [illegible].

Logs for the mill were [illegible] made a [illegible] were [illegible]. The [illegible] and [illegible]. When the [illegible] were used to move the logs to the mill.

BUILT FIRST HOTEL

Mike Sereault was a well-liked man in the pioneer community. He was always trying new enterprises, bringing to them an abundant drive and energy. He owned a ranch at Cherry Creek. Besides owning the first mill in the district he built and operated the first Alberni Hotel in 1895. He also started a stage line to Nanaimo, cutting fare by one dollar to bring the rate to $5 single and $9 return.

His ventures were not all [illegible] and after one of [illegible] he went to Victoria for a [illegible] [illegible] where he died [illegible] attribute his death to one of the [illegible] of [illegible].

Area Was All Farmlands And Property Was Cheap

By GORDON FORBES

WITH Cordova Bay in the midst of a building boom George S McMorran, resident since before the turn of the century, can recall the days when a dozen lots sold for the same price as one today.

Born in Paisley, Bruce County, [illegible] in 1888 Mr McMorran's first introduction to Cordova Bay was in 1892 when he was carried there on the back of a workman from the 1,000-acre Broadmede Farm, owned by the late R P Rithet at Royal Oak. It was a 45 minute tramp through thickly wooded forest by trail via the Philip Iouet farm to the south end of the bay.

PIONEER DAYS

"It was shortly after this we camped under canvas in the sand below the present Parkview Store. We had to go by horse and buggy to St Luke's Church at Mount Tolmie along Cedar Hill Road and then waterfront to the bay. It took the best part of a day. Some years later the road at Cordova Bay was extended north to Elk Lake making the distance much shorter," recalls Mr McMorran.

When the Canadian National Railway operated a passenger service [illegible] Cordova Bay it was well patronized. The service was competing with the [illegible] which were popular and [illegible] at that time.

ALL FARMLANDS

According to Mr McMorran the bay has four [illegible] Section 28 Philip Iouet the first resident [illegible] Section 29 [illegible] Section 30 owned by [illegible] Japanese [illegible] Section 31 owned by Archibald [illegible] and the present [illegible] McMorran [illegible] Section 32 owned and farmed by Mr Carmichael. This was the entire bay with the [illegible] ward to the north. Sayward Beach was called Brown's Beach then.

OUT FOR FORTUNE

On May 20 1919 a friend suggested I open an ice cream parlor. I found a location at $5 a [illegible] rent. Along came a few hundred feet of lumber and a roll or two of roofing paper. I decided that a building 6 x 12 feet would be ample to take care of the few people who just came out for the [illegible]. To make a [illegible] necessary to [illegible] May 24 and [illegible] that I [illegible] May 23 [illegible] big day [illegible] $4.80 [illegible] Mr McMorran.

Sitting on the Fence

By Nathaniel Gubbins

UTOPIA had arrived. Anybody could see that. Health and happiness radiated from every face. Serenity shone from each clear, untroubled eye.

Science had reduced work to about an hour a day. In the exquisite Halls of Enlightenment the population spent its leisure hours hearing of new wonders in the world and how to live for ever.

Food was abundant and free. So was accommodation in the Heavenly Homes, so skilfully camouflaged that they merged into the scenery of hills and valleys, lakes and rivers.

Money had disappeared because science had produced commodities so easily and cheaply that it ceased to have value.

Therefore nobody could sell you anything and even barter was pointless because you could have anything you wanted for the asking.

In a perfectly healthy world without anxieties there were no doctors. In a world without property and therefore without crime but occasional crimes of passion there were no lawyers.

Divorce was allowed by mutual consent or even by one party [illegible] and there were no hard feelings if you were ready to live for ever.

The harmony of existence had changed character so much it has [illegible] almost ceased to exist. The [illegible] of hatred [illegible] slander or [illegible] were regarded as acts of lunacy and treated accordingly.

No lawyers were needed to prove or disprove crime because everybody told the truth, even the [illegible] caused under the influence of the truth drug.

* * *

As it is a fact that the more enlightened people are the less government they need, the world government had become an international committee of scientists and philosophers elected each year by those who had proved by their knowledge and benevolence that they were entitled to be enfranchised.

The days when any fool or undiscovered criminal could vote were over.

Transport except for pleasure was a thing of the past because science had produced everything you needed where you lived.

International trade had disappeared too because nobody wanted anything from his neighbor but fresh knowledge and new beauty in works of art.

So there was nothing to trade with or quarrel about.

In Utopia you had nothing whatever to do but be happy in a small daily task and look forward to greater happiness for ever and ever.

Nevertheless there were a few survivors of the recent Dark Ages who didn't like it a bit.

THE SPORTS

Two elderly Sports were sitting [illegible]

Before Utopia arrived most of their adult [illegible] had been spent [illegible]

[illegible] said the First Sport [illegible] Nothing to [illegible] nothing.

When I first said about Utopia I thought it was an [illegible] said the Second Sport.

So did I, said the First Sport. I nearly started [illegible] till I found that nobody ad no bees and they no more. Crikey what a world without no bees and ones in it.

And as for [illegible], said the Second Sport, they don't race [illegible] no more. They don't even ride [illegible] On dear no [illegible] are their brothers now. [illegible] as my brother [illegible] be [illegible] my [illegible]

You'd think greyhounds was their masters [illegible] the way they treat 'em, said the First Sport. They feed 'em in fruit and vegetables and if they [illegible] at a rabbit [illegible] old basket [illegible] naughty. That little bunny's your friend [illegible]

That's what I can't stand about them. Always [illegible] and laughing. What are they got to laugh at anyway?

And look at the food. All for nothing. Think what we could have got for it on a barrow in the old black market.

[illegible] and them full of magic [illegible]

Not a drink, not a smoke, said the First Sport.

It ain't that they mind you having a drink, said the Second Sport. Or a smoke. It's because they don't make 'em now. In Utopia, says another old party to me, the drugs of discontent ain't wanted no more. The opiates of unhappiness are no longer required.

[illegible] asked the First Sport.

Yes, said the Second Sport. And that's what he was a [illegible] And a [illegible]

I feel like [illegible] sometimes.

[illegible]

THE PREACHERS

Two [illegible] Preachers were [illegible]

[illegible] said the First Preacher [illegible]

Shocking, shocking, said the Second Preacher [illegible]

But they were [illegible] said the First Preacher. So gentle, so kind. As if I were a child who had forgotten his party recitation.

They seem terribly happy without our guidance. I can't understand it.

When you talk to them of sin they say there is no sin. Only knowledge.

When you talk of hell they say there is no hell but the hell of pride.

When I speak of heaven [illegible]

Blasphemous, said the Second Preacher.

All the same, said the First Preacher, it is difficult to offer them anything better. According to their own statements, they appear to have found the secret of eternal life which seems to be a question of [illegible] and [illegible]

And always [illegible] and [illegible] in fresh air.

They suffer neither hunger nor thirst.

There is no screw at parting. No wailing, no gnashing of teeth.

What is a preacher to say to people who believe they're in heaven?

One can only try to persuade them that they're not.

But they're so happy.

Then they must be made unhappy.

They say unhappiness is caused by a sense of sin. They have no sense of sin.

Then they must be made to have it. If people don't think they're doing anything wrong, what's the use of it? Besides, look at their [illegible]

They [illegible] Adam and [illegible]

But [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Do you think we're [illegible] asked the Second Preacher.

I wouldn't be surprised, said the First Preacher, looking round the marble hall. All this luxury. This idleness. This eating your fill without honest toil. This immorality.

But what have we done to deserve it? asked the Second Preacher. We have led good lives.

I [illegible] said the First Preacher, but I was always afraid of this [illegible]. I knew no good would come of it.

INTO POLITICS

Mr Pidwell early took an interest in political life. That he was a man of vision is proved by his determination to unite the colonies of Vancouver Island and British Columbia. That was as early as 1858 and in 1867 he was one of the leaders in the fight to have British Columbia join Canadian Confederation.

The Colonist of March 19, 1867, reported one of the Confederation meetings: "Mr Pidwell [illegible] recognized the importance of the question and did not believe [illegible] great good could be accomplished by any country without union. He fully endorsed the Confederation Bill and called on [illegible] to throw aside personal considerations and discuss whether its adoption would not be better for their race and their country. He believed that Confederation would draw the [illegible] to Mother England. The speaker denied that the Confederation movement was anti-English."

TRAGEDY STRIKES

Mr Pidwell didn't live to see his work for Confederation crowned. For less than four months later came what so many people had always feared. The Colonist of July 16, 1867, reported: "Last evening just as the steamer Idaho for San Francisco had cast off her lines a lamentable accident occurred to an old and respected citizen. It appears that Messrs Bushby, Mauteall? and [illegible] left Victoria in a two-horse buggy for the steamer with Government dispatches. The captain of the steamer was asked to delay until the dispatches should reach Esquimalt. After some persuasion he consented to remain five minutes and Mr John T. Pidwell, who was mounted on a fleet horse, dashed spurs into the animal's side and dashed off towards the road with the expressed design of meeting the buggy and hurrying it along.

"The wind was blowing fresh from the south raising a cloud of dust in [illegible] any great distance. Just as Mr Pidwell had reached the [illegible] Road at the point where it intersects with the main street of Esquimalt the buggy with the [illegible] turned the corner. The driver of the buggy, Mr W. G. Bowman, [illegible] the wind and [illegible] turned his horses to the side of the road to avoid coming in contact with Mr Pidwell who, having one hand raised to keep his hat from blowing off, was unable to see the danger and was riding at full speed directly upon him, but the precaution was of no avail. The [illegible] of Mr Pidwell's horse struck the pole of Mr Bowman's carriage with great violence, breaking the pole and shattering the front part of the carriage. The horse fell and poor Mr Pidwell was thrown out of the saddle with great violence and his head coming in contact with one of the front wheels of the carriage was fractured in a most shocking manner.

"The unfortunate gentleman was rescued from the wreck and carried into Mr John T. Howard's place where he received immediate attention from Drs. Ash, Haggin and Trimble, but he never spoke after the accident and breathed [illegible] an hour. He passed quietly away [illegible] his affectionate wife [illegible] had been [illegible] from the [illegible] [illegible] in the community [illegible]

SOME PLANTS PREFER WATER FROM A SAUCER
SOME PREFER A BATH FROM ABOVE

Know How to Water House Plants

By DEAN HALLIDAY

HOW to water and the [illegible] of water in relation to plant growth are perhaps the most perplexing questions faced in growing house plants. Watering, more than any other factor, determines success or failure.

Some plants require more water than others. The type of soil, the season of the year [illegible]

The function of soil moisture is to dissolve the soluble food elements of the soil so that they may be absorbed by the roots. Plants which do not receive sufficient moisture become stunted and weak; the leaves turn yellow and finally fall. When too much water is applied the root system is unable to function properly as the soil becomes water-soaked and air is excluded and smothering and decaying of roots follow.

Early morning is the best time to water house plants. [illegible] larger containers and leave space at the top of the pot for water.

Rapid-growing plants such as [illegible] ferns, begonias, [illegible] and some require more water than slow growing plants such as aspidistras, pandanus, sansevierias and Christmas cacti.

As illustrated in the accompanying [illegible] the African violet, cyclamen and [illegible]

All plants [illegible] an occasional bath. Syringing house plants weekly with a fine spray of water [illegible] and keeps the breathing pores open.

Dividing Plan For Daffodils

Daffodils need lifting and dividing every three or four years. Too much foliage, too few flowers and buds which fail to open are indications that the bulbs are too crowded and need a new start in life.

Separate from the mother bulb only those bulbs which come away easily. Do not tear them off if they adhere firmly. The large bulbs are of blooming size and can be replanted. The smaller ones will require two or three years to reach blooming size. [illegible]

In replanting daffodil bulbs the rule is to cover them about three times their own height measured from the base of the bulb to its shoulder. In a soil of average texture [illegible] The depth should be increased in very light soil and decreased in heavy soil.

The bulbs should be set [illegible]

Store Carrots For Later Use

Carrots, in a strict sense, are [illegible]

Carrots can be stored easily in the cellar over Winter [illegible]

[illegible]

After the carrots have been removed from the soil [illegible] within one inch of the crown.

Carrots dug for storage purposes should be placed in boxes or buckets of moist sand. The sand should be kept moist by occasional watering. Ample moisture prevents shrivelling of the roots and the moist sand absorbs any odor if decay occurs.

Best temperature for storage of root crops such as carrots is about 34 degrees. Never let the temperature drop below 32 degrees and always allow for sufficient ventilation.

How to Hammer

[illegible]

There are two ways to hammer a nail. [illegible] The correct way is to hold the nail with the thumb and forefinger near the head of the nail. If the nail slips the hammer [illegible] thumb and finger [illegible] damage.

The wrong way is to support the nail at the base. This results in injury because the thumb and forefinger are more or less stationary against the surface being nailed. If the nail slips the hammer descends and smashes thumb and forefinger against a solid surface.

New Chemical to Replace DDT

* * * * * *

New Insecticide Spray Available in Canada

A NEW insecticide, methoxychlor, expected to replace DDT as a livestock spray, is now available in Canada, it is announced by Canadian Industries Limited.

More [illegible] than DDT yet less toxic to human beings, the new chemical was developed in the United States. It has already been adopted there as a standard cattle spray to control several species of flies which are responsible for millions of dollars in losses annually to American and Canadian beef production.

TESTS COMPLETE

Extensive experiments by Canadian Federal, provincial, and [illegible] entomologists during the past two years were [illegible] C. R. Asher, [illegible] manager of the agricultural [illegible]

[illegible] amounts of DDT in milk and flesh from treated livestock. Methoxychlor on the other hand is said to leave practically no residue in the flesh of animals and is only 1/24 as toxic as DDT, Mr. Asher reported.

AS FLY CONTROL

Wettable DDT is still widely used in Canada as a cattle spray although certain areas report that DDT resistant fly strains are developing. Where this problem has been encountered methoxychlor was tried as a fly control with great success.

Introduction of methoxychlor does not mean that DDT is on the way out, the agricultural scientist explained. [illegible]

Victoria Resident Restores Treasure to Bath Galleries

CLEANED, REPAIRED and fitted [illegible] of the period this chair, now after much traveling about, now reposes in the Bath Gallery in Bath, Eng.

RESTORATION of an original William and Mary wing back chair cover which is now being exhibited at the Victoria Art Gallery in Bath, England, is the latest achievement of Lady Swettenham whose skill in needlework is well known.

Lady Swettenham, who has resided at the Empress Hotel for the past few years, completed the intricate and artistic work a few months ago and shipped it to London where it was mounted and sent to the Bath gallery.

Sometime after Lady Swettenham showed the cover to a group of people in Bath. Among them was the curator of the Victoria Art Gallery. He remarked that the gallery would have the cover and Lady Swettenham promised to send it when the work was completed. It was only a few days ago that she received word that it had been received.

RESTORED WORK

First she tackled the job of mending the torn and worn parts. Then when she went to France in 1940, she had it cleaned by an expert in Paris. Then came the actual work of restoration [illegible] the hundreds of [illegible] and old rose [illegible]

The cover has had quite a history [illegible] picked off the dusty floor of an old antique shop, repaired, [illegible] the exciting experience of being in Lady Swettenham's baggage when she escaped from France a few hours before the arrival of the Germans. Then came a trip across the Atlantic and a long [illegible] period at the Empress Hotel where it was completely rejuvenated. After that it went back across the Atlantic again to Andrews in London where it was mounted onto an original chair, cleaned and [illegible] for the new cover. And so to Bath.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

DO you know how to wash your face when there's a blemish or pimple marring the smoothness of your skin? You do? That's what you think!

Probably you keep right on using the same wash cloth day after day, thus helping to spread the infection on your skin. Don't. In fact, don't use any wash cloth at all until the blemishes have healed and disappeared.

In place of the wash cloth, scrub your face ever so gently with a soft-bristled complexion brush or shaving brush. This does a thorough deep-down job of washing away the dirt and excess oil that clogs the pores and forms blackheads, causing pimples. When you finish each cleanup, the brush should be rinsed thoroughly with warm, then cold water—and it's clean for tomorrow's scrub. Rest it on its side to drain and dry.

Until you get a complexion brush (it's for boys and girls and looks something like a short-handled shaving brush), wash your face like this when it's blemished:

Use mild complexion soap. Rub your hand on it (be sure your hand is clean) to work up a nice soft lather, then rub the lather all over your face with the finger tips. Rub the soap on very lightly, using a gentle circular motion to massage the soap generously into the skin wherever pores and blackheads appear—around the nose, forehead and chin. If your skin is very oily, let the soap suds stay on it a moment or two before you rinse it off carefully with warm water, then with cool.

BOOKS

By W. T. GALT

Letters to the book editor sometimes make almost as good reading as the books sent in for review.

Here are excerpts from last week's mail.

First letter is from O. E. Mortimore, Daily Colonist staff reporter writing from Vancouver. Mr. Mortimore is also author of humorous pieces published in India, Great Britain and Canada.

UBIQUITOUS JOE

He writes:

No matter how carefully an author searches for unusual names to bestow upon his characters he never finds one that is unique. There's always a Joe Rumplestiltskin or a Geoffry Mftqa somewhere in the city directory.

Here's an example:

POETS' CORNER

William Macnab Box, president of the Macnab Historical Association, writes:

Poets among your readers should be glad to learn of the Macnab Historical Association's fourth annual poetry contest; the closing date of which is September 30, 1949. Cash prizes as well as books are given.

Prize winners in former contests have earned prestige and brought out chap books.

He adds that full particulars of the contest are printed in the Association's Summer number of the [illegible]

The Reprint Society of Canada [illegible] Governor-General's Award winner and author of Roger [illegible] which is being reissued.

Mr. Raddall writes that he had been around Seal Island a [illegible] week beyond Cape Sable, where he had been marooned by a [illegible] gales.

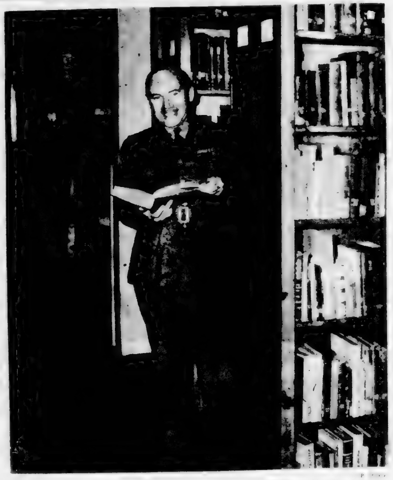
ANNOYING MURMUR

The history and legends of the Micmac Indians have interested me a good deal, writes Mr. Raddall, "and I collect arrowheads, shards of pottery and other relics from their ancient camp grounds and shell middens along the shore and up the rivers."

He adds that during the war he joined a reserve battalion of the West Nova Scotia Regiment "and eventually found myself commanding a [illegible] patrolling the coast in the wild days of '42 when enemy submarines were operating close along the coast and landing parties of saboteurs.

"We had a good many adventures, mostly comic, and these [illegible] would make a book if I could get up energy enough to write it."

He declares he is [illegible] when he gets his teeth into a novel, when it becomes an obsession and "the rest of the world's a remote, annoying murmur in the distance."



COLONEL C. P. STACEY, Canada's Army historian, and Governor-General's Award winner, has a right to smile. He's standing beside the greatest collection of German documents, manuscripts and books in the Western Hemisphere. There are more than 15,000 volumes [illegible] Stacey expects that a study of them will reveal hitherto unknown facts about the German [illegible] machine.

Swan Song for Lanny Budd

"O Shepherd Speak," by Upton Sinclair. Macmillan, $4.

"O Shepherd Speak" is the tenth and last of Upton Sinclair's Lanny Budd novels. The first, "World's End," was a book club selection in 1940 and Mr. Sinclair has been going strong ever since. Incidentally, he has written 54 other books.

UPTON SINCLAIR

Lanny Budd is the great American [illegible] of the [illegible] century who [illegible] on a high level. Despite the fact that a lot of readers tired of him before the tenth volume was even started, his creation and development from the end of the Great War to the present decade is quite an accomplishment in the literary field.

DETRACTING

The detracting aspect of it is that Mr. Sinclair has had to [illegible] so fast [illegible] life that he has not had time to write well. This last book is particularly [illegible] and [illegible] of characterization which is of course the real heart of any novel.

Lanny's labors in "O Shepherd Speak" take him to Europe with the American forces in the recent war. He is a [illegible] who skips from country to country recovering great treasures of art hidden away by the enemy. He works in a [illegible] adviser to President [illegible] the atomic [illegible] in the United [illegible] sets about [illegible] to prevent [illegible] wars. Caldwell's Relentless Characters

"Let Love Come Last," by Taylor Caldwell. (S. J. Reginald Saunders, $3.50.)

[illegible]

UP FROM NOTHING

William Prescott, who comes from nothing to leadership in the [illegible] industry, is the central figure in this book. As usual Miss Caldwell favors the full coverage of [illegible] to fully show off the family. She picks Prescott up as a comparatively young man who has just wrested control of the firm from Chauncey Arnold, the man who hired him and raised him to an influential position. Prescott's opinion of the man he turned out [illegible] theme of this long novel.

BEST SINCE

"Let Love Come Last" would seem to rank as the author's best effort since she zoomed to fame in "Dynasty of Death." Certainly it shows outstanding merit. Just what Miss Caldwell would accomplish if she slowed her prodigious output of words to concentrate over a period on one novel can only be guessed.

BEACON'S SHINE

As noted before, this is a [illegible] and excellent piece of work. However, there are a few sections that shine out of the normal like a beacon. The experiences of Matthew Prescott when he [illegible] some purpose in life [illegible]

NEW YORK [illegible] Monday [illegible] leftover [illegible]

[illegible] the last pieces of a baked ham [illegible]

[illegible] ham and rice and green pepper is placed down the centre. The pastry edges are [illegible] strips and folded or braided together over the filling to form a jumbo-sized braid. Then with a crisp salad and dessert the meal is complete.

GOLDEN HAM BRAID

Ingredients: [illegible] baking powder [illegible] salt, [illegible] mustard, [illegible] shortening [illegible] cup milk, 2 cups ground cooked ham, 1 cup cooked rice, [illegible] cup chopped green pepper and 1 can cream of chicken or cream of mushroom soup.

Method: Sift flour, cornmeal, baking powder, salt and mustard together. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, mixing lightly only until mixture is dampened. Roll out on lightly floured board to form rectangle about [illegible] inch thick. Place on baking sheet.

Then combine ham, rice, green pepper and [illegible] cup of the condensed soup. Place in centre of rectangle. Cut dough [illegible] Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., [illegible] 20 minutes. [illegible] heat and serve with braid. Or you can serve with a gravy or cream sauce topping if preferred.

Note that no salt is added either to the pastry or the filling because of the already salted ham. If another meat [illegible] for the ham, a [illegible] should be added.

Teenagers Finding Fabric Appeals in Fall Fashions

By MARIAN RAHL

WHEN Teenage Terry gets he[illegible] first back-to-school shoppi[illegible] tour under way she will find mu[illegible] of the fashion news centres in fab[illegible]ries in their endless variety and [illegible] good qualities. If she is a g[illegible] shopper she will find it possible t[illegible] get more for her money this Fall.

In her wardrobe belong cotton[illegible] cotton and rayon combinations, p[illegible] fabrics such as corduroy and velv[illegible]teen, woolens, especially twee[illegible] which promises to become a new pe[illegible] Jewel-tone and dark plaid cotto[illegible] some with a tweed effect, are th[illegible] right fashion answer for those fir[illegible] warm weeks back at school whe[illegible] the weather man hasn't caught u[illegible] with the Fall season. These may b[illegible] in solids, plaids or in combinati[illegible] of both for a two-piece look. Wh[illegible] pique trimmings freshen them u[illegible] and flatter Summer complexions.

Corduroy now comes in such li[illegible] weights that designers are mak[illegible] it up in date-bait styles. It is w[illegible]derful in casual tailored styles f[illegible] classroom and accessories such a[illegible] the little pixie hats and caps a[illegible] drawstring bags.

TWEEDS IN STYLE

Tweeds are the big news in w[illegible]ens. In soft lightweights, they a[illegible] perfect for dresses and separates—heavier weights make handsome coats. Occasionally a touch of smooth leather or suede is used as trimming on tweed.

Silhouettes for teens remain soft and flattering with easy-to-wear skirts that are gently gathered or have unpressed pleats. Detailing adds its 1949 flavor in precocious pockets that decorate skirt front, sides or back as well as the bodice, creamy touches of velveteen trimming at neckline and sleeve edges, elasticized detailing and all-over smocking on bodices.

Copper is a new shade offered the teenager this Fall and it is a color worth considering for it combines happily with black or brown and it is lovely with grey or navy. Teal, another new color for teens, is a natural for the Perry Como fan since many teenagers are calling it Como Blue.

The wise chick will plot and plan her fashion course before she shops. First she chooses a basic color and from there works in solid tones using lighter or darker shades of that color. Then she adds a patterned fabric of similar tones. The possibilities are endless when a girl begins to think along such lines.

COMMANDING H.M.C.S. CRESCENT [illegible]

BELOW IN THE ENGINE ROOM [illegible]

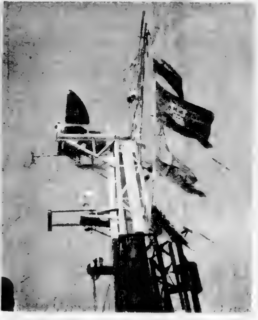
FAST AND POWERFUL [illegible]

AT SEA or in harbor the work goes on. Messes have to be scrubbed, bulkheads painted, rigging kept in top line and armament always ready at maximum efficiency. Working on the breech assembly of one of the 4.5" dual purpose guns is Able Seaman John Poproski, Edmonton.



AN AMUSING TOKEN of her four-month patrol in China was provided when H.M.C.S. Crescent hoisted her "Chinese pendants" on arrival alongside, June 4. Made up while the ship was on duty between Hongkong and Shanghai, the pendants display real Chinese characters which spell out the words . . . "warship Crescent."

THE ORGANIZATION [illegible] aboard a destroyer is no easy matter. The ship's executive officer and coxswain play a chief roll in keeping the team working smoothly. Here Crescent's Number One, Lieutenant G. R. Wood, R.C.N., of Vancouver, signs the week end leave chits held by Chief Petty Officer Robert Marshall, Victoria, the Coxswain.

Tito Claimed Trying To Split Cominform

BELGRADE, Sept. 6 (INS)—Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia told a foreign diplomatic visitor today he is confident of winning over more Communists in Cominform states in his resistance to Russia.

[illegible] quoted the Yugoslav leader as saying there must be independence and equality in relations between Socialist states—that smaller ones must not be made subservient to larger ones such as Russia.

COULD HOLD OUT

Tito expressed complete confidence that Russia will not [illegible]

[illegible] lent spirits and apparent good [illegible] threats.

The disclosure that Tito hopes to split the Moscow-led Cominform was significant because there have been previous unsubstantiated reports of such a goal.

The visitor said Tito cited a telegram of support [illegible] from a group of German Communists in Berlin headed by 41-year-old Karl Heinz-Schmitz.

The German Communist announced August 22 he has formed a new Communist party aimed to fight against "Imperialist Bolshevism."

[illegible]

Western diplomatic [illegible] in Belgrade are [illegible] of a Russian military invasion will overthrow Tito unless he is assassinated.

They also expressed belief that a pro-Russian fifth column has been meeting secretly in the past few days to plot the next step against Tito.

That is one interpretation of the Russian newspaper Pravda's announcement that a new Communist party has been raised inside Yugoslavia.

Orders Ontario Police Investigation After 15 Constables Ask Transfer

TORONTO, Sept. 6 (CP)—An immediate investigation has been ordered into charges of maladministration in the Ottawa detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, Commissioner W. H. Stringer announced [illegible]

He said the investigation was ordered after [illegible] applications for transfer from about 15 constables of the Ottawa detachment which is in the Cornwall district and administered by Inspector Sidney Hunter.

Commissioner Stringer said the [illegible] Inspector Hunter.

[illegible] to proceed to Ottawa next week to carry out a full-dress investigation, said the constables did not state the nature of the maladministration they charged.

He said the applications for transfer all arrived at once, each dated August 30. He said he knew of no reason for the mass request and [illegible]

[illegible] Telegram said the [illegible] a visit to the Ottawa detachment by Inspector Hunter and that it was reported he found one of the men there asleep on duty.

"As a result, the story said, Inspector Hunter began an investigation [illegible] general setup in the [illegible] and soon after the applications for transfer were received.

"We are taking these charges very seriously," said Commissioner Stringer. "When 14 or 15 men on the force file written charges of maladministration, we feel an investigation is certainly necessary."

The commissioner added he had no knowledge of "rackets" in the Ottawa detachment.

MANY RUMORS

"There is a staff matter and there have been a lot of rumors. Most of them are wrong."

The commissioner said that at the time the maladministration was charged, Sgt. (now Inspector) Allan Stringer was in command of the Ottawa detachment. Inspector Stringer, unrelated to the commissioner, has since been promoted to head the Sudbury detachment.

At Sudbury, Inspector Stringer said in an interview that there was no foundation for the "rackets" charge.

C.B.C. Would Retain Radio Control, Recommends Doubled Licence Fee

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 (CP)—Widespread changes in the Canadian radio field were urged today by the C.B.C. Board of Governors and the Canadian Association of Broadcasters in briefs submitted to the Royal Commission on Arts and Science.

The C.B.C., while urging retention of the present system under which [illegible] recommended that the $2.50 annual licence fee on radio receiving sets be increased to $5. The extra revenue would be used partly to pay for C.B.C. improvements and expansions.

The C.A.B., made up of 93 of the 119 privately-owned radio stations in Canada, urged regulation of all broadcasting stations, whether C.B.C.-owned or privately-owned, by a separate and completely impartial authority.

The Commission heard evidence of A. D. Dunton, C.B.C. chairman, and is due to hear tomorrow from William Guild of Lethbridge, Alta., chairman of the board of directors of C.A.B.

CONTROL "ESSENTIAL"

The C.B.C. in its brief said that in the national interest it is "essential" that it retain control over radio matters in Canada.

The paramount need of Canada [illegible] radio system, the limited number of air channels and the inter-connection of Canadian broadcasting activities make essential in the public interest the present legislation under which the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation [illegible] Parliament [illegible] and co-ordinating [illegible].

The C.A.B. took the opposite view in its brief and asked that the Canadian Broadcasting Act be revised and rewritten to give recognition to the existence of a private system in Canada.

"We ask that, if the C.B.C. is to continue in the commercial field, we be given equal rights and privileges," said the association. "We ask that there should be a separate regulatory authority, not in any way connected with the C.B.C., completely impartial, to make and [illegible] equally to the stations of the national system and privately-owned stations. We ask that there shall be power to appeal the decisions of such authority in as far as they relate to legal interpretation."

"In television, the Canadian Association of Broadcasters requests that steps be taken to permit private enterprise to enter the television field immediately."

C.B.C. SQUEEZED

M. Dunton explained why the C.B.C. wanted an increase in the annual licence fee collected by the Transport Department and turned over in full to the corporation. The system was squeezed between swollen costs and stationary revenue rates. The licence fee had remained unchanged since 1938 and revenue from commercial programs now was about at its peak.

The C.B.C. expected a deficit of about $325,000 this year which would just about eat up all its reserves. Indications were that prices, services and commitments would cause a deficit of $900,000 next year [illegible].

An increase from $2.50 to $5 would give it an estimated $5,000,000 additional revenue annually, $2,000,000 of which could be used for improvements and expansions. The $2,000,000 would not cover all [illegible] in mind.

Peter Wright, counsel for the commission, asked if it would be possible for the C.B.C. to expropriate all private stations. Mr. Dunton said it was possible legally and could be made possible financially. However the board took the view that there should be community stations.

Anti-Communist Campaign Backed By British Trade Union Congress

BRIDLINGTON, Yorkshire, England, Sept. 6 (CP)—With two overwhelming votes the 8,000,000-strong British Trade Union Congress today backed its leaders' campaign against Communism both at home and abroad.

Hearing strongly-worded statements by Arthur Deakin, a former chairman of the World Federation of Trade Unions, and Vincent Tewson, T.U.C. general secretary, the Congress voted:

1. To approve the British withdrawal from the W.F.T.U. and British initiative in establishing a [illegible] world [illegible] 6,258,000 votes to 1,017,000.

He said the kidnappers ill-treated him in an effort to force him to make bogus $20 bills with antiquated equipment they had gathered together.

Four Children Die in Blaze

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 6 (INS)—Four children were burned to death and a fifth seriously injured in a leap from a window when flames swept the home of Walter Walter, in suburban Saginaw early today.

The victims were Samuel Walter, 14, Angeline, 8, George, 4 and Walter Jr., 3. Mary, 12, was injured when she jumped from her second-floor bedroom window.

Cross From Holy Land On Way to Dominion

[illegible] been carried 8,000 miles [illegible] Jerusalem was [illegible] aboard the liner Empress of France today for a pilgrimage through Canada.

The cross left Jerusalem last Good Friday. It is borne by volunteers in each country through which it is carried but is accompanied always by a black-robed Benedictine monk, Dom Thomas Bequet.

The cross will have more than 30,000 miles to go on its trip to draw attention to the plight of Palestine refugees made homeless during the Holy Land fighting last year.

After it has been carried through various parts of Canada, Roman Catholic volunteer bearers, working in five-minute shifts, will go [illegible] United States, Mexico and South American countries.

THEN TO AUSTRALIA

[illegible] then will be put aboard a [illegible] for Australia. It is hoped the cross will be back in Jerusalem by Good Friday of next year.

It is estimated some 250,000 Roman Catholics have seen the cross during its three-month tour of Britain. More than 14,000 Britons came from all parts of the North of England when it was venerated at St. Laurence's Church, Birkenhead, Cheshire.

The Empress of France, due to [illegible] at Montreal next Tuesday. During the voyage, a rosary will be said day and night by Roman Catholic passengers and crew. The prayers have remained unbroken since the cross began its journey.

The Magi were a tribe of Medians near Persia, which was entrusted with the management of sacred rites.

Transit Case Always Has Two Sides

WHEN the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee comes to decisive action on its stand in the application of the transit operators to the Public Utilities Commission for larger revenues on the dual system, the viewpoint of the transit users also should be kept sharply in mind. Apart entirely from the issue of surplus or deficit in the current operating schedule there are a number of points on the users' side which have not been cleared up. One has been pointed out already, the commuter's pass and the pledge that it was to be a continuing part of the arrangement.

In addition to the commuter's pass, Greater Victoria transit users have been critical of the rush hour crowding and the lack of adequate ventilation for "standees" in packed buses. The hope was that some of this intense crowding would be relieved when the full schedule had been arranged, after the elimination of the last street car line. For a considerable time this condition has persisted with very slight change. Meal-hour buses are still badly overloaded, if one considers the convenience and comfort of the people they carry to and from their places of employment.

Back of every transit system that is under the direction of the Public Utilities Commission is what is known as a "certificate of public convenience and necessity." That is the basic reason in fact why a monopoly is recognized in the first place and its otherwise normal competition shut out. In return for that implied guarantee, the convenience of the public must be considered as well as the convenience of the transit operators, and likewise the necessities of both. What should be aimed at with good will on all sides is a workable solution in which adequate service will be provided, with the users paying a fair rate for that.

Secret Informers Are Out of the Question

THE suggestion that Greater Victoria citizens at large be enlisted as traffic violation spotters, although well intentioned, is not likely to find much favor. For one thing, it would mean creating a host of anonymous informers, an idea repugnant to modern thought and practice; for another, the validity of their reports would be suspect. Too great an opportunity would be presented for individuals with a personal axe to grind or some grudge to settle, to tattle on what might or might not be a genuine infraction of traffic rules.

If a motorist offends he has a legitimate right to know who reports him. That is a basic right, nor would it be tolerable that an accumulation of such secret reports could be held against him, should he appear in court to answer some later and perhaps major traffic violation noted through normal police procedure. That would be turning the civilized clock back to pre-democratic days.

Policemen cannot be everywhere to observe infractions of traffic rules, and the Greater Victoria Traffic and Safety Council deserves every support in its efforts to make the streets safe for pedestrians and motorists alike. The only possible application of this idea would be if a certified group of citizens were appointed to act as auxiliary traffic officers, properly briefed as to their duties and possibly identified by a special arm band or insignia of some kind. Turning the populace as a whole into informers is out of the question.

Incidentally, letters of commendation as well as vice versa should not be ruled out. If the Safety Council were to take upon itself the task of writing to violators, why not commend also with motorists noticeable for their courtesy and adherence to traffic rules? A word of praise should be as worthy of report as a word of condemnation; it might also provide the positive instead of the more negative approach to the general traffic problem.

Chilco Salmon Run Has Important Influence

SENIOR fishery advisers of British Columbia have reported to the Provincial Government that the Chilco sockeye salmon run would be eliminated if that river were used for the development of an aluminum plant, or for any other large works involving a blockade of the waterway by damming. It is for that reason presumably that attention has switched to the Nechako River, where the circumstances are different. This may be a case where it will be easier to find other sources of water power than it is to find sockeye breeding grounds in perpetual use. The Mainland coast has many waterpower sites apart from the main fish-carrying streams.

The threat to the Chilco sockeye run is not one that can be dismissed without full consideration. The Chilco run accounts for a substantial part of the sockeye pack, and that is the principal part of all British Columbia's catch without question. The belief once that salmon fingerlings could be removed to the headwaters of another stream has been dismissed after investigation and study, and it is known today that the salmon runs of the province cannot be transplanted. They exist where they are, and that is that.

FUEL OIL PRICES

Sir,—Crude petroleum is not produced in British Columbia. It must be imported either from other parts of Canada or from outside Canada. Since Canada produces less crude petroleum than it consumes there is no duty on the importation of crude petroleum from foreign sources. Since crude petroleum from foreign (California) sources costs less laid down in refinery tanks in Vancouver Harbor than does similar crude from Canadian (Alberta) sources, foreign crude is imported.

But, to encourage local manufacturing, finished products of petroleum are subject to duty. And because of this fact plus the fact that manufacturing costs in British Columbia are substantially higher than in larger markets due to smaller volume, finished petroleum products cost more in British Columbia. They don't necessarily sell for more, but they cost more. It is when they sell for less than the difference in cost, here as against elsewhere, that the shoe begins to pinch.

Here in British Columbia refiners are purchasing the most suitable and the lowest cost crudes available. The prices of these crudes are firm; they have even increased slightly in price during recent months—because there is still an overall strong demand for most finished petroleum products. But the world market for bunker fuel oil is soft. This softness has made itself felt here as elsewhere—to the tune of price reductions totaling about 70 cents per barrel.

Since British Columbia consumes somewhere in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 barrels of this product per year the reduction in gross annual realisation is probably about $2,000,000.

True, prices of certain grades of crude have been sharply reduced in the world market. However, because of small volume of consumption in British Columbia the refineries are neither large enough to realise large-volume efficiencies on straight distillation processes, nor complex (and expensive) enough to convert low quality, low priced, raw material into high quality, high priced, finished products.

The net result is that British Columbia refiners are in the position on the one hand of having their only suitable, and lowest "cost," raw material, a product which is in strong demand and carrying strong, firm prices; and, on the other hand, facing up to a serious loss in revenue on the sale of a very substantial percentage (about 40%) of the finished product derived from that raw material.

This situation is probably not unusual among manufacturers, and is usually met and solved as a matter of course through the free play of economic forces. But what is unusual is that here in British Columbia a government has stepped in and interfered with the free play of economic forces upon a world-market commodity produced wholly within the jurisdiction of that government. In this case the government has stepped in and seized about 40% of the finished product produced from the raw material. In effect the government says that the refiner will purchase his raw material in the world market and sell 60% of the finished product in a local market directly influenced by the world market, but is required to sell the remaining 40% of the finished product at an artificially controlled and fixed price as established by that government.

What [illegible] that the control and fixing of [illegible] price [illegible] any [illegible] The [illegible] does not even [illegible] as a business [illegible] the [illegible] Control [illegible] purely and static arbitrary and political economic laws as fixed dynamic forces are ignored.

Dawn Angels

All night I watch'd awake, for morning.
At last the East grew all aflame.
The birds for welcome sang, or warning
And with their singing morning came.

Along the gold-green heavens drifted
Pale wandering souls that shun the Light,
Whose cloudy pinions, torn and rifted,
Had beat the bars of Heaven all night.

These cluster'd round the Moon; but higher
A troop of shining spirits went,
Who were not made of wind or fire
But some divine dream-element.

Some held the Light, while those remaining
Shook out their harvest-color'd wings,
A faint unusual music raining
(Whose sound was Light) on earthly things.

They sang, and as a mighty river
Their voices wash'd the night away;
From East to West ran one white shiver,
And waxen strong their song was Day.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I WENT to see the Athletics play one night last week. I thought I should pay my respects to them before they bade Victoria au revoir.

It was the game against some jungle fellows from Tacoma, of which no doubt you have heard. The score, I believe—my mathematics are weak and figures play an astonishing part in baseball—was 21-12 in favor of the visitors, who were annoyingly virile on this visit.

At least so I gathered from the imprecations that floated around where I sat. For myself I thought it a delightfully varied evening. Had it not been for a touch of chilliness in the air there were moments when I could have enjoyed a nice little nap, such was the accommodating lethargy of the Victoria players.

So indifferent were they on some occasions as to the whereabouts of the ball, indeed, that I was forced to conclude their contracts for next year must all be safely signed, sealed and locked away beyond possibility of recall. No other explanation of such studied, even if spasmodic, supineness seemed possible.

Of course I was quite blase about the whole affair. I saw a professional game once before, some years ago, so you will appreciate the experienced nature of my observations. Nothing surprised me. I did reflect oddly that baseball umpires are the only sporting arbiters who step on a playing field dressed as might be for their weddings, but that was an aside.

* * *

The pace of the game fortunately left me lots of time for interesting asides. For instance, I was fascinated by the Neon advertising sign that shone from the fence near the score board. Optimism or despair must have caused its erection, I thought. Whereupon I was seized with the wicked desire to see somebody bust one—I understand that is the appropriate term to use—and crash the ball plunk in the centre of the sign.

There must be something to this business of thought transference for almost immediately thereafter a gentleman by the name of Noren did his level best to carry out my sinister wish. He poled a mighty hit—another technical term I hope you recognize—straight in the direction of the Neon light. Unfortunately he was too Babe Ruthish and the ball went over the fence, clean out of sight.

He was rewarded for this creditable attempt, nevertheless, I was glad to note. Everyone cheered him and his mates shook his hand. No other game is so generous. In none other is a player congratulated when he knocks the ball beyond redemption out of the playing field.

Baseballs, of course, if not quite a dime a dozen are treated as though they were, so the loss of this particular baseball did not upset the status quo. A most considerate and prodigal lot are these ball players. The manufacture of baseballs must be a profitable affair.

Needless to say, I joined in the applause.

* * *

I also stood up when the canned music sounded in the middle of the seventh innings. No one has ever explained to me how this custom originated but as a stickler for tradition I followed the general pattern. In any case I don't like to be conspicuous in public.

There was another sidelight that arrested my interest, and sympathy. Baseball players are superstitious. At least I presume so, since I would not attribute their mannerisms at the plate to nervousness. To have a ball aimed at you—sometimes at your head—at a speed of 75 miles per hour is a nerve-wracking business, I have no doubt; but it was not jitters that caused the idiosyncrasies, I feel sure.

One chap carefully tapped the home plate twice each time up before he assumed his batting stance. I touch wood myself occasionally, so it was reassuring to be in good company. Another batter tugged at his cap all of six times before every pitch. How he got his hand back in time to the handle of his bat was a mystery. Still another did an abbreviated St. Vitus dance before every swing, which was, I noticed, usually too late.

The list of such peccadilloes was endless but homely. It brought the drama down to a familiar level even if there was little drama about so one-sided a game. Actually there was more of this quality in the synthetic game I saw the night before, in a film about a fellow called Stratton.

But I enjoyed the whole show—much better, I feel confident, than did most of the Victoria fans known in correct parlance as rooters. They had, alas, small chance to root.

Germany in Postwar Europe

This is the sixth of a series of articles specially written for The Colonist by a Vancouver Island man recently returned from Germany, where he spent several years in the service of British Intelligence.

By DOUGLAS MORRIS

EARLY in 1946 the civil service element of the Control Commission for Germany began to function. Supported by the necessary control council laws to carry out its task, it did with the aid of hordes of officials, clerks, stenographers and teapots, rapidly assume control. This move relieved the army of occupation of its administrative responsibilities and it then assumed its normal role.

What C.C.G., later popularly known as "Charlie Chaplin's Grenadiers," at that time lacked in efficiency, they made up for in numbers of bodies, orders and restrictions. They approached the task with far too friendly an attitude towards Germany, which gave the Germans an immediate advantage and produced situations and conditions that engendered ill for the future control of the zone. Only a short time elapsed before many of their activities and practices became legitimately censured by the world's press, which continued its attacks until such time as a weeding out process of the ranks of the commission had been accomplished.

Coming into the country complete with families, whose housing necessitated heavy requisitioning demands for living space on the German economy, resulted in the first murmurings of protest from the German civic bodies, who at that time were being taxed to the limit to find living space for the thousands of homeless refugees.

* * *

With the Commission came an expansion of clubs, entertainments and supplies, and supplemented by a continuous stream of visitors and residents in the guise of politicians, sightseers, looters, advisers, diplomatic missions and consuls, most of them headed for Berlin. There they seemed to delight in establishing duplicate elements of their calling, elements of whom invariably already existed in a safer and more pleasant area behind the zonal boundary. Both the black market and the employment of more German labor increased in proportion until such time as repercussions to the country's financial structure warranted some drastic action, which resulted in a gradual decrease of officials employed. This was satisfactory to the Germans, who found room for expansion in the assumption of control of administering their own affairs as commission officials decreased in number, and our control suffered a corresponding decrease in its effectiveness.

Apart from administration in general, two problems faced this army of civil servants, one was denazification, which has been discussed, and the other was the huge army of prisoners of war, refugees, internees, displaced persons and war criminals combined. An analysis of the internee problem will show more clearly why denazification failed.

In the British Zone after local denazification had been carried out there remained 30,000 internees, excluding prisoners of war, who by virtue of their membership in various Nazi organizations declared criminal by the International Military Tribunal at Nuremberg, were in camps awaiting trial.

* * *

Murmurings were felt in Parliament; important personages visited the camps and cried "Shame!" articles appeared in the press about our degrading policy in Germany of the thousands imprisoned without trial, and eventually discussions on the floor of the House resulted in many relaxations of camp control before wider accusations were made that our camps were worse than the infamous Nazi concentration camps of the Gestapo.

The first and most important step was the granting of a youth amnesty to all German youth 25 years and under, who were not to be considered as "guilty" adherents of the previous regime.

The next step was known as operation "Old Lace," which provided for the immediate trial of those remaining in internment. The political battle for their release was waged unceasingly and on June 25, 1947, the first trials for these offenders took place before special German courts established for that purpose. Each case was prepared and presented in full accordance with democratic procedure. The one flaw in the ointment was that "proof of guilty knowledge of the criminal acts and purposes of the organization to which the accused had belonged" was necessary to ensure a conviction—a formidable problem which promised acquittals on a wholesale scale.

By the end of 1947 about 500 cases were being disposed of weekly, but as fast as they were cleared thousands more cases for trial came in from the United States and French zones together with large numbers taken from the prisoner-of-war cages in Great Britain, and the task grew more hopeless each day. Many more thousands of minor S.S. ranks, who had been released from internment previously but declared members of such criminal organizations within the meaning of the Nuremberg judgment, should technically have faced trial. To have proved guilty knowledge in each of these instances was an impossibility, and on May 31, 1948, an amnesty was granted to the lower ranks of the S.S. who had not belonged in the original [illegible] category.

This measure the German legal authorities accepted with some reason, though they disagreed with it in that it was unjust and would in due course bring the whole procedure into disrepute among their own countrymen. As a result, German legal jurisdiction was extended to all persons subject to the Nuremberg judgment who had by then been amnestied, which move at least brought within the net approximately 300 very sinister Nazis still at large but who would otherwise have escaped punishment by flaws in the existing control laws.

By December 31, 1948, most of the cases had been disposed of: 25 per cent were acquitted outright and 75 per cent received only legally enforceable judgments which when left to their enforcement by German officials meant practically the same thing. In any case their period of internment was always taken into account when handing down judgment. As a total result of these trials about 150 top-ranking Nazis are still serving sentences ranging from five to seven years imprisonment at Camp Esterwegen.

* * *

Of these about 10 per cent finally convicted have appealed unsuccessfully, so perhaps after all they did a grand job in providing a grand "finale" to that which has been the greatest farce and the most thankless task in our efforts to destroy National Socialism in Germany and theirs to circumvent.

A comforting thought is that the Gestapo criminals presented little difficulty. Those members who had not met their fate at the hands of the resistance fighters during the military advance into Germany, were soon rounded up on a wave of denunciations. A few leaders like Boorman and Skorzeny got away to Spain, Switzerland or to the Argentine, where one in particular now sits in comfort and writes stimulating articles to the present-day youth of Germany, whom he hopes will preserve and uphold the ideal of a past regime.

Today in Germany the tourist is quite likely, when traveling in a crowded bus or train, to be greeted by a courteous local citizen with the greeting, "Please take my seat, it has been denazified."

Pace of Events

(From The Windsor Daily Star)

AS proof of the giddy pace of events, take the case of the Geiger counter. A few days ago it was one of the pulse-takers of the atomic age, a test for radioactivity, and therefore an instrument with great possibilities for the present and future.

Now it's obsolete.

Three Winnipeg scientists have invented a better radioactivity detector, one they claim is hundreds of times more sensitive than its predecessor. As yet they haven't coined any catchy name for it. They describe it merely as a "portable ray spectrometer."

In hailing this invention, however, one's fervor is dimmed by the reminder that the gadget itself may be superceded shortly by a detector many times more sensitive. And with this goes the mildly disconcerting thought that just when most persons were beginning to understand what a Geiger counter is, it got out of date.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A sturgeon caught recently in a Massachusetts lake has posed a mystery; the species being unknown in those parts. The sinister possibilities no doubt are being explored by counter-espionage sleuths.

No two people are alike and they're both glad of it.

A British general, newly arrived in Washington, was touring the War College with an American colonel. They came upon some colorful prints depicting the war of 1812. "War of 1812? Whom were you fighting?" asked the Briton.

"We were fighting you, sir," mumbled the embarrassed colonel. "Don't you remember, the British burned Washington?"

"Burned Washington!" The general was thunderstruck. "We burned Joan of Arc I know—but never Washington!"—Mary Van Rensselaer Thayer

BUTTER prices would not have been increased if the manufacturers of margarine had suddenly cut the cost of their product, or if the Dominion Government placed on the market the several million dollars' worth of butter it holds in storage throughout Canada . . . Sayward district seems to lead British Columbia in the number of violent deaths and serious injuries to loggers. It should be in order for the Provincial Government to find out if safety regulations are being observed in the woods . . . A Fairfield resident who painted his dwelling was penalized by the city assessor. While the work was being done an employee of the assessor called to inquire if the home still contained five rooms. He commented that the paint made a vast improvement. A few weeks later the property owner received a card from the City Hall stating that his assessment had been increased from $3,000 to $3,120. If the case is the start of a new policy at the City Hall, it is time overburdened property owners organized to obtain fair play and a better form of civic administration. Boosting a man's assessment because he tries to check wear and tear on his home may prevent many others from keeping their property tidy, and might seriously affect the sales of paint and painters' wages.

Killer Says He Planned Slaughter of Neighbors

CAMDEN, N.J., Sept. 6 (AP) — A Bible-reading war veteran today slaughtered 12 persons on a busy Camden street.

Slowly and without a spoken word, 28-year-old Howard Unruh stalked from door to door on the shop-lined street, firing his German Luger with deadly accuracy. Four other persons were wounded.

Then Unruh barricaded himself [illegible] it out with 50 policemen. A tear gas barrage smoked him out 45 minutes after the first shot. Unruh surrendered silently.

In Unruh's room, police found a well-worn Bible opened at Chapter 24 of the Gospel according to St. Matthew.

The passage read:

"And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet."

Detective Marshall Thomas [illegible] said Unruh had an arsenal of weapons in his room. In the basement of his home Unruh had set up a target range.

The victims of what is believed to be the greatest massacre on a city street in United States history were five women, five men and two children, aged two and five.

The two-year-old was shot down as he sat on a hobby horse in a [illegible] cut [illegible]

Mitchell H. Cohen, Camden County prosecutor, said Unruh told him the shootings were part of a premeditated plan and that the war veteran could clearly remember every detail of every shooting.

He said murder charges have been lodged against Unruh.

Cohen quoted the killer as saying in an oral statement:

"They (the neighbors) had been talking about me for some time and making derogatory remarks about my character. I had been thinking about killing them for some time.

"Last night I went to a theatre in Philadelphia, sat through several shows, came home about 3 a.m. I made up my mind to kill them this morning."

Unruh got up about 7 a.m. and his mother gave him breakfast. Then:

"I put my preconceived plan into execution."

TWINS' Mother Says

"NEOLITE WAS AN EASY WINNER!"

At Goodyear's request, Mrs. S. M. Marrs, 139 Boston Rd., Toronto, made the Twin Test. Bill (left) had NEOLITE soles, Bob wore shoes with leather soles.

● The two active Marrs youngsters romped and played together all day long. Like other normal boys, they gave their shoes plenty of punishment—until Bob's leather-soled shoes had holes in them. But not Bill's! His NEOLITE-soled shoes still had plenty of wear left in them after the test! Yes, it's a proven fact—NEOLITE soles far outwear the toughest leather.

Police Recover Stolen Jewels

VANCOUVER, Sept. 6 (CP). — More than $[illegible] worth of jewelry stolen in the Mickey Finn robbery of a Victoria [illegible] here last week has been recovered and a man and woman [illegible] from Swift Current, Sask., have been charged by city police with the theft.

Charged are Ada Dickson, 3[illegible]-year-old housewife, and Jack Schriener, 38-year-old mechanic, both of Vancouver.

The pair allegedly robbed the Victoria visitor of three rings valued at $2,100 after they met her at the race track and drugged her.

Seek Controls For Property Near Airports

The British Columbia Aviation Council yesterday asked the help of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in pressing the Provincial Government for an amendment to the Town Planning Act which would regulate the use of land adjacent to any airport in the province.

[illegible] J. H. Horn of Kelowna, president of the council, told delegates that there were at present no [illegible] in the act governing [illegible] to airfields located in unorganized territory.

He declared there was nothing to prevent individuals or corporations from erecting smokestacks or [illegible] adjacent to the [illegible] runways.

Delegates agreed that an amendment [illegible] height of any structure [illegible] modify the existing or [illegible] aid or [illegible] aircraft [illegible] safety of those attending or using airports [illegible] public where in the opinion of the [illegible] may be affected [illegible] airport.

Postwar Achievement Outstanding In Great Britain, Economist Says

Britain's postwar production is an outstanding achievement, Mr. Robert T. Mackenzie told members of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club in an address on "The British Crisis" at a meeting yesterday in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Mackenzie, who has lived in England for the past four years and who will be returning shortly to [illegible] don School of Economics, said his address was a serious attempt to counteract the flagrant misrepresentation in many United States press reports on the British situation.

"I hardly recognize the country by what I have read on this continent," Mr Mackenzie said. "Here one is led to believe that Britain is a decadent nation living out the twilight of her years on United States charity. Nothing could be more [illegible] untrue."

Bled white during the war years, Britain, a tired and rationed nation, has increased production by one-third over 1938. She has increased her exports by 56 per cent and cut imports to 82 per cent, and also rehoused three and a half million people, a remarkable achievement under the circumstances, he stated.

MUST BUY BRITISH

[illegible] must have more dollars to pay for what she buys on this continent and [illegible] United States [illegible] if she is to get these dollars was the simple, direct way in which Mr Mackenzie said the situation could be solved.

It would take only one per cent more than what the United States is buying from Britain at present to ease the problem facing the gallant country, he said. The United States and Canada, especially the United States as the leading wealthy nation, should learn to live better and afford a few of the so-called British luxuries.

HIGH TARIFF

In answer to the accusations that British goods were too expensive on [illegible] continent, he explained the almost prohibitive tariff was responsible for most of the higher [illegible] In the United States the tariff [illegible] was higher than the same article [illegible] the American manufacturer. Even in Canada this discrimination in taxation was preventing sales of British goods, Mr. Mackenzie said. He named taxation on whiskey as an example.

As to the accusations that the British working classes were lazy and half starved, Mr. Mackenzie explained that although there had been a few strikes in key industries it had been a time of labor peace in [illegible] ing the Great War.

Referring to the food question he said that Britain needed 40 per cent more food than she used to to meet the present demand. This has been brought about, he said, by a lack of unemployment and the fact that the bottom third of Britain is now buying more food. Actually the individual portions may seem small, he said, but the Island is consuming four-fifths as much meat as in 1938, nine-tenths as much fats and oils, 40 per cent more fish, 78 per cent more jam, 60 per cent more potatoes, 88 per cent more flour and three pints of milk to every two consumed during the same year. The food is being more evenly distributed and not going only to the long pocketbook, he stated.

Vancouver Home For Newlyweds

H[illegible] Church, Port Alberni was the scene of a pretty wedding on September 5 at 9.30 a.m. when Father Ma[illegible] of Vancouver read the nuptial service uniting in marriage Marie Cecile, daughter of Mrs J[illegible] Gaudet, 511 [illegible] Avenue, Port Alberni, and [illegible] Arthur Bewley, son of Mr and Mrs A J Bewley, 802 Bute Street, Port Alberni.

Mr John Gaudet, brother of the bride, gave her away and for the occasion she wore a gown of white lace marquisette over taffeta cut on period lines with lily-point sleeves and fitted bodice and hooped skirt which was caught with bows of ribbon to several rows of lace. Her chapel veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses [illegible]

Misses Yvonne and [illegible] Gaudet were bridesmaids [illegible] respectively. They wore [illegible] headdresses and carried bouquets of mauve carnations.

Little Diane [illegible] wearing pink organdy [illegible] headdress in her hair. To complete her ensemble she carried a basket made of mauve ribbon containing mixed sweet peas.

Mr. John Bewley was best man and Mr. Trevor Digby, Mr. Bill Sacho and Mr. Bert Tompson were the ushers.

Mrs C. Watron was organist and Miss Beverley Husband sang "Ave Maria."

A luncheon reception was held at Bergny's Island Highway, where Mr C Hamilton proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon into the Interior and the United States the bride wore a biege gabardine suit with pale blue hat and blouse, dark brown accessories and gardenia corsage.

Mr and Mrs Bewley will make their home in Vancouver.

Victoria Girl Wed in San Diego

Announcement is being made of the marriage, Saturday, August 27, of Miss Filberta B Williams, Victoria, B.C., and Charles A [illegible] Port Angeles, Wash. The couple, attended by Mr. and Mrs Lee Acker, San Diego, exchanged vows in the First Presbyterian Church, San Diego. A reception followed at Hotel [illegible] Manor.

The newlyweds left by plane Wednesday, August 31 for a [illegible] in Seattle after which they will go to Port Angeles to reside.

Victoria Man Wed on Mainland

At a [illegible] in St. Mary's Church, Kerrisdale, Vancouver, on Friday, Patricia Maud, daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles Christian, became the bride of Mr John Wilson Gouge, son of Mr and Mrs Wilson Gouge of Victoria. Rev. Geoffrey Parrott officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white imported lace over blush satin with stand-up rolled collar, lily-point sleeves and gathered skirt falling into a slight train. A wreath of orange blossoms held her [illegible] and she carried [illegible] and gardenias.

Mrs [illegible] sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of pale [illegible] taffeta with [illegible] and short sleeves. Miss Anne Gouge, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid in a gown of orchid moire taffeta. Both attendants carried contrasting bouquets of mauve scabiosa and larkspur, yellow marguerites and Sovereign roses, and they wore matching bandeaux.

Mr Jesse F Gouge was groomsman for his brother and Mr. Charles Bonner and Mr. William Christian, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 3897 Macdonald, where the toast to the bride was given by Mr. Jesse Gouge, grandfather of the groom.

Leaving for a motor trip South the bride traveled in a grey suit and coat with navy and pink accessories. They will make their home in Vancouver.

Stresses Importance of Women's Share in Government at Conference

CHOATE LAKE B.C. Sept 6 (CP) Women must have a full share in the Government of Canada before this country will reach the "zenith of its power and glory as a nation," says the national president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Ruth McGill told the British Columbia organization's first provincial conference here at the weekend that responsibilities of citizenship involve equal participation of women in all branches of government at all levels

In this connection the conference resolved to protest strongly the recent action of the Provincial Government in "discriminating against married women in the British Columbia Civil Service Commission."

In the municipal field, the delegates urged individual women's clubs to campaign for eligible women to run for municipal office

The convention ended yesterday.

Provincial President Miss Minnie Beveridge, in her report, showed that clubs in British Columbia now number 22, with a membership of more than 550. Newest clubs are [illegible], Nelson, Oliver and Princeton, she said and added that the provincial organization's slogan was "One thousand members by 1950"—year of the national convention at Halifax

Report of Miss V. T. Harris, research convener, showed that British Columbia clubs were conscious of the need to be well informed on working conditions for women within the province. Study has been made during the year by many clubs, she said, on working conditions and pay in various districts and industries

Looking ahead to the future, Miss McGill also visioned the place of Canadian business and professional women in the international federation with more than 250,000 women in 20 countries as working members

"We must work in even closer harmony with the federation in other countries and through our international federation and the United Nations if we are to play our part in a world at peace," she concluded

Florence Bennett, Laurence Webb Exchange Vows

Gladioli and sweet peas decorated St Mark's Church on Saturday evening when Rev. R Willis solemnized vows exchanged between Florence May, only daughter of Mr W J Bennett and the late Mrs. E Bennett and Laurence Charles Webb, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Webb, [illegible] Carey Road. Entering the church with her father, the bride was radiant in a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with bateau neckline, long pointed sleeves, peplum effect at the waist and a very full skirt sweeping into a graceful train. Her veil, arranged with a tiara of pearls, cascaded beyond the train. A double strand of pearls was her only jewelry and she carried the groom's gift, a white prayer book topped with mauve bebe orchids.

Miss Dorothy Kermode, bridesmaid, was attired in pale pink nylon, a replica of the bride's gown. Her calot of the same material was edged with mauve violets. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pale pink sweet peas and mauve asters

The bridegroom had Mr Bill McPhee as best man, and ushers were Mr Guy Pichard and Mr Doug [illegible]

The reception was held at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr and Mrs W Bennett, 2627 Admirals Road, where the groom's mother, gowned in black with pink accessories, and the bride's sister-in-law wearing a black and pink ensemble, welcomed the guests with the young couple. The three-tiered cake, topped with sweet peas and flanked by pink candles in silver holders, centred the table. Mr Michael Webb gave the toast to his niece.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Portland, Oregon, the bride wore a three-piece turquoise gabardine suit with navy blue accessories and a mauve orchid corsage

The couple will return to their new home on Cadillac Avenue

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"A SOP TO CERBERUS"

"Ten per cent of the take will shut his mouth," the gangster on the radio remarks of a not incorruptible character whom he would make a partner to prevent his becoming an enemy. The words "shut his mouth" here are the vernacular equivalent of the old saying, "to give a sop to Cerberus." Both connote an attempt to appease

Cerberus was the dog who guarded the infernal portals of Greek mythology. He is usually depicted as an animal with three heads, with a mane of serpents or a tail ending in a serpent. The number of his heads varies, however, with the Greek poets. Hesiod, contemporary of Homer, gave him fifty

One of the twelve labors of Hercules was to bring Cerberus from the infernal regions. When he succeeded in this and destroyed the creature without the use of arms, the famous labors of the legendary hero were ended, and Cerberus received another lease on posterity!

The "sop to Cerberus" was anything that would for the time being fill all the mouths of the appalling beast! Indeed, the ancients tried to protect their dead from his molestation by placing a cake in the hands of the corpse, the original "sop to Cerberus."

The 17th century dramatist, William Congreve, really introduced the metaphor into English speech, but he was not its inventor. It is recorded in more obscure English literature as early as 1513

Bride Wears Lace And Satin Gown

At a double-ring ceremony Saturday evening at the Bishop's House, St. Andrew's Cathedral, Patricia Rose-Marie, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs Dorcy E Danes, 1217 Johnson Street, repeated nuptial vows with Charles F Leonard, foster son of Mr and Mrs P W Richards. [illegible] Rev. Father [illegible] Johnston read the service

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in traditional [illegible] with sweetheart neck and yoke of Swiss lace, the same lace edging the peplum, the skirt had a net overskirt and the sleeves came to lily points over her hands. Her three-quarter-length silk net veil was held by a beaded coronet and she wore the groom's gift of pearls. A round bouquet of pink roses completed the bridal costume

Miss Ellen Danes, maid of honor for her sister, chose blue, and Miss Mary-lou White, her [illegible], was dressed in rose, their gowns styled in moire taffeta. Picture hats and long mitts carried out the color of their frocks, and their round bouquets were composed of gladioli and chrysanthemums to tone

The bridegroom had his cousin, Mr Brian Jeeves, as best man while Mr John Danes, brother of the bride, showed the guests to their places

The reception was held at Lougheed's Banquet Club, the parents of the young couple welcoming the guests with them. The table, decorated with pastel sweet peas and lighted white candles, was centred with the three-tiered cake. Mr. Patrick White of Revelstoke proposed the toast to his niece. Soloists during the evening were Mr. Tom White and Mr. Joe Almond

Leaving for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride wore a green crepe dress with grey topcoat, black accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will make their home at 1177 Newport Avenue.

"Lucky Seven" Sweeps Soapbox Derby

Crash-helmeted Norman Wilkinson 12, 2832 Parkview Drive, gives his victory grin from the wheel of soapbox special which he piloted to capture first place honors in both speed and distance events in Knights of Pythias derby on Labor Day.

Spectators line Moss Street Hill to watch Norman Wilkinson flash past finish line in finals of speed event at Knights of Pythias soapbox derby on Monday. Race was run from Rockland Avenue to Sir James Douglas School.

Only Minor Accidents Reported As City Drivers Enjoy Holiday

Victorians celebrated the Labor Day week-end safely in the opinion of the city's police officials.

There were a few accidents, mostly [illegible] paper, but no persons were seriously injured it was noted with pleasure by law enforcement officers.

About $300 damage was caused to a Northwestern Creamery truck, and its driver, Douglas Walter Baker, 815 North Park Street, received head and arm injuries in an accident on St. Charles Street Sunday morning, according to city police.

They reported that Baker was driving north when he struck a telephone pole, smashing it at the base. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Sunday evening police said a car driven west on Hautain Street by Walter A. Walter, 805 Cauliflower Road, was in collision with three boys standing on the edge of the north side of the street.

Wayne [illegible], ten, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a cut on his head and abrasions to the left leg, and Errol Richardson, 13, received a bump on his head. The third boy ran away before police arrived. Walter's car was impounded, police reported.

At the intersection of Fort and Quadra Streets on Sunday, a car driven south on Quadra Street by James R. M. Cook, H.M.C.S. Naden, was in collision with a car driven east on Fort Street by Ronald Allan Martin, 2170 [illegible] Avenue, causing damage amounting to about $300 to the latter's car.

On Monday a car driven east on Burnside Road by Henry M. Voglar, no address, reported to police, struck a light post on the south-east corner of Jutland and Burnside Road. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment to a cut on his head. Damage to his car amounted to about $90.

Mrs. Frank Gordes, 2268 Fernwood Road, received bruised legs when the bus in which she was a passenger was involved in a collision on Hautain Street on Sunday. City police said a car driven by Bernard W. Laycock, Millstream Road, Langford, was in collision with the bus being driven by Alex V. Stephens, 877 Wilmaston Street.

Laycock yesterday morning in city police court, pleaded guilty to a dangerous driving charge, was fined $40 and can drive only for business purposes for two months.

Oak Bay police reported that more than $100 damage was caused when cars driven by Joseph Manton, 1224 Broad Street, and L. Sheppard, 1039A Fort Street, were involved in a sideswiping collision on Beach Drive on Monday.

Crowds Line Moss Street Hill For Fifth Annual Soapbox Derby

A [illegible] speed demon [illegible] Moss Street Hill Monday [illegible] Knights of Pythias [illegible] Soapbox Derby.

When the dust [illegible] Norman Wilkinson, [illegible] son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilkinson, 2832 Parkview Drive, had won both speed and distance events and earned himself the following prizes.

A $100 [illegible], a new bicycle, a [illegible] trophy and possession of the [illegible] perpetual [illegible] for one year.

BUTTERBOX SECOND

In the speed race Norman edged out Murray McIntyre, [illegible], 2684 Dewdney Street, last year's champion, who came second in his silver butterbox [illegible] and Robert Caldwell, 12, 1043 [illegible] Avenue.

Murray McIntyre also placed second in the distance event. Fred Curtis, 14, 1137 Johnson Street, was third.

The two winners in both events equipped with special racing bug wheels like those used for the International Derby at Akron, Ohio, [illegible] across the finish [illegible] at-least cup. Some other contestants failed to reach the finish line.

SPECIAL AWARDS

The drift toward near professional efficiency in soapbox racing was hit with a special award which went to Jack Anslow, 11, 2852 Gorge View Drive. Reason for the award: Jack had the only real soapbox among the 60 entries.

Dick Anslow, Jack's 10-year-old brother, came second in the originality competition. Third was Charlie Gould, 14.

Winner of first prize for the best looking car was Earl Graham, 12. Second was Robert Caldwell and third Fred Curtis.

Several other special prizes were awarded to the youngest competitors.

NO SERIOUS SPILLS

Boy Scouts and city police worked to clear the course which ran downhill from Rockland Avenue to Richardson Street, and level from there to Carlsew.

There were no serious spills, but members of St. John Ambulance Brigade treated several minor cuts and bruises. Contestants were insured against injuries.

Cars and boys were weighed-in by Toledo scales to show them what to expect under real racing conditions next year when Bob Abbott, committee chairman, hopes to have Yates Street Hill for the growing event.

Some boys were disqualified when the safety committee ruled them off the road as a hazard.

Five drivers of real racing cars from Langford Speedway provided thrills with a special soapbox race. Winner was Brownie Brown. Others were "Digger" Caldwell, Del Fanning, Seattle, Jack Spaulding, and George Haslem.

Starter was Provincial Police Inspector Robert Owens. Judges were Inspector Owens, Ald. Frank Mulliner and Reese A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt.

Finish judge was Bob Hensley, flagman at Langford Speedway.

Asserts Divorce Laws In Need of Alteration

Complete revision of Canada's divorce laws was strongly advocated by Rev. Lewis McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in an address to the Kiwanis Club at [illegible]

In his 45-minute address, "Are the Divorce Laws of Canada [illegible] Enough?" Rev. McLean explained such laws had been set by the Federal Government.

[illegible] divorce in the Dominion today, he said, under laws established years ago.

"Conditions have changed today," he continued, "but there has been no change whatsoever in the laws."

He thought it should be possible for divorces to be granted on grounds of cruelty, incurable insanity and wilful desertion.

Rev. McLean [illegible] that revision of divorce laws would not result [illegible] such cases, but [illegible] honest cases.

The minister [illegible] brief mention of [illegible] could have been [illegible] sorrow [illegible] been fairer divorce laws.

He suggested a national movement be [illegible] the country [illegible] and soon.

The luncheon meeting had an unexpected conclusion when club member J. Clearihue, local barrister, voluntarily arose to explain that the country's divorce laws would be revised only when such a move had the consent of the "Roman Catholic province of Quebec."

He said the Canadian Bar Association had, for some time, been trying to have revisions made in the laws in question. "But they will not come into effect until the consent of Quebec has been obtained."

Chilliwack Flyers Win Trophy

Chilliwack Flying Club was named yesterday by annual convention of British Columbia Aviation Council as winner of Robert S. Day trophy emblematic of safety in air. Harold Clarke, Chilliwack, shown above at left, received trophy on behalf of Chilliwack club. Major G. A. Thompson, district controller of air services centre, made presentation. At right is Mr. Day, who donated trophy. He said there was more enthusiasm for aviation per capita in Chilliwack than in any other provincial centre. Chilliwack club has no accident, no violation of flying regulations record.

Says Lack of Common Sense Cause of Most Air Crashes

The only way to eliminate the [illegible] common sense [illegible] Major G. A. Thompson, district controller of air [illegible] the Department of Transport, told delegates to the annual [illegible] of the British Columbia Aviation Council [illegible] Empress Hotel [illegible]

[illegible]

"TESTS ONLY WAY"

[illegible] United States [illegible] Vancouver [illegible] had been [illegible]

He said [illegible] tests [illegible] away from [illegible] accidents [illegible]

He said [illegible] during the World War [illegible]

[illegible] chairman of the aviation committee of the transportation bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, brushed aside this suggestion to offer [illegible] of his own.

"HIT POCKETBOOK"

He declared an attempt should be made to [illegible] the pocketbook of a pilot. He said that if pilots were made to sign statements of liability in the event of accident, irresponsibility would be overcome.

W. R. May of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, stated that the powers of the Department of Transport [illegible] be extended when delegates were informed that the department could not suspend a pilot's licence for longer than 30 days or cancel pilot [illegible]

Mr. Day urged passage of a resolution [illegible] the Department of Transport [illegible] the causes of all accidents as they take place. He said the department [illegible] publicize the [illegible] and [illegible] imposed for violation of air regulations.

The resolution and the suggestion advanced by Mr. Bel[illegible] were endorsed by the convention.

NEW LANDING STRIP

W. Earl Brett of Chilliwack, reported to delegates that 17 new landing strips had been constructed in the interior of the province during the past year. He said a ranch in the interior used aircraft to locate cattle on the range, thereby saving a waste in time of weeks and perhaps months.

B. J. Gadsden, Victoria delegate, declared that two or three wealthy men in the Victoria district had opposed development of the Gordon Head Airpark. He said that the 57-acre tract at Gordon Head was still being held by the City Council.

Mr. May asserted that air strips should be constructed like roads as the responsibility of senior governments.

Brett Heads Air Council

W. Earl Brett of Chilliwack was elected president of the British Columbia Aviation Council at the annual conference held in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

F. R. [illegible] of Vancouver was [illegible] first vice-president; Arthur [illegible] M.P., Vancouver, second vice-president; [illegible] Vancouver, [illegible] treasurer; R. W. [illegible] Vancouver, fifth [illegible]

[illegible] the board of directors [illegible] Victoria; A. [illegible] Vancouver; J. W. [illegible] Nanaimo; Capt. R. J. [illegible] Victoria; Alderman J. A. [illegible] Kamloops; R. [illegible] Vancouver; A. M[illegible] Vancouver; D. [illegible] Alderman J. W. [illegible] Penticton; A. J. K[illegible] and [illegible] Prince George, and Arthur [illegible] One additional director will be named by the board.

Two Scientists Exchanging Defence Posts

OTTAWA, Sept. 6 (CP) — An exchange of [illegible] between Canada and United Kingdom today was announced by Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board.

Dr. H. M. Barrett, 38, of Toronto, chief superintendent of the board's experimental station at Suffield, Alta., will leave for England this month to take over the post of chief superintendent of the chemical defence experimental station at Porton, Wilts., for two years.

Dr. Barrett [illegible] at the request of the British Ministry of Supply.

Dr. Barrett already has been succeeded at Suffield by Dr. E. A. Perren, a member of the staff at Porton.

B.C. Aviation Council Meeting Regrets Plane Crash Publicity

Delegates to the annual conference of the British Columbia Aviation Council yesterday were "up in the air" over what they termed "sensational" treatment given airplane accidents by the press.

Lt.-Col. J. H. [illegible] of Kelowna referred to a Vancouver newspaper which featured a short account of a train wreck on one of its inside pages and a headline account of a plane wreck on the front page of the same issue.

He objected that not enough favorable publicity was given the aviation industry while at the same time unfavorable publicity was featured.

PASS RESOLUTIONS

Delegates passed a resolution urging newspapers to print reports of accidents in such a way as to improve the [illegible] of aviation generally and [illegible] organization to form a [illegible] division to study material which could be used for newspaper stories.

[illegible] passed by the conference [illegible] the Federal and [illegible] for assistance in the building of landing strips and [illegible] asked the Federal Government [illegible] regulations [illegible] operators' licences [illegible]

Delegates were welcomed to their one-day conference at the Empress Hotel by Alderman Frank Mulliner, acting on behalf of Mayor Percy George.

Alderman Mulliner said he did not think that the average citizen realized the value of the air-ambulance service operating within the province.

Demands Units Leave Austria

VIENNA, Sept. 6 (INS)—Austrian Foreign Minister Karl Gruber called tonight for removal of Russian and Western Allied troops from his country and culmination of the four occupation [illegible].

In a campaign speech in Vienna, Gruber declared that the "great powers prefer to put their own interests over those of small countries."

Gruber, who returned recently from London where the Big Four foreign ministers' deputies failed to draft an Austrian peace treaty, said that if diplomatic means cannot force the withdrawal of occupation troops "then we will not hesitate to speak more effective language."

Being the Fellow You'd Like to Be

By DR. J. B. WARREN

I know a preparatory school where in addition to the physical [illegible] of a [illegible] the [illegible] is an [illegible] who devotes his time to getting kinks out of the minds of the boys. One of his ways of [illegible] is to have every other boy in the school write down [illegible] of every other boy [illegible]. The boys learn from this [illegible] what the others [illegible] think of them [illegible] know what they [illegible] the [illegible].

JERRY'S SUSPICION DIES HARD

Suspicion is a persistent thing.
It was not die, but [illegible].

Once faith and trust have been driven out [illegible] a hard to [illegible] them [illegible]. It was [illegible] establish them in the first place. That is why any one who plants in the mind of another suspicion of someone else does the very worst kind of [illegible]. It happens that there are no grounds for suspicion [illegible] in the minds of Jerry Muskrat and all the other little people of the Green Forest, the Green Meadows and the Smiling Pool. They had learned to regard him as a true friend. Then along had come a stranger who also pretended to be a friend. Day after day he brought dainties for Jerry Muskrat until Jerry [illegible] Farmer Brown's Boy [illegible] the [illegible].

[illegible]

and Jerry had been caught by the tail in one of them. It was just good fortune that he had been able to [illegible] Farmer Brown's Boy [illegible] for a long time Farmer Brown's Boy had [illegible]. But Jerry [illegible] that [illegible]. All he knew was that the stranger had been [illegible] as Farmer Brown's Boy had and then had set a trap for him. How could he be sure that Farmer Brown's Boy [illegible]

So, though Farmer Brown's Boy [illegible]

Always the latter left good things for Jerry to eat, things Jerry was fond of—pieces of sweet apple, carrot, parsnip and pumpkin. But for a long time Jerry would not touch them. When at last he did venture to eat them it was only after a very careful search for hidden traps.

The queer thing is that all the time Jerry wanted to trust Farmer Brown's Boy just as he had in the past. But the memory of his [illegible] Farmer Brown's Boy knew [illegible] was so and understood why. It made him sad and [illegible] filled him with anger towards the trapper who had destroyed the old faith and trust.

Before you set up a PENSION PLAN...

DETERMINING the right type of pension plan for your staff—how to set it up—who will operate it—whom to name as trustees—these subjects call for careful consideration.

Montreal Trust can help with practical suggestions. In our pension work, we are often called in to help select the type of plan, or we act as trustees or custodians of funds.

How we may best serve you calls for joint analysis. We suggest a meeting. No obligation, of course.

CANADA NEEDS HEALTHY RAILWAYS TO SERVE HER PEOPLE

41 MILLION
—a lot of passengers

On good days and bad, for business or pleasure, some 41,000,000 passengers stepped aboard Canadian trains last year.

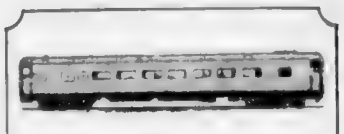
They travelled the fantastic total of almost four billion miles. That's over 300 miles each for every man, woman and child in Canada.

The gigantic task of carrying this multitude of commuters, vacationists, business people, requires an army of train crews, trackmen, dispatchers, locomotive engineers . . . and miles of coaches, dining cars, engines . . . and mountains of coal, forests of ties and telegraph poles . . . and 42,000 miles of track . . . altogether a capital investment of well over three billion dollars.

Every Canadian depends on railroads—not only for travel but also, as freight carriers, to bring him almost everything he eats, wears, dwells in, uses . . . It amounts to 12 tons a year for every citizen.

The railways EMPLOY a lot of people, too

They paid $544,000,000 in wages and salaries to over 190,000 Canadians last year. But that's just the beginning of what the railways mean to employment in Canada. Lumbermen, factory workers, miners, farmers—men in a hundred occupations—are busy producing things the railways buy. Last year their purchases added up to more than $400,000,000.



This advertisement is one of a series pointing out the railways' key place in Canada's economy. As Canada's largest builders of railway rolling stock and equipment, this company and its employees are directly concerned with the railway industry. Canadian Car & Foundry, operating eight modern plants, turns out thousands of railway cars of every type. The company is fully equipped to supply Canada's railways with the latest type passenger and freight cars to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy.

Young Combine From Gorge Keeps Buttons

John Merriman and Bob Fleming, two of the city's most promising junior golfers, provided a bit of a surprise Sunday on their home course when they successfully defended their city golf buttons against the challenge of a powerful [illegible] Bigg[illegible] 1 up in an interesting match followed by a good-sized gallery.

Winners had a best ball of 71 compared with the 73 turned in by the senior duo.

Merriman and Fleming make their next defence of the title Sunday against clubmates Jack Clark and Fred Clunk.

HAMMER-RECORD THROW

KATOWICE, Poland, Sept. 5 (Reuters).—I. Nemeth, Hungarian holder of the Olympic title, yesterday set up a hammer-throw world record here with 195 feet 5½ inches. This beat his own world record of [illegible] feet 7½ inches established last year.

Shirley May Protests in Vain As Dad Ends Channel Attempt

DOVER, England, Sept. 6 (CP)—[illegible] wasted and [illegible] Shirley May France today was hauled from the water six miles from her Dover goal, ending a [illegible] but vain attempt to swim the English Channel.

The 17-year-old [illegible] Mass. girl did not quit. She begged, cried and even fought to be allowed to [illegible]

[illegible] Walter France and [illegible] Harry Boudakian were [illegible] Dover's white cliffs [illegible] far away [illegible] the adverse tides were able to be fought at [illegible] girl was nearing [illegible]

She had been in the water 10 hours and 4? minutes [illegible] and swum about 30 miles [illegible] changing tides which swept back and forth and held her [illegible] within 14 miles of France's sunny coastline.

END OF A DREAM

Her failure dimmed dreams of movie stardom, of riches and fame. Her attempt was one of the most pretentious channel swims of all time. A large international press corps watched from official and specially chartered boats. Press planes circled overhead. Running accounts of her progress were broadcast.

She had hoped to become the 29th and youngest swimmer to conquer the stretch of buffeting water, 20 to 22 miles wide. She also had hoped to beat the 1926 woman's record of Gertrude Ederle who swam the distance in 14 hours 31 minutes.

Chenier Leads

LONDON, Sept. 6 (CP) — George Chenier, Canadian snooker champion from Toronto, maintained a [illegible] over the retired world [illegible] [illegible] 1?-9 [illegible] at the end of tonight's play in a 71-frame exhibition match against Joe Davis.

Egyptian Team Sets New Channel Record

CALAIS, France, Sept. 7 (Wednesday) (INS)—Six Egyptian swimmers licked the English Channel today—but as a relay team.

Their unofficial swim time was 11 hours and 11 minutes, a new record.

The old relay mark — 12 hours 30 minutes 4 seconds—was set by a French team in 1938.

Verley, Crosby Win Matches In Totem Meet

JASPER PARK, Alta., Sept. 6 (CP)—Crooner Bing Crosby struck his stride today in the first round of the Totem Pole Golf Tournament, eliminating Frank Dunne of Seattle 4 and 3, while the other favorite, George Coleman of Miami, Okla., dumped Pete Rule of Calgary by the same score.

Crosby, who just barely qualified yesterday with an 18-hole score of 82, went the first nine holes in even par and was only two over when the match ended. Coleman won the medal round yesterday with 73, two strokes better than defending champion J. Edgar Green of Seattle, to enter the championship flight today.

British Columbia golfers who advanced to the next round included Gordon Verley of Victoria, who eliminated fellow-townsman Jack Todd 2 and 1, and George Norgan, W[illegible] Thompson, E. E. Oana and F. J. McFarland, all of Vancouver.

In the women's section, successful British Columbia golfers were M. B. Cleat and Mrs. H. E. A[illegible] of Vancouver.

Your Health and Your Weight

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

APPETITE CONTROLS WEIGHT

"Obesity is one of the most pressing dangerous health problems of the general population by a vigorous effort to encourage the obese to reduce."

It may come as a surprise to [illegible] of us to read the above statement of Drs. G. F. Gastineau and E. H. Rynearson in "Annals of Internal Medicine." We know the dangers of various diseases, but we seldom if ever think of obesity (overweight) as being as dangerous as other diseases such as those of the heart, blood vessels, kidney, liver, stomach and other organs.

While there is a small pecentage of overweights in which the excess weight is caused by gland disturbances, not less than 9 of every 10 cases are due to overeating.

When we talk of overeating, there is just one cause and that is appetite. Every healthy individual likes to eat; but in the overweight the desire for food is so strong that he feels he must eat until his appetite is thoroughly satisfied. Thus, Drs. Gastineau and Rynearson state that the development of obesity [illegible] upon a derangement of the appetite control mechanism, which mechanism is situated in the pituitary gland but whose functions or use in the body is under the control of the brain itself.

Obesity may result from the inheritance of an appetite control centre which demands more food for satisfaction. On the other hand, there is no question but that the environment or surroundings of the individual has a pronounced effect upon the appetite.

That the environment has a favorable or unfavorable effect upon appetite is one of the first things learned by a nurse or attendant preparing a tray of food for a patient. Not only is the tray clean and bright and the linen snow white, but also the food is served in an attractive form and even the dishes on the tray are arranged in an attractive manner.

This means that as the patient sees and smells the food, his digestive juices begin to flow and appetite is increased. Thus, just as a sick individual is encouraged to eat more food by his sense of sight, smell and taste, so does the normal, healthy individual have his appetite sharpened up at meal time.

It is not good sense to serve food in an unattractive manner to curb or decrease the appetite, so other methods of reducing the desire for food must be used. One of these is the use of amphetamine (Benzedrine Sulfate) which not only decreases the appetite but also gives the individual a physical and mental boost that may postpone hunger and weakness until bed time. This drug is naturally popular and under a physician's supervision it is safe. [illegible] after all, it is [illegible] and should be used only in those cases where the [illegible] finds it absolutely necessary.

The proper treatment for obesity is by cutting down on the food intake. No one grows fat on food that is not eaten. "Physicians are not unanimous in approving the use of thyroid extracts or stimulating drugs such as amphetamine." [illegible] and safest method of reducing weight is by cutting down by one-quarter of all starch foods and all fat foods and one-half on all liquids, but continuing [illegible] the current amount of proteins. Meat, fish, eggs, cereals. This method will reduce weight after three weeks in all cases.

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

USING THE BODY'S OWN FAT TO REDUCE WEIGHT

Because starch foods — potatoes, sugar, bread—give energy more of them are eaten than the other foods, proteins—meat, fish, eggs— and fats —butter, cream, fat meats. However, aside from giving energy fat foods eaten but not used, get stored away as fat in and on the body. This means that while starch foods, because so much of them are eaten, are the greatest single cause of overweight, we should keep in mind the fact that fat is about twice as rich in fuel or food value as starch or protein foods.

The first truth that overweights must learn is that they are fat because they eat more food than their particular bodies need. Overweights usually are good eaters but many of them eat less than those of normal weight.

The natural feeling of overweights who are not big eaters is that there must be some gland disturbance present which prevents the use or burning up of the food eaten, and so this unburned food gets stored in the body as fat. In perhaps 1 in 20 cases of overweight some gland disturbance is to blame or partly to blame for overweight, but in the other 19 of the 20, the cause is eating more food than the body needs.

If, then, fat foods and starch foods are the foods that store fat, which of these two types of food should be reduced to decrease weight?

As starch foods are used by most of us to supply energy, naturally more of them are eaten by everybody including, of course, the overweight individuals. However, just as soon as these overweights begin cutting down on starch foods they feel weak and are not inclined to do the simple exercises or work that is needed to complete the reducing process.

Because of this feeling of weakness, experts on weight reducing advise that instead of cutting down so much on starch foods, the fat foods should be greatly reduced, letting the fat that is already on the body supply some of the body's need for fat. As stated before, it is possible with perfect safety to have the fat foods supply as much as 75 per cent of the total energy in the diet of an individual doing ordinary work.

Too much fat must not be used in a reducing diet because the body is unable to burn up the fat completely without having sufficient starch food such as sugar, bread or potatoes to help burn up the fat. When fat is not completely burned, because there is not enough starch food to help burn it, acidosis occurs and with it bad breath and tiredness.

Many cases of bad breath, thought to be caused by infected gums and tonsils, are caused by eating too much fat food. Fortunately, the bad breath caused by the dry form of catarrh is readily recognized by the family physician and treatment by X-rays, prostigmin and other forms of treatment give relief.

The thought, then, is that "some" starch foods are needed by the overweight in order to help burn up the fat foods eaten. The second thought is that by cutting down also on fat foods and letting the excess fat on the body supply some of the energy needed by the body, a two-fold action in reducing weight is accomplished.

It should be remembered that proteins, particularly meat and fish, should not be reduced, some protein should be eaten once or twice a day.

Finally, fruits and green vegetables should form a part of the reducing diet and be eaten daily [illegible] and minerals for the body's needs.

USING BULKY FOODS TO REDUCE WEIGHT

A number of years ago a man hanged for murder had eaten a large breakfast before his execution, and when examined an hour after death it was found that all the food eaten for breakfast had left his stomach. As the usual length of time for this amount and kinds of food required about two hours, I could not understand it. I knew that if I were to be hanged I wouldn't want any breakfast. As I was in my first year in medicine, I asked the professor of physiology about it.

"Oh, this man was a perfect animal. He plotted the murder several months previously, lured his victim to a lonely spot, thought his plan could not fail, and of course was just as "cold blooded" immediately before his execution, and so his food digested in its usual short time."

Normal individuals usually respond to unhappiness, worry, anxiety with loss of appetite (and loss of weight), due to an unconscious interference with the nerves controlling hunger. On the other hand overweights, under similar circumstances or stress, not only maintain their appetite and weight but, because "they have something on their mind," eat more at meal hours and nibble away at food, mostly candy or cakes, between meals. Their hunger actually increases as [illegible] their weight.

Because overweights have a good appetite and like to see and eat a lot of food, physicians trying to [illegible] get rid of this weight [illegible] large quantities of bulky foods [illegible] low in food value. Green vegetables—foods containing [illegible] a small amount of starch—are increased to give a bulky or large appearance to the food. This bulk satisfies the eye of the patient and fills up the stomach and intestine more completely than concentrated foods such as meat, eggs, butter and cream.

It is giving these bulky foods, low in food value, that is the basis or idea underlying all reducing diets. Thus giving overweights the feeling that they have eaten a great amount of food is the first step used by weight specialists.

The second step in reducing weight is to reduce the appetite because it is known that overweights as a class are always hungry for their meals, whereas underweights as a class, do not have a good appetite. The logical treatment for overweights to get their food intake reduced is to have them make up their minds to leave the table while still hungry. And those who state that they eat when not very hungry should train themselves to spend less time eating what they call their small amount of food. It has been well said that no one grows fat on food he does not eat.

It is unfortunately true that overweights have such a physical disposition or personality makeup that they can eat no matter what the circumstances or environment. They usually are of a cheerful disposition which enables them to get "full value" from food.

As stated above, then, those of normal weight while undergoing emotional strain, grief, worry, anxiety—lose their appetites, whereas overweights often eat more [illegible]. If the appetite cannot be controlled, the physician is justified in prescribing benzedrine sulfate, which acts on the nerves causing hunger and decreases their activity. At the same time, this drug gives the overweight a "lift" or boost that prevents the feeling of weakness or tiredness. Tincture of digitalis also depresses the appetite.

SLOW REDUCING [illegible] SAFE REDUCING

Meeting an old friend I had not seen for years, I noticed his great increase in weight.

Before I said anything he laughed and said that he knew I was "sizing him up," but I must remember what a "skinny kid" he was when we were school children together. I told him that the extra weight really improved his appearance, and that if he kept at his present weight he need not reduce.

What about this weight many slender individuals put on as they grow older?

It depends entirely how the individual feels physically and mentally. If the extra weight is interfering with physical and mental activities, then it is doing harm and it should be gradually removed by cutting down on the food intake and taking a little more exercise.

Therefore, if you find that the extra weight, while perhaps improving your appearance, is slowing you down for your usual activities—physical and mental—you should gradually get it off because, as you slow up physically, you are bound to slow up mentally. You gradually lose interest in various matters because it is a physical effort to go places and do things with excess fat making you lazy or tired.

This, then—slowing up physically and mentally—should be a warning that, whether you have a great amount of "excess" fat or a small amount, it is a liability and should be removed.

Now just as the excess fat was added slowly in and on your body so then should it be removed slowly and safely. This is not a case for the 15-day diet, but for 15 weeks or even a year and can be done in a simple manner if given a little thought.

Thus, by replacing fat foods or rich starch foods with vegetables low in starch (carbohydrates), two to five pounds can be removed in three to six weeks. For instance, replacing potatoes by cabbage and lettuce, cutting down on bread, no meal afternoon or at bedtime, cutting out one lump of sugar in tea and coffee, taking one tablespoon of cream in coffee instead of two, spreading the butter just a little [illegible] half a glass of water, half a cup of tea, coffee or other liquid instead of the full glass or cup.

Some idea of the difference in the amount of starch or carbohydrates (which stores fat in the body) in vegetables can be seen when we compare the 3 to 5 per cent carbohydrate vegetables with the 20 per cent vegetables. The 3 to 5 per cent non-fat-forming vegetables are lettuce, cucumber, asparagus, beet and dandelion greens, celery and mushrooms. The 20 per cent carbohydrate vegetables (3 to 4 times as rich in carbohydrate) are potatoes, shell beans, green corn, boiled rice and boiled macaroni.

A great advantage in this slow method of reducing weight (exchanging fat and heavy starch foods for starch-poor vegetables) is that the body gradually accommodates itself, slowly and surely, to receiving less food. This means that no wrinkles will form as so often happens when excess fat is removed too rapidly.

This slow and gradual reduction of weight also would mean that the fat in and about the abdominal organs would go away gradually, thus allowing the organs to adjust themselves to the loss of weight and so not cause indigestion and constipation.

Just one more point. If overweights eat their largest meal at noon instead of the evening, more of the food eaten would be used up by the ordinary or slight household or office activities.

TRADING FAT FOR MUSCLE TISSUE

Formerly it was a common sight to see overweights working faithfully [illegible] to rid themselves of their excess fat. They wore heavy sweaters, pulled on the chest weights, did bending exercises keeping knees straight to reduce the large abdomen, and finally some slow running.

In those days they reduced their food intake slightly, but continued to drink considerable water because water had no food value. Those who worked regularly obtained splendid results and acquired their former youthful figure.

Today we do not see so many trying to lose their excess fat by exercise or physical work. Most of those who are in earnest about getting rid of excess fat are eating less starch and fat foods and also cutting down on all liquids. This is an easier method than working off fat, but does not replace the lost fat with good muscle tissue, a real asset to the health and strength of the body.

As stated before, the very fact that men and women acquire excess fat, have fat deposits in various parts of the body, is in itself a healthy sign. It shows that the individual eating a little more than he or she needs for the body sends the unused or unneeded food as fat to these fat depots as so much food or fuel (energy). This can be used at any time in the future should food not be available. It is this known fact that is used in all reducing diets.

If a patient already has excess fat in various parts of the body and fat gives more heat and energy per calorie than other foods, it is quite safe to cut down a diet of 2,400 calories to 1,200 calories using the usual amount of proteins—meat, eggs, fish—and cutting down by one-half on all starch foods—sugar, potatoes, bread—and by one-half on all fat foods, butter, cream, fat meats, nuts.

What about the effects of physical exercise in getting rid of excess fat?

The old method of cutting down on food and increasing exercise or physical work is and always will be, the ideal method of weight reduction.

While research workers in exercise and nutrition tells us that it takes a lot of exercise to get rid of a little fat tissue, it must be admitted that, as Gladstone said, "All the time and money spent in physical exercise pays a larger rate of interest than any other investment."

A man or woman in good health who decreases the food intake and increases the exercise is getting "double results"—that is, he or she is using up some fat tissue for food and also increasing the muscle tissue.

Why is muscle tissue so valuable to the overweight individual?

In getting rid of excess fat, the individual feels lighter; it requires less effort to do physical effort. Then with the extra muscle he is acquiring, it is not only easier to work or exercise, but he actually "wants" to exercise, as exercise "invites" him to use this newly acquired muscular strength.

Of course, all overweights are not young or middle aged; and many of them have ailments or conditions present which make it unsafe to take physical exercise. Thus they must rely on the 1,200 or 1,500-calorie diet to get rid of their excess fat gradually over a period of several months.

A daily walk and light rhythmic exercises without weights, while not removing much fat, keeps even the oldest and heaviest overweight "limber," and prevents arthritis.

Altercation Worthwhile States Walker

"I wanted for 11 years to tell Goetz off and believe me it was worth the money," the 39-year-old Pittsburgh pirate outfielder declared.

Ford Frick, National League president, levied the fine and suspension for Walker's altercation yesterday with Goetz in St. Louis.

Goetz tossed Dixie out of the second St. Louis-Pittsburgh game accusing him of stretching across the plate while being given an intentional pass.

Dixie's vocal protests brought the old heave ho.

Regular Attendance at School Key to Baby Bonus Payments

If your youngster does not attend school pretty regularly this coming term you are liable to forfeit the baby bonus paid you on his behalf by the Department of National Health and Welfare.

And if you accept the family allowance while your child is away from school too much, without good and sufficient reason, the department is apt to take stern measures to recover the money paid you.

That's the warning issued yesterday by W. R. Bone, regional director for Family Allowance here.

The ruling does not apply, of course, if the school board in your area has agreed to the child's absence from school, he qualifies.

In British Columbia the ruling affects an estimated 145,000 school children between the ages of seven and 15, the mandatory term of school attendance in this province.

For children over 15 the ruling on payment of the allowance does not depend on the youngster attending school, the regional director points out. From this age until the termination of payments, when the child reaches the 16th birthday, payment depends on whether or not he or she is working. If regularly employed, allowance payment naturally ceases.

On the other hand children regularly attending school may earn up to $35 a month without affecting the allowance, it is emphasized.

Britain's National Health Service Costs Prove Higher Than Expected

LONDON, Sept. 6 (CP).—Britain's National Health Service, now a year old, costs about half a crown (50 cents) a week for every individual in the United Kingdom.

This is higher than expected. When the service went into effect July 5, 1948, it was estimated it would cost £152,000,000 ($608,000,000) annually in its early years.

This works out to about 1s. 3d. a week for each of the United Kingdom's 48,000,000 people.

USE NOT LEARNED

The half-a-crown estimate comes from the Ministry of Health. In a 36-page booklet, it says the general public has not yet learned to use the new health facilities "properly and economically."

If the weekly cost a head is half a crown, the service will cost about £325,000,000 a year. Many Government opponents, however, [illegible] the scheme actually will cost at least £400,000,000 annually, or nearly three times the original estimate.

The booklet says the service is paid for largely out of taxes and rates. Of a man's weekly National Insurance contribution of 4s. 11d., only 8½d goes toward the cost of the health service, which is available to all whether insured or not.

NOT NEW STRAIN

Part of the cost of the service was previously paid in hospital charges and as private fees, the booklet says, "and so represents a redistribution of national spending and not a new strain on the national economy."

While stressing that new spending must be held to a minimum, the booklet lists these objectives for a "new deal" in medical care:

1. Improved material resources, involving new health centres and improvements to hospitals "when practicable."
2. More health workers in almost all fields.
3. More teamwork among medical staffs to enable a doctor to see the patient as a whole person rather than as a [illegible].
4. New [illegible].
5. [illegible] of the present [illegible] of health.

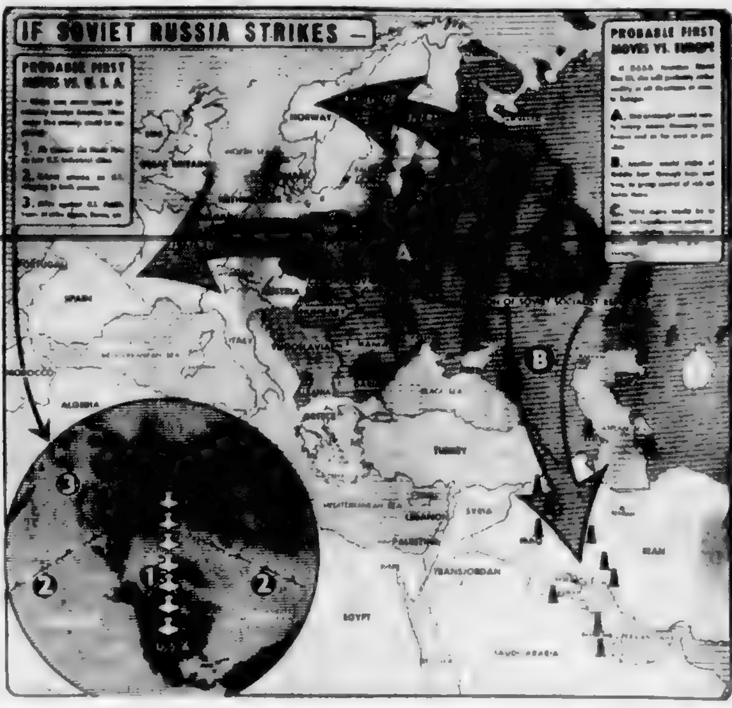
Possible Strategy of U.S.S.R. in Event of Conflict



Map shows where Soviet forces would be likely to attack in event they plunge into third world war. America's chief counter weapon would be the atomic bomb which authorities indicate would be used against key Russian industrial and supply centres immediately after the first act of war by U.S.S.R. Since Russia already has land and air force superiority in Europe atomic bomb is still considered main restraining force which makes the men in the Kremlin think twice before plunging the world into another war.

Mayor Invites Opinions In Cluster Light Issue

Mayor Percy E. George yesterday said he would welcome expression of opinion from the public on the question of whether Victoria's cluster lighting system should be replaced by a more efficient system [illegible].

"I feel [illegible] that we should [illegible] very [illegible] removal of [illegible] system. We should try to reach a happy medium between utility and aesthetic values."

He was commenting on a move by the City Council to replace cluster lights on one block of Yates Street as an experiment.

Mayor George pointed out that cluster lights were costly to maintain because of breakages and the underground cable system is so deteriorated that it must soon be replaced. In addition it did not meet modern standards of lighting.

It was possible, he said, that new lights could be placed at intervals, leaving the cluster lights between.

Said the Mayor: "I would welcome an expression of opinion from the public on this matter, especially some constructive suggestions.

"We don't want to remove the cluster lights if that is not what the people want."

Ex-R.A.F. Trimmed By Seattle Squad

Seattle had no difficulty in surpassing the total during the fourth-wicket partnership of Clifford and Navidu. Batting on, they had 139 runs with two wickets standing when the match was called.

Stamps Open Grey Cup Defence With 20-6 Win Over Edmonton

Calgary Stampeders opened their defence of the Grey Cup on Monday with an expected victory over Edmonton Eskimos in their first start of the season in the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union. The champions downed Edmonton Eskimos, 20-6, at Edmonton. In the other Western grid game Saskatchewan Roughriders, [illegible] their first start, evened the score with Winnipeg Blue Bombers as they rolled to an impressive 20-0 triumph at Regina.

Completing eight of 14 passes, which accounted for one touchdown and set up another, Keith Spaith paved the way for the Calgary win. Guard Bill Radovich and Back Chuck Fennenbock, two of their United States imports, were the best of the Eskimos, who served notice they may be difficult to handle as the season progresses. A crowd of 11,123 was on hand for the arclight game.

A stout front line was the big reason for the Roughrider win. With their forwards dominating play, the Reginans stuck to a ground game to score three converted touchdowns and two singles. A disappointing crowd of 7,000 fans turned out.

On Eastern grids, Toronto Argonauts moved into a first place tie with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four by swamping Hamilton Wildcats Monday, 36-14, for their second week-end victory over that club. Joe Krol once more was the big gun, accounting for 11 points on a placement, five converts and three singles. A crowd of 12,000 watched.

Meanwhile Sarnia Imperials took over the lead in the Ontario Rugby Football Union with their second win, a 13-9 conquest of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with the [illegible] which Saturday trounced [illegible] Beach, 20-[illegible].

Dinner at Antoine's

By FRANCES PARKINSON KEYES

CHAPTER X

"Wednesday Morning.

Dear Ruth:

"I did so enjoy meeting you Monday night that I do want to see you again, and Joe does too. If you're free, we'd love to have you dine with [illegible] be a magnificent party, in the 1840 Room, the way Mr. Foxworth's was, just a very quiet little dinner in the small back room Joe likes best—the part of the restaurant where the old mushroom cellar used to be. We aren't asking any one else except Sabin Duplessis, who is pretty low in his mind right now, and needs [illegible] help us do this.

"Unless we hear from you that you can't come, we'll call for you around 7.

"Hoping to see you soon, and with kind regards, in which Joe joins me,

Cordially yours,

Judith Farnham Racina."

Judith had been right in saying that her little dinner would be entirely different from Orson Foxworth's, though it ended on a note which was no less ominous.

Even the beginning was different. Joe led his group straight to a small, inconspicuous door, where no line was drawn up, and secured immediate entry. Then, without ceremony, he headed straight for the small plain room that he liked, where the round table, like those in the outer dining-room, was unadorned except for a carafe in the centre.

"Do either of you girls want cocktails?" he enquired. "We're going to have a good wine with our dinner," and as Ruth and Judith both shook their heads, he went on. "Neither do I, and you're just as well off without one, Sabin."

"That's what you think. But if you don't mind, I'll have a double Dry Martini . . . Oliver's aren't quite up to Downes'," he said, turning from his host to his fellow guest, "but they're pretty fair, at that. You better join me. Don't let Joe bulldoze you."

"I shan't. But I shan't let you overpersuade me either," she retorted.

"Are you sure? Not about anything?" Want to bet on it?"

He was quick on the uptake, she could see that, and she also saw what Caresse had meant in describing him as exciting. Without being handsome, he was extremely striking in appearance, slight and dark and given to quick sudden movements which had an almost uncanny grace.

He sipped his drinks slowly, meanwhile making delightful small talk and Ruth found his magnetism inescapable. Judith sat by, lovely and composed, taking no part in the lively dialogue, but obviously undisturbed by it. Joe, on the contrary, began to show signs of impatience.

"Look here, Sabin, that makes three doubles you've had now," he said at last. "Let's get going on some food before you start looping."

He motioned to the slim mustachioed waiter, "Go ahead and bring in the shrimp aspic, Abraham," he ordered, rather shortly. Abraham bowed and hastened off, leaving the little room just as a bus boy entered it, bringing French bread, hot from the oven. Joe extracted one of the long, crusty loaves from its enveloping napkin and offered it to Ruth, who broke off the heel.

"Don't fill up on it," he warned her, as the others helped themselves. "You're quite welcome to it, you understand. But there's some real food on the way. Not the sort of plushy feast your uncle provided the other night, as Judith wrote you, Ruth. But every dish an achievement in its own way . . . I remember the first time I ever had this particular version of shrimp in aspic," he continued as Abraham reappeared and placed a glistening, ruby-colored serving before each of the diners.

"Don't pay too much attention to Joe when he gets started on the subject of food," Judith said. "Or he won't get off it all the evening. He'll only go on to say how much better it is here than anywhere else in the world and start making invidious comparisons between Creole cookery and everything we eat in New England. I've heard all that hundreds of times now. I'd like to hear about something else for a change—the Twelfth Night Revels, for instance. Did you enjoy them, Ruth?"

3 ♥	Pass	6 ♥ (final bid)

Since North made a strong bid when he cue-bid the opponents' spades, he should have been satisfied to bid no more than five hearts, instead of six.

West felt that before he lost his control of North's club suit he had better establish a trick somewhere, and therefore tried what was practically a "desperation" opening—a low diamond. South let the lead ride, and not unnaturally, was pleased to win with the queen. It did him little good however! When he drew trumps and led the club jack, West took his ace and promptly returned a club. South got one discard on the clubs, but he still had to lose a spade.

The right line of play, after the favorable opening lead, was to draw two rounds of trumps, cash the diamond ace and ruff dummy's last diamond, then to lead the club four toward dummy. Consider! West had bid spades, and probably had a five-card suit, at least. He had shown two hearts. His opening lead was from at least three diamonds. Hence he probably had either two or three clubs. After the diamonds were stripped, the lead of South's low club would "fix" West! If he had three clubs there was nothing South could do about it unless the ten dropped; but with West actually holding only ace-small in clubs, he would be on the spot. If he put up the ace on the first lead, South would get two discards; if he ducked, the next club play would put him in with the blank ace and force a return that would let South avoid the loss of a spade.

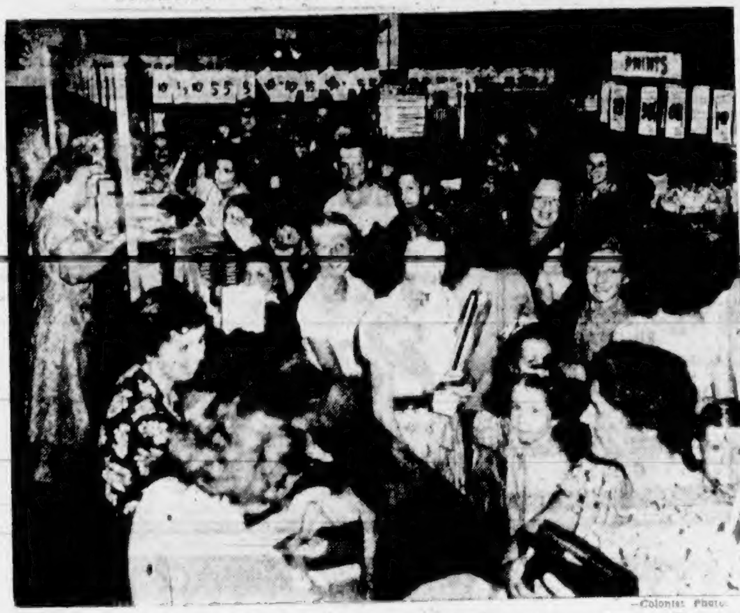
Students Clamor for New School Books



—Colonist Photo

Victoria stores selling school books experienced annual rush by eager students yesterday. Harassed clerks reported heavy sales throughout day, beginning in morning after students attended school for short while to learn of their needs for coming year. Above picture was taken in Government Street store which braces itself every year for rush of students.

Oldest Fair West of Great Lakes Adds New Laurels at Saanichton

A Fair which was born in a barn 81 years ago added more honors, Monday, to its unbroken record.

The annual Autumn Exhibition of North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, oldest continuous fair west of the Great Lakes, drew an estimated "biggest ever" attendance of 10,000 through the gates of Saanichton Agricultural Hall and grounds. There were [illegible] entries.

Arthur Ash, M.L.A., opened the fair at 2 p.m. He paid tribute to the pioneers who founded the show and looked forward to the day when it would become the Island's only Class "B" fair.

With sufficient water, Saanich can be one of the richest and most varied producing areas in the province, he said.

Mr. Ash was introduced by Willard W. Michell, president of the Agricultural Society and grandson of one of the founders of the fair.

With him were Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., and Mrs. Pearkes; Mayor and Mrs. Percy George and Reeve and Mrs. E. C. Warren.

MANY JUDGES NEEDED

Judges were: James Wood, heavy horses; Col. R. Richmond, saddle horses; George W. Challenger, Jersey cattle; K. A. Hay, Holsteins and Ayrshires; J. L. Lang, poultry; P. F. Boucher, and Miss P. M. Baker, rabbits; M. W. Randall, eggs; J. Bosher, flowers; Miss Geraldine Mann and Miss Nova Graham, jams and bottled fruits; C. E. Jeffrey, honey; Miss I. M. Abbott, women's work; G. E. Fleming, photography; Miss Gwen Dewar, J. McBeth and Miss N. Small, Highland dancing; Ian Duncan and Miss Lillian Grant, piping; L. E. Taylor, fruit; and E. W. White, vegetables.

A list of results may be found on Page 28.

RUN STILL ON

Southeastern Alaska's bonanza pink salmon run still was going strong yesterday.

Prospects were that the total Alaska pack by the end of the week might exceed last year's final total of 3,074,540 cases for all species of salmon.

Fishing ends Thursday at 6 p.m. That is the deadline of the extension granted last week by the Fish and Wildlife Service because of the favorable run of fish.

Some southeastern plants are expecting to triple their 1948 packs.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 6 (AP)—[illegible], Tacoma, was elected president of Kiwanis International's Pacific Northwest district today.

Crowds Line Beach at Cordova Bay For Thrill-Packed Speedboat Races

Hitting a top speed of 83 miles an hour, Jim Hutchison of Vancouver skimmed his three-pointer, Teaser III, over the smooth waters of Cordova Bay to win three major events in Victoria Inboard and Outboard Association's Labor Day regatta.

An estimated 7,000 people lined the sunny beach to watch the thrill-packed races. Vancouver racers swept away most of the nine trophies.

Jim Hutchison, winner of the gold cup at Aldridge regatta in Vancouver, won all hydroplane races by a fair margin in his streamline shell powered by a "souped-up" V-8 60-horse-power engine.

SPECTACULAR SPILL

George Baldwin, Victoria's main hydroplane contender, was knocked out of the race when his engine threw a rod in the second lap of the first race.

Watchers gasped to see Lorne Prevost of Victoria take a spectacular spill in his new Pacific design racing runabout, My Sin. Turning back to position after overshooting the start, he gunned his motor through another boat's wash. His boat bounced backward in a half-somersault and landed upside down.

The crowd roared with laughter when he bobbed up, poured the water out of his helmet and swam for shore. He was uninjured, and his boat was little damaged.

REPEAT VICTORY

Al Le Cam of Vancouver, present holder of the Kelowna Regatta Cup in the stock runabout class, pulled off a repeat performance in the fourth race to win the Joker Cup.

Le Cam's boat, Stolen Time II, once raced for the world-famous Harmsworth Trophy.

Winners were:

First race, racing runabouts, Dalziel Cup—1, Charlie Kobus, Vancouver, in Mercury IV; 2, Le Cam; 3, Harold Whitehead, Victoria, in Dee-Di-Oo.

Second race, stock runabouts, Eddie Allen Cup—1, George Hansen, Vancouver, in Thunderbird; 2, Bill Vasper, Vancouver.

Third Race, 135's (three-pointers), Charles Ellis Cup—1, Jim Hutchison; 2, Ted Currell, Vancouver, in 7-11 IV; 3, Arnold Wagstaff, Vancouver, in Teaser II.

Fourth race—Racing runabouts, Joker Cup: 1, Al Le Cam; 2, Ben Berto, Vancouver; 3, Harold Whitehead.

Fifth race—Stock runabouts, Batchelor Cup: 1, Bill Vasper; 2, George Hansen; 3, Colin Horton, Lake Cowichan, in Rosie.

Sixth race—135's, Pendray Grice Cup: 1, Jim Hutchison; 2, Arnold Wagstaff; 3, Ted Currell.

Seventh race—Open race for Victorians, Van Dyke Trophy: 1, Harold Whitehead; 2, Ron Baker, in Tomboy; 3, Brock Robertson.

Eighth race—Utility outboards, Dave Angus Cup: 1, Robert Montgomery, Lake Cowichan, in Yehudi.

Ninth race—Inboards, open, Spencer Cup: 1, Jim Hutchison; 2, Arnold Wagstaff; 3, Ted Currell.

Prizes were presented at a dance in McMorran's Pavilion. Mrs. G. H. O'Neil, 308 Obed Avenue, won a refrigerator. Other winners were: John Wallen, Seattle; E. Ditlevson, Saanichton; G. H. Patton, H. R. Kirk and W. Dibb.

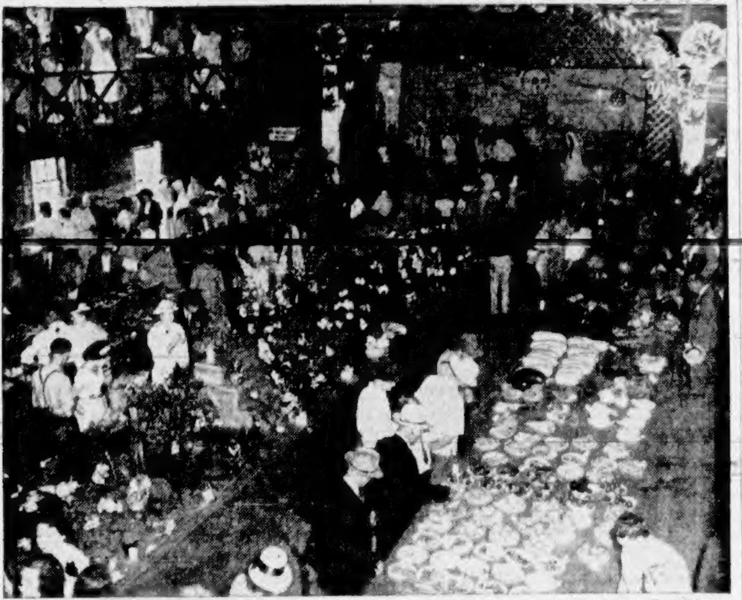
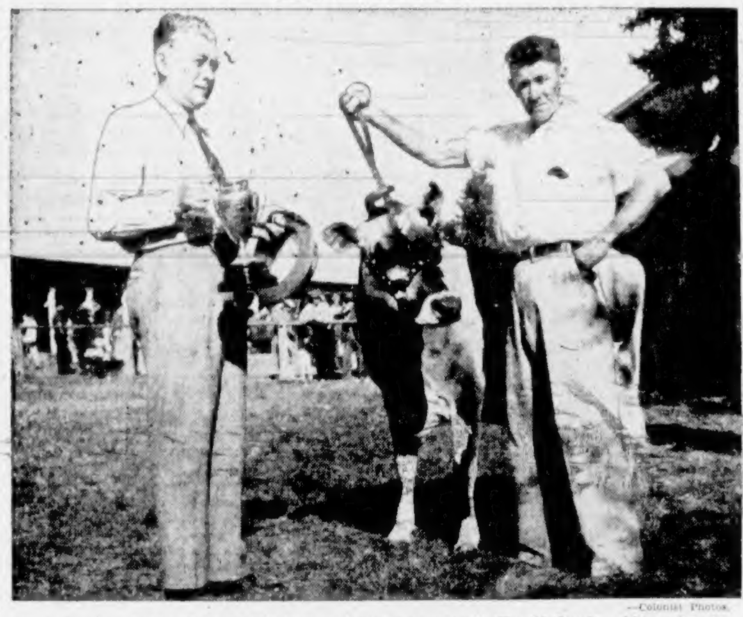
Throngs Jam Saanichton Fair



Loads of food, but none of it to eat—at least, until end of judging. Picture above, taken at Saanichton Fair on Monday, shows part of estimated 10,000 crowd looking over fruit and vegetables, right; home cooking, left; flowers, centre.



—Colonist Photos.

H. R. Bowman, British Columbia Minister of Agriculture, presents Harold Brooks with trophy emblematic of senior milk cow championship at 81st annual Saanichton Fair, Labor Day. Champion herself isn't interested, because cup obviously isn't edible.
